College Globe Trotters Pack 'Vacation' With Adventure

by George Wilbur

What's the best way to spend a college vacation? Three darkly-browned and bearded members of the American campus set now temporarily quartered at Commander Marianas will hasten to tell you, it's sailing.....and they surely ought to know.

Loren Miller, 21, and brothers Joseph Linesch, 23, and Albert Linesch, 25, in an attempt to explain to this scribe the circumstances which brought them to Guam, five thousand miles from the nearest Roman arch or cutie co-ed in the U. S. A., unraveled a string of tangent adventures that has me reeling, and to say the least ....envious.

Loren Miller, son of Radm. Thornton C. Miller, CHC, USN, stationed at Pearl Harbor left the states to join his father for a summer vacation in 1947. His plans to return to college in the fall were disrupted by illness and he was forced to remain in Hawaii.

Adventure in Their Blood

The two Linesch brothers, Joe and Al, discovered adventure in their blood when they joined a shark-fishing expedition to Tahiti during their summer vacation from UCLA in 1947. They sailed forth to this reknown isle of enchantment on a converted sub-chaser with 19 other men, mostly college fellows like themselves. After an eight!-week spree of native life there, they returned to Hawaii on board another smaller sailing ketch, too late however to make the fall session at UCLA.

"Morning Star No. 6"

Around this time a 63-foot gaff-rigged sailing schooner, privately owned by the American Board of Missions, put out of Boston harbor with a crew of Dartmouth college men handling the rigging. The "Morning Star No. 6" cruised south though the Canal and up to Hawaii, droping most of the defenders of the Green and White off along the way so they could extend the good neighbor policy through Panama and the Galapagos before returning to Dartmouth in the fall.

When the schooner put in at Hawaii in early January it publicised its intentions to take on new crew members for its extended trip to the Pacific. When it left Pearl Harbor on January 15 its roster included none other than Loren Miller, and Al and Joe Linesch. College could wait, they said, here is adventure.

Becomes Seasoned Sailor

The tiny vessel made its way first to Kwajalein, then Kusaie, and finally stopped at Truk. Along the way Loren became a seasoned sailor, and Al and Joe, old veterans of their Tahiti cruise, began to feel like old salts. All grew neat blonde beards and their appearance became more that of wayfaring Vikings than ex-college men. To say the least, they were having the time of their lives.

Permanent Transportation

As the morning star was to become a permanently established means of transportation between the far flung atolls for missionary use, the three young men decided to return to Honolulu. They boarded a Navy tug AG and arrived on Guam last Sunday. A PAA clipper will usher them to Hawaii shortly.

Lorn plans to return to college next fall. However, Al and Joe have inhaled a bit too much salt in their nostrils to feel secure on the dry campus of UCLA for a while. They have signed a year's contract with the Truk Trading Co., and will soon be unfurling the canvas again. When asked if they really plan to return to school they replied, "Yes, when our summer vacation is over."

Say, how long can a college vacation get?

COLLEGE VACATIONISTS—With the thrill of adventure calling, Loren Miller, Joseph and Albert Linesch, all members of the American campus set, began tramping all over the Pacific Ocean in a small missionary sailboat, the "Morning Star 6" in an effort to spend their summer vacation as uniquely as possible. Prior to this, brothers Joe and Al (right two) joined a shark fishing expedition to Tahiti. They briefly visited Guam on their return to Hawaii. (Guam News Photo by Gilbert)

HAPPY NEWLYWEDS—Following ceremonies at which Miss Alice H. Burns, San Francisco, became the bride of Ens. Bernard Yokam, Long Beach, Calif., the smiling couple is caught by the GUAM NEWS photographer as they begin to cut their elaborate wedding cake. Sharing in the newlyweds' bliss is Radm. H. M. Schaffer, SOInC, NSC. The affair was held Thursday evening at the Palm Beach Officers' Club. (Guam News Photo by Benton)

Burns-Yokam Wed at Palm Beach

The Palm Beach Officers' Club was chosen as the site of the beautiful formal ceremony which made Miss Alice H. Burns the bride of Ens. Bernard Yokam, SC, USN, April 1 at 9:00 P. M.

The nuptials were solemnized in the soft tropical night under the light of the glorious stars by Lt. Warren Wolf, CHC, USN. Prior to the ceremony Michel Perna sang "Oh Promise Me", "Because," and "Ave Maria." The bridal party approached the altar to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, with Mary Misun at the organ. The bride was radiantly beautiful in ice blue taffeta. Her gown was made with torso waist, bustle back into the train, Elizabethan collar trimmed in seed pearls with fingertip sleeves. Her veil and slippers were also of ice blue to match the gown. The veil was edged with lace and was fastened to a tiara of sheer tulle embroidered with seed pearls. She wore pearl earrings and carried a bouquet of white orchids. The bride was given in marriage by Radm. Howard M. Schaffer, SC, USN. She was attended by Miss Frances Williams, maid of honor, and her bridesmaids were Misses Carol Forest, Ruby Curtis Nancy Porter, Sarah Barnes, Mary Sawicka, and Libby Apperson. They wore ice blue taffeta gowns with low necklines, bustle peplums capped sleeves, shoulder length veil, and white sandals. The maid of honor carried leis of pink peacocks and the bridesmaids carried leis of yellow plumari.

Ens. John Petro, SC, USN, was best man while serving as ushers were Dr. Leonard Ellertson and Ensigns F. D. Eble, B. E. Carrney, J. T. Wentworth, Van Zee, and Don Smith.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the Officers' Club. Cocktails and tasty hors d'oeuvres were served. The luscious three-tier wedding cake was cut and the health of the bride and groom was toasted by the many guests present. Dancing to melodious music of the Rythm Incorporated Orchestra followed the refreshments.

The bride is an employe of the Officer in Charge of Construction and is a graduate of Ms. Carmel College in California. Mr. Yokam attended Doan College, Crete, Nebraska; Miami University, Oxford, Ohio; and is a graduate of Harvard-Business Administration. He is a member of Beta Theta Pi, Delta Delta Pi, and Phi Beta Kappa.

Guam Little Theater Sets Up Program

MARBO — A twofold program was set up Wednesday at the second meeting of the proposed Guam Little Theatre group at the MarBo conference room. Capt. L. W. Winget temporary president of the group, said that weekly meetings would be held each Tuesday evening at the conference room, at 1930.

The preliminary plans call for a committee to scout around for a permanent building to house the organization, and the selection of a committee to publicize the group in order to bring more civilians and service personnel interested in theatrical productions into the organization.

Choosing a name for the organization will occupy most of the next business session to be held Tuesday, April 6. All persons interested in theatrical productions are urged to attend the meeting. Military members from all services on Guam are invited to attend the meetings and help with the development of a community theatre on the Island.

Air Force to Pay Aerial Salute at Army Day Parade

MARBO — An aerial salute from twenty-four P-47 Thunderbolts and six B-29 Superforts will be rendered Army Ground troops next Tuesday at the Army Day parade. The parade will be held at the MarBo parade ground at 0830.

The parade is the highlight of the annual ceremonial day set aside for Army forces throughout the world. On Guam, the ceremony will have Major General Francis H. Griswold, commanding general of the Marianas Bonins Command and the 20th Air Force, and Brig. Gen. J. S. Bradley, commanding general, Marianas Bonins Base Command as reviewing officers. General staff members of MarBo Base Command will also be on the reviewing stand.

Presentation of campaign medals will be made by General Griswold to selected personnel of Army major units on Guam. The medals pending their arrival from the States, will be presented to all eligible persons at later formations called by the unit commanders.

Colonel Dana G. McBride, assistant chief of staff, G-3, MarBo Base Command, will be commander of troops over three battalions of troops and the color battery, furnished by the 864th AAA Battalion. The battalions will be made up of men from all Army units on the Island.

ComMar Rat Catcher Bags 568 in March

COMMAR HILL — Business is looking up for A. M. Bates, S1, ComMar rat exterminator.

With traps planted throughout the base area, a total of 568 rats have been caught during the month of March alone. The figure for March and February combined totals 865.

102 Killed

According to Bates, traps placed in the ComMar fire house, said to be infested with rats, have yielded 102 rats since March 19. The help of D. R. Tietjen, S2, and M. C. Fulgham, S2, has been instrumental in attaining this figure.

A number of the rats caught were females bearing offspring. Their elimination will cause a noticeable decrease in the ComMar rat population.

Inarajan Primping for 'Coconut Festival'

INARAJAN — Pasadena has it's Rose Bowl parade, New Orleans it's Mardi Gras, Guam is adding it's own contribution to the list by instituting a "Coconut Festival" in reverance to that fibrous fruit which constitutes the Island's major industry.

In celebration of the patronage of St. Joseph, "Patrocino," the Coconut Festival, being held at the Village of Inarajan April 18, will be serving a dual purpose. It's primary object is to attract the people of Guam back to their major industry of copra. Secondly, it will provide for all attending a wealth of knowledge about that life-line plant, the coconut, and a day of rare galety.

This festival will be in answer to the call of Governor C. A. Pownall to the people of Guam to reactivate their vital industries. Observers agree that while the Guamanians are delving in small lucrative businesses catering to the American services and civilian population on the Island, vast coconut plantations of valuable potentialities are facing ruin in the interior.

There no doubt that when the rehabilitation of Guam is complete and the presence of American personnel wanes, the Guamanians will have to turn to their basic industry of copra to maintain a prosperous economy. In order to be able to regain their place in the world market, the people will have to start their efforts now.

In illustrating the versatility of use in coconut, the festival will revolve mainly around numerous exhibits and displays showing the multitude of products one can make with coconut as the main ingredient.

Not to be outdone by it's long established counterparts in the United States, the festival will be highlighted by the reign of a "Coconut Queen," yet to be chosen from four established candidates from Inarajan. She will rule her joyous kingdom from a throne fashioned after the fruit she governs and perched atop the leading unit in the float parade.

One of the main attractions of the festival will be a warehouse where between 30-35 tons of copra processed by the people of Inarajan will be displayed.

A complete program for the festival will be announced at a later date in GUAM NEWS. Votes for the four candidates for "Coconut Queen" may be cast at the chief commissioner's office in Agana or the commissioner's office in each village. The queen will be chosen April 12.

"COCONUT QUEEN" CANDIDATES—These four girls have been chosen as candidates for the title "Coconut Queen" from Inarajan village. The winner of the group will reign over the gala "Coconut Festival" being held in Inarajan on April 18. L to R: Eliza Paulino, Laura Duenas, Maria Duenas and Faye Flores. THE CROSS ON THE CLIFF next to the Protestant chapel, NAS Agana, was dedicated at the Easter Sunrise Service last Sunday. Potted lillies were presented by Martha Dyson on behalf of the Sunday School, and four primary girls, Majorie and Barbara Jones, Sylvia and Melodie Ackley, sang two children's numbers. A congregation of 175 from all over the Island sang The Old Rugged Cross in dedication following an Easter message by Chaplain Askley. The installation of the Cross has been a combined operation on the part of many at NAS Agana. It is a permanent fixture and at night may be seen glowing for miles from Marine Drive.

Edith West Weds Pomeroy Employe

Miss Edith Georgia West, daughter of Mrs. C. E. West, Seattle, Washington, became the bride of Roy William Scott of Tucson, Arizona, at an Easter Sunday afternoon ceremony at the N.A.S. Agana chapel.

Given in marriage by Admiral H.N. Shaffer, Mrs. Scott wore a white suit with all white accesories. She corried an arrangement of white orchids atop a prayer book.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. W.J. Naef, wore a powder blue crepe dress and carried a bouquet of multi-colored blossoms.

Mr. W.J. Naef was Mr. Scott's best man and Messers. R.R. Rollins and J.C. Johnson were ushers. Chaplain Wolf, USN, officiated at the ceremony.

A reception with buffet supper was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Naef immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. Scott is general supt. of J. H. Pomeroy, Inc., contract N6119S-14 and has been on the island over two years during which time he assisted in the building of the Apra Harbor breakwater. Mrs. Scott was a former employe of the San Francisco office.

There was a breakfast fashion show given at the Town House by the Affiliated Fashionists of California, not so long ago. The fashionists were all women — eight of them. They had formed their affiliation quite a number of years ago, and they have certainly become famous. They are Louella Ballerino, Mabs Barnes, Agnes Barrett, Irene Bury, Viola Demmitt, Peggy Hunt, Addie Masters, and Majorie Montgomery.

Buyers from all over the states, and even foreign countries have gone out to their manufacturing plants to stock up on their individual California styled clothes. Each designer is completely different in her ideas and theme; in fact, so much so, that the fashion press could almost spot one of their designs without even looking at the label.

The show was presented by Ethel Jourtas, in which models came out in pairs, and 80 different outfits were shown. In the showing there were evening gowns to bathing suits; as well as typical California patio frocks, casual sports outfits, and raincoats.

Designer Viola Demmitt made her rain outfits famous. Why she even showed an outfit a gal could wear if she wants to play golf in the rain, or if she's caught out in the rain on the green. Her rainy day outfits were all long swing-back coats, others were capes, and the sport outfits included a sport jacket, pedal pusher, culottes, and even a little visor cap. They were, also, shown in lovely shades of emerald green, bright scarlet red, soft amber, and even white. She, also, showed her rain outfit in a princess fitted coat of satin back twill.

Specializes in Prints

Majorie Montgomery, who specializes in unusual print designs showed some cottons that appeared to be grand. She displayed a white waffle pique print in red and black with a bertha collar. She even had cotton chambray stripes with copper metalic thread. ..... Louella Ballerino, another of the distinctive designers, and her California things had a definite Latin flare to them — in colors and feeling.

Addie Master, who loves vibrant colors showed some bright colored hostess pajama outfits. One was caramel brown in color, and with green colors carried out in the all-over circle print. Her patio pajamas were shown in royal blue and lime; white silk jersey with a companion piece in full skirt. Another combination, which she displayed, was pale blue pinafores with narrow white eyelet ruffles.

Agnes Barrett's collection included many things in the new and popular copper tones in gabardine, and striking tailored casual dresses for which, by the way, the California designers are famous. She displayed nothing but the modified squared shoulders. The skirts were not too long, and many had the narrow skirt instead of the full swing skirt. This enables women of all types to find California styles for their own figure.

Mabs Barne's bathing suits were neat and pretty. The show ended with two of Peggy Hunt's exquisite evening gowns. One was a breezy, billowy marquisette caught with a pink satin ribbons and violets. The other was a black all-over lace marquisette gown with a matching stole.

It certainly seems, that the women all over the country will love to wear those new California styles this spring and summer....

One of the most successful graduates of the Guam school of hard knocks is Mr. Simon Sanchez, versatile superintendent of school rancher, and secretary in the Guam Congress.

Born in Agana, Guam in 1895, Mr. Sanchez grasped every local educational opportunity and then went on to study via correspondence at the University of Chicago, and a summer course of the University of Hawaii.

He has been connected with the Guam Department of Education since 1917, and in that time has seen many changes.....from a non-graded class to a well systemized school, from the Chinese method of memorization to unit activity on student participation, from mere book learning to training skills and subjects that have real value in life, and from coconut leaf roof buildings to well constructed concrete and quonset classrooms.

In addition to his endeavors as superintendent of schools, Mr. Sanchez is secretary of the House of Council, Guam Congress, representing Dededo village. His undeniable versatility stems from his widespread participation in civic affairs. Well known for his position as president of the Guam Rotary Club, he is also a member of the executive board of Boy and Girl Scouts, the American Red Cross, and the Board of Licensing For The Healing Arts.

When these numerous duties spare him time, Mr. Sanchez adopts the role of one of Guam's leading ranchers.

Music Spotlights

by Robinson

The spotlight seems to be focused on an oldie this week, a tune which came out in 1905. I know you have heard it....."Four Leaf Clover." Vaughn Monroe brought it back with a few new touches and it gained popularity over night. Vaughn's arrangement is pretty fair, but a side by Art Mooney is getting most of the credit.

The ComMar CPO Club was jumping last Sunday night with a great combo fronted by Pfc. Milton Thomas, whose trumpet styles are hard to beat even in professional circles. The combo went over big with all who attended this bash, and the patrons of the club are looking forward to many more of these sessions.

Woody Herman who reorganized his band a few months ago is hitting the top as never before. They are coming out with more originals similar to those that made the joint rock way back in 1946. His latest sides are "Sabre Dance" and "Swing Low Sweet Clarinet." The first side is played somewhat on a semi-jazz theme and is really terrific. The other, "Swing Low Sweet Clarinet," features Woody with some smooth reed work.

Among the latest releases is a knocked out platters by Billy Eckstine, who's voice was made to sing the blues, and he really does it on a disk called "She's Got Blues For Sale." Though certain conventionalities are dropped in the lyrics, it is not as yet banned in Boston.

A few well known names in music have went on record as having said "jazz is dead." Where have we heard that before? Though there are a few variations which remain undesirable, the public has shown great interest not only in the progressions of this form of music but for the most part consider it a relic of a great era in the history of the country for it might be said that they have come a long ways together.

Here goes for all you hep cats and anyone else liking the Kentonistic touch. Two really solid sides, the best "Sooth Me" with the Kenton trademark 'much brass' and some solid riffs this tune will go over big though not typical of the great myestro.

The King Cole Trio's latest is a boppish riff called "The Geek." Nat's piano is featured on the side. This is an original written by Nat and Marvin Fisher and is a must for all the bop fans. It is their first real try at this brand of jive.

OSCAR WINNER — Loretta Young smiles fondly at the gold Oscar she was awarded recently when the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences named her the best actress of 1947. She won her coveted statuette for her role in "The Farmers Daughter." (AP Wirephoto)

GUAM'S FUNCION

by Evelyn Perez

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Guzman and their daughter, Teresita are leaving for the states soon. They are to visit the grave of their son, the late Edward Leonardo, who died while with the U.S. Navy in August 1942. He is buried in Arlington, Virginia. Teresita will stay abroad to continue her schooling. Mr. and Mrs. Guzman expect to return within six months.

To join her husband who is in the Navy and presently attached to the U.S. Naval Air Station at Jacksonville, Florida, is Mrs. Nativedad B. Guzman and her four children. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Guzman.

Looks like all the Gusmans are leaving Guam. Mrs. Virginia Gusman and son are leaving soon with her in-laws to join her husband, Jose, who is in the Navy and now stationed at the Receiving station, Washington, D.C.

Chats About Guam...

by Agueda I. Johnston

Shelter, baskets, torches, brooms, decorations and trinkets from the leaves of the coconut tree.

There is no other leaf in the world more serviceable to mankind than the coconut leaf. In early days, the majority of houses on Guam were thatched with coconut leaves, and during one era, they served as shelter for about 50,000 people.

Baskets made from coconut leaves were used as containers for farm produce, lunches and other traveling necessities.

Decorations for special occasions such as weddings, parades and processions were made from the white young leaves either in braided forms or in shreds similar to the fibers on a hula skirt. For a more ornate appearance, trinkets in the form of whistles, stars or birds were made and added to other decorations. Torches for fishing, for finding one's way home in the dark and for "torch parades" were made from the dry old leaves.

Versatile Usage

The ribs of the leaflets (about 3 feet long are slender, strong and somewhat elastic. Tied in bunches, they were principally used for brooms. But they were also used for skewers, needles, artificial flower stems, tooth picks, pointers and measuring gauges.

Since shelter is considered the most important use of the coconut leaves, a brief discription of "coconut-leaf roofing on Guam" is being given:

The roofing of a house, like weddings or funerals, was an important cooperative undertaking and a social obligation of the people. Besides manual help, the owner of the house to be roofed would receive in due time gifts called "chinchule" which might be money, pigs, chickens, rice, beverages and other articles necessary for a successful roofing party.

Agile Climbers

The preliminary preparations consisted of the cutting down of the fronds and weaving them into "higae" (braided leaves). Men equipped with machettes would climb the selected trees stepping on the notches which were usually hewed out on the way up. With one hand holding fast to a frond for security, and with a machette in the other, the climber in a short time, would have the desired number of leaves on the ground, where another group of men not as agile at climbing would be loading the bull-carts with the newly cut leaves. A caravan of as many as twenty bull-carts with their green cargo would go gamboling through the streets of the town. The gritting sound of the iron tires, (around the heavy solid wooden wheels of the carts), against the hard coral road, the swish, swash swish sound of the leaves dragging on the ground, the yelling of the driver to make his bull go faster, and the singing of the lad perched on top of the stack of leaves, created enough sensation to give everybody in town a short recess from work until the "grand parade" passed by. The destination of the cargo could be anybody's yard near the house that was to be roofed.

The weaving of the leaves usually took place in the evenings, especially on moonlight nights. Neighbors, friends and relatives would come to help. Between coconut leaves and braided fronds an exchange of jokes or gossips would take place. There would be also singing in Chamorrita, a method in which a singer or a group of singers would challenge another in the art of carrying on an argument in the form of a song and poetry. If Elaine was present, a would-be-Lancelot would expedite matters by helping in splitting the midribs of the leaves so that Elaine could weave faster. Lancelot would take the braided leaves from Elaines hands and stick them on some spot in the yard. Little brothers and sisters would be watching from the highest stick to climb or to slide on, for the fun of preparing for thatching a house was not confined to the adults, but to the youngsters as well.

SOME GENTLEMEN FROM THE PHILIPPINES were fishing near the office the other day so, cleverly disguised as an ostrich egg and rolling nonchalantly by the hawk-eyed sentry, I was soon squatting on my heels near the fishermen as they pulled their nets near the shore. The fishermen turned out to be none other than Mr. Emiliono Macado, Mr. Dominador Polu-ay, and Dolmasio Macado, all from Camp Ross and doing a bit of fishing in their spare time. They used a net 10 ft. wide and 20 ft. long, buoyed up on three sides by floats. They waded out into the water about 30 ft. and then pulled the net back to shore with the non buoyant end forward. In the haul they made while I was watching them they caught a 7 lb. stingeree (which makes excellent soup), a 5 lb. skiplack, a few small fish, and about 4 or 5 crabs, the largest one being around 7 inches across. We could mention by name a number of people around here who could get more fish if they would throw away their rods and buy a net. We wouldn't mention any names but the initials of several are: Mr. H. C. Wright, Mr. M. Hjalmerson, J. R. Patton, Peto Alexander, Martin Hogan, Bill Bick, Tommy Thompson, and Jungle Jim Haggerty.

After all the leaves were braided and stacked away until they were brown and dry, another great fun was in sight—the roofing party.

Cooperative Job

Early in the morning, before daylight, men on top of the house would be tearing the old roof down. By dawn the roofing team arrived. Some were assigned to climb up on top of the rafters, and others to stay on the ground to hand up the leaves. Those on the rafters must be good climbers and steady sitters, for besides the leaves that were being thrown up by those on the ground, the sitters must be quick in fastening the leaves to the rafters lest they would lose out on a race or clog up the team work. There were also supervisors on the ground with long poles to poke those on the rafters who were slow or who showed sloppy work. The skillful "e-atuf" (one who is good at roofing) had a bundle of "fagot" (fibers) tied to his waist line, a few more between his jaws, and several more in his hands. One pair of "higae" was fastened upon another until the thatching reached the ridge of the roof. A mat called "pupurg" made of fresh green leaves covered the ridge and was secured by wooden pins.

By noon a fairly large house thatched with about one thousand coconut leaves would be ready for occupancy again. Under the same roof might be served delicious meals of Spanish rice, "p. s-pus" (pork in thick yellow gravy), salad and "escabechi" (fried fish with vegetables, wild ginger, peppers and vinegar), prepared by the women in the roofing party.

'Guam News' in Mind-Reading Role

In printing the picture of an unidentified beautiful girl in the pin-up section on March 24th, the Guam News unknowingly answered the request of Mr. Gene Colton, Pomeroy Camp No. 3.

Mr. Colton, a former radio writer and actor, promptly sent his thanks to the "news" explaining that he had only a few days previously written to the girl, Miss Virginia Huston, asking for her picture.

Recently seen with Robert Mitchum in "Out of the Past," the young actress is under contract to RKO studios. Mr. Colton had the privilege of acting with her in her first semi-professional play, "Judgement Day," and later getting Miss Huston roles in the radio show "Calling All Cars" which he was writing.

OVER THE JOEPOT

BY BILL JURY

GOOD MORNING....We have to chuckle at some of the attempts the movie industry has made at portraying the sports world. Except for an occasional three-bell performance such as "Knute Rockne, All-American" and Lou Gehrig's life story, "The Pride of The Yankees," the celluloid rendition of the "World of Sports" rings a sour note with most sports-minded moviegoers.

Take for example the sudden run on fight pictures....That's good good for a hearty guffaw anytime....Joe Blowski, a punk fresh from the other side of the tracks makes good in a couple of fights....He's on his way to the top....Then he gets giggly over a nice lookin' doll from the Fifth Avenue set, but the gal won't have anything to do with him 'cause he's not the champeen.....But Joe works hard (supporting three aged grandmothers all the while) and soon he's in line for a crack at the champ.....Things are picking up and it looks as if he might win the crown, the girl, and enough happy cabbage to go his father's bail....But things don't go that smoothly on the screen.... Albert "Muggsy" Cernone, big-time racketeer and notorious gambler contacts Joe prior to the big fight....It seems "Muggsy" has placed a sizeable sum of cash on the other guy.....You get the connection.... It wouldn't be cricket for friend Joe to lay the other fella away with all of "Muggsy's moola going the wrong way....The gangster runs his fingers lightly over his sub-machine gun and leaves Joe with this thought in mind, "Don't miss your cue!" Whatta spot! The championship of the world, the girl, the three old grandmothers, and his old man locked up in the pokey....All depending on Joe....What to do? He can't go to the cops because they're looking for him in connection with a little matter in Philly....Rumor has it that he hijacked a load of ping pong balls.

Well, about the third reel everything turns out hunky-dory..... "Muggsy" is blown to smithereens by a load of home brew, Joey goes on to win the title, the girl, the money, and the three old grandmothers and his father end up in a penthouse overlooking Lake Michigan.

5th Service Bumps NSC

The Fifth Service Leathernecks took over first place in the Inter-Command baseball league yesterday with a 7-1 victory over the Naval Supply Center Rams at Ram Field. It was NSC's first defeat of the season and it dropped them into a second place tie with the Triple "A" Gunners.

"Casey" Porter went to the mound for the Leathernecks and scattered nine Ram hits to gain his first victory of the season in as many starts. The Leathernecks were only able to grab ten safties off the pitching of "Jeff" Jeffries and "Del" Delbridge but bunched four hits in the third inning to score three runs which was a big enough margin to gain the victory.

The Rams had great scoring opportunities but were stopped by the tight fielding of the Leathernecks. Jim Davenport starred in the outfield for Fifth Service with two spectacular diving catches. Davenport also led the team in hitting with three hits in four official times at bat.

Marine Brks.-11 NavComSta-10

The Marine Barrack club helped their Fifth Service buddies take over undisputed possession of first place by giving the NavComSta club its first defeat of the season at the losers field.

It was the marines' third straight victory against two defeats and placed them in a tie with NOB Industrial and First Marine Brigade for eighth place.

In other games played, the Triple "A" Gunners, behind the supperb one hit pitching of "Bean Ball" Wallace, shut out the NAD Trojans, 9-0, at the Dust Bowl. The NBRS Dodgers gained their first victory of the season by downing the ComMar Hilltoppers at Geiger Field, 9-4. The First Brigade Devildogs downed the NAS Agana All Stars, 12-10, in ten innings at the Brigade diamond. The Yards and Docks Gophers managed to nose out the Orote Boondockers at Stoney Stadium, 12-11 and the Fasron 13 Airedales downed the 1507 CB's. 10-2 at Orote Field.

All Command entries in the all Navy tennis tournament are asked to contact the staff Welfare and Recreation officer at AT-3149 prior to Monday, 4 April.

Huebie Herbert Scores One-Punch Kayo in All-Navy Eliminations

Days may come and days may go, but there'll never be a fighter who knocks out his opponent with less effort than rollicking Huebie Herbert did at the final All-Navy eliminations at NAS Agana last night.

Hefty Huebie climbed through the ropes with the ease of the USS Midway steaming up the Talofofo River, lumbered across the ring, and swung his ham-like right hand one time to kayo Bob Wilson in 10 seconds of the first round, a new record in the local ring.

Just one bout earlier, Mike Jankowski shattered the previous Agana Bowl record with a rapid sleepy-by punch in 42 seconds of the first circuit to defeat Mel Nash.

The third scrap of the evening saw Johnny Kamber wind things up in a hurry by kayoing Jack Reynolds in 1:42 of the initial round to win the Guam featherweight title.

Joe Ramos decisioned "Kelly" Ramirez in a friendly get-together in the flyweight bracket to take the 112 pound crown. It was Ramos's second victory over Ramirez. He decisioned him earlier in a 9th Marine smoker last month.

Fernandes Ellis, Fifth Service hopeful in the lightweight class, defaulted to Erin Dominguez when he was unable to appear in the ring. Fight officials announced that Ellis had left the Island on emergency leave.

Al Sanchy came back strong in the last two rounds of the bantamweight tussle to slug out a decision over M. R. Ornelas.

The final clashes in the middleweight and lightweight divisions are tentatively slated for next Saturday night at NAS Agana's arena.

Verdeur Defending Two Titles in AAU Swim Meet

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 3 —(UP)— Joe Verdeur, swimming speedboy from La Salle College, Philadelphia, put two championships on the line today in the National AAU indoor swimming championships at Yale's Payne Whitney gymnasium.

The fleet Philadelphian was slated to defend his crown in both the 220-yard breaststroke and in the 300-yard individual medley.

Verdeur was favored to win in both events, two of the five title contests on the second-day program. He recently set a world record in the 220-yard breaststroke and an American record in the medley.

Bill Smith, the husky Hawaiian from Ohio State, was the defending champion in the 220-yard free style. Holder of all records in this event, Smith will be aiming at the pool mark of Yale's Alan Ford and Ford will be on hand to contest the issue.

Hockey Players On Bail Following Restaurant Beating

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 2 —(UP)—Five members of the Buffalo team of the American Hockey League, accused of beating up a man so badly he may lose an eye, were free on bail today.

Released in bonds of $2500 each for trial April 21 were Joseph Bell, 24, Thomas M. Cooper, 30, Leslie Hickey, 27, Leslie Douglas, 29, and Michael McMahon, 32. Bonds originally were set at $500 but were ordered increased by City Court Judge Dominick Cellotty when told that the victim had been injured seriously.

Hospital authorities said it would be some time before they could tell whether the victim, Wallace Holland, 23, would lose the sight of his left eye.

Police said the brawl started when the players became abusive to Counterman George Wilson and started throwing cereal. When Holland, an off-duty counterman who was sitting at a nearby table, agreed with Wilson that police should be called, the quintet turned on him, according to witnesses. He was hit several times, knocked to the floor and kicked at least twice, the witnesses said.

Chase-Duke, Untalan-Perez in Tennis Finals

Novice singles champion Fred Chase and partner Borris Duke and the Guamanian team of Joe Perez and J.L.G. Untalan yesterday advanced to the finals in the novice doubles class of the second annual GUAM NEWS tennis tournament on the Naval Government courts.

In both cases, the teams had tough going in the first two sets and then walked away with the third and deciding set, Chase and Duke winning 2-6, 6-4, 6-1 over Dan Stubbs and Lane McElveen, and Untalan and Perez taking Lts. Barnett and Clark, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1.

Untalan's forcing shots—along with numerous errors by Clark and Bennett-led to victory, and by the same token, it was Chase's steadiness coupled with errors by Stubbs and McElveen that moved him into the finals.

Matches today:
1430: Smith-Dunn vs. Kohlhas-Lyman.
1600: Hanson-Kriz vs. Warfield-Hazel.

Three Champions Favored to Repeat In NCAA Ring Meet

MADISON, Wis., April 3 —(UP) The National Collegiate Athletic Association boxing tournament swung into the semi-final round today with three defending champions regarded as strong favorites to retain their crowns.

The three champions, Miami's Art Saey, Idaho's Herb Carlson, and Michigan State's Charles Davey scored impressive victories yesterday.

Saey, heavyweight champion, battered Gus Raitz of Colgate into submission in 1:17 of the first round.

Davey and Carlson won two each with both of Carlson's coming on second round technical knockouts. Carlson, 155 pound champion last year, stopped Doug Fleming, Bucknell, in the first bout and James Surch, Superior, Wis., Teachers, in the quarterfinals.

Davey, a lightweight and one of the meet's classiest fighters danced and punched his way to decisions over Alfred Bourgeois, Louisiana State, and Jim Miragliotta, Virginia.

Wisconsin loomed as the favorite for the team crown. The undefeated Badger team moved all its seven entries into the semi-finals.

The weight final bouts will be held tomorrow night with the winners qualifying for the Olympic trials at Boston next June.

Minister Sues Louis

CHICAGO, April 3 —(UP)— Joe Louis, the Brown Bomber who has held the world heavyweight boxing championship longer than any other man, was clipped on the chin today with a $500,000 suit for alienation of the affections of a Negro minister's wife.

The suit was filed by the Rev. Matthew Faulkner, Atlanta, Ga., a recently discharged Army chaplain, in Superior Court. It alleged that Louis "willfully destroyed and alienated from the plaintiff the affections of his wife, Mattie Carie Faulkner."

Louis' attentions to Mrs. Faulkner were allegedly paid last November, December and January.

Louis was in Europe, gaining an estimated $80,000 from a series of poorly-attended exhibitions at a British Empire fair.

Even with that money, there have been many recent reports of his poor financial condition. The suit for $500,000 was another financial headache for Louis.

The hard-hitting heavyweight has reportedly been financially unstable due to the loss of revenue while serving in the Army. Most of his share of the gate receipts for the first defense of his title after his discharge went to Uncle Sam for delinquent income taxes.

California Leads in Boxing As in Oranges

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— California ranked as the most boxing-minded state in the nation today in statistics released by the state athletic commison.

California held 2956 ring shows in 1947 the report showed, more than the next three states, New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois, combined.

Highest Attendance

Turnstiles clicked last year for 3,675, 336 Californians. New York trailed with 2,118,678. California's attendance, however, was off 255,261 from 1946.

New York led the nation in gate receipts with $5,075,645 in 1947, but $2,695,111 receipts, $328,211 less than 1946. California was second with $4,588,111 receipts, $328,211 less than 1946.

The Sports Patrol

by Steve Snider
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK —(UP)— Is it worth it?

The record of sports scandals exposed by authorities down the years reveals it isn't.

Billy Taylor of the New York Rangers, banished from hockey for life for betting and losing $500 on a National Hockey League game; is only one of the tragic figures in sports who risked their status for peanut money, failed to collect at all or took a rap for neglecting to report offered bribes.

How much heavy money actually is won or lost in "betting arrangements" never brought to light is something nobody knows. It could be plenty.

But those exposed show a strange similarity:

Taylor was expelled from hockey for placing a bet on the outcome of a Boston Bruins—Chicago Black Hawks game at Chicago on Feb. 18. He bet on Chicago. Boston won the game, 4 to 2. He lost his money and his right to play hockey for a living.

Baseball's top scandal was the Black Sox affair of the 1919 World Series between the Chicago White Sox and Cincinnati Reds. Some of the eight Chicago Players banned from the game when the fix was aired said they never touched a dime of payoff money. One report said the amount of cash turned over to those who did collect amounted to only $25,000.

In a case somewhat similar to Taylor's, Bill Cox, then president of the Philadelphia Phillies, drew a lifetime suspension from baseball from Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, for betting on his own club in 1943. Like Taylor, Cox hadn't committed the cardinal sin of betting against his own team but it was enough to bring banishment.

Middleweight champion Rocky Graziano could have made a million with his fists if he hadn't dummied up when a reported bribe was tossed his way before an unimportant fight with Cowboy Reuben Shank in New York late in 1946.

Bronx Bombers Boast All Seasoned Players

by Milton Richman
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK —(UP)— If some unsung, unheralded and unheard of rookie soars to major league heights this spring, you can bet your bottom dollar that it won't be with the New York Yankees.

Every player on the Yankees' squad, with one border-line exception, played either in the majors or in a class AAA circuit last season. No other big league club can make that claim. The only exception to the Yankees is Rookie Catcher Hank Folles, who is listed on the New York roster but actually was signed to a Norfolk contract. A product of the Norfolk, Va., sandlots, Folles has no previous pro experience.

Nearest club to the Yankees in the matter of having the most experienced players is Cincinnati. The Reds have only three players who lack either triple-A or major league experience. They are Joe Adcock and Jim Greenillion, with Columbia of the Sally League last year, and Walker Cress, who collected his pay-checks from New Orleans of the Southern Association.

McCarthy on the Spot as BoSox Aim For AL Pennant

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. —(UP)— Joe McCarthy is on the spot and being a guy who has been around in baseball for 41 years he isn't unmindful of the situation.

He realizes he was hired to produce American League pennant winners for the Boston Red Sox so every move he makes is designed to help thoes plans along.

Well aware of the fact that this could be a make or break year in his long and honorable career, Marse Joe is going about his work with the enthusiasm of a rookie. The year and a half he was out of the harness left him standing at the gate like an old fire horse ready to go out with a wagon.

He can't wait to get going. He hasn't changed when it comes to McCarthy customs, for his press conferences and remarks to baseball writers still leave a lot to be desired, but he will go out on the limb for one thing and that is that he is glad to get back in the game.

Managing Red Sox

He's a far cry from the McCarthy who left Larry MacPhail and the New York Yankees in a huff in mid-season of 1946 and went to a farm near Buffalo, N. Y., to become a gentleman farmer, with his baseball life behind him.

For quite a while it looked like he meant his farewell to the game when he said: "I'm through with baseball forever."

It wasn't until the off-season when Joe Cronin decided to step into the front office for the Red Sox, that Joe was enticed from his farm. The situation called for a McCarthy and McCarthy was the man for the situation.

So today he is getting the Red Sox ready for the 1948 campaign. He knows full well that only Dusochen is on more of a spot than he is, but there wasn't a line of worry in his face as he sat in his dressing room today after a workout and talked to a group of baseball writers.

He didn't have very much to say outside the usual things like he would have to wait and see to find out what he had in the way of playing strength but the tone of his voice left no doubt that he wasn't worrying about the spot he was on.

After all, the years since 1907 when he broke in with Wilmington, Del., have given him a long enough career so that he knows better than to put his neck in a noose.

Tight Tilts On Tap Today

The tight Inter-Command softball race continues today with several top teams finding stiff competition in today's schedule.

The Mag 24 "Golden Bears," decked out in bright gold uniforms, will travel to the NAS Agana diamond to meet the undefeated Agana nine in what should be a tight battle.

The ComMar Hilltoppers journey to the NavCommSta to try to stop the NCS men who are driving further up in the standings each game. NavCommSta lost, 9-2, at ComMar earlier in the season which was their first defeat of the season and today are seeking revenge.

The first Marine Brigade that downed NATS Asia in their first meeting of the season will be at NAS Asia in another revenge game. NATS has been looking forward to this game for several weeks and will be tough to stop with Bernard Carlock on the mound.

The Naval Supply Storekeepers, tied with ComMar for second will have an off date, because of the 103th CB's withdrawal from the league.

In other games, The Triple A Marines play Pan American Airways at Pan American, the 103rd CB's play host to the Utility Squadron Nine aggregation, and the Naval Barracks—Receiving Station club entertains the Fifth Service Leathernecks.

What is a Construction Stiff?

by Tom Richards

"CAN DO"
Where Builders lead the way
there's a phrase that they say
When a difficult job is in view,
Just a Builder's refrain that is simple and plain
"CAN DO"
A promise and prophecy too,
The slogan of workers all over the chart
Who go on and finish the jobs that they start;
Two words but the spirit of men who came through.
"CAN DO"
Two words of decision but they're the religion
Of those indispensable few;
Whom naught can defeat as they blithely repeat
"CAN DO"
It makes the incredible true
It works the unworkable, moves the unmutable
Unearth the hidden, unscrews the inscrutable;
Does all the things it's impossible
to.
The world's rolled along by the folks who "CAN DO"

CHARLES A. DICKERSON

Charles Dickerson, field engineer with Brown-Pacific-Maxon, served a hitch in the Navy from '26 to '29 and then became a professional engineer and licensed land surveyor in the state of Texas. Dickerson was employed by the Texas State Highway Department on design and construction of highways and bridges from 1929 until 1940. From 1940 to 1946 he helped engineer the construction of Naval air base, ordinance plants, highways, chemical plants, etc. Mr. Dickerson came to Guam in 1946 with Brown-Pacific-Maxon and is now in his second year on Guam. His job as field engineer here calls for him to organize and supervise all survey parties for B-P-M; he is also responsible for maintaining accurate line and grade for construction forces on all B-P-M work.

Charles is married and has a wife and two daughters, Dorthy and Wanla Joe, living with him here on Guam. The Dickersons also have a son in the U.S. Navy.

A construction stiff is a man, or woman, who follows the construction jobs as his or her life work. He is the man (or woman) you hear talking casually of the job in Arabia, Okinawa, China, Europe, etc. These men are proud, and justifiably so, of the jobs they have been on, the conditions which they encountered in the remote parts of the world, and most of all, that they have completed their contracts. All construction men know that some jobs are tougher than others and at times it takes a lot of intestinal fortitude to stick them out. A construction stiff expects to encounter rugged conditions. He leaves his job and when he is done someone else comes in and leads a rather normal and eventful life using the installations and facilities that he has installed.

LON T. DUNN

Lon has been a crane operator since '28 and has swung his scoop in nearly every state in the Union. His speciality is dam and bridge work but there aren't many big jobs from Mexico to Canada and from the Pacific to the Atlantic that haven't seen Lon busy at work.

Lon is married and has a wife and two kids in Alma, Arkansas.

Quite often you hear the remark when "Fireside" construction men congregate, "Why should these men who travel from state to state or wander all over the world doing construction work feel that they are any better than the man who spends his life working as a carpenter, mechanic, or the like in his own home town? Seems to me it's about six to one and half dozen of the other; to hear these self-styled 'construction stiffs' talk you would think they built the pyramids and the Hanging Gardens."

Well, there is some difference between the so called "firesider" and the construction stiff; just about the same difference as there is between black and white. Let's take a look at the average "firesider." He is generally married, lives with his wife and children, and usually owns his own home. He is able to be with his children and enjoy them while they are growing up. He gets at least two hot home cooked meals and often something "special" in his lunch box. If he has had a hard day, the little woman is waiting for him when he gets home to listen to his troubles and let him know who is sorry and understands. Not only that, but she mends his clothes and takes care of the laundry. When the firesider goes to bed at night he gets a good night's sleep undisturbed by some character three bunks away who has had a few drinks and thinks he is Jack Dempsey or a train caller, and the man who broke the bank at Monte Carlo all rolled into one. On the job the firesider has routine, cut and dried work—no hazards either to life or limb, too. The foreman comes running over with tears streaming down his plain honest face, pressing a hand full of 50-cent cigars in the injured man's hand, gives him the afternoon off and sends him home in the boss' luxurious high powered limousine. The poor devil's wife has his health or safety. Now let's suppose the worst happens; he stubs his toe, is welling anxiously at the door.

JOHN W. BYNUM

John Bynum, another iron worker and pile driver, from El Cerrito, California, left home at the age of 13 and has been following the construction game ever since. His first job was as a weevil (helper) on a rig (oil well). John has worked on jobs throughout the States and has completed contracts in Egypt, Iraq, Iran, Byrun Island, Persian Gulf, Sadis, Arabia, Alaska, Old Mexico, Canada, British Guines, and other parts.

John likes the work on Guam better than any job he has been on to date.

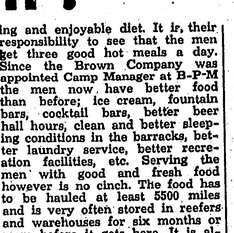
She quickly puts the injured lion's toe in a sling, makes him comfortable in the best easy chair, puts a tall cold drink in the poor man's limp hand and cautions the children to take off their shoes lest they disturb daddy who has been seriously injured in the grim struggle to earn the family daily bread.

H. C. WRIGHT

Mr. Wright, the superintendent of Camp Quezon where some 4,000 Filipinos are employed by Brown-Pacific-Maxon, is one of the most well known men in the Islands. When our reporter questioned Mr. Wright he issued the following modest statement:

"One of the first jobs I ever had was with Southern Pacific on extra-gang-15 which at that time was engaged in replacing steel rails from Yuma, Arizona to El Paso, Texas. After this was completed, we moved to California where for the next 15 years I worked with my father in construction and with the Hammond Lumber Company.

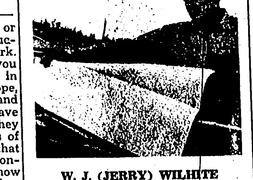
"Foreign jobs had always interested me but it was not until 1939 that I began seriously contemplating taking one. Since that time some of the jobs that I have been on have been in Midway, Honolulu, Canton, Alaska and Arabia. I am glad to say that I have completed contract on every foreign job which I have made and have met some of the smartest men in the construction game."



JOHN E. MEYERS

This lad is a construction stiff with 40 years experience doing iron work and pile driving in all parts of the world. Right at present he is driving piles for Brown-Pacific-Maxon on the Navy Cold Storage Building job. Meyers has completed contracts in the Canal Zone, Canada, Trinidad, New Caledonia, Japan, Equador, all over the States, and eventually hopes to have a completed contract on Guam. Meyers was one of 14 men who spent 14 months in the interior of the Canal Zone and was one of the three men who came out alive; the rest died of yellow fever.

Meyers says the toughest job he has been on to date is the one at Chalmont Slip, Louisiana, in the good old U.S.A. They were fighting muck and cave-ins and men were disappearing and dying in the mud daily and injured and maimed men were constantly being carried from the job.



W. J. (JERRY) WILHITE

Jerry Wilhite, the Brown-Pacific-Maxon building superintendent of Area 3, started his first construction job in 1920. Since that time he has built oil field installations, pipe lines, dams, highways, tanks, cement building, helped build the "Big-Inch" pipe line, etc. He has supervised jobs throughout the States, Mexico, Canada, and Alaska. He spent 20 months constructing 31 miles of undersea pipe line in Saudi Arabia and conducted and completed jobs in many other places. Jerry Wilhite is in charge of construction at Base 18 for Brown-Pacific-Maxon.

This isn't quite correct, however, as the family doesn't eat bread and cheese on the table at the same time. Fireside jobs have many attractions but usually good pay isn't one of them.

THE CONSTRUCTION STIFF follows the jobs rather than have the jobs come to him. In the first place he has to be a better than average craftsman to do the work that will be required of him. The job may be located 5,000 miles from the closest source of skilled labor. He will be in a spot, if he can't do his work right as it might the up thousands of men and cost millions of dollars.

A construction stiff's first requirements are good food and good money in the order named. The food at B-P-M is under the direction and management of the B. F. Brown Company and they are making every effort to see that the men get a wholesome nourishing and enjoyable diet. It is, their responsibility to see that the men get three good hot meals a day. Since the Brown Company was appointed Camp Manager at B-P-M the men now have better food than before; ice cream, fountain bars, cocktail bars, better beer hall hours, clean and better sleeping conditions in the barracks, better laundry service, better recreation facilities, etc. Serving the men with good and fresh food however is no cinch. The food has to be hauled at least 5500 miles and is very often stored in reefers and warehouses for six months or more before it gets here. It is almost impossible to give the men "home cooked" type meals under these conditions. The B. F. Brown Company has a man on Saipan right now who is endeavoring to establish a source of fresh friuts and vegatables to enhance the daily fare at the B-P-M mess halls.

The men on the outside jobs have conditions to contend with that the firesider doesn't even know exists. Men, now with B-P-M, have laid pipe lines and erected storage tanks at 70 degrees below zero in Sibera. Men lost fingers, ears, noses, and toes but the job was completed and not a man faltered. H. C. Wright and his boys have made installations on the blazing desert sands with the temperature at 165 degrees; tribesmen taking pot shots at them with ancient flint locks, but the boys completed their construction. This job on Guam is no clam bake. Some of you may not have noticed an article in the Sunday, March 14th edition of the GUAM NEWS telling something of the Talofofo Seepage Basin job. It described how the stiffs have had to rip roads out of solid coral on the edge of precipices through snarled and mosquito infested jungle, how the men are fighting tooth and nail to gouge out a pit 20 feet deep, 250 feet wide and 250 feet long from the root entangled floor of the Great Talofofo Swamp. Maybe some of you have seen the B-P-M men driving a tunnel under the Naval Reefer Building; having to fight water and adverse conditions every foot of the way.

The Base 18 job under Jerry Wilhite and his men was no cinch either. Naturally much of this work can be exceedingly dangerous upon occasion. The B-P-M organization has some of the finest Safety engineers in the country in its Safety Department and accidents at B-P-M are kept at a minimum. Nevertheless, the men know that the work can be dangerous but do their work in spite of it. You can bet, when you see a construction man here, he is earning his three squares a day.

Now just why do the men take these out-of-state and foreign jobs when they can get jobs close to home? Some of the answers are: There is more money in it; many of the fellows who have followed the jobs for several years have thirty or fourty thousand dollars salted away in the banks or income property. The average construction stiff hasn't any aversion to travel; he would just as soon be in India, France, or Guam as he would be in his own home town. The construction stiff is the true soldier of fortune. He travels forth across the face of the earth, does his work, makes some money, and travels on. He doesn't know where his next job will be and he doesn't care especially as he is confident in his own ability to arise to the occasion. When he starts a job he sees it through to the finish. Men who haven't got what it takes to be a construction stiff soon fall by the wayside.

The large contractors have been busily engaged in rehabilitating Guam since the hostilities ceased. The recent war hit Guam with all its devastating fury. When the fighting was over, nearly all the military installations on the Island were destroyed and roads, pipe lines, tanks and many of the villages, including the fair city of Agana, were demolished. Contracts given to large contractors who put out the call for construction men for the rehabilitation of Guam were to rally to the cause. Construction stiffs flocked to Guam from all parts of the earth.

On this page we have interviewed just a handful of real construction men who work for the Brown-Pacific-Maxon contractors, Noy-13931. There are thousands of these men on Guam today working for B-P-M, Pacific Island Engineers, Guam Dredging Co., and other huge contractors. When the work of the construction men is done on Guam the boats will take them over the horizon to other jobs and other countries.

In subsequent issues of the Guam News we will have stories telling of famous construction men, how they dodged the zap bullets to build air strips, encountered sand storms on the high seas, and something of the jobs and hardships that make up the life of "construction stiffs."

CHARLES S. THAXTON

Charles Thaxton entered the construction game at an early age when he took a job with a paving crew which was building highways. Eight years later Charlie had held down almost every job in the construction project from running the cats to supervising the jobs and laying out the roads. He completed a contract as superintendent of the concrete plant on the Buchanan Dam job and supervised cement and asphalt plants from coast to coast.

Roads that were built by Thaxton are recognized nationally as being among the finest in the United States. During the recent war Thaxton spent 21 months in the South Pacific as an officer with the Seabees in charge of heavy construction and equipment.

Thaxton was the sixth man on Guam for Brown-Pacific-Maxon as superintendent of the huge Grading Department. He organized and supervises the asphalt plant, crushers, coral pits, grading, and road building.

BEN F. HIGGINS

Ben is a carpenter and is another man who has followed the construction jobs all of his life. He did his bit in helping complete the Sepulvada Dam job and then took his first fling at foreign contracts —Midway. His next contract was in Houolulu which stretched out for 5 years and after various other jobs in various places, Ben finally landed on Guam. He likes this work and will probably renew his contract.

Ben, who works in the Brown-Pacific-Maxon sawmill, is married and his mighty sweet little wife is living in their own little home back in the States. Ben also has a son, and (some guys get all the luck.) even a grandson, Donald William.

HAROLD GARLINGER

Harold Garlinger is a Brown-Pacific-Maxon iron worker from Portsmouth, Ohio. Only those people who walked along on an 8" girder in a strong breeze and looked 20 miles down to the earth can appreciate the kind of chilled steel courage it takes to be an iron worker. Garlinger has followed his trade all on the Oakridge job and also for Bethlehem Steel. Garlinger has been on Guam with B-P-M for two months and says Mrs. Oak Ridge

Truman Orders Court Action on Coal Strike

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— President Truman today ordered court action to stop the 20-day coal strike because its continuation "will imperil the national safety".

Spokesmen for Attorney General Tom C. Clark said that "not later than Monday" he will seek a federal court injunction to halt the walkout under provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The President issued his order shortly after John L. Lewis sent a message to 400,000 United Mine Workers disclaiming responsibility for the strike.

Some industry sources promptly interpreted Lewis' message as a signal to the miners to go to work on Monday. This would forestall injunction proceedings.

Views Not Supported

Such optimistic views were not supported, however, by reaction from the UMW district presidents and members in the coal fields. The attitude there appeared to be that Lewis had not called the strike in the first place and today's message did not affect the situation.

Some operators thought the miners might continue their walkout in order to establish the validity of Lewis' argument that he is not to be the target of Taft-Hartley Law action.

Mine Workers to Decide on Strike

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— John L. Lewis today put it up to 400,000 United Mine Workers to decide whether they want to continue their 20-day-old strike or return to work.

Lewis made public another long letter to members of the union in which he said his March 11 letter was not any suggestion or direction to quit work.

"I now repeat," Lewis said, "that you are not under, and have never been under, any orders, directions or suggestions, expressed or implied from me, or any of the Union officers, to cease work or to continue to cease work in protest to the present conditions(as we see it) of the 1947 contract.

"As far as I know it is still the inherent right and privilege of American citizens to continue to exercise the right of free speech and freedom of assembly."

UN to Reconsider Future of Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 4 (UP)— Secretary General Trygve Lie today summoned the 57 members of the United Nations to meet April 16 for an emergency session of the General Assembly to reconsider the future of Palestine.

The messages went out just one year to the day after Great Britain tossed the Holy Land problem to the UN and asked it to determine the future government of Palestine.

Lie acted on orders from the UN Security Council, which voted 9 to 0 last night in favor of the United States demand for an immediate assembly meeting. Russia withheld its big five veto, and the Soviet Ukrane abstained from the vote.

Reds-Finns Stalled

HELSINKI, Finland, April 4 —(UP)— Two delegates to the stalled Russian-Finnish Treaty negotiations in Moscow were handed highly secret strategic instructions tonight and the Commander-in-Chief of the Finnish Army said that all Army leaves are being suspended. Gen. Aarne Sihov said Army leaves are being suspended because there are not enough recurits to fill the gaps in Finland's Armed Forces.

Headline Highlights

WASHINGTON April 3 —(UP)— The administration asked Congress today for authority to draft men 19 through 25 and to increase the strength of the Armed Services to a total of 1,734,000 men.

WASHINGTON April 3 —(UP)— Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today called for "immediate steps" to fill the ranks of the Armed Forces, plus Universal Military Training to enable this country to "achieve its purposes abroad."

NEW YORK, April 4 —(UP)— Rear Admiral Gordon G. McLintock took command as superintendent of the United States Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y. today. The retiring superintendent, Rear Admiral Richard R. McNulty, has been transferred to Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— Maurice C. Latta, chief executive clerk at the White House, died suddenly today at the Naval Hospital. Latta's service at the White House covered almost 50 years and embraced nine administrations.

The veteran White House staff member was 78.

U.S. Launches Biggest Block To Communism

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— Congress today set the United States on its largest peacetime foreign spending program in history by approving a $6,098,000,000 aid bill to spur world recovery and block the spread of Communism.

The House and Senate swiftly approved the final version of the single package bill which provides aid for the 16 nations included in the European Recovery Program, and for Greece, Turkey and China. The House, which voted first, overwhelmingly approved the measure by a vote of 317 to 75. It sent the bill to the Senate which gave its approval with little talk.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote.

The bill provides $5,300,000,000 for the 16 Marshall Plan Nations; $275,000,000 for military aid for Greece and Turkey; $463,000,000 in economic and military aid for China, and $60,000,000 for the care of children in war-ravaged Europe.

Troop Exercises Test Northern Defenses

SEATTLE, Wash. April 4 —(UP)— United States Armed Forces in Alaska were disclosed today to be conducting a 90-day field exercise to test the mobility of personnel and operation of equipment along the far northern defense border.

An American Air Force spokesman at Edmonton, Alaska however, described reports of a great aerial armada flying northward as "greatly exaggerated." He said troop movements were "strictly routine."

At Anchorage, Alaska, fully armed and helmeted soldiers from Fort Richardson began patrolling the city's streets and alarmed some citizens into thinking war was imminent.

Calcutta Reds Strike

CALCUTTA, April 4 —(UP)— Police dragged 50 Communist-inspired hungry strikers from 14 government offices today, and took them off to jail.

The strikers had locked themselves in the offices at the end of the second day of the strike which Communist incited yesterday in answer to police raids on Communist headquarters in a number of cities of India.

Most went quietly to jail, but about 15 resisted the police, and they were charged with "rioutous conduct."

The strikers were expected to decide over the weekend whether to call off the walkout in view of its dwindling popularity with the government workers. Nearly half of the 4,000 to 5,000 who struck yesterday had reported for work today.

U.S. Counters Russia's Blockade

BERLIN, April 4 —(UP)— The United States turned the tables on Russia today in the "battle of Berlin."

Reacting sharply to the new stringent Russian orders covering traffic through the Soviet-occupied zone of Germany to and from Berlin, U. S. authorities threw more than 50 military policemen with tommy-guns around the Soviet rail control center.

The building is in the American zone of Berlin, but from it are directed almost all Russian train movements throughout their zone. The American soldiers prevented any Russians from entering.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American Military Commander, told the United Press that U. S. armed guards would remain around the building as long as the Russians keep armed guards within it. He said an official demand had been made on Soviet authorities to explain why Russian armed guards had been sent into the American sector.

These were the developments:

1. Col. Frank L. Howley, U. S. Military Governor for the American sector of Berlin, flatly refused a Russian request that the troops be withdrawn from the traffic control center, called the "Reichsbahn." He said the guard had been placed there because the Russians sought to post sentries outside the building for two years, during which they had remained in the building.

Food and vodka was sent them by the Russians, who were not permitted to deliver the packages.

2. Two Russian generals, their chests flashing medals, were among at least 34 Russians refused entry to the building. They glared at three American MP's who stood at attention and blocked the doorway, but said nothing. Another Russian officer insisted on shaking hands with an American captain when he was turned away.

Hoffman Lead Man For ERP Director

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— W. G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker Corp. has the "inside track" for the job of directing the European Recovery Program, it was learned today.

Realiable government officials told a reporter that the South Bend automobile manufacturer is getting first consideration by President Truman for the $20,000 a year post. At least three additional men are said to be under consideration by the President.

It is not known whether Hoffman would accept the post if offered. He is en route to the United States from a survey trip to Japan and Korea.

The President's choice for ERP administrator requires Senate confirmation.

Hoffman was a member of President Truman's special committee on Foreign Aid which conducted an intensive study of UN's ability to help western Europe. He also is a member of the Commerce Department's Business Advisory Committee, and a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago.

Hoffman, who is 56, has been president of Studebaker since 1935.

Generalissimo Gains In Presidential Race

NANKING, April 4 —(UP)— A formal movement to elect Chiang Kai-Shek President of the Chinese Republic gained momentum today as government officials, university presidents, and many non-partisans canvassed National Assembly Delegates for signatures supporting Chiang's nomination.

The Central Daily News reported that 100 members of the Yunan and Kansu National Assembly Delegation, including Chow Chung-Yuen, ex-minister of the interior, jointly signed their names in support of the Generalissmo.

Hsu Fu-Lin, acting head of the Democratic Socialist party, called for the election of a minority party or non-partisan candidate as China's vice president.

Congressman Refused Passport to Paris Meet

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— The State Department disclosed tonight that it had refused to issue a passport to Rep. Leo Isacson, American Labor Party Congressman from New York, who wanted to attend a meeting in Paris next month dedicated to furnishing aid to Greek guerrilla forces.

The department's action in refusing a passport to a congressman was unprecedented.

Cunningham Asks for Peace In Holy Land

JERUSALEM, Palestine, April 4 —(UP)— British High Commissioner Sir Alan Cunningham made an unprecedented appeal today for Jews and Arabs to stop shooting before it is too late, the Arabs began putting the finishing touches on their blockade around Jerusalem. They also massed troops in the Judean hills for a fight to regain the vital Jewish-occupied village of Kastal, on the road to Tel Aviv, one of Jerusalem's main lifelines.

Battle May Develop

Observers said the fight might develop into a major battle tonight. The blockade of Jerusalem squeezed Jewish food supplies to a trickle. There was no more fuel. The cutting off of electricity and water would make the blockade complete.

Water was becoming the deciding factor in the Arab's attempts to conquer Jerusalem.

Supersonic Secrets Learned From Rockets

White Sands Proving Grounds, N. M., April 4 —(UP)— Samples of air at altitudes of 90 miles were obtained today in the experimental firing of a V-2 rocket here.

Major J. B. Dickey, Army spokesman at the proving grounds, said that special evacuated air sampling bottles were located strategically in the body of the rocket. They captured the air samples as the rocket ascended at a speed of about 3,200 miles per hour.

Explosives Supply Information

The experiment also measured the velocity of sound at high altitudes, the information officer explained. Explosive charges were ejected from the rocket while in flight and optical tracking of the smoke puffs from the charges was expected to supply information relating to upper atmospheric winds, Major Dickey said.

An intensive search was launched at a point about 49 miles from the firing site where the atmospheric research gear carried in the missile was believed to have fallen, according to the announcement.

The meteorological experiments were conducted by the Meteorological Branch of the Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and the University of Michigan.

Communist Arms Seized in Italy

ROME, April 4 —(UP)— Italian police cracked down today on apparent efforts of Comunists to arm —with foreign help—for possible violence during or after the Italian elections April 18.

In the port of Molfetta, north of Bari, police seized an Italian ship and motorship carrying 300 cases of rifles and "a huge quantity" of rifle ammunition, apparently brought from Fiume, in Yugoslavia territory, and from the free city of Trieste.

In Sicily, police raided five towns and arrested 200 people, and confiscated large quantities of guns and ammunition. They said they also found "uniforms and helmets of Russian type" and insignia for the new "Garibaldi Brigades" allegedly being formed by the Communists.

Rising election tensions erupted in Sicily last night and early today in at least a dozen instances of violence. Communists were aroused over alleged assassinations of 36 leftist labor leaders in Sicily in two years—the latest only yesterday. The Communist-controlled labor federation staged a 10-minute work stoppage in Sicily.

Spaatz Follows B-17's Into Retirement

WASHINGTON, April 4 —(UP)— Tooey of the Air Force is shucking his four-star uniform to follow his beloved B-17's into retirement.

Tooey is Gen. Carl Andrew Spaatz. He is the great American master of the use of strategic bombers in time of war. What Miller Huggins and John McGraw were to the golden age of baseball, Spaatz was to the art of strategic bombing.

Then General and a lot of other ble air officers invented strategic bombing. They dreamed-up the famous B-17 to fit their plan. When the time came, it was Spaatz who directed the strategic Air Force of the United States—first in America, later from headquarters in England and France, and finally from a Pacific island where he issued the order that sent the atomic bomb dropping on Hiroshima.

Spaatz and the B-17 were a deadly pair. It was his favorite airplane. Although his last combat command in the Pacific was a big B-29 affair, Spaatz was true to the old Flying Fortress.

He used one as his air headquarters. His B-17 was named "The Boops," after his younger daughter, and he is mighty fond of both of them.

Bombay Police Arrest Two Red Leaders

BOMBAY, India, April 4 —(UP) — Police raided Communist headquarters and newspapers throughout India today and arrested hundreds, including two top leaders, in what was believed to eradicate Communism from the new dominion.

The raids were carried out without violence although extra precautions were taken tonight in Bombay's seething mill areas where demonstrations were expected.

Concurrent with the raids, 4,000 Calcutta government workers went on a sitdown and hunger strike, reportedly Communist-inspired, to protest government plans to cut down big war-time staffs.

Steel-helmeted Gurkha troops patrolled government offices and at closing time police emptied the building of all strikers without violence. At least 50 pickets were arrested.

Children Refugees

ATHENS, Greece, April 3 —(UP; Eleven hundred children from four to 14 years of age arrived by ship today at Piraeus, the Port of Athens They are the first of a number the government is evacuating from northern Greece to keep from being kidnaped by guerrillas.

The group came from Alexandroupoulis area in northeastern Greece Other children greeted them at the dock with candy and food before buses whisked them off to homes which will care for them temporarily. Two of the group are blind boys.

Food Arrives In Berlin

BERLIN, April, 4 —(UP)— The first American freight train to arrive from western Germany since Soviet officials imposed rigid traffic controls three days ago pulled into Wannsee station at 8:15 a. m. today after an overnight trip through the Soviet zone. It brought food to the 10,000 Americans in Berlin.

Free Men

SHANGHAI, April 4 —(UP)— Five Chinese who held high positions under the Puppet Japanese Regime during the war were to be released from the Municipal Jail over the weekend after completing sentences of two-and-a-half years each.

They are Yuen yu Chong, health bureau commissioner; Yip su Chun, public utilities chief; King hung Kai, publisher; Ping Pao Chen Yi Yu, merchant grildnhead, Afd Shen wei Ting, who headed the tobacco monopoly under the Japanese.

April Fool's Day Jokes

NANKING, April 4 —(UP)— Repercussions of April Fool's Day are still being heard here with citizens protesting that the press sent hundreds of the gullible on one wild goose chase after another with a series of hoaxes.

Over 100 persons scurried over to the Omea Hotel in response to an announcement in one paper that would-be explorer Milton Reynolds was giving out free ball point pens. Thousands rushed to an isolated temple to await the arrival of a hermit bearing "mysterious gifts."

A minor riot broke out at the Central Hotel as a result of another false report stating that Meinmang Fang' China's leading actor, had arrived there.

War Dead Arrive in U.S.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 3 —(UP) Bodies of 1,150 American World War II dead tonight were being removed from the Army Transport Honda Knot, which arrived today.

The remains were taken aboard at Cuba, Puerto Rico, Trinidad, Panama, and Central and South America.

Special service were held upon the ship's arrival at Oakland this morning.

USS SAIPAN VISITS VENEZUELA — On February 15, members of the crew of the USS Saipan (CVL—48), both regulars and reservists, participated in a parade in Venezuela. The following day the Saipan gave a show of her might to Venezuelan military personnel. In photograph above, Commander F. B. Hopkins, USN, points out some of the particulars of the fine art of landing a plane aboard an aircraft carrier. (Official U. S. Navy Photo)

MarBo Delays Establishment of Leave Ship

MARBO — Establishment of a leave ship to travel between Guam and Japan for Military and Civilian personnel has been held up for the time being, it was announced recently at MarBo Base Command.

The idea was set forth some time ago when it was disclosed that a former Japanese liner would be made available for the tour. The leave included travel time and allows about 10 days in the Tokyo vicinity.

Certain repairs would be necessary to put the ship in the desired operating condition. However, recent changes in maritime safety regulations will make it necessary to incorporate more repairs than at first considered necessary. The expenditures involved for refurnishing the craft was not deemed advisable at this time.

Hence, the proposed twenty day all expense inclusive tours will not, for the present, be put into effect.

According to early-day superstition in Oklahoma, if a cock crowed three times at one's door, on the porch or on the back doorsteps, a stranger would arrive soon.

Lock Your Vehicle . . . Or Lose It

A recent police report listed six vehicles stolen in one day.

This is an alarmingly large number, and yet these thefts are committed day after day.

Cited as the main cause of these thefts is the fact that owners fail to exercise necessary precautions in ensuring the safety of their vehicles. They are left in easily accessible places, often unlocked, and a veritable invitation to theft. Many vehicles also fail to carry necessary identification which would facilitate tracking down in case of theft.

For this reason, it is strongly urged that anyone possessing or operating a vehicle, whether his own or the government's, take special care in eliminating opportunities for theft by locking his vehicle, parking it within sight, and placing proper markings and identificaton of ownership.

Kutter-Brown Wed At ComMar Chapel

In a simple wedding ceremony at ComMar Chapel, Margaret C. Kutter became the bride of Richard S. Brown April 2 at 7:00 p.m. The sacred rites were performed by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Loren T. Jenks, MarBo Base Command.

Prior to the ceremony the guests listened to the melody of love songs played on the organ by Miss Margaret Smith. Sgt. Raymond Smith, 797th Finance, MarBo, sang "Because." The bridal party walked down the aisle to the altar as the beautiful strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March filled the Chapel.

The bride wore a sheer pale rose ankle-length dress. The skirt was exceedingly full, accordian pleated with a drape bodice. The slippers were also of matching pale rose and she wore a pert little rose toque embroidered with small pearls. The bride's bouquet was of Guamanian bridal flowers and she wore a white orchid corsage fastened with pink ribbon. Miss Dolly Deering was maid of honor dressed in a turquoise gown with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white gardenias and white silk net. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Stephen H. Gulledge.

A reception was given at the Builders' Club immediately following the ceremony. Sparkling punch, tasty sandwiches, and a delicious three layer cake were served. The health and happiness of the bride and groom wre toasted by their many friends who had gathered for the joyful occasion. The bride is an employe of the Brown-Pacific-Maxon organization and Mr. Brown has been associated with the Island Public Works for several years. The couple will make their home on Guam.

U. S. Grant Headed For Scrap Pile

LOS ANGELES —(UP)— The old U. S. Grant, queen of the Army transports and once the pride of the German Merchant Marine, is going into the scrap iron heap.

Cutting torches at the Cal ship yard in Los Angeles harbor will soon burn into the liner, which has carried more troops to battle fronts than any other ship in history.

Oiled Roads Offer Serious Hazard

HARMON AIR FORCE BASE — Oiled roads were the cause of several minor accidents at Harmon Field last week.

Extreme Caution Necessary

All roadways at Harmon Field have been covered with oil to hold down dust and for that reason are very slippery. Extreme caution is required to prevent serious accidents, announced 1st Lt. Lloyd E. Crimmins, Harmon Field ground safety officer.

All pedestrians are urged to walk facing traffic and to be watchful at all times. Drivers have been instructed to drive slowly and if necessary to use four wheel drive to prevent slipping and skidding.

SPORTS SCOPE

By Larry McMahon

LOOKIN' AROUND THE ROCK—If someone tries to snow you by saying they can bowl 200 or more—be sure you make them prove it. The NOB command is opening it's new Recreation Center the tenth of this month and it will be one of the most modern recreation centers on the Island.

If you're not a Ned Day in bowling or don't care too much about the game—you will most likely find talent for the "game room." When you venture into this building, you can stretch and exercise every muscle in your body at ping pong—put yourself behind the eight ball in a game of pool— or try your luck at billiards. The game room features three of the most popular sports among servicemen and should end a lot of griping from the chaps that claim the Navy isn't furnishing enough entertainment.

For those that hail from way up in Yankee territory and find it hard to get to the southern end of the Island, let alone having time to challenge some "rebel" in a game of some sort, they are reminded to stop at the canteen for sandwiches and soft drinks with an added snack of ice cream. The canteen will oblige you with service right to your jeep—or car door. You'll be able to enjoy the service's of Pop's (stateside) root beer stand.

The Rec Center will open at 1300 daily with closing time slated to be 2230. It gives you nine full hours to stop in and really enjoy yourselves. Many of the dependents that find sitting at home in the afternoon hard to do—can stop in and treat themselves with plenty of exercise. Watch for the "grand opening" announcement next week.

WOW!!! The lid sure flew off in a hurry when it came to finding but that many rapid Cardinal fans are spending this season on Guam. To assure the fans that the Cardinals will rate as well as any other team in the Guam Sports News—they will. If they can win the pennant this year or place in the top four——more power to them!!!!!

Softball Pitchers Star

The ComMar Hilltoppers halted the NavComSta softball drive yesterday at the losers diamond with a 3-0, victory. It was "Iron Arm" Mike Simerly tossing another one hit game for the Hilltoppers that highlighted the hard-fought battle.

The only hit off of Mike came in the last of the second inning which dropped just out of the reach of Right Fielder, Jim Smiley, of ComMar. Simerly took over the earned run department by pitching his thirteenth victory of the season which include a no hit-no run game against Fifth Service and ten shutouts with eight of the shutouts being one hit performances.

The Hilltoppers scored their first run of the ball game in the top of the fourth with two hits and later scored two runs in the top of the fifth on one hit and two NCS errors. The NavComSta pitcher, Mitchel, allowed ComMar only four hits and turned in one of his best pitching performances thus far.

Agana And NATS Win

The NAS Agana men kept on the road to victory by downing the MAG 24 Marines, 9-2, at the Agana diamond. "Pappy" Granger allowed only two hits while the MAG 24 Pitcher, Dudell, gave up ten hits. Agana had a perfect fielding day as MAG 24 committed three errors.

Bernard Carlock, NATS Asia star pitcher, just missed his third consecutive no hit victory when he gave up a hit in the fifth inning to the 1st Marine Brigade as NATS went on to win 2-0, on the NATS diamond. [illegible] Clard of the Brigade allowed [illegible] two hits in the tight battle [illegible] allowed NATS to score twice.

The [illegible]S Asia team, regarded as one [illegible] top four teams at the start [illegible] season, went into a tie [illegible] fourth place with MAG 24 as a result of the victory.

The results of the other games played were not reported. It would be greatly appreciated if the teams failing to report their games would comply with the league rules that were agreed upon at the start of the season.

Former Track Star Halted by Ex-Dodger

CHICAGO, April 4 —(UP)— What happens when an Ex-Dodger hurler tangles with a former track star from the Bronx is something very rare indeed.

Police said it all began last night when Alexander Long, 31, once a trackman in the Bronx, was having a drink in a hotel bar with Lorraine Hischke of St. Joseph, Mich.

Long told his companion he had to leave for a few minutes. Miss Mischke said as he walked away she noticed he was carrying her purse. She screamed and Long shot off in a dash for the door.

At this point, House Detective Dick Pfieffer, once of Brooklyn, entered the proceedings.

The two men spun around in the revolving door until Pfeiffer put his foot in it.

Trapped, Long paid tribute to his captor's running ability.

"Ah, there was nothin' to it,' Pfieffer declared. "I used to pitch for the Bums and that's good training."

Long was placed under arrest.

Ann Curtis Defeated By Corridon in Upset

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 4 —(UP)— Marie Corridon of the Womens' Swimming Association of New York City upset defending Champion Ann Curtis in the finals of the 100-yard free style event today to set a new national record of 59.9 seconds in the 1948 senior indoor swimming and diving championship meet.

The New York swimming champion's record broke the 60 second mark set in 1931 by Helen Matison.

Miss Curtis of San Francisco took second place and Brenda Helser of Los Angeles, third.

The 200-yard back stroke event was won by Sue Zimmerman of the Monarch Athletic Club of Portland, Ore., who covered the course in two minutes 29.4 seconds. Trailing her was Muriel Mellon of Los Angeles in second place and Maureen O'Brien of Newark, N. J., in third place.

Lyman-Kohlas and Warfield-Hazel Win Semi-Final Matches in Tennis Tourney

That it is nearly always fatal to be off your game when your opponent is on was proved yesterday as Major Andy Lyman and Cdr. Albert Kohlhas took a fast 6-2, 6-1 semi-final match from Lcdr. J. D Smith and Captain J.B. Dunn in the open doubles class of the second annual GUAM NEWS tennis tournament.

It the other bracket open singles champion Davis Warfield and Captain George Hazel had to fight hard to [illegible] took the [illegible] move [illegible] Lt. Fred [illegible] berth [illegible]

Warfield, ever steady and accurate, and Hazel, with a whizzing forehand drive, were forced the limit in eliminating the spectacular twosome of Hanson and Kriz, and can score an assist to Kriz' temper, which threw him off his game after the final game of the first set.

The two teams battled on even terms in the first set, with Hanson getting a majority of the points on sparkling net play. The 14th and final game of the first set was the heartbreaker that got Kriz fire up. The score went to duece seven times before Warfield and Hazel finally ended it and it was Kriz' inability to get his first service in that kept H & K from winning the game. Each time the score was duece, Hazel smashed the easy second service where Kriz could not return it. After that game, the going was not nearly so tough for Warfield and Hazel, and they went on to take the second set in half the time it took for the first.

Verdeur Defends Two AAU Titles; Sets World Record

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 4 —(UP)— Fleet Joe Verdeur of Philadelphia successfully defended his National A. A. U. championships in both the 220-yard breaststroke and the 300-yard medley tonight, setting a new world's record in the breaststroke.

The 21-year-old pre-dental student from LaSalle College streaked through the waters of Payne Whitney Pool to take the breaststroke in 2:30.5. There is no official world record for 220-yards, but his time was good enough to eclipse his own mark at 200 meters.

In winning his trial heat earlier in the day in 2:32 (setting a new American record for 220 yards) he was clocked in 2:31.3 for 200 meters, seven-tenths of a second better than his unofficial mark.

No time clocking was made in the final, but his 220-yard time is unlikeable to the shorter distance. For the first 100 yards he trailed Bob Sohl of Michigan, the Big Nine champion; and then pulled away to win by 200 yards as Bill Schmidt of the York, Pa. YMCA beat out Sohl for second place.

Sohl's defeat was typical of a day of disappointment for Michigan which was a pre tourney favorite for the team title.

At the end of the day with six championships completed and five more to go tomorrow, Ohio State led with 27 points as the Brighton Swim Club of Atlantic City, N. J., tied for second with Michigan at 13 points. The New Haven Swim Club was fourth with 10 points.

All men having entered the Navy Tennis tournament that have not contacted the welfare and recreation officer, as yet, are advised to do so by calling AT 3149.

Olympic Boxing Receives Three Russian Proposals

LONDON, April 4 —(UP)— Russia announced today that she is ready to join the International Amateur Boxing Association, provided the organization is prepared to hew to the Communist line.

Membership in AIBA, the international governing body for amateur boxing, is a pre-requisite for participation in the Olympic fistic competition at London next summer.

Lt. Col. R. H. Russell, secretary of AIBA, said that the Soviet embassy had notified the association's Paris headquarters that the Soviet Union would like to join, provided three conditions could be met:

1. Russian should become one of the AIBA's official languages, along with English and French.

2. Fascist Spain should promptly be ousted from association membership.

3. Russia should be granted a seat on the AIBA executive committee.

Russell said that he had requested two copies of the Soviet boxing constitution for study, in accordance with AIBA membership rules, and had notified the Embassy that if Russia becomes a member she can present her proposals to the AIBA congress which will be held just before the Olympic games.

Inflation Strikes Golf Prize Money

CHICAGO, April 4 —(UP)— Inflations effect on professional golfing prize money was shown today when official PGA figures revealed that Lloyd Mangrum, 1948's leading money winner, has earned nearly as much in three months as the 1942 leader, Ben Hogan, gained in six.

Despite the approximate $3,500 edge which the Chicago pro held on second place Bobby Locke of South Africa, he still must win the lone remaining tourney on the winter swing, the Masters at Augusta, to surpass the record earnings picked by Jimmy Demaret last year.

Demaret's winnings on the 1947 winter circuit was $[illegible] highest ever posted by [illegible] the swing.

Finland, Russia Agree on Treaty

HELSINKI, Finland, April 7 —(UP)— Finland and Russia signed a treaty of friendship and mutual aid in Moscow's Kremlin at 9 p. m. today. The treaty provides that Finland go to war only to defend her own territory.

The pact proposed by Premier Josef Stalin was signed by Premier Mauno Pekkala for Finland and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for the Soviet Union.

(Radio Moscow said Stalin himself was present at the ceremony and a United Press report from Moscow said the treaty was toasted with champaign. Premier Pekkala may return to Helsinki by air tomorrow, the dispatch said.)

The treaty, concluded 16 days after the Finnish treaty delegation department for Moscow, appeared to be just what the Finns had asked for.

The treaty made no provision for Soviet military bases in Finland, territorial concessions or border adjustments.

It provides that Finland is to go to war only if this country is attacked or the Soviet Union, through Finland. Soviet aid to Finland will be mutually agreed upon. The two states will consult each other if threats of aggression arise.

United States Leads In Duel for Korea

SEOUL, Korea, April 7 —(UP)— A razzle-dazzle American promotion campaign sent southern Koreans flocking to election registration booths today and gave the United States a preliminary advantage over Russia in their diplomatic duel for Korea.

Reports from all over southern Korea indicated that more than 60 per cent of the potential voters in the American occupation zone would register for the general elections May 10, which Russia is opposing.

This heavy registration—heavier than in many parts of the United States—will add prestige to the government which will be selected in the first elections in Korea's 4,000-year-old history.

Fresh Gov't Troops Arrive in Manchuria

NANKING, April 7 —(UP)— Pro-government dispatchers said today that "tens of thousands" of fresh government troops have arrived in Manchuria, as press dispatches reported heavy fighting in the suburbs of Changchun.

The newspaper Hsinminpao said Communists were launching a major attack on Changchun, northernmost Nationalist outpost. Heavy fighting also was reported in progress near the Tafangshan Airfield.

Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy. Scattered light showers late afternoon and evening. Light variable winds.

Rail Unions Ready To Negotiate

CLEVELAND, April 7 —(UP)— Three rail unions today turned down a Presidential Emergency Board's wage recommendations but said they are willing to negotiate their differences before April 27th otherwise "we shall set a strike date."

General chairmen of the three brotherhoods, the firemen and enginemen, the engineers, and the switchmen voted to reject the board's 15 and one-half cent an hour increase plus some rule changes after two heated days of debate here.

Chinese Will Ask For Reynold's Prosecution

NANKING, April 7 —(UP)— The Chinese government will ask the U.S. Civil Aeronautics Board to take action against millionaire Milton Reynolds for alleged violation of Chinese law in his sneak departure from Shanghai, it was disclosed today.

Request Will be Forwarded

An official request that Reynolds be punished will be forwarded to the United States Government, a spokesman for the Chinese Civil Aviation Bureau said.

The spokesman added that a Chinese Government message requesting that Reynolds be detained in Tokyo apparently had reached Allied Headquarters after the manufacturer had already taken off for Honolulu.

Arrives in Honolulu

Reynolds' Pilot William C. Odom and the crew of the converted bomber "Explorer" landed at Honolulu late last night.

The English-Language Press in Shanghai administered stinging editorial rebukes, meanwhile, to Reynolds, whose expedition to measure the Amne Machin mountains was called off in a flurry of controversy.

"If we were defending him in court, we would plead 'temporary insanity,'" the American-owned Shanghai Evening Post and Mercury said.

John L. Lewis, Operators to Meet On Solution for 24-day-old Strike

WASHINGTON, April 7 —(UP)— Soft coal operators agreed to night to meet with John L. Lewis to seek a solution of the 24-day-old mine strike, but not on his terms.

They notified Lewis and his United Mine Workers that they were agreeable to a 2:30 p. m. meeting tomorrow. But they said the meeting would be attended only by operator representatives already participating in the negotations.

Lewis had demanded that the meeting be attended by Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corporation and George M. Humphery, president of Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co.

The operators replied, "It is not within your province or authority to choose the persons who represent the coal operators in collective bargaining representation."

Lewis suggested tomorrow's meeting with the Fairless-Humphery string attached in rejecting a proposal by the operators that he confer with them today.

Lewis and the operators were ordered by Federal Judge Mathew F. McGuire last Saturday to end the strike and reopen negotiations at once.

Unless Lewis or his representative opens the negotiations tomorrow, he and the miners may face a contempt of court action. The Justice Department is ready to proceed against him if the strike is prolonged.

The operators, by signifying a willingness to meet with Lewis, cleared themselves of any possible contempt action.

Meantime, the soft coal stoppage spread to the Pennsylvania Anthracite Fields where more than 20,000 hard coal miners quit the pits in a sympathy strike. Approximately 40,000 were expected to be idle by tomorrow.

Kuomintang Party Refuses to Accept Chiang's Decision

NANKING, China, April 7 —(UP)— Top Kuomintang Party leaders today rejected Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's decision not to run for the presidency of China.

Vice President Sun Fo heading a Kuomintang committee considering Chiang's request that the party nominate someone outside the Kuomintang, said the Generalissimo should be "landed for the great and noble spirit displayed by his attempt to renounce the presidency."

"But," he added, "the ship of state cannot do without him at this time."

Committee Resolves

The 40-man committee resolved to recommend to the party's central executive committee that Chiang be urged to run for reelection. If the executive committee accepts the report, Chiang will be forced either to bow to the party decision or to refuse to submit to party discipline—which the Generalissimo traditionally champions.

Sources close to Chiang still protested to believe he was sincere in his desire to yield the presidency to a non-party candidate, but they were unable to predict what action he would take in view of the committee's rejection of his request.

Bomber Range Increased 75 Percent By Refueling in Flight

WASHINGTON, April 7 —(UP)— The Air Force disclosed officially today that bomber range can be increased by 50 to 75 per cent by refueling in the air.

In a statement foreshadowing significant changes in strategic air maps, a spokesman revealed that in-flight refueling of formations over the artic region now is considered "operationally feasible."

Specific planes were not mentioned, but the estimates indicated that the B-29 Superfortress could fly missions of 6,440 to 9,050 miles if aided by the aerial refueling procedures now available. Its wartime range was about 3,600 mile. It since has been increased to 4,600.

If applied to the new D-36 six-engine Superbomber, the Air Force's estimates would indicate a range of 11,200 to 14,000 miles.

The Air Force also disclosed, in response to inquiries, that "present modification activity is partly a result of Air Force developments in refueling." The only such activity that has been announced is that Boeing Airplane Company's Wichita, Kan., plant where B-29's are being modified.

Refueling in flight, the spokesman said, is designed to "reduce overseas logistic requirements in terms of manpower, time and money." It would reduce shipments of men, fuel, material and ammunition and "also construction of bases particularly in the stages of any conflict."

In March, 1944, the Air Force said, they were conducting tests with a B-24 Liberator as a tanker plan and a B-17 Flying Fortress as a receiver at Elgin Field, Fla.

Techniques developed since then point toward a "p of transfer" on fuel from one ne to another in flight, "sever times greater than that of the mmercial refueling procedure d equipment recently explored by British interests," the Air Force said.

House Considers Vote

WASHINGTON, April 7 —(UP) The House decided today to consider on April 14 President Truman's veto of legislation to exempt independent news vendors from Social Security coverage.

Gen. MacArthur, Thomas E. Dewey Trail by Substantial Margin

MILWAUKEE, April 7 —(UP)— Harold E. Stassen had a wide margin over Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey tonight in early, out-state returns in the Wisconsin presidential preference primary.

With more than one-third of the vote counted, 19 of Stassen's delegates were leading in his battle with MacArthur and Dewey for state wide delegates to the Republic national convention.

MacArthur was running second in his bid for delegates, and Dewey was blanked.

The voters turned out in record numbers to elect the delegates—seven at large and 20 in the state's ten congressional districts.

Stassen was leading in all seven delegate-at-large races and in 12 of the district races. MacArthur candidates were ahead in four of the district races. Four other races had not been reported. These all were in Milwaukee county, supposedly a MacArthur stronghold.

The Milwaukee count was snarled by the heaviest spring election vote in the city's history. The city is considered a MacArthur stronghold by his supporters and its vote might bring about a major swing in the trend.

Long lines of voters were waiting at polling places to cast their ballots more than two hours after the scheduled closing at 8 p. m. Persons not in line at 8 p. m. could not vote.

With 1,070 of the state's precints counted, this was the way the race for convention delegates stood:

	At Large	District	Total
Stassen	7	12	19
MacArthur	0	4	4

In the 1944 primary, Stassen won only four of the 19 delegates entered for him, but Dewey won 17.

In the voting for delegates at large, returns from 1,070 of the state's 3,138 precincts tonight showed that each of Stassen's pledged delegates had more votes than any of the MacArthur or Dewey candidates.

Stassen's high man was U. S Sen. Joseph McCarthy, Appleton, with 42,937. His lowest man was George Greeley, Oskosh, with 40,556.

McCarthy was 20,107 votes ahead of Dewey's higest man, and 7,919 ahead of MacArthur's highest man.

MacArthur's high man was Fred R. Zimmerman, with 35,018. His low man was Brig. Gen. Roy Farrand, Delafield, with 30,612.

Dewey's high man was Albert O'Melia with 22,830; his low man was Norris Kellman, Galesville, with 21,600.

McCarthy, one of Stassen's principal supporters, was jubilant over the former Minnesota governor's showing.

"Results for Stassen in the rural areas are phenomenal," he said. "The fact that the farmers have gone for Stassen shows they like to have a candidate discuss issues and tell them what he's for."

Armed Jews Kill 12 Britons in Raid on Camp

JERUSALEM, April 7 —(UP)— Armed Jews raided a British Army Camp in three speading cars today and in a wild burst of gunfire killed the camp commander and 11 of his men.

Four Jews, riding in a sedan which was accompanied by two police type armored cars, were reported captured by the British. One unconfirmed report said the other Jews escaped with some supplies of arms and ammunition.

The incident occurred at the Pardess Hanna Army Camp which is about five miles from the Palestine coast and about 25 miles south of Haifa on the road to Tel Aviv.

The British victims of the sudden raid were members of the 12th anti-tank regiment, which was preparing to evacuate the camp today.

Taxi Driver on Trial In Hit-Run Case

AGANA—The Island Court of Guam will try the case of Jose Taitano Santos, Guamanian taxi-cab driver who is charged with voluntary manslaughter next Wednesday morning April 14 at nine o'clock.

Santos is allegedly the cause of the death of Alfred M. Dias who was killed by a hit-and-run driver on the morning of February 29 on Marine Drive near Asan.

Santos is also charged with failure to stop and lend assistance to an accident and reckless driving. He has been realeased from the Guam Civil Jail on $1,000 bail.

Reds Order Strike

ROME, April 7 —(UP)— The Communist-dominated labor confederation today accused the government of complicity in the murder of 36 Sicilian leftists and ordered a one-hour protest strike by 6,000,000 Italian workers on April 12.

The strike, voted by the Confederation Executive Committee, would come just six days before the internationally-important Italian elections.

Since the committee rejected a proposal to strike for one day instead of one hour, some observers believed the Communists would not resort to an organized campaign of violence.

Navy Bids for Freedom Of Four Marine Flyers

TSINGTAO, April 7 —(UP)— Navy and Marine headquarters of the western Pacific fleet prepared today to begin their third set of negotiations with Chinese Communists for the release of captured Marine personnel.

A group of four Marine fliers were taken prisoner by the Communists yesterday following an emergency landing near Hungshiyai, 10 miles west of here. Their capture came just eight days after the release of four Marines who had been held since Christmas day.

The same pattern that eventually effected the release of the Marines captured on a hunting expedition was expected to be followed in the present case.

However, it was pointed out that yesterday's incident was a clear-cut case of emergency differing from the case of the Marines who entered Red territory on foot.

Korea

SEOUL, Korea, April 7 —(UP)— American Forces, divided into small groups, paraded throughout southern Korea today in observance of Army Day, but held no big demonstration.

Keynote of the observance was set by Military Governor Maj. Gen. William Dean who addressed U.S. Troops here, saying "we are not great in numbers but we have great responsibility."

General Dean reviewed 600 soldiers from transportation and quartermaster units who marched on an athletic field behind the Korean capitol. Thirty-six P51 Fighters buzzed the field.

Cdr McGlashen Relieves Buller at 103rd NCB

At a recent ceremony on the stage of the 103rd Naval Construction Battalion theater, CDR. R. G. Buller, CEC, USN, read his orders and relinquished the command of the battalion to CDR. Thos. G. McGlashen, CEC, USN, his successor.

CDR. Buller came to the 103rd Seabees and assumed his responsibilities as officer in charge November 4, 1946, reporting from the 12th Naval District Headquarters where he had had duty in the Public Works Department. He is now enroute to his new post at the Naval Ship Yard, Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

The Seabees' new skipper, CDR. McGlashen, has just come from the Norfolk Naval Ship Yard, Portsmouth, Virginia, where he had duty in the Public Works Department. Previous assignments were at the 15th Naval District Headquarters in the Canal Zone and the Naval Air Station, Quonset Point, Rhode Island. His home is in San Francisco, and he has been in the Navy since 1941.

CDR. McGlashen is married and has a three year old son. He anticipates the arrival of his family in the near future when they will reside in house number c-36 at the Base 18 dependents' housing area.

Adm. Bieri to Command 11th Naval District

WASHINGTON —(UP)—The Navy said recently that Vice Adm. Bernhard H. Bieri will become Commandant of the 11th Naval district with Hdq. at San Diego, Cal.

Bieri will succeed Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger, who already has been appointed to command Naval Forces, Western Pacific.

Inasmuch as the State of California maintains stringent guard against the importation of plants or insect pests into the state from foreign ports, the use of rice straw fibre for packing or securing personal baggage should be discontinued. Inspectors will usually strip the entire packing from the baggage in conducting their inspection.

20th Conducts Beautifying Project

HQ. 20TH AIR FORCE, A new project at 20th Air Force Headquarters that is producing exceptionally striking results is the combined landscape beautification and rodent control program operated by troops of the 1918th Engineer Aviation Company. Designed to rid the area of debris and tropical undergrowth, which at the same time will eliminate breeding places for insects and rodents, the work involves the removal of tons of topsoil after the ground has been bulldozed and graded.

To discourage the return of pests and to keep down dust that would otherwise cover the area, a small group of the men are sprinkling all bare ground and roadsides with old motor oil through the use of specially designed trucks. Not only has the oiling process neutralized the dust caused from the grading activities, but in some places considerably reduced accumulations in barracks and office buildings.

It is estimated that the program will be completed long before the rains return and that a smooth growth of wild grass will spring up where weeds thrived before.

Alertness Results in Recovery of Jeep

HQ. 29TH AIR FORCE,—Spotting a jeep off the end of the Harmon runway Monday at 1230, First Lt. Chester M. Hart's quick notification to Military Police resulted in the recovery of the vehicle which had been stolen Sunday night and the apprehension of a suspected enlisted man. Lt. Hart, Operations Officer for Twentieth's Headquarters Flight, was returning from a routine training flight in a C-45 airplane when he saw the jeep.

Believed to have been driven off the runway unintentionally in a getaway attempt, the vehicle sustained a broken windshield and other damage. On the shattered glass were blood and bits of hair, indicating injury to the driver.

In a check of dispensaries, alert Harmon MP's found that the suspect had been treated for head injuries and removal of glass fragments. He is being held awaiting charges.

Year's Active Duty Offered to Merchant Marine Officers

Junior officers of the Merchant Marine component of the U.S. Naval Reserve have been invited to apply for one year's active duty with pay and allowances of their ranks.

Only Fifty Merchant Marine Reserve officers were ordered to active duty during the past year. It is expected that 300 or more may be ordered to active duty afloat in combatant vessels. Ensigns who have not previously had active naval duty are preferred, including recent graduates of Federal and State Maritime Academies who have served six months in a licensed capacity in the Merchant Marine.

The Merchant Marine component of the U.S. Naval Reserve is composed of approximately 14,000 well-trained and qualified seagoing officers. More than 5,000 of this group were called to active duty during World War II, while the balance remained in merchant ships in logistic support of the Armed Forces.

TUMON BEACH PROCESSION—A long procession slowly winds its way back to the chapel after a pilgrimage down Tumon beach during ceremonies held Friday in commemoration of Guam's first missionary. (USAF Photo)

Ceremony Held for Guam Missionary

In an impressive early-morning ceremony on the shores of Tumon Bay, the Vicar Apostolic last Friday held memorial services in a tiny chapel beside the spot where the first Christian missionary was murdered in 1672.

Before the dedication, a long procession of native worshippers and church dignitaries wound slowly down Tumon Beach in solemn pilgrimage. Following the procession, Monseignor Oscar Calvo gave a short commemorative address. Mass was held by Bishop Apollinoris Baumgartner, Bishop of Guam.

The chapel is situated beside the remains of a small shrine destroyed by the Japanese during the last war. The monument itself is a small plaque dedicated to Father Diego Luis de Sanvitores, the first apostle of the Marianas, who was killed by a native chief during a baptismal ceremony. The monument was originally dedicated by Monseignor Olano, Vivar Apostolic, in January of 1940. During World War II, the plaque was in the possession of Monseignor Calvo, the only Guamanian Priest to have survived the war. It was replaced after the American Re-occupation.

Church dignitaries present at the ceremonies included Father Timothy, Chancellor of Guam, Father Paul, and Lt. Col. Charles M. Quest, Chaplain, USAF.

It kinda looks as though the WesPac All Navy boxing eliminations will be mainly between Marianas and China champs....Japan has sent word that lack personnel won't permit them to present a team, and the Philippines' only representatives will be one middleweight and one heavyweight....If they knew what those boys will have to face in the 165 and heavyweight classes here,I think they would keep them at home too....There's a welterweight in Japan named Jimmy Amadeo who should be here, says Johnny Kamber....Right now he's getting rave notices for his performance in the All Japan boxing tournament....

I'm kinda anxious to see the China team in action....They have a heavyweight there name of Chuck Katzakian they're counting on to go to San Diego for the All Navy Finals...Not long ago Bill Burke patted me on the head and "asked" that I stop referring to the fact he ran out of gas when he fought Katazakian in the Golden Gloves at Tsingtao last December, so I won't mention that....But anyhow, this Marine won a decision over Burke—one of the two that the China team won—and they brought down the house....Stout-hearted MP's smiled and one feminine admirer fainted....This possibly was from surprise, but I doubt it....

Champ?

Now the North China Marine, the weekly sheet in Tsingtao, is hailing little Chuck as the FMF-WESPAC heavyweight champion...What they don't know is that big Huebie had wrenched his shoulder a few days before his fight with Burke in the local Golden Golves finals....I don't expect to see Herbert pull another of his one-punch kayo's but I'll be surprised if it goes the full three rounds....He should derive no end of fun from seeing how many different ways he can bend Chuck's prominent proboscis....

Cagers Return

J. Shapely Squires and Pete Morgan were the first two members of the WesPac basketball team to get back from Pearl Harbor, arriving Monday night via NATS..

..Buzzy and Pete report that they had everything but a valet to keep their shoes shined....They were given fine chow and unlimited liberty....The rest of the team, incidentally, is now on the Mann headed in this direction....

Lujan to Stage Ten Amateur Bouts

Ten amateur boxing bouts will be staged Saturday night at the Paseo de Susana in Agana, Promoter Bill Lujan announced yesterday.

The bouts, starting at 1930, will be free to the general public, but a receptacle will be placed at the door for any voluntary contributions the spectators wish to make toward the Guam Memorial Hospital fund drive.

The card, composed wholly of Guamanians and other civilians, will be announced later.

ComMar Victorious As Early Hurls Four-Hit Shutout

After the dust had cleared Geiger Field yesterday afternoon, the big scoreboard showed an 8-0 victory for the ComMar Hilltoppers over the Orote Boondockers.

Bob "Fireball" Early set the Boondockers down with four hits to gain his second consecutive victory in as many starts. Early held the Orote nemen in check every inning and didn't allow a Boondocker to reach third base.

"Rebel" Clark launched a three base hit to open the power drive of ComMar's fifth victory and was followed by his teammates as they gathered a total of ten hits. Orote's losing pitcher, "Frenchie" St. Amant, didn't seem to be able to stop the "hit-crazy" Hilltoppers.

In other games played, the Fas-Ron 13 Airedales had to come from behind to down the NavCom-Sta club, 8-3, at the loser's home diamond. "Lefty" Allen set a new strikeout record for the league as he fanned twelve straight batters and totaled twenty victims in nine innings. The Fifth Service Leathernecks won their sixth straight by downing the 103rd CB's 11-7, at the CB diamond. The First Marine Brigade nosed out the NAD Trojans with a 3-2 victory at their home field. The Agana All Stars took their first league victory with a thrilling 7-5 ten inning contest at the Marine Barracks diamond and First AAA knocked off NBRS, 15-6.

SHAW SEES RECORD PURSE

INDIANAPOLIS, April 7—(UP) President Wilbur Shaw of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway predicted today thnt the prize purse for the annual 500-mile Memorial Day race would set a new record at approximately $160,000.

CHICAGO, April 7 —(UP)— The Ezzard Charles-Elmer Ray fight scheduled for April 12 was postponed for the second time today until May 7 after three physicians found that Charles had a sore back.

Beltin' Ben Barges Into Tourney Picture

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 7 —(UP) Belting Ben Hogan served warning today that he is to be reckoned with among the professionals in the Masters' golf tournament starting tomorrow, while Skee Riegel popped up as the main hope of the amateurs.

Up until now the pre-tourney talk has been all about "Lord Byron" Nelson, the famed par-buster, and Lloyd Mangrum, the year's leading money winner. But Hogan; the distance-hitter from Hershey, Pa., has barged into the speculation with a red-hot game.

Hogan, who has never won the Masters', turned in the best practice round yesterday. The little stroke-master carded a neat 67 over the rough Augusta National Golf Club course.

Riegel, the National Amateur champion from Upper Darby, Pa., looked equally impressive as he turned in a 68.

Frank Stranahan, who ranked alongside Riegel as the top Simon-pure athlete in the tourney, had his name officially struck off the list of entries yesterday. The strong-armed Toledo, O., player, it was reported, had argued with officials over the use of soft putting greens.

Schmeling Barred From U.S. Tour

WASHINGTON, April 7 —(UP) Plans to bring former Heavyweight Champion Max Schmeling back to this country for an exhibition fight tour were rejected today by the State Department, which refused to grant him a visa.

The decision not to admit the German ring star to the United States was announced by Rep. John McDowell, (R-Pa.), who had made a bitter protest against the planned tour.

McDowell said a letter he had received from H. K. L'Heureux, chief of the State Department's visa section, had stated that only a very select group of persons were granted visas by American consular authorities in Germany.

"Mr. Schmeling does not appear to come within any of the categories," L'Huereux wrote.

New Yorkers Lead in Race For AAU Boxing Crown

BOSTON, April 7 —(UP)— New York led in the battle for the team prize and the only two defending champions remained in the running tonight as the 60th annual national AAU boxing championships reached the semi-final state at Boston Garden before 4,941 fans.

The "Simon-pure" Bronx bombers, with six boxers ready for the final day of competition, set the pace for teams still qualified after two gruelling days of trials and quarter-finals.

Tomorrow 31 boxers from throughout the United States and Hawaii will slug through 24 bouts that will determine the champions—automatic qualifiers for Olympic team competition in June.

Hawaiians Lose Quarterfinals

Two Hawaiian fighters entered the semi-finals round as the quarter-finals proved disastrous to the Islanders' chances of walking off with the team prize.

Charles Kauhane decisioned Robert Prock, Fort Bragg, N. C., in the 118-pound quarter-finals and was followed by another Island victory by Jaimie Basquez in the 126-pound class. He decisioned Earl Priestly, Pleasantville, N. J.

However, three Hawaiians lost decisions in the quarter-finals. Mike Franco outpointed Joe Gardens in the 175-pound class; Frank Sodano, Philadelphia, took the measure of Chester Yasui in the 112-pound class; and Norman Hayes, Boston decisioned Jerry Mendoza in the 147-pound class.

In a four-way tie behind New York for second place in the team honors were aggregations from Philadelphia, Cincinnati, and Cleveland—each with three fighters still in competion. In a three-way tie for third place with two men each were Salt Lake City, Utah, Hawaii and New England.

Leading the parade of fighters remaining from the 178 who weighed in [illegible] Johnny Gonsalves of O[illegible], defender of the 135 [illegible]own and tough Grant Butler of San Francisco who was expected to maintain his hold on the 175-pound throne.

U. of Wisconsin Officials Ask Boxing Probe

MADISON, Wis., April 7 —(UP) The University of Wisconsin faculty today asked the school's athletic board to investigate collegiate boxing to determine if it should be abolished.

The faculty passed the resolution unanimously, and the athletic board said it would welcome an investigation.

Coach John Walsh of the Wisconsin boxing team said he already knew what the result of the investigation would be. He said the resolution referred to professional boxing deaths, but not to the collegiate sport.

Boxing Beneficial?

The resolution approved by the faculty group asked for a study of such matters as the probability of mental and physical injury, spectator behavior, and whether boxing advances the cultural standards of colleges and universities.

Walter Morton, professor of economics, said he had seen "punch drunk fighters on the campus," and thought the time had come when Wisconsin had to determine whether it was going to continue to sponsor boxing.

Wisconsin has been one of the leading schools in promoting collegiate boxing. In the national NCAA tournament held in Madison last weekend Wisconsin fighters won four individual titles and captured their fourth consecutive team championship.

Owen, Pasquel Told Trial in October

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., April 7 (UP)— Federal Judge Albert L. Reeves today ordered attorneys for Mickey Owen, former big league baseball player and Jorge Pasquel of the Mexican League to be ready for trial in October in Pasquel's $127,500 damage suit against Owen and Owen's counter-claim for $83,-908.

Owen, now a Greene county farmer became the centel of last summer's international baseball rivalry when Pasquel filed the suit asking $12,500 paid Owen as a bonus for signing with the Mexican League, $15,000 given as salary for 1950, the year his contract was to have terminated, and $100,000 in damages.

PCL Negro Seen As Box Office Boom

SAN FRANCISCO, April 7 —(UP)— The Pacific Coast League, one year behind the majors in the signing of a Negro player, now may possess one of the most valuable players in the business.

His name is John (Tony) Ritchey, a 23-year-old Negro-Spanish catcher, property of the San Diego Padres.

One ball game doesn't make a summer, but on the basis of performance in his first week in professional baseball, Ritchey may be quite a ball player—and gate attraction.

He has appeared in seven games for the Padres; went to bat 14 times, connected for eight hits, including one home run, and has driven in six runs.

If he is able to keep up his present pace—or somewhere near it—the PCL owners expect that he may boost the attendance on an average of 10 per cent in each city he plays.

Lewis Throws Legal Punch at Gov't To Delay Previous Court Order

WASHINGTON, April 10 —(UP)— John L. Lewis threw a legal punch of his own at the government and the soft coal mine operators today in a move that might forestall a court order sending his 400,000 miners back to work.

Lewis came out fighting as his walkout went through its 26th day by spreading unemployment and industrial slowdowns across the country and begining threats of punitive anti-strike legislation from Congress.

He sent his United Mine Workers (Ind) union lawyers into Federal Distrcit Court to ask dismissal of an operators' petition for a million dollar health and welfare fund.

Legal observers said Lewis might be able to drag out the court fight for 10 days through this tactic, and possibly keep the soft coal miners idle that much longer.

Demands Pensions

The entire dispute stems from Lewis' demand for $100 a month pensions for miners 60 or older, with 20 years service, the pension to be paid out of the welfare fund. The operators claimed he wants pensions for miners not entitled to them and insisted on a third trustee to replace the trustee who quit during the pension dispute deadlock. Lewis then accussed the operators of breaching their contract and his miners walked off the job.

Both Lewis and the operators were paying lip service to part of a federal court order issued on the negotiations. They met briefly today but without accomplishing anything.

A second bargaining session set for late this afternoon was postponed at the operators' request until Saturday. The mine owners did not explain the delay, but there was speculation that they might be preparing a counter-offer to Lewis' pension demand.

The April 3 order also directed Lewis to send his miners back into the pits "forthwith." The showdown that comes Monday when the UMW President and his Union are to appear in Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough's court here to show cause why they should not be punished for civil and criminal contempt for not reopening the mines.

Reynolds said he would follow any program proposed by Randolph. (AP Wirephoto)

200 Killed in Holyland

JERUSALEM, Palestine, April 10 —(UP)— A spokesman for the extremist Jewish Irgun Zai Leumi claimed tonight 200 Arab men women and children were killed when Jewish forces captured an Arab village 2-1/3 miles from Jerusalem.

The spokesman told newsman in a pre-arranged interview that the massacre took place at Deir Yasim in the Judean hills.

He said half of the 200 killed were women and children and that Irgunists had combined with forces of the Jewish Stern Gang in the operation.

There was no official confirmation of any of the reports and observers were quick to point out that in the past both Arabs and Jews have exaggerated accounts of battles and casualties.

The Irgun spokesman said arrangements were being made to hand the bodies over to the International Red Cross tomorrow.

He said the high number of casualties resulted from house to house fighting in which hand grenades were used freely,

The operation began at 4:30 a.m. and lasted two hours, he said. Irgun forces consisted of 100 men, he said, of whom four were killed and 37 wounded, seven seriously.

Deir Yasim is two miles east of Kastel which Jews of the Haganah organization captured today after an all-night battle with Arabs who had occupied it only 24 hours before.

Storms Kill Four In Middlewest

CHICAGO, April 10 —(UP)— Tornadoes which swerved across northern Illinois and Indiana and into the outskirts of Chicago left four persons dead today and scores injured.

The twisters struck at dusk last night, uprooting trees and destroying homes in dozens of communities in the thickly populated belt around the southern bend of Lake Michigan.

Three persons were killed at Grant Park, Ill, and one at Hebron, Ind.

The storm caused thousands of dollars in property damage in the teeming industrial centers of Hammond and Gary, Ind., southeast of Chicago.

Brisk winds and cooler weather followed the tornadoes today.

U.S. weather forecasters, however said another storm front had developed in the Dakotas and Minnesota, where gales whipped snow and dust across the wheatlands.

The Naval Officers' Wives Bridge Club will meet at Tutujan Lodge Wednesday, April 14, at 12:45 p.m. For reservations call Mrs. Madden, AT-5137 or Mrs. Herman, AT-2213. Reservations will close Monday noon, April 12.

Western Nations Want U.S. Promise

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 10 —(UP)— Premier Paul Henci-Spaak of Belgium said today that western bloc countries which will participate in the European Recovery Plan want a "guarantee from the United States of military aid beforehand."

Spaak made the statement during a tour of the Norris dam near here on which he accompanied Prince Regent Charles of Belgium. It was in answer to a request that he explain a previous statement in Washington that European nations will ask for military as well as recovery assistance.

The Premier, while "very optimistic" that Comunist tension would be eased, said western nations want assurance from the U.S. of military aid if the necessity for it should arise.

It is too early, he said, to determine whether arms should be furnished at this time or whether this country should be asked to enter into a military alliance with ERP countries.

Sources close to the Premier said it was his objective eventually to bring all western Europen includel Italy, into the alliance drafted last month by Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, for mutual economic, military and political assistance.

Reds Asked for Action

WASHINGTON, April 10 —(UP) The U. S., Britain and France today asked Russia a second time for speedy action on their proposal to return Trieste to Italy.

Notes were delivered during the day to Soviet embassies in Washington, London and Paris. They repeated the plan of the three Western powers, first advanced March 20, for returning Trieste to Italy.

Andrews Reveals 'Delayed Action' Bill

WASHINGTON April 10 —(UP)— Chairman Walter C. Andrews (R—N. Y.) of the House Armed Services Committee today unveiled a "delayed-action" draft bill which would be invoked only if increased military manpower needs could not be met by voluntary enlistments.

The bill, aimed at bringing 550,000 men into the Armed Forces in the next two years, offers all of the education, home-buying and other benefits of the G-I Bill of Rights to post-war servicemen.

But to back up that recruiting incentive, it provides a club-in-the-closet draft for men 19 through 25 to go into effect when the President formally notified Congress that enlistments were falling short of quotas. In any event, however, no one would be drafted until at least 60 days after the bill became law. Andrews made the measure public as Senate Republicans voted to give top priority to all types of defense legislation as fast as it can be brought to the floor.

The House bill, on which hearings will start Monday, provides for registration of men 18 through 30, including veterans. Men 19 through 25 could be inducted for two-year hitches.

Veterans of more than one year's service would be exempt from induction. So would veterans of at least 90 days' service if they sign up in the National Guard or organized Reserve Corps.

Non-veterans also are given an opportunity to gain draft exemption by signing up quickly in the Guard or Reserves.

The bill provides draft-proofs status for all men now in the Guard, and for the first 120,000 additional men who sign up, regardless of their former service.

Truman Asks For Unfied Effort To Settle Strike

WASHINGTON, April 10 —(UP) President Truman, holding a court injunction club in abeyance, today asked striking meat workers and employers to get together in an effort to settle the 25-day-old strike.

Mr. Truman acted after receiving a report from the fact-finding board he appointed to inquire into the strike.

Special Statement

In a special statement issued with the report, Mr. Truman said he was convinced that if both sides read and studied the report "with an open mind, it can provide a basis for renewed negotiations looking toward a prompt settlement of the dispute."

The board made no recommendations. It said, however, that a nine-cent hourly increase offered to the United Packinghouse Workers (CIO) by the industry was "substantial." But it also said that the industry could have been "more flexible in its attitude." The union asked 29 cents.

Rioting, Disorder Flare At Italian Elections

ROME, Italy, April 10 —(UP)— Italy's crucial national election campaign rolled into its last 10 days tonight on a tide of rioting and bitter language.

Communist action squads tried to break up a rightist rally at Grossedtto, Tuscany, 140 miles northwest of Rome. Police tried to break up the fight. One policeman was stabbed three times in the abdomen with a butcher knife. Late tonight he was still alive and two suspects had been arrested.

Police swooped down on a farmhouse arsenal near Senago in the Milan area, seizing a field mortar, a machine gun, 31 muskets, three sub-machine guns, 100 hand grenades, two anti-tank mines and 18,000 rounds of ammunition—all in "perfect order" for immediate use.

Stassen Gains Support

OMAHA, Neb., April 10 —(UP) Harold E. Stassen, fresh from victory in Wisconsin, said today he believed he was gaining support throughout the country in his bid for the Republican presidential noination.

At a news conference as he opened his final campaign swing through Nebraska, where Republicans next Tuesday will vote on their preferences for the presidential nomination. Stassen said he was attracting the votes of young persons.

"I have no prediction to make at this time as to how Nebraska will vote Tuesday," the former Minnesota governor said. "I have and active two-day schedule ahead in which I will discuss directly with the people and answer all questions. After at I will let the people decid

"It went a littl better than I expected in Wisconsin," he said. "Information from all over the country seems to indicate that I am gaining support."

Europe Receives $21,000,000 in Goods From ERP

WASHINGTON, April 10 —(UP) Paul G. Hoffman took over formally today as administrator of the European Recovery Program and promptly ordered $21,000,000 worth of foods, fuel and other commodities to meet the emergency needs of Austria, Greece, France, Italy and the Netherlands.

First Relief

Announcing the first relief move of his economic cooperation administration, Hoffman said it "obviously" is necessary to keep supply pipelines to Europe filled while technical details of the U.S. aid program are worked out.

He said his skeleton agency already is trying to work out "the terms and conditions" on which assistance will be extended.

"Meanwhile, the essential commodities must start to flow," he said. Emergency shipments are needed "if we are to alleviate conditions of hunger and cold and prevent serious economic retrogression" in the countries named.

Police Without Clues In Mystery Murder

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 10 —(UP)— Criminal investigators said they were without new clues today in the murder of Mrs. Ann Lewis, 36-year-old nurse of the Bolles Military Academy here.

State Attorney William A. Hallowes, Sheriff Rex Sweat and county detectives began re-questioning the teen-aged cadets, faculity members and other employes who were at the fashionable boys' school at the time of the slaying last Tuesday.

Hallowes said statements forming a picture of event before and after the slaying failed to establish evidence against any suspect.

The former Army nurse was found slain in her bedroom in the infirmary building shortly after noon. She had been killed by blows over the head and covered with kerosene-soaked bedclothing. The killer had set the room on fire.

Korean Military Gov't Calls in Old Money

SEOUL, April 10 —(UP)— The U.S. military government of southern Korea today recalled all old currency in the occupied zone to prevent Communists from using it to finance propaganda, riots and political assasinations.

Persons showing that they received their money legitimately will be compensated yen for yen with the new currency.

Maj. Gen. William Dean, head of the military government, told a press conference that the switch was being made to wipe out Japanese influence. He made it plain, however, that the primary reason was to prevent persons in Soviet-occupied northern Korea from sending money into the U. S. occupation zone "to buy assassinations and storming of election booths."

Early this year Russia recalled all Japanese money in northern Korea, confiscating much of it, and issued Soviet-sponsored currency. Since then American authorities have complained the Russians, instead of destroying the money that was turned in have shipped it to Communist agents trying to stir up trouble in the U.S. zone.

Headline Highlights

WASHINGTON, April 10 —(UP)— Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate Appropriations Committee said today there is "something in the woodpile" in air mail subsidy awards. He said his committee and the Senate Investigating Committee aim to bring it out in the open.

TOKYO, April 9 —(UP)— Japan's Printing and Publishing Workers' Union-claiming 20,000 members-walked out after midnight Thursday in a 24-hour strike supporting the government and public office workers' dispute with the government. The Government Workers' Union is still negotiating on details regarding the Government's offer of 2,920 yen as a basic monthly wage.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10 —(UP)— The Pan American Steamship Association today hailed as "late but gratifying" the announcement by Navy Secretary John Sullivan that President Truman will request a stepped-up-ship-building program to bolster the American Merchant Marine.

CHICAGO, April 10 —(UP)— Four CIO Packinghouse Workers were injured touay at Omaha when two trucks went through a picket line at the Cudahy Packing Co., strikebound in the 24-day-old nationwide meat strike, police reported.

The World In Brief . . .

by United Press

Czechoslovakia

PRAGUE, April 10 —(UP)— Only a single list of candidates—those approved by the Communists—will be on the ballot for the Czechoslovakia elections May 23. The last chance of any opposition to the Communist government in the elections appeared gone as leaders of "reborn" non-Communist parties gave swift approval today to trade union demands for a single candidate list.

United States

WASHINGTON, April 10 —(UP) President Truman served notice today that the government will use all the powers of the Taft-Hartley act in dealing with the meat packers strike. He commented briefly on the walkout at his press conference only a few hours after receiving his fact-finding board's report on the 24-day-old stoppage.

The report, which will be made public later, covers the strike of nearly 80.000 CIO meat packers which started March 16. It was delivered to the White House by Nathan P. Feinsinger, chairman of the three-member board appointed by Mr. Truman under the Taft-Hartley act.

United States

TAMPA, Fla., April 10 —(UP) The air forces disclosed today that two B-29 bombers with normal combat equipment and fuel loads flew non-stop from Hawaii to Florida on "routine training flights" March 22. The bombers had been scheduled to fly from Hawaii to MacDill Field, their home base here. One of the bombers. however, landed at Randall Field at Panama City, Fla., and the other at Elgin Field near Pensacola.

The B-29's carried normal fuel loads of 6.700 gallons and each had 250 gallons left in the tanks on landing. The flight was believed to be the longest ever made by the big planes.

Japan

TOKYO, April 10 —(UP)— Forty American military policemen joined Japanese officers in breaking up a riot today between 100 Koreans and 200 Japanese in the town of Inuyama in Aichi Prefecture, Jiji press reported from Nagoya. Jiji said one Korean and three Japanese were wounded in the brawl which started during a "cherry tree viewing" excursion.

China

SHANGHAI, April 10 —(UP)— Two Nationalist armies were being rushed to the Chengchow area today as government military leaders mapped a new offensive to halt the onrushing Communists in central China. The move came as Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek confirmed an earlier announcement that central China would be given top priority when the new drive started.

Meanwhile, a Peiping dispatch said nine Communist divisions were pushing south from Manchuria along the Peiping-Mukden railroad.

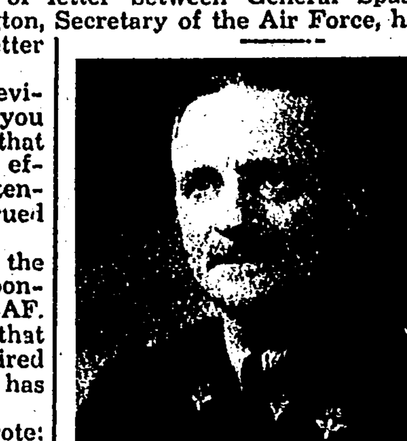
Spaatz Resigns as AF Chief of Staff

HARMON AIR FORCE BASE—Upon the occasion of the retirement of General Carl Spaatz, Chief of Staff of the United States Air Force, the following exchange of letter between General Spaatz and the Honorable W. Stuart Symington, Secretary of the Air Force, has been released. General Spaatz's letter follows:



Gen. Carl Spaatz (USAF Photo)

"In accordance with my previously expressed intention to you some months ago, I request that I be relieved from active duty, effective 1 July '48. It is my intention to take advantage of accrued leave on 15 May '48.

"This letter is written after the fullest consideration of my responsibility to the nation and the USAF.

"It is with deepest regret that I ask to be placed on the retired list, but feel that the time has arrived for this action."

In his reply, the Secretary wrote:

"Your letter requesting relief from active duty is received with mingled emotions. The long and wearing years of faithful service to your country would have overtaxed the phyical capabilities of any man, and therefore I can understand the need for your decision.

"From the standpoint of the future of the AF and the security of our country however, your retirement will be an irreparable loss. As your former chief, General Eisenhower, has often said, you were and are the world's greatest air strategist, and the millions of young Americans who served under you, or are serving under you, will hear of your planned retirement with deep regret because of their respect and affection for you.

"The fact you have agreed to continue to serve in an advisory capacity is somewhat compensating, especially as the President, Secretary Forrestal, and Chairmen Gurney and Andrews of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees have all urged that you give us as much of your advice as possible in the years to come. The experience of that fighting airman who successfully commanded more troops in air battle than any other man in history should always be available to the defense establishment and the country."

The Secretary's letter closes:

"The years we have worked together in the struggle for air power have contained the most pleasant relationship of my life. My respect for your accomplishments which have resulted in the establishment of the USAF are only equalled by my personal feelings toward you."

Andrew Reconsiders; Reconciles-Flown by Navy to Kwaj and Wife

Early in the morning of March 18 a Navy seaplane, carrying one passenger circled the island of Kwajalein and landed in the blue coral wreathed waters. The one passenger was neither a distinguished admiral nor civilian VIP but a lovesick native. Andrew, the last of the 160 Bikinians to be moved by the Navy from Rongerik to Kwajalein, had relented and rejoined his tribe. Andrew had had a disagreement with his wife on the last night the Bikini natives spent on Rongerik and he had chosen to remain alone on Rongerik rather than board the ship that would take her and the remainder of the other Bikini people to their temporary home on Kwajalein.

Andrew had no great affection for the island to which the Bikini people had been moved in the spring of 1946 to make their native island available as a site for the atomic bomb test.

Bikini was not much of a coral atoll as atolls go. It is small; the rate of rainfall low with long periods of drought. The abundant variety of corps to be found on other atolls did not grow there. Fish and coconuts were the principal source of foodstuffs.

Although Rongerik was smaller—416 acres as compared with Bikini's 1,484—experts had estimated that it would be suitable for their needs, provided proper diligence and planning were executed. However, the human and meteorological factors operated to make Rongerik an unsuitable home. Crops were inadequate, and the fish insufficient in quantities to support the people.

The Navy and the natives agreed that since the people were not happy, a new island acceptable to them would have to be provided.

Since the decision to move them was made some months ago a search for an island acceptable to the natives has been conducted. Judah, the chief, and his Alaps have been flown to inspect proposed islands. None were judged suitable.

While the negatiations were progressing the general welfare of the natives was not. As an interim measure, it was proposed to transfer the natives to the seat of the civil government of the Marshall Islands at Kwajalein, for it would be a much simpler task to provide them with necessary food and supplies there until a suitable home could be found. Judah expressed enthusiasm for this plan at a conference with Admiral DeWitt C. Ramsey, USN, Commander in Chief Pacific and U.S. Pacific Fleet, when the admiral visited Rongerik in February.

Naval personnel in Kwajalein constructed a village in preparation for the advent of the natives, and on March 13, Lieutenant Clarence B. Watson, USN, the executive officer of the Civil Administration unit on Kwajalein flew to Rongerik on orders of Captain J.P.W. Vest, Governor of the Marshalls, to arrange final details of the transfer.

The last day on Rongerik was a hectic one for the natives. The last night one of festivity and rejoicing. Natives sang and danced and feasted far into the night. Well before daylight, lookouts sighted the lights of the approaching LST.

Religious services were conducted by the native pastor early in the morning under the thatched palm roof of the church. For the rest of the day a procession of towed outriggers and ships' boats moved out to the deeper water where the LST lay at anchor. When the beach had been almost stripped of fishing gear, clothing, farm implements, and furniture, somebody noticed that Andrew had been missing all day. The native pastor went in search for him and after two hours returned to tell of Andrew's decision to remain behind. No amount of persuasion would alter his decision.

Well before nightfall the LST with all of the natives except Andrew, cleared the coral reefs and set out for Kwajalein. At noon the next day they were met by a delegation that included almost all of the inhabitants of Kwajalein.

An official welcome was tendered by Captain Vest. Judah, speaking for his people, told of their satisfaction at being on Kwajalein.

The natives quickly unloaded the ship and moved into the houses prepared for each family.

Civilian Mess Hall

HARMON FIELD — The new mess hall for civilian personnel is scheduled to open tomorrow it was announced here yesterday by the Food Supervisor's Office.

The establishment will be run by civilians and governed by a mess council composed of five members; Mr. William Wilkie, Mr. Charles Hutton, Miss Bernice Clough, Miss Ruth Morris, and Mr. John V. Campbell.

The mess officer is 1st Lt. Robert C. Jager, who will be assisted by two mess sergeants as yet unnamed.

The addition of the Harmon Field civilian mess hall will greatly increase the comfort of all concerned and alleviate the congestion caused by civilians dining at military mess halls.

Ship Movements

Applicable to ships under Navy control: outgoing cargo b/l with eight copies must be delivered to Freight Transportation Branch, Naval Supply Center, 48 hours prior to arrival of ship (telephone BO-6264).

Passengers or their representatives must deliver to Port Director their authorization for travel or travel orders 48 hours prior to departure of vessel. (Telephone BO-6143).

32 AF Officers Get Permanent Colonel Rank

MARAMA — Thirty-two Air Force officers of the Far East, including 10 in Headquarters, Far East Air Forces, have been nominated and confirmed in the permanent rank of colonel in the United States Air Force, it was announced in Tokyo recently.

This is the first selection of officers for permanent rank of Air Force colonel to be made under the Officer Personnel Act of 1947 which authorized permanent grades in suitable number when the Air Force was established as a separate service of the Armed Forces. The qualifications and records of each officer were considered carefully by an Air Force selection board which nominated the officers for promotion on the permanent list.

The ten confirmed for Headquarters, FEAF, include: Major General John M. Weikert, Chief of Staff; Brigadier General Herbert B. Thatcher, Assistant Chief of Staff, A-1; and Colonels Guy L. McNeil, Alfred H. Johnson, Wilson T. Douglas, James W. Adrew, Edward H. Porter, Forrest C. Allen and Daniel B. White.

Vital Statistics

Beginning today, the Vital Statistics column will appear every Sunday in the GUAM NEWS. Times and dates are those as submitted to the Public Health Department during the past week.

Fresh Milk for Guam as Colorado Dairyman Opens Modern Dairy

by Leonard J. Morgan

Fresh milk on Guam——impossible!

But that white stuff we were drinking yesterday sure had that old familiar taste of fresh milk. We decided to investigate and find out where it came from.

A glance at the bottle cap revealed the name "Guam Dairy." A little boondocking and we located the dairy near the Department of Agriculture and were met by Glenn E. Kelly, owner of the dairy.

Kelly took us on a trip through his dairy. The ever familiar quonset hut provided the building. We went through the double screened doors into the clean white processing room.

Here we discovered the milk is reconstituted from powered milk and heavy cream. This mixture is combined by air compression and then heated to pasteurize it. Then it is homogenized, cooled and bottled. We noticed all the machinery is stainless steel and the milk is completely bottled by machinery.

Kelly told us that the dairy had been inspected and approved by the Naval Board of Health and the Army Veterinary Corps. He said his bacteria count was very low, averaging between two hundred to three hundred and he said up to 30,000 was passable.

At present the dairy is producing 2,800 gallons of milk a day. Kelly said he hoped to have production up to 4,500 gallons a day in the near future. Also, he said he would be producing buttermilk and cottage cheese very shortly.

The milk sells for 30 cents a quart and is currently available at Ben Polomo's in Barrigada and the Bamboo Inn and Cynthia Torres' soda fountain in Agana. Army and Navy commissary stores are expected to begin sale in the near future. Milk is also available at the dairy on a "first come, first serve" basis. The dairy is located near the Department of Agriculture and Fisheries about 2 miles south of Barrigada.

Kelly urged everyone to return empty bottles immediately as there is a serious shortage of milk bottles on Guam.

Kelly wished to thank the Department of Internal Affairs, the Department of Health, the Army Veterinary Corps and others for their cooperation and help in getting the dairy in operation.

OWNER AND PRODUCTION MANAGER—Glenn E. Kelly, left, owner of the Guam Dairy and Lloyd W. Erickson, production manager, are the two men largely responsible for getting the dairy in operation. Kelly graduated from the University of Colorado in 1924 and has been in the dairy business since then. (Guam News Photo by Gilbert)

Navy May Raise Arizona to Recover War Victims

HONOLULU—The sunken hull of the Battleship Arizona, which was destroyed in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, may be raised to recover the remains of more than 900 Navy men trapped aboard the vessel for over six years.

A board of eight Army Grave Registration Service officers have inspected the vessel to determine the feasability of recovering these bodies.

The board, headed by Lt. Col. Harrie E. Hoxie, will submit a formal report to Washington where a final decision will be made. Estimated cost of such a project is upwards of $1,000,000.

There were 1,175 men killed when the Arizona went down on Dec. 7, 1941. The bodies of about 200 Arizona victims floated to shore or were otherwise recovered shortly after the sinking of the battleship. However, the remains of over 900 are still entombed in the wreckage.

The Arizona was berthed at Ford Island with seven other battleships when the Japanese attack came. In less than an hour the ship had sunk and only 316 of the Arizona's 1,473 men were able to make their way safely off the ship.

Tired — Decrepit? Enroll Now in Harmon PT Program

HARMON AIR FORCE BASE — Men, are you feeling tired and decrepit? Does it pain you to roll out of that sack in the morning? If so, your worries are over! Just rush to the Harmon Field Special Services Office and enroll in their new VOLUNTARY Physical Training program.

This new program is designed especially for you men who want to get into condition and stay that way. You take as little or as much exercise as you desire and if you can't make that last pushup you just roll over and catch your breath. Roll call is out; participation is entirely up to your own initiative.

Location for the classes will be the post softball diamond adjacent to the Harmon Field 'Chapel in the Garden.' Each class will consist of 15 minutes of varied calisthenics followed by a period of supervised play. Lt. David B. Homer and S-Sgt. Edmund G. Zolkiewicz, both of the Harmon Field Athletic Office, will be instructors for the course.

Classes will be held Monday thru Friday at 1645. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays will be devoted to enlisted men, while officers are invited to participate on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Monday, April 12th has been set as the starting date.

MarBo Begins Program Of Conservation

MARBO — A new program on conservation of supplies and equipment as well as the use of manpower, has been inaugurated at Marianas Bonins Command and its area, it was announced recently. The new program is put into effect to further the conservation policies already in force in the area.

Each week, conservation objectives will be announced to stress the saving of a certain item of equipment. Each individual will be charged with the responsibility of helping to reach the objective and unit commanders will aid the program by making frequent inspections.

Military personnel are encouraged to submit, through channels, original ideas of proved worth which will effect a saving of materials, equipment and man power.

Both officers and enlisted men are eligible to submit conservation ideas.

"Brush your way to beauty." That has been the season's salute in the lovely to look at department, and here are some suggestions.

Two sets of combs and brushes are always recommended. This insures always using a clean brush by having the extra set for hurried moments. A brush must always be scrupulously clean for the best results; however before brushing, massage the scalp with your fingertips. This stimulates circulation. Then remember to always brush the hair up and out to take the natural oils to the tips of your hair. Also, recommended is a thorough brushing of the hair after it has been finger waved or pincurled and dried. Don't be afraid of brushing out the curl....brushing will enhance the curl rather than destroy it. Famous stars of the Swedish stage and cinema never count their brushing strokes, but just brush morning, noon, and night.

For just a little advice on keeping straggly ends in place; laquer for updoes is prescribed. Also, hair which is inclined to fly a little, as is so often true when the hair has been newly shampooed, can be kept in place by applying a little wave lotion with a toothbrush, after it has been dressed. A wise man once said, that "a woman's hair is her crowning glory," and the concensus of opinion seems to be that it isn't difficult to keep that "crowning glory" shining. A good shampoo about once a week, and plenty of vigor in daily brushing will make your hair healthy—and healthy hair has a very special look.

A brush is not only used for the hair, but also, for the face. With a light rotating motion of the complexion brush and warm water with a mild soap, the lather will be worked over the face. The finishing touch of dousing the face with cold water, will remove all surface dirt and the flecks of dry skin, leaving the skin firm and petal smooth.

Whether you are a bathtub or a shower devotee, use a body brush. This stimulates circulation, as well as keeps the skin smooth and free from blemishes.

It should not be necessary to point out the at least twice daily session with the toothbrush. An inexpensive treatment for removing discolorations and stains from the teeth is to take a teaspoon of baking soda, a teaspoon of salt, and the juice of half a lemon. Dip the toothbrush into this tart, bubbling, clean-tasting mixture and use it as you would tooth-powder or paste. You will be pleased with the results, and it's usage is only needed once a week to keep the teeth pearly white.

There are, also numerous and sundry other tricks with the old standby—the toothbrush. To brush and groom the eyebrows, will remove all excess powder and will shape the eyebrows. After applying mascara, take the toothbrush and brush lightly through the eyelashes. This separates the lashes, and removes excess mascara, giving a very natural appearance.

Whether you wear nail laquer or prefer the buff method, the hand-brush should be used every time you wash your hands. It, perhaps, isn't always possible or convenient to do this every time, but it should be used as often as possible. Use the gentle scrub, it will clean your hands and not harm your laquer.

There brush tricks result not only in good grooming and health, but are a boon to the very busy schoolgirl, career girl or housewife. The few moments spent with the brushes give manifold results as well as saving time and money for beauty treatments.

Music Spotlights

by Robinson

When thumbing through your record albums haven't you ever wondered if the greatest music hasn't already been written, arranged, and recorded? There are so many recordings which people claim will never grow old — for instance tunes like Count Basie's "One O'Clock Jump," Glen Miller "Tuxedo Junction," Artie Shaw's "Summit Ridge Drive." These records are the ones we like to look back on and use as a standard and make up our own minds whether or not the new releases are here to stay.

For the cats who are literally inclined may I suggest a really terrific book entitled "We Called It Music." It is based on the life story of Eddy Condon, one of the big names in jazz. It mentions a lot of other respectd names in the music field and also gives the reader a musician's opinion of many of the great jazz classics. I am sure this book will offer three hours of the best reading you have ever put your nose into.

While touching on the literary subject there is also an interesting article in this weeks Colliers on the subject of Be Bop. This article may help to enlighten all of you who like this form of music but fail to understand it.

And now to the platters of the week: For a start here is Louis Jordan with a couple of vout sides tagged, "Barnyard Boogie" and "How Long Must I Wait." The latter being a blues number also features a much mellow ride.

Looking on the commercial side we find Frankie Carl with two nice tunes for dancing and listening pleasure. The first is "Lost April," a dreamy tune with some of Mr. C's noted piano styling. The second "Dreamy Lullaby,"—something on the order of Sunrise Serenade, the type of melody Frankie does really well.

Though the musical entertainment on Guam has grown somewhat commercial-meaning that most of the musicians have taken jobs in various clubs around the "rock" we find that those of us who cannot make the sessions must turn to the medium of radio for music entertainment. Our local station has covered this shortage by giving us two request programs instead of the usual one; the early morning platter session introduction to Swing by ably emceed by Bill Jorgenson, who is always ready to play the record you want when you want to hear it. Then in the afternoon we have "Margie" with one full hour of great disks, "Especially For You" and they really mean it.

Hollywood Highlights

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)— "Everybody wants ta get into da act" with Jimmy Durante.

The reasons are his helpfulness, consideration, sense of timing, experience and genuine love of people —even though he complains about the way they horn in.

For those reasons, Durante headed a list of ten ideal life partners chosen by the nation's dancing teachers.

"Humph, they're not content just to get inta da act," Durante growled. "Not they wanna step all over my feet, too."

A check with Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra and other stars who have appeared with him in movies and on the radio would reveal this universal urge to be part of "the act."

"Jimmy is more fun to work with than 10 barrels of monkeys," they would declare.

His most ardent admirers are people with whom he has worked. His friends range from Greer Garson and Lauritz Melchuor to the office boy for whom he quietly got a job and to the highest executives of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Melchior gets in Durante's act for the second time in the technicolor musical "This Time For Keeps," staring swimmer Esther Williams.

Against Another Statue of Liberty

NEW YORK —(UP)— Annie Nathan Meyer, long-time human rights advocate whose cousin wrote the verse inscribed on the Statue of Liberty, would oppose building replicas of the monument elsewhere.

Emmet O'Neal, United States ambassador to the Philippines, has suggested a duplicate Statue of Liberty be erected at Corregidor. It would stand there as a memorial to the dead of World War II and a symbol of Philippine-American friendship. His plan would call for placing others throughout the world.

She said: "My first reaction—purely from instinct, mind you—is that dotting the globe with copies of the statute would distract from the original. That, of course, does not mean I oppose erecting monuments to freedom and liberty. But I think the memorial on Bedloe's Island has a tradition all its own.

Poet's Corner

There's no more time to waste,
My comrade, my fellowman;
The dawn is in its morn,
'Tis for us to sow its seed
That is in each heart, yet unborn.

Let us now awake and see
The world that is ours this day,
To conquer that with our hearts sublime,
Submitting ourselves into its rhyme;
My comrade! mine, who's with me
In this turmoiled world of mankind;
Even looking back comparing,
'Tis now of ours who's at stake,
It's now you and I to change,

Change form what it is
To the right path that leadeth us
To the light, the truth of our goal,
Awake into its bugle call, throbbing
From corner of the earth, shaking.
The Light of Hope will soon emerge
From you and I, from corner to corner
Of the globe in wavering brightness,
If its human man submits itself
To its wake of survival gloriousness.
Come now let us pause and watch
The tremor of vioces that needs the light
The life which has been lost, yet waiting
For this time to act into it's way.
From all of us of today to discover.
It's in you and I, in everyone
The TRUTH, the light to out goal,
Patiently waiting, waiting since ages past,
But now still in its cask, waiting
For all of us to use, applying to form.
Form it is for us to mold
Our life into FREEDOM and PEACE,
In each heart there it glows,
When we use it, it sparkles
Its brightness will be the ONLY HOPE OF OUR WORLD.

THE ROCK ..... by Tom Richards

THE TALLEST FISH STORY we've heard in many a moon just shocked our flapping ears the other day and the source was none other than our good friend, Comrade Hjalmerson. It seems Mr. Hjalmerson and a group of friends were going out to Dry Dock Island from the Love dock on a small boat. Mr. H., who never misses a bet when it comes to fishing, promptly got out his fishing tackle and trolled all the way over there; and ditto back. No luck however as he couldn't even get a bite. When the boat was back at the Love dock and was being tied up, a fish weighing a trifle over 7 pounds jumped out of the water and landed flopping in the bottom of the boat. We are not just naturally suspicious or anything of the sort but just on general principles we checked with the four witnesses who all verified the story. Boy, the breezes in Apra Harbor must surely be heady!

WHILE WE ARE ON THIS SUBJECT of fish we might mention that Pete Alexander has lost his membership in our "Double Goose Egg Club" by catching a 28-inch skip jack and a 6-lb. black bass on light tackle with a red head plug last Sunday. Art Friberg who was also in the party got a 12-lb. tuna. Among those also present were Bill Kennedy who caught a 5-lb. skip jack, [illegible] Bill Tulip who got a beaut[illegible]-inch silver "double goose eg[illegible]s, of course, makes Mill T. elig[illegible]our "Double Goose Egg Club."

HOW MANY OF OUR READERS have read Robert Louis Stevenson's "Treasure Island"? Do you remember the rough and ready sailor song the pirates were always singing? If our memory is right it went something like this "Fifteen men on the dead man's chest; Drink and the devil had done the rest. Yo, ho ho, and a bottle of rum." When I was knee high to a grasshopper, that first line surely bothered me, I could never figure out how fifteen men could get on a man's chest even if he had a chest like King Kong. I just found out that the chest Stevenson referred to was "Dead Man's Chest" island which is just a treachorous little-known reef in the Caribean Sea. Our Facts and Figures Department is checking to see whether the song is a genuine old deep sea chanty or is the brain child of Robert Louis S.

Prize Dope Award

A FORMER ARMY MAN whom we met the other day on Guam told us about two men who certainly should be eligible for this week's Prize Dope award. It seems that these two gentlemen found an anti-tank mine, some grenades, shells, etc., in the jungle not far from Asan. They proceeded to throw the mine against a tree but couldn't make it go off. Nothing happened and they finally gave it up as a bad job, very much disappointed. My friend told me that he had lost his foot and severely injured his other leg during the battle of the Bulge when he stepped on an anti-personnel mine which contained only 5 ounces of TNT. He explained 3 pounds of TNT in it and a that an anti-tank mine has about person can't throw them far enough to be safe. He also expressed an opinion that even when mines are old they are not nice gadgets to have around the house.

Chats About Guam...

by Agueda I. Johnston

E. Water resevoir, bridges, house supports, limekilns, barricades, furniture, trinkets and theater seats from coconut trees.

According to Safford's "Useful Plants on Guam," "A coconut tree is a pinnate-leaved palm with a straight or slightly curved trunk marked with ring-like leaf scars, which are not prominent, and rising from an inclined swollen base. Its average height when full grown is between 30 to 50 feet, and it may continue to bear nuts until about 80 years old."

Totngo Reservoir

The "inclined swollen base" mentioned here served in the old days as a water reservoir called "totngo" from a hole which was dug out at the base of the trunk for the purpose. Travelers in the jungles never suffered much from thirst, for no matter how desolate a place was, there would always be a totngo in sight. With the aid of a papaya stem for straw, one's thirst could be quenched until the next destination—where another totngo would be found.

For crossing streams, coconut logs served not only as bridges but also as a source of fun for spry acrobats who could cross the streams with adroitness on logs that were wobbling or rolling in the water.

Shanty buildings, barricades and fences were supported by coconut logs. The first quonset huts built during the war were raised several feet above the ground by means of coconut trunk posts.

Lime Kilns

When lime was much in demand for "manposterla" (lime, sand and rocks) structures on the Island, coconut logs were made into limekilns into which loads of coral rocks were dumped and burned steadily for about thirty days until they turned into lime. This lime, when mixed with sand, would be used for cemeting stone buildings.

Durable furniture, cabinetwork, walking sticks and many kinds of dainty trinkets can be made from the hard wood of the coconut tree, sometimes called "porcupine wood" on account of the black thornlike designs of the fiber in contrast to its brown background.

During the hectic days of re-occupation, temporary theaters were equipped with rows and rows of coconut logs for seats for the United States armed forces. After walking all day long thru the sniper-infested jungles, and returning to camp only to find the pup tents above ankle-deep red mud, it must have been of some comfort for the men to perch themselvs on coconut logs which kept their feet away from the slimy ground—and to watch a local show purposely prepared for their entertainment.

Coconut Root Usage

The roots of the coconut trees were used by the herb doctors for medicine, but this discussion is left for those interested in the profession. In Guam, during the Japanese occupation, the pounded roots of the red variety of coconuts were made into fast brown dye similar in shade to brown American khaki.

With a little saw and a whittling knife, both the ambitious and the indolent would find it worth their while if they would adopt the hobby for making articles out of the hard coconut wood,—from a pipe for grandpa, a sewing box for grandma, a powder box for sister, coasters for wife or sweetheart, a baton for a band or orchestra leader, or a swagger stick for some congressman.

Busy Mother Finds Time For College, Too

CINCINNATI, O. —(UP)— Going to college, for most students, is a full-time job. Taking care of a home, husband, and children is usually a full-time career, too.

Mrs. Sylvia Hirschfield of Cincinnati not only fills the homemaker's role to perfection but is enrolled in two universities more than 100 miles apart.

Mrs. Hirschfield is a student of child psychology in the University of Cincinnati's Evening College and a commuting candidate for the Master's Degree in social work at the University of Louisville.

SUNDAY SPECIAL....Ed (Kiss and Tell) McKeever's likeness still faces the wall everywhere within a 100 mile radius of the Golden Gate bridge, but Bud Spencer of the San Francisco News maintains that there are two sides to the story....Erring Ed was not the only one at fault in the whistle-blowing affair at USF when he jumped to the Chicago Rockets....

Much the same thing happened at NYU in the early twenties. . . . Chick Meeham was brought in to build up a good football team and attract students and green pictures of Lincoln, Grant, and Jefferson to the campus....This Mr. Meeham did very well....Quick like a flash the old educators put Satan behind them, ordered football de-emphasized and disemployed Meehan. . . .For doing what he was hired to do, he was pointed in another direction and given a not-too-gentle shove. . . .

USF wanted a team with a goodly amount of national prestige, and Smilin' Ed was recommended by Frank Leahy and other reliable sources as the man for the job....He was doing that job and doing it well when complications set in....Apparently the naive school fathers expected potential All America's to be attracted to the school by nothing more than a lecture on the finer points of an education in good old San Fran and the promise of a sightseeing tour through Chinatown....This of course is very unlikely in this day and age of high-salaried "amateurs"......Such underhanded methods as football scholarships, salaries in five figures, and free automobiles were not to be tolerated, and this wicked fella named McKeever was behind it all.... So out he goes....

There was considerable speculation as to just what his motive was in rattin' on the boys who fired him. . . .Spencer hailed it as either a publicity stunt to ballyhoo Ed's acceptance of the pro job, or as a "he-did-it" coverup for the university's campaign to halt unemployment of college football players in 1947. . . .It has turned next fall's match between the Rockets and the Frisco 49ers into a grudge battle, which invariable increases the attendance amply. . . .This, of course, is all theory. . . .But then so is electricity.

103rd CB's Trounce Yards & Docks

Cheers were plentiful at the 103rd CB diamond late yesterday as the CB's blasted the Yards and Docks Gophers, 11-0, at the CB diamond. It was the first Inter-Command league victory for the CB's and a well deserved one.

Jerry Atkinson pitched a brilliant shut out for his initial victory of the season and fanned 17 batters.

Playing heads up ball, the CB's jumped on the Gopher Pitcher Sang in the last of the third for one run. Later the whole CB team, more than batted around, to collect five runs which put the game on ice. The five run rally came in last of the fifth and still grueling for more runs the hit happy CB's chased Sang from the mound in the sixth by scoring four more runs. They ended their scoring in the eighth with a walk and a tripple by left fielder Dunbar. Dunbar was star of the day by pounding out two singles a double and a triple.

TRIPLE "A" 7 OROTE 0

The Triple "A" Gunners shoved the NAS, MAG 24 Boondockers farther down in the standings by giving them their second consecutive shutout, 7-0, at the Dust Bowl.

It was "Bean Ball" Wallace starring for the Gunners by coming within one strike out of tying the record, set by "Lefty" Allen of the FasRon 13 Airedales last Wednesday, when he fanned 19 batters. The victory enabled the Triple "A" Gunners to remain one-half game behind the Fifth Service Leathernecks who won, 8-2, over the 1507 CB's at ...edge Diamond.

COMMAR 9 NSC 4

The ComMar Hilltoppers romped over the Naval Supply Center Rams yesterday, 9-4, to knock the Rams into a three way tie for fifth place as the Hilltoppers grabbed fourth.

"Dutch" Triptow was the winning pitcher for ComMar as the Hilltoppers came from behind in the fifth to tie the score at two all and then in the last of the eighth they blasted losing Pitcher Olsen for seven runs to take a nine to two lead. NSC tried in vain in the last inning and scored two runs before bowing to the Hilltoppers.

In other games played this afternoon, the First Marine Brigade snatched their fifth consecutive victory by downing the NBRS Dodgers, 11-2, at the Marine diamond; the Marine Barracks defeated the NAD Trojans, 14-5, at the Marine home field; FasRon 13 took over third place by downing NAS Agana All Stars, 17-5, in the slam bang affair at Orote Field and the N O B Industrial Miners won their fifth victory of the season by coming behind to down the NavComSta club, 10-9.

Yanks Go Eleven

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 10 —(UP)— It took the World Champion New York Yankees 11 innings to beat the Montgomery Rebels of the Class B South-Eastern League, 8-5, today.

Bobby Brown started the winning three-run rally with a triple and singles by Larry Berra and Frank Crosetti accounted for the winning runs.

Reds Blast Sain For Nine Runs in Three Innings For Victory

FLORENCE, S. C., April 10 —(UP)— The rampaging Cincinnati Reds hopped on Johnny Sain for 10 hits and nine runs in the first three innings today to defeat the Boston Braves, 13 to 4, for their 11th triumph in the last 12 exhibition games.

Howie Fox limited the Braves to three scattered singles during the first seven innings. In the eighth, however, Earl Torgeson of the Braves homered off Ev Lively with two team-mates aboard and Geoff Heath accounted for Boston's fourth run with a ninth-inning home run.

Outfielder Hank Sauer and Third Baseman Grady Hatton paced the Reds' 17-hit attack with four each. Sauer hit two home runs and Hatton one.

Borowy Stars

DALLAS, Tex., April 10 —(UP) — Hank Borowy became the first Cub pitcher to go the route this spring, scattering six hits for a 6-2 victory over the St. Louis Browns today. The game closed the spring series between the two teams with the Browns holding an 8-5 margin.

The Cubs hammered Sam Zoldak and Frank Biscan for a dozen blows, including a three-run homer by Clyde McCullough and another by Clarence Maddern with one mate aboard.

Golf Tourney Announced

Entries for the MarBo Golf Tournament, scheduled for 3 to8 May, should be turned in to the athletic officer at MarBo Special Services office prior to 15 April, accompanied by a memo of average score for eighteen holes.

Marine and Naval personnel may participate in this activity, provided local authorities approve. Navy and Marine personnel selected for the team will represent MarBo in the Inter-Command competition.

All Navy Tennis Eliminations to Begin; Hanson-Meyer, Top-Seeded in Doubles

Following close on the heels of the GUAM NEWS tennis tournament which winds up today, All Navy tennis eliminations begin this week with a twofold purpose as its goal. The primary objective is to select a four man team to represent the Marianas area in the coming WesPac eliminations; secondly, it is to determine the command points in the ComMarianas cup competition.

Doubles play, with only seven teams entered, will begin early this week and end one week from today. First round matches will be played at a time and place convenient for the two teams concerned and the scores reported to staff welfare and recreation no later than next Thursday. The semifinals, Saturday, April 17, and the finals the following day, will be played either at the ComMarianas flag courts or the Naval Government courts in Agana.

The top-seeded team of Lt. Martin Hanson and Chris Meyer of NavComSta drew a first round bye and will meet the winner of the match between Major Andy Lyman and Lt. J. F. Miniclier of First AAA vs Lcdr. R. F. McCommas and Lcdr. J. D. McDonald of the First Marine Brigade. In other first round matches, Captain A. P. Kohlhas and Lcdr. A. M. McCrone of NSC meet Dr. William Seidel of the Medical Center and Lt. Louis Battey of Naval Government; and Cpls. Ed Jankura and Ennet Johnson of 5th Service play Lcdr. J.D. Smith of ComNatsASIA and Captain J. B. Bunn of NAS Agana. The scores of all these matches must be called in to staff W&R at AT 3149 no later than Thursday, April 15.

The plans for the field of 19 singles players calls for the first two rounds to be played at the contestants' convenience and the the quarter, semifinal and final round to be held on either ComMar's flag courts or the Naval Government flats. The first round in the singles must be completed and reported by April 24, the second round no later than May 1. The quarterfinals are slated for May 2 and the remainder the following weekend.

After the completion of the eliminations, the top eight or ten players will be arranged on a ladder for challnge play to more accurately determine the top four players on the Island to complete with the best from Saipan, Kwajalein, China, Japan and the Philippines.

Stars Halt Seal's Victory Streak With, 6-4, Win

HOLLYWOOD, April 10 —(UP) — Hollywood broke the San Francisco Seals' six game winning streak tonight, 6 to 4. leading from the opening inning in a wild game that saw Manager Lefty O'Doul draw the first order to the showers of the season.

The Seals used four pitchers in a vain attempt to halt the barrage of hits that enabled the Stars to turn the tables for last night's defeat at the hands of San Francisco. Edgar Smith, who opened for Hollywood, got credit for the win. Bob Joyce took the defeat.

Some 7,133 fans saw the Stars tally twice in the first inning on successive singles by Lou Stringer, Al Libke, Frank Kelleher, and Don Ross. Doubles by Ross and Karl Cox in the third brought in four more runs.

GRAND STOP — Chuck Rayner, New York Ranger goalie, makes a great stop that brought cheers from all spectators watching the playoffs between the Detroit Red Wings and the Rangers in Detroit, recently. However, the Red Wings later scored to break the 1-1 deadlock and win the game, 2-1. (AP Wirephoto)

Williams, Red Sox Star May Have Operation

NEW ORLEANS, April 10 —(UP)— Ted Williams, star slugger of the Boston Red Sox, suffered an attack of appendicitis today and was ordered back to Boston for further examination and possible operation.

Williams, on whom a huge part of the Red Sox' pennant hopes rest complained of stomach pains yesterday and today and remained out of the team's two-game exhibition series against the New Orleans Pelicans. He was examined today by Dr. Nick Chetta, the Pelicans' physician, who ordered him to return home.

Williams started back to Boston in the company of Red Sox Coach Paul Schreiber. They were scheduled to arrive in the hub city Saturday afternoon. In Boston, Williams will undergo another examination by the Red Sox' physician to determine if an operation will be necessary.

Swimmer Misses Record

SYDNEY, Australia, April 10 —(UP)— Nancy Lyons, Australia's 18-year-old Olympic swimming hope, swam the 100-yard breast stroke in 1:11.8 today, one and two-tenths seconds under the women's world record for the distance.

Miss A. Styl of Holland set the recognized world mark of one minute, 13-seconds at Amsterdam in January, 1940.

Bruce Bourke of Australia swam 100 yards freestyle in 53.2 secoinds at the same Sydney meet.

Kamber Wins With Two Punch KO At NAS Agana

Sturdy Johnny Kamber didn't break Huebie Herbert's record, but he came awfully close last night as he took only two punches and five seconds to knockout featherweight J. G. Toves of Kwajalein in the All Navy eliminations at NAS Agana.

Kamber came rushing out of his corner at the bell, caught Toves with a right to the head, and then moved in with a hard left to the ribs that put Toves on the floor for the count.

Hiner Thomas, who boasted that he would win by a kayo in the first round, found a good deal of trouble in rangy Mike Jankowski, but won a split decision for the Island Middleweight title.

Thomas used his usual tactics—looping rights and lefts—but Jankowski was under them and counterpunching as he backed away. Hiner connected with several hard ones to the face and body, but Mike took them all without once staggering and was always ready.

Erin Dominguez won the Island Lightweight crown as he floored wild Dennis Chapman in 1:45 of the first round in the fourth bout on the card at the Agana Bowl. Chapman took the offensive at the opening bell, but Dominguez effectively blocked a majority of his punches and waited for his opening—which he found.

Long Cy Fletcher held W. E. Baker off at long range and used jabs and uppercuts to pound Baker around for nearly two rounds before the local hope was awarded a TKO in 2:49 of the first round.

A big "A" in 36 point type goes to Guy Harris of Kwaj for effort and an equally big one for guts in his heavyweight go with Huebie Herbert. Herbert, at 218 pounds, and Harris, at 179, presented an odd picture. It was Harris' third time in the ring, and though he couldn't do much damage to Herbert, he took a lot of punishment and wouldn't go down. Huebie didn't exert himself trying to floor the Kwaj entry, but he played rough enough to win a unanimous decision.

In the first two bouts of the evening, Kwaj's Comse Buenavista downed Joe Ramirez on a decision to win the WesPac Flyweight crown, and Alexandro Santoy of Guam won a split verdict over Anacleto Navarro of Kwajalein in the bantamweight class.

Georgia Fighter Wins Decision at Montreal

MONTREAL April 10 —(UP)— Former Lightweight Champion Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., won a ten round decision against Johnny Greco at the Montreal Forum tonight.

Although outweighed by 6½ pounds by Greco, Jack, now aiming for a shot at the welter title, landed the hardest punches to earn the decision of the judges. Two judges gave Jack the decision while a third called it a draw.

Jack had difficulty fathoming Greco's crowding style in several rounds and the Canadian from Montreal scored many of his points at infighting.

Jack however, stung Greco several times with a left cross to the head and occasionally woundup with his "bolo" punch which found the mark.

It was the third meeting between the former light-weight champion of the world and Greco. They had met twice at Madison Square Garden with Jack winning one and earning a draw in the other.

The win by Jack earns him a fight with Tony Janiro at Washington next month.

Mangrum Drops Lead in Masters Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 10 —(UP) Harry Todd of Dallas put the state of Texas back on the map in the Masters Golf Tournament today with a sorching 67 on the second round. He went into the lead by three strokes over Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago.

Most of the field of 57 was still out. But Todd's score looked mighty hard to beat for today's round. The 67 added to his 72 yesterday gave him a total of 139.

Mangrum, settling down after a bad nine on the way out, came in with a 73—one over par—for a total of 142. Todd's 67 was five under the Augusta National's par 72.

National Amateur Champion Skee Riegel had a 33 for the outgoing nine and stood a good chance to move into contention ahead of Mangrum and right behind Todd. Riegel had a 71 on the first round.

Mangrum ran into all kinds of trouble on the par five eighth hole and wound up with a seven after calling a penalty on himself when he stepped on a twig next to his ball and it nudged the pellet.

Riegel scored 34, two under par, for the first nine to go with his 71 of yesterday. Todd knocked three strokes off par for a 33 to put with his first-round 72.

Mangrum, unraffled by his first-nine lapse, was still the man to beat after his 69 on the opening 18 yesterday. He said frankly that he was out to win both for the prestige and cash that go with the Masters and for bonus money from his fabulous boss, George May of Chicago.

Skate Queen May Turn Pro

TORONTO, Ont., April 10 —(UP) — Barbara Ann Scott, Canada's Olympic figure skating champion, admitted today that she was considering turning professional, but hastened to add that "it depends on the offers."

The pert, blonde star said she "didn't know" about offers from motion picture companies because "I have been too busy during the past month to think about them."

"I would like to do something different," Miss Scott said. "But, in order to guard my amateurism, I haven't been able to discuss it with anybody."

France Loses in Tennis

NEW YORK, April 10 —(UP)— Frank Shields of New York scored a 9-7, 8-6 victory over Jean Borotra and Billy Talbert outlasted Marcel Bernard, 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, tonight to give the United States its third straight victory in the International team matches with France.

Carlock, Simerly on Mound in Day's Top Game

The ComMar Hilltoppers will take to the road again this afternoon to travel to the NATS Asia softball diamond to play one of their most important games of the season.

The NATS Asia club was blasted all over Geiger Field when the two teams clashed the first time this season but it should be a different story today. The "Flyboys" are trying a late drive to the championship and have made very impressive starts in the Inter-Command second-round series.

Bernard Carlock will take to the mound for NATS Asia and it will be Mike Simerly doing the pitching chores for ComMar.

NSC Expects Little Trouble

The Naval Supply Center Storekeepers, who are tied with ComMar for second place, will play host to the Pan American Airways and should have little trouble winning their fifteenth victory of the season.

The NAS Agana club, leaders of the league, will play host to the 103rd CB's. The CB's were trailing by nine runs in their first meeting this season and then nearly defeated Agana by rallying to score seven runs in the last inning. The CB's have only won two games thus far and are not considered a threat to the highflying Agana team.

MAG 24 at Fifth Service

Other scheduled games find the MAG 24 "Goldies" playing the Fifth Service Leathernecks at the Fifth Service diamond, NavComSta is at Utility Squadron Nine and NBRS journeys to the First Marine Brigade.

The standings are incomplete for publication due to the failure of receiving last weeks results.

Babe Fails To Silence Fan in Church

TAMPA, Fla., —(UP)—Babe Ruth, touring the baseball training camps, still is shaking his head over an incident which occurred to him when he was visiting the Cincinnati Reds.

The Babe went to church and, during services, a little boy in the pew in front of the Bambino kept peeking at him. Finally the youngster whispered:

"Say, Babe, how many homers did you hit?"

"Seven hundred and fourteen," the Babe replied in his hoarse whisper.

"And now turn around and pay attention."

The youngster did and the Babe was congratulating himself on the way he had driven devotion into the child when the lad cautiously edged around again and asked: "Did you say 714 or 1,714"....

Cincinnati Reds Hope to Crack First Division

TAMPA, Fla. —(UP)— There isn't any pennant talk in the training camp of the Cincinnati Reds this spring, but their reconstruction program has produced a group of young ball players who promise to become a national league powerhouse within another year or two.

Even as things are, Manager Johnny Nuen has hopes of cracking the first division in 1948.

"I don't know whether we can make it," he said as he drove his squad of 35 players through their second drill of the season. "But we are going to battle like hell to crack that wall."

"That Wall" to the Reds' skipper, now in his second season as pilot of the Rhinelanders, is made up of the Dodgers, Cardinals, Braves and Giants.

"You have to rate the Cards and Dodgers as the two best clubs and today I couldn't honestly tell you which one I like best. I rate them equal, with the Braves a strong third and the Giants right behind 'em.

"But we hope to move into position this year. Our kids are a year older. They have had a year's experience under their belts and well, I'll know how to have the boys play the hitters betters this year for last season was my first in the National League.

"We're still building. In our reconstruction plan last year, we more than scratched the surface and got on the beam and we hope to show more improvement this year. Naturally, I'm optimistic."

Nuen figures that pitching will be his biggest problem. He has a lot of youngsters who "over a long range period, have the makings of a good pitching staff."

Of course, he has Ewell Blackwell, who comes pretty close to being a pitching staff all alone. Back of him, Johnny has 14 other hurlers, four of whom hold the key to the mound strength of the Reds this year. They are Tommy Hughes, secured from the Phillies and who may become No. 2 man on the staff; and three 1947 rookies —Kent Peterson, Everett Lively and Ed Erautt.

Paterson, Lively and Erautt were with the Reds all last season, but under normal circumstances they would have been sent out for additional seasoning in the minors. But Nuen was so thin on mound manpower that he kept them on and he believes that they should be ready to produce in 1948.

"With fellows like Bucky Walter, Harry Gumbert, Ken Raffensberger, Howard Fox, John Hetki and Herman Wehmier around to help those five out, we could come up with a pretty sound staff," Nuen pointed out.

Mack Griffith New Track Hope

ORLANDO, Fla. —(UP)— Two famous athletes, at the peak of condition, thrilled 3,000 spectators here recently in a gruelling race that ended in a deadheat.

The trackmen were Connie Mack, baseball dean of the Philadelphia Athletics, and President Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators.

Griffith held a seven-year advantage in youth over the 85-year-old Mack, but the spare Philadelphian made up the difference in leg-reach for their 90-foot dash over a fast track. The event was a pre-game feature to the exhibition meeting between the Athletics and Senators.

Both stalwarts arrived for their duel at homeplate in a screaming ambulance. A doctor and nurse examined their physical fitness.

Starter Nick Altrock coached them on the rules and raised his cap pistol aloft as Mack and Griffith crouched on the third-base starting line with hardly a creak that could be heard in the cheering stands.

The pistol cracked. Both men broke fast, and ran neck and neck for ten paces. Saving ground, the two wily field veterans slowed the pace to a walk, visibly tiring, but remaining abreast.

At the three-quarters mark, the crafty Mack broke the deadlock with a blistering stretch drive that surprised his opponent. The game Griffith called on his reserve strength and his second wind.

Three feet from the finish line Griffith caught Mack and they strode over together.

Baseball High Commissioner A.B. (Happy) Chandler, who judged the race, pondered his decision only momentarily. He congratulated both puffing athletes and raised their arms in the victory salute.

Eli Star Dies

PORTLAND, Conn. —(UP)— Perry T. W. Halen who was named full back on Walter Camp's 1900 All American football team when a member of Yale's grid squad is dead. Halen was 69.

Halen was the big scoring threat on the Elis' undefeated 1900 team which won 12 straight games and amassed a total of 336 points while yielding 10.

After graduation he coached at Phillips Exeter Academy and Ohio State University. Later he started his own engineering business.

Halen lost his eyesight in an explosion in 1913 but continued to be an ardent Yale fan, attending all the football games at New Haven in spite of his blindness. At the time of his death, he conducted an insurance business and was collector for the town of Portland.

Lyman-Kohlhas Meet Warfield-Hazel Today

Open singles champion Davis Warfield and Captain George Hazel meet Major Andy Lyman and Cdr. Albert Kohlhas this afternoon at 1400 on the Naval Government courts for the open doubles championship of the second annual GUAM NEWS tennis tournament.

Similarly, novice singles king Fred Chase and partner Borris Duke battle the Guamanian team of J.L.G. Untalan and Jose Perez at 1530 for novice doubles title.

In the ladies singles, Alice Burns Yoakam has already won the crown on default over Betty Marble and will be presented her trophy along with the others champion following the novice match.

Warfield, the same placement artist as in the singles, teamed with Hazel's strong forehand and powerful, if erratic, service to move past Cdr. William Seidel and Col. R.H. Allbee is first match and the last Sunday defeated hard-hitting Lt. Martin Hanson and Lt. Frank Kriz.

Lyman and Kohlhas had a tight squeak in their first match with Larry Cook and Chris Meyer, winning in three sets, and then last Sunday set a blistering pace to down Lcdr. J. D. Smith and Captain J. B. Dunn in the semifinals.

Chast and Duke first took Polvorosa and Reclosada, moved by Cleo Desbien and George Gallivan, and then knocked off Dan Stubbs and Lane McElvten in the semi-finals. The local twosome, Untalan of the police department, and Perez of the Bank of Guam, defeated Chalmers Maile and Tony Watson, and in the semifinals bumped Lts. Clark and Barnett.

Today's matches bring to a close the second effort of GUAM NEWS to create interest in tennis—a two month long tourney that saw nearly 70 players in action.

Jock Sutherland Suffers Amnesia Attack

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Coach John "Jock" Sutherland of the Pittsburgh Steelers football team apparently suffered an attack of amnesia and is in St. Mary's hospital, Cairo, Ill., an official of the National League club said tonight.

Sutherland had left his Pittsburgh office about two weeks ago. He was reportedly found in his automobile near Cairo and identified through papers in his pockets.

The Steeler spokesman said Sutherland's attending physician, Dr. F. H. Russell, told him by telephone that the veteran coach was "all right." Dr. Russell was contacted at his home in Wickleffe, Ky.

Sutherland, who became head coach of the Steelers two years ago, was reportedly on a combined business and pleasure trip in the Midwest.

160-Pound Problem Keeps Eagen Awake Nights

NEW YORK, —(UP)— The 160-pound crown is bearing down upon Eddie Eagan with such pressure that the chairman of the New York Boxing Commission must figure it weighs a ton.

Not that Chairman Eagan is wearing the middleweight crown. No, indeed. The 160-pound diadem is merely his burden; or, more accurately, his problem.

If not Eagan, then who is wearing the world middleweight crown in New York State now?

This is the $640,000 question being asked loudly by most of the middleweight contenders, by the boxing writers, and by Sol Strauss, acting promoter of the 20th Century Club. It is being asked more loudly each day.

Outside New York State, in National Boxing Association territory, no such question exists. The NBA recognizes Rocky Graziano of New York as world middleweight champion—wearer of the crown he won from Tony Zale at Chicago last July.

New York's commission never recognized Graziano as champion; for, at the time of his Chicago victory, he had no license to fight in New York State. His license had been revoked because of his failure to report three offers of fight bribes.

The New York commission neither recognized Graziano, nor did it say it wouldn't recognize him, nor did it declare the title vacant. It announced, instead, that the championship would be "held in abeyance."

Although no one in boxing, outside the Commission, understood exactly what this "abeyance" announcement meant, there was no immediate revolt against it. Fighters, handlers, writers, and promoters figured that Eagan and his fellow commissioners were merely stalling for time in which to make up their minds.

Meanwhile, something else had happened to prevent middleweight championship competition even in National Boxing Association territory. The War Department disclosed that Graziano had received a dishonorable discharge from the Army for being absent without leave. Several NBA states and cities passed legislation that indirectly barred Rocky from fighting in their areas.

As a result of Graziano's double-barrelled difficulties, there hasn't been a middleweight title fight since Rocky won the title last July. And there are no dependable indications now that Rocky can defend anywhere in the United States, within the next eight months or longer.

Chamorro Natives Leave Yap Homeland

Start Life Anew in Tinian Community

YAPTOWN, Yap Islands, March 20 — Two hundred and eighteen Chamorro residents of Yap have asked for and received permission to leave their typhoon-battered island homeland in the Western Carolines, and will move to Tinian Island in the Marianas where they wish to start life anew. Their decision was made recently after a twenty-man delegation of Yap Chamorros visited Tinian with me aboard the Yap station ship, the USS Estero AG 134, to study homesteading conditions. They came back with a highly favorable report. Another two or three hundred Chamorros, all former residents of Yap but now living on Saipan, are expected to join them to make Tinian a sizeable community.

Once Air Base

Tinian Island is without a native population and during the war was a huge U. S. Army air base from which our B-29's made almost daily strikes at Japan. The Yap Chamorros saw much on Tinian that convinced them that this was the island on which to develop their future homes. Tinian is rich in agricultural and livestock possibilities and, with its beautiful black soil and lush vegetation, can become the breadbasket of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands. What they saw on Tinian was a considerable contrast to the devastation left on Yap by the fury of four typhoons and two tidal waves over a two and half months period from November 1947 to January 1948. (Fleet Weather Central on Guam claims that Yap was hit by five typhoons during this period.)

The first migration of Chamorros to Yap occurred during Spanish times and a small colony of them has continued at Yaptown. Some historians think they first came to Yap during the 17th century as refugees during the wars with Spain. When the Japanese took over these islands they brought others in so that when Yap was occupied by the Americans there were nearly five hundred Chamorros here. However, they have always been a minority group on Yap, living among a much larger native Carolinian population. In February 1946, two hundred and four of them volunteered to go to the Marianas, nearly all to Saipan, where they were attracted by the higher wage scale in effect there. Subsequently, there has been some movement back and forth, insofar as transportation permitted.

Great Opportunity

The migration of the Chamorros from Yap can provide benefits from more than one angle. It is a wonderful opportunity for the Chamorros to raise their standard of living on Tinian to the level of their relatives on Saipan. They are much farther advanced in western culture than the Yap natives, who still prefer to wear G-strings and grass skirts instead of western style clothing. Too, they require a more varied diet.

The United States will also benefit if this new community on Tinian can produce a large amount of agricultural and livestock products, by a savings in shipping from the States. Tinian farms, formerly tilled by Okinawans are divided into fifteen acre plots, with quonset huts. Fresh water and electricity will be available. Produce from these farms can readily be marketed on Guam and in the Trust Territory.

Second Fiddle

Furthermore, it will be the opportunity of a life-time for the native Carolinians of Yap, who have always played second fiddle to the Chamorros under every foreign regime. The Yap people and the Chamorros are two culturally incompatible groups.

Since the American occupation efforts to promote local self-government on Yap have been seriously hampered by the anomalous position of the Chamorros minority as a foreign body politic which has not proven assimilable to the traditional Yap political structure. Preferential treatment of the Chamorro faction by previous foreign regimes, and some Americans, has developed among the Yap people a strong undercurrent of feeling against the Chamorros (and the Americans to a lesser degree) are regarded as constituting a foreign wedge which continually presses into native lands and affairs, hampering a free indigenous society.

Superior Standing

As a result of the superior social standing developed by the Chamorros under previous regimes, as well as the reticent nature of the Yap people, the native islanders have been in economic bondage, a situation which militates against the establishment of a free native economy under the American administration. During the past eight months, however, a note of discontent has become evident among the Chamorro group as a result of scrupulous avoidance of favoritism in the apportionment of government employment and economic advantages by the civil administrator. Attitudes of insecurity have become evident among a number of the principal Chamorro families in Yaptown who were accustomed to preferential treatment in the past.

Close Ties

Passenger traffic between Yap and the Marianas Islands has always been preponderantly Chamorro. Every Chamorro family on Yap has close blood ties with either Guam or Saipan. It is indisputable through observation that the Chamorros on Yap are rooted culturally in the Marianas and that they have conspicuously avoided an indigenous denominator even though listed as Yap residents.

On the other hand, Yap natives have a primitive society where a subsistence economy exists and there is no reason in the world why we should urbanize that economy. To do so would mean adding another poor farm to our system of island government.

Self-Sufficient

Navy directives call for "promoting the self-sufficiency of the inhabitants of the Trust Territory" and the Yap people have an answer for that. They are economically self-sufficient! It is our insisting upon the introduction of western ideas that is complicating their economic system. They have never had the degree of exposure to western ideas and education as have the people of the Marianas, the Marshalls, the Eastern Carolines or even the Palaus.

Rear Admiral C. H. Wright, deputy high commissioner of the Trust Territory of the Pacific islands, once said, "Let's not civilize these happy people." No truer words could ever be spoken concerning the native Carolinians of the Yap Islands.

As previously mentioned, it has proven impossible since American occupation to establish a homogenous system of local government which could be mutually understandable to two population segments on Yap. Concepts of social justice and political procedure, as exemplified by the Yap and Chamorro people, have amply demonstrated the incompatibility of the two groups. The Chamorro does not regard himself as being morally subject to the decisions of a Yap governmental authority; Chamorro officials are regarded by the Yap people as a revival of the petty overlordship of Japanese times. In consequence relations between the factions have had to be conducted through the Civil Administration Unit.

Therefore, sympathetic examination of the emotional values present can be reduced to two simple observations. First, that the Yap majority has been both unsettled and unhappy over the continued presence of the Chamorro minority. And second, that the latter group has been far from easy over its reduced circumstances under the terms of equal-treatment by the Americans.

And so, on 27 March 1948 the LST 803 is scheduled to arrive at Yaptown in the Yap Islands to provide the lift for these Chamorros who want to start life anew on Tinian in the Marianas. All their worldly goods will be taken with them, and it should be a strange sight to see them depart with their cattle, their pigs and their chickens. Fifty men, fifty-five women, and one hundred and thirteen children under the age of sixteen, will make the trip. The LST 803 will probably depart from Yap about 7 April 1948, and the Yap Chamorros are very happy about the prospects that await them on Tinian. In line with Navy policy in the Trust Territory every encouragement will be given them in agricultural development along lines which will assist them toward self-subsistence and which will assure the individual the maximum return from his efforts.

As for the Yap people, their traditional political structure displays excellent promise of development into a suitable form of representative government once the attitude of subjection induced by the continued presence of the Chamorro minority, has been eliminated.

Government Developed

Self-government in the Yap Islands is developing satisfactorily. A gradual withdrawal into a purely advisory capacity should be the future roll of the American administrators on Yap. Resisting the temptation to control or to direct decisions of native governing bodies, in the interest of promoting independence of thought and self-confidence on the part of these bodies, should be our main contribution to their further development.

The United States can become a very successful mandatary if it sticks to its principles. These principles are maximum self-government, education for self-government, and ultimate liberation or incorporation as a goal.

A clear view of Tinian can be found in this photograph. This is one of the old buildings in the fishing village of the Naval Government on Tinian. Natives from Yap will make this Island their new homes.

SecNav Comes to Aid of Marine

(SEA) — The Navy "turned to" from the top man down in the intrests of a Marine who had an emergency leave.

Heading for the Mediterranean area aboard USS Leyte, Howard Fagenholz, PFC, USMC, received word via Navy communications that his father was seriously ill at his Chicago home. The Navy promised the Fagenholz family to get Howard home as soon as possible.

A destroyer headed for Puerto Rico, offered Fagenholz a ride that far. So far things looked pretty good. The picture changed at Puerto Rico, however. No planes or ships were scheduled to leave for the continent for days.

The Marine received word that Secretary of the Navy Sullivan was in Puerto Rico and was flying to the States. Trying to hitch a ride with the Secretary of the Navy looked like a pretty delicate problem. Mr. Sullivan's pilot proved to be the connection. He heard of the Leatherneck's plight and passed the word to the Navy chief.

Fagenholz found himself being welcomed aboard Mr. Sullivan's plane and traveling in the company of a four-star general and two congressman.

Preparations were made at NAS MIAMI to receive the Marine and hurry him on his last lap to Chicago. Arrangements also were made for him to board an airliner for the trip home.

Howard Fagenholz, PFC, USMC, got to Chicago in record time. The story isn't complete, though. Fagenholz started with $38 and before he finished he had $88. The Secretary of the Navy worried about the Marine not having enough money, added $20 to the original $38. Captain Robert Hunter, USN, CO of Opalocka Station at Miami, also doubtful as to the amount required for an air trip to Chicago, supplied $30 more.

Well Armed Arab Troops Invade 5 Jewish Towns

JERUSALEM, Palestine, May 2 —(UP)— Jewish sources in Haifa reported tonight that well-armed troops from Syria and Lebanon had attacked five north Palestine settlements. The battle for four of the villages was reported still going on.

These sources said that Syrian-Lebanese forces equipped with tanks and artillery had attacked Dan, Daphne, Szold, Ramatnaftali and Lehavoth Habashar.

A column of five armored cars which attacked Ramatnaftali reportedly was driven back by Jewish defenders who inflicted heavy losses on the Arabs. Communications with the area were broken, but at last reports the attack on the other four settlements was continuing.

The Haifa reports did not state clearly whether the attackers were men of the regular Syrian and Lebanese armies or strongly armed irregulars.

A Haganah broadcast earlier tonight said that regular troops were invading palestine, but reliable military sources said the forces being used were more likely well-trained irregulars.

British intelligence officials in Haifa did not comment on the Jewish reports. One British source said unofficially that there had been no British patrols on the north border for three days, due to Britain's evacuation of the Holy Land.

This official also said that all British communications had been cleared out of the area.

British intelligence officers in Tel Aviv said they believed several thousand Arab fighters would strike into the Holy Land simultaneously from the north and south within the next few days.

Arab officials in Cairo, Egypt, Beirut, Lebanon, and an announcement from the British War Office in London all denied earlier unconfirmed reports that Palestine had been invaded by any Arab state.

Dewey Criticizes on Outlawing Communism

PORTLAND, Ore., May 2 —(UP)— Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York tonight indirectly criticized Harold E. Stassen's proposal to outlaw the Communist party in opening an 18-day Oregon primary campaign against the former Minnesota governor.

"I am gravely concerned about some of the hysterical suggestions that have been made about handling Communists," Dewey said in a speech to the Oregon state convention of Junior Chambers of Commerce.

Stassen, Dewey's sole Republican opponent in the May 21 presidential primary, last week told Oregon audiences that he favored outlawing the Communist party overground and "digging them out underground."

"I have seen a good deal of Communists during my 11 years as a public prosecutor and six years as a governor," Dewey said. "They have fought me every time I ran for office and as of this moment their influence in my state is at the lowest point in its history.

Russia Displays Show of Strength In May Day Parade

MOSCOW, May 2 —(UP)— Superfort-type bombers—five times as many as ever before shown here —flew over Red Square today to spearhead the Soviet Union's May Day show of armed might.

Fighters buzzed around the four-engined long range strategic bombers in the air show where Russia's new post-war military power was displayed.

Jet planes of two types flew over the square. Also were twin-engined bombers and single-engined fighters. All told, nearly twice as many planes flew over as in the demonstration a year ago.

The May Day parade through Red Square brought out nearly twice as many infantry, artillery and tank forces, also, as in the last two years.

It was an array of armed might intended to assure peace, for which Russia has been working consistently, Marshall Nikolia A. Bulganin, minister of armed forces, said in the keynote speech.

Premier Josef Stalin was in the reviewing stand atop the Lenin Mausoleum overlooking the square. Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was there, as were nearly all the members of the Politburo, to watch the hour-long military parade and mass civilian parade which was expected to go on five hours or so.

Blacklist of Japanese To be Completed Soon

TOKYO, May 2 —(UP)— The purge of Japanese whose active and Allied officials said today there will be about 200,000 names on the final blacklist.

These 200,000 purgees will never again be permitted to hold public office. They are barred also from certain key positions in about 250 designated monopolizing corporations.

However, they are not being prevented from entering other fields. A good man may have reestablished themselves already both socially and financially in new lines of endeavor.

The Allies have clearly indicated they will hold the Japanese government responsible for enforcing the purge even after occupation forces have been withdrawn.

Income Tax Cut in Effect, Boosts Pay

WASHINGTON, May 2 —(UP)— The new federal income tax cut went into effect today, giving almost 50,000,000 Americans a boost in take home pay.

From now on the government will take a smaller bite out of the pay checks of those on the "pay as you go" withholding system. This is the first noticeable effect of the $4,800,000,000 income tax reduction voted by Congress early this month over President Truman's veto.

"Tax Cut"

Everybody who pays a federal income tax will get some benefit. About 7,400,000 of the smaller taxpayers will go off the tax rolls altogether.

The tax cut applies to paychecks you get after today. It doesn't make any difference when the money actually was earned. It's the date on the check that counts.

For example, a married man with two small children who makes $50 a week has had $1.30 taken out of his check for federal income tax. But from now on there will be no deduction. He's off the tax rolls entirely.

Sen. Taylor Arrested For Breach of Peace

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 2 —(UP)— Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Ida.) vice-presidential running mate of Henry Wallace on the third party ticket, was arrested tonight for "breach of the peace" when he attempted to enter a Negro youth meeting through the entrance for Negroes.

Taylor, a scheduled speaker before an organization listed on the Department of Justice roster of Communist-inspired groups, was stopped by police when he insisted on using the door marked for Negroes, and hustled into a police car.

Police Chief Floyd C. Eddy, at the scene, said he would be booked for breach of the peace and that his bond would be $100. Earlier officers had arrested three white persons and a Negro minister on charges of violating the city segregation laws.

Navy Board to Select Commissioned Officers

WASHINGTON, May 2 —(UP) A selection board has been convened in the Navy Department to select applicants from the chief warrant officers, chief petty officers and petty officers, first class, for permanent appointment in the grades not above the grade of commander, for limited duty in regular Navy, in commissioned the technical fields indicated by their warrants and ratings.

Officers of this new classification will perform limited duty only, and will be referred to as limited-duty officers (LDO). This opens a new career for outstanding personnel who are fully qualified for limited duty in certain technical fields because of their previous specialization.

During World War I and World War II, enlisted personnel were appointed commissioned rank under temporary promotion laws, but there have been no provisions for permanent advancement beyond commissioned warrant rank unless qualified for general line duties.

The LDO classification was authorized by Public Law 381, approved August 7, 1947, which provides that original appointments may be made in the grade of commander and below for two years after approval of the act. After August 7, 1949, all appointments made under this classification will be in the grade of ensign.

Greek Minister Killed; Marital Law Declared

ATHENS, May 2 —(UP)— Minister of Justice Christos Ladas was assassinated by an alleged communist today and a few hours later the government declared martial law in the entire Athens area saying it was necessary to prevent guerrillia infiltration and terrorism.

Ladas, a member of Premier Themistocles Sophoulis' Liberty party, was wounded fatally when his assailant threw a grenade into his automobile. The assasin was injured seriously before he was captured.

Ladas died late tonight. Funeral services will be held Monday.

Martial law was ordered at 5 p.m. in the greek army's first corps area, which includes Athens. Heavy armed guards were placed around government buildings and the homes of officials to prevent further attacks on Greek leaders.

"Large Scale Arrests"

King Paul signed the martial law decree, which authorizes both police and army authorities to make arrests at any hour of the day or night without warrants. Large-scale arrests were begun at once.

The immediate reasons given for the drastic measures were the danger of Guerilla infiltration into the Athens area, incidents of terrorism in Athens and the army's offensive operation in the civil war. Police and troops were ordered on 24-hour duty.

The decision to issue the decree was made at a meeting of Premier Themistocles Sofoulis and high military officials. It followed the recommendation of the Greek general staff, which reportedly said a number of guerrillas from the Roumeli area had escaped under orders to infiltrate into towns and cities, including Athens.

Connally Confirms U.S. Military Aid To Western Europe

WASHINGTON, May 2 —(UP) Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.) confirmed today that the administration is drafting a program of American military aid to western Europe.

The Texan, ranking Democratic member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said a formal legislative request for authority to ship arms and munitions to Europe may be ready for submission to Congress next week.

He said the project is being drafted by the State Department. It would authorize President Truman to send tanks, planes, guns and other military equipment to any of the 16 Marshall Plan nations to help defend the big economic recovery investment this country is making there.

Connally said he discussed the program this afternoon with Under-secretary of State Robert A. Lovett, but he gave no details of their conference. He said the plan is not yet in final form but that Lovett hoped to complete it soon.

Taft, Stassen Claim Victory in Ohio Voting

CLEVELAND, May 2 —(UP)— Conflicting claims of victory at the Ohio May 4 primary were issued here today by Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen.

Except for the last minute appeals of the two candidates, it was practically all over in Ohio but the voting. Taft claimed a complete shutout. Stassen predicted that a majority of his 23 candidates will win in Tuesday's balloting.

Before the victory claims were issued, Taft proposed that federal employes be given at least a 60 per cent increase in wages over the 1939 level. He told a Cleveland city club meeting that the GOP convention should nominate for president a man who helped build its program. He maintained his program is the GOP program.

Koreans Argue Closing Of Schools in Japan

PEIPING, May 2 —(UP)— Peiping's 220 Koreans drew up a written protest against the closing of Korean schools in Japan to be forwarded to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters and to Japanese government officials in Tokyo.

In a recent meeting here, leaders of the city's small Korean colony declared that "the suppression of Korean racial freedom in Japan would reflect against the United States at a time when America is supporting Korean independence."

Senate to Study UN

WASHINGTON, May 2 —(UP) The United Nations and its veto problem, already under House scrutiny, will be placed under a Senate microscope too, Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg revealed tonight.

Vandenberg told reporters that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will consider sometime within the next six years a handful of suggestions for UN charter revision.

The World In Brief . . .

by United Press

Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 2 —(UP)— Slight twisters and high winds, accompanied by driving rain and hail, caused extensive property damage and disrupted lighting and communications in southeastern Kansas and western Missouri late today.

Farmers living about four miles southwest of Halstead, Kan., said a tornado struck fields in that area twice, returning each time to the clouds.

A slight twister was reported near Chanuate, Kan., but observers said there was no damage.

Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, May 2 —(UP)— The U. S. Marshal's office today served Frank M. McDonnel, treasurer of the Hughes Tool Co., with summons for a company representative to appear in Federal Court, Honolulu, May 7 in connection with charges of misusing veterans' priorities.

The company and six individuals were indicted last week on charges of using veterans' priorities to buy war-surplus airplanes.

Warrants for the individual defendants have not been received here, the marshal said.

Washington

WASHINGTON, May 2 —(UP)— The House Un-American Activities Committee tonight urged enactment of its anti-Communist bill to cut "the threads which bind the international Communist conspiracy together."

The committee, in a formal report, emphasized that they were not to deal with "theoretical Communism"

"We are seeking rather to strike a body blow at the American cadre of the foreign directed Communist conspiracy," the group said.

Washington

WASHINGTON, May 2 —(UP) — Statehood forces tonight prepared for a renewed effort to get the statehood bill out of the Senate Committee for interior and insular affairs which is next scheduled to meet next Tuesday.

The statehooders expected their ranks to be bolstered by commission members Sam King and Harold Rice who are scheduled to arrive tomorrow night.

Meanwhile Lorrin P. Thurston planned to call on several people tomorrow to discuss statehood.

Ladies' Auxiliary Holds Own in Battle for Snappier Uniforms

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. —(UP)— Seven red-faced members of the American Legion conceded defeat to the ladies Saturday.

One of them even hid behind a water cooler.

The seven members of the Legion's national emblem committee, met to approve a new uniform for 300,000 women of the auxiliary, but what came out was strictly a compromise.

Buffeted on all sides by the demands of the ladies, they approved not one, but three new uniforms.

"After all, we're all married man," explained E. L. Haffner of Garrett, Ind., committee chairman. "We know a woman is never satisfied with one dress."

The old uniform was an adaptation of the men's outfit, except that the wives wore skirts instead of trousers. But with younger members joining the auxiliary, something snappier was demanded.

For a year the committee stalled while hundreds of complaints and suggestions poured in from over the country.

The committee was scheduled to decide the issue Friday, but after an uneasy session the members thoughtfully put the subject at the bottom of their agenda.

Inevitably it came up again Saturday.

The committee finally picked three uniforms — the old one, an Eisenhower jacket type with a six-gore skirt, and a one-piece shirt-waiste dress.

Denounces U.S., Britain

MEXICO CITY—(UP)—A Honolulu woman opened the Latin American Federation of Democratic Youth convention Saturday with a speech denouncing the United States and Great Britain for their "attempts" to dominate the world.

Frances Damon, treasurer of the World Federation of Demonocratic Youth, charged that "especially in the last year the Yankee and British imperialists policies have been unmasked."

"With the hypocritical schemes of aid for some nations with the Marshall and Clayton Plans, they have strayed away from the United Nations and tried to impose a doctrine of world domination.

"They are trying to make the world a vast colony at the service of their ambitions," she said.

New Publication Available to North Fielders

NORTH AFB—News hot off the press is now available to the ladies of the North Air Field Woman's Club in the form of a monthly paper called "The North Wind."

Shortly after the club was organized it was thought by various members that a short bulletin would be of help in keeping everyone informed as to what has happened and what would take place in the future.

Mrs. Jesse S. Skaggs was selected to inaugurate the service and found that instead of a small bulletin, she had enough material for a little newspaper. Saturday April 24th, the second edition was distributed and was enthusiastically received by all the club members.

Mrs. Skaggs received help from many of the ladies of the club in gathering her news items and articles. Mrs. James O. Bailey does the clever art work and cuts the stencils.

Russians Kidnapping

VIENNA, Austria—(UP)—U. S. Army headquarters reported that Russian soldiers had been caught for the second time within two weeks in a kidnap attempt in the American sector of the city.

An official announcement said two armed Russians were picked up in the American-occupied 19th district where they were allegedly searching the neighborhood for Austrians they wanted to arrest.

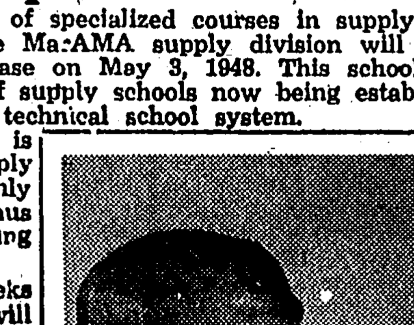
Supply School to Open at Harmon

HARMON AFB — A series of specialized courses in supply procedure for the personnel of the MarAMA supply division will commence at Harmon Air Force Base on May 3, 1948. This school will be part of a permanent series of supply schools now being established under the Far East Air Forces technical school system.

The purpose of this course is to qualify personnel of the supply division at MarAMA for highly specialized jobs. The men thus trained will be used to fill existing vacancies.

The classes will last four weeks for a total of forty hours and will be attended ten hours per week. Upon completion of the course, personnel attending them will be put in on-the-job training status. The course will include a study of the functions and procedures of all the sections of the supply division, with special emphasis on general supply. The instructors will be qualified officers and enlisted men of the supply division here at MarAMA.



STARTLED CALIFORNIA!—At first this picture would scare the California Chamber of Commerce out into the rain. Here is a California lemon (right) compared to what some Guamanians call lemon "setlas." However after consulting the Naval Government Department of Agriculture, it was found that the "setlas" is what is known as a citron, and is in the same citrus family but several times removed. The setlas grows on Guam but its uses are restricted to preserves, mincemeat and pickling. You can't even get one good Tom Collins from the monster.

Man Dies After Two Attempts

SAN FRANCISCO, —(UP)— A well-dressed man leaped into the path of an automobile driven by Philip Bernardi, of Daly City, Thursday. As he swerved and skidded to miss him, Bernardi yelled: "What are you trying to do — kill yourself?"

Continuing on his way, Bernardi glanced in his rear view mirror in time to see the man again jump from the curb, this time in front of a big sand and gravel truck,

The wheels of the truck passed over his body.

Police found no identification or papers in his pockets. They listed it: "Suicide, John Doe, about 35."

MarBo to Honor President Roxas

MARBO — A solemn requiem mass for the late President Manuel A Roxas of the Philippines, will be held at McNair Theater along Marine Drive, MarBo, Wednesday, May 5 at 3:00 p. m.

Most Reverend Bishop Apollinaris Baumgartner, D. D., OFM Cap, military delegate and Bishop of Guam, will be presiding. Chaplains Charles N. Quest, 20th Air Force, and Thomas Burke, CHC, USN, will be deacons of honor. The celebrant of the mass will be Chaplain Jose Dacudao, 526 Eng. Sv. Bn. with Rev. Eusebie Parcon, Camp Roxas, and Dionisio Valdez, Camp Quexon, assisting as deacon and subdeacon respectively. Chaplain Ildephonse Baechler, 31st Air Sv. Gp., will be master of ceremonies.

Other Catholic chaplains in the sanctuary will be Fr. P. H. Brewerton, CHC, USN, Paul J. Schmid, 22nd Sta. Hosp., Joseph McDonald, 5th Marine Gp., and Edward Maddigan of the Cmbt. Sv. Bn. Marines.

Mrs. Francisco de la Cruz will be at the console of the organ. Fr. Alexander Feeley, a missionary of the south end of Guam, will direct the choir. Capt. Jaworski, Spec. Serv. Gp., Mr. Armand Piche. and Mr. Taguined. together with others, will appear in the choir. Preceding the mass at 2:30 p. m., the 12th Army Philippine Scouts Band will render the following: "Our Fallen Heroes," "Funeral March," "March Pathetic," "Life Beyond," and "In Memoriam."

After the religious ceremony there will be the Requiem Aeternam by Martini by the band under direction of T-Sgt. J. L. Cruz. Taps wil be sounded by T-4 Thurman R. Shock. The memorial services will close with the playing of the Philippine and American national anthems by the P. S. band.

Reservations are being made at the theater for visiting personnel from various branches of the military services. Invitations have been extended also to the Governor of the Island and his official staff.

The services are being held as a token of recognition of the many units of Philippine Scouts serving in the Armed Forces of the U.S. on this Island.

HE ASKED FOR IT

MILWAUKEE —(UP)— Dorothy Hogan, 20, filed a $5,000 breach of promise against her former fiance, Martin Zavodnik, 25, who said he "couldn't go through with it" a few days before the wedding.

Miss Hogan said what peeved her most was that "we became engaged only at his insistence and earnest entreaties."

Officers' Club Gets Face Uplifted

HQ. 46TH FIGHTER WING, Guam — Target date set. Mission accomplished. The 46th Fighter Wing opened its newly decorated and completely modernized officers club Saturday night, April 24th, as scheduled. Officers and guests celebrated the occasion with a formal dance and were welcomed to their renovated source of entertainment and relaxation by Colonel R. W. Puryear, wing commanding officer.

Lt. Colonel Robert S. Barney, president of the board of governors, opened the ceremonies by presenting to Captain Winans C. Shaddix a token of appreciation for his exceptional work as project officer.

Music for entertainment and dancing pleasure was furnished by the newly organized 46th Fighter Wing orchestra under the direction of Lt. Vernon D. Van Vleet.

A complete remodeling program was instituted on the 46th Fighter Wing Officers Club on January 4, 1948. At that time it was decided that entertainment and recreation facilities for officers were not adequate and something new was in order

Long one of the most popular clubs on the Island, a reputation was at stake. Captain Shaddix was appointed project officer and work was soon under way.

A complete remodeling program began with an addition of a new wing on the north side of the club which provides ample floor space and in which are located the ladies powder room, the men's room, barber shop, and game room.

A regular meeting of the Adelup Point Parent-Teachers Association will be held next Tuesday, May 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the Adelup Point school. During the period from 7:30 to 8:15 p.m. teachers will be available in their respective classrooms for informal discussions. At 8:15 a short business meeting will be held.

Rules of the contest:

1. The contest is open now to all persons on Guam. It will close at midnight, 20 May, 1948.

2. Any person, military or civilian, may submit as many entries as he or she desires. There are no restrictions as to content, format or color.

3. Entries should be sent to the Guam Memorial Hospital. They should be legibly labled with the name and address of the contestant.

4. The Board of Trustees will not be responsible for the return of entries. Unsuccessful contestants may call for their entries after 30 April 1948.

5. The Board of Trustees will be the sole judge of winning entries.

6. Winning entries on payment of the prize money will become the sole property of the Board of Trustees who shall have the right to have them reproduced and to use them as the board sees fit.

7. Winning contestants will be announced not later than 1 June, 1948. Winners will be paid by the financial secretary of the board of trustees as soon as possible after the announcement.

8. First Prize: $75, Second Prize: $50, Third Prize: $25.

Citation Wins Kentucky Derby, Coaltown Second

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 —(UP) —Citation did it today, just as everyone expected him to do.

He came roaring into the stretch of Churchill Downs to overtake his stablemate, Coaltown, to win the 74th annual running of the Kentucky Derby.

His buddy from this blue grass country finished second—which also was according to the book—with My Request third.

It was a history making race for the bay colt, his owner, Warren Wright and his calyiumet farm, his Trainer Ben Jones and his Jockey, Eddie Arcaro.

It all added up to turf history.

THE WINNER—Citation the horse who was favored to win the 74th annual running of the Kentucky Derby, and who did just that is shown above with his Trainer Jimmy Jones. Citation was a Calumet Farm entry. (AP Wirephoto)

Running over a sloppy track, the Calumet streak of turf lightning ran the mile and a quarter in 2:05-two fifths without his history making jockey doing a thing to make him run.

Just Let Him Run

For hawk-nosed Eddie, from Newport, Ky., just let Citation run as he wanted to, and that was much too good for the other five horses in the field, including his stablemate's early pace setter, Coaltown.

When the chips came down in the run for home Citation let loose and won going away. Arcaro was along only for the ride—but what a ride it was.

It made him the first jockey ever to win the derby four times, and it tied old Trainer Ben Jones with (Derby Dick) as the leading trainer for this annual run for the roses. They, too, have had four winners.

His Devil's red silk jersey and his blue cap looking like a lighthouse in the fog, Acaro came riding the winner home to the cheer of some 70,000 persons who crowded historic Churchill Downs.

Great Combination

That Calumet-Wright-Jones-Arcaro combination was so formidable that only win betting was permitted and the Calumet entry returned $2.80 that was a lot better than most turf fans expected.

For together with his stablemate Coaltown, the entry was expected to go off as a 1 to 10 choice. It didn't because of the condition of the track and because his jockey had other worries.

But these factors didn't count in the final reckoning.

Citaton didn't mind the sloppy going and Arcaro forgot that he may still have a bill to pay for his derby eve antics.

But none of this was important to those who backed the Calumet entry at the betting windows.

It was victory—and victory that meant a lot of derby history.

There were only five horses he beat—Billings being fourth, Grandpere fifth and Escadru sixth.

But they were the cream of America's 1948 lot of three year olds and he beat them in such a manner that he became an outstanding choice to wind up with this year's triple crown—racing's greatest achievement. He has the Preakness and Belmont stakes to go, but no one who saw him stretch out those strong, brown-colored legs today ever will doubt for a minute that he won't do it.

The victory netted Citation $83,400. It netted the widow of the jockey who would have been up on him but for an ill-fated fishing trip in the Florida Keys $16,800, for Wright matched what Arcaro donated out of his purse to Mrs. Al Snider.

Snider, the contract jockey for Calumet who had ridden Citation to victory after victory in the horses two-year-old turf career, would have been on his back day had he not lost his life when a sudden gale took his fishing boat out of life's play.

It was taking care of an old pal as far as Eddie was concerned and, as for Citation, he took care of an old pal, too.

Pirates Leading National League; Tigers Down Indians

NEW YORK, May 2 —(UP)— The Pittsburgh Pirates, scaling new heights with "old" hurdlers, climbed into first place in the National league today when 40-year-old Fred (Fritz) Ostermueller scattered five hits and beat Cincinnati, 7 to 2.

Making his first start of the season, Ostermueller held the Reds hitless until two were out in the seventh. Hank Sauer, Cincy outfielder, then clouted his sixth home run of the season. Outfielder Johnny Wyrostek gave the Reds their only other marker with a circuit blast in the eighth.

The New York Giants tumbled from the National league lead into second place when they bowed to Boston, 6 to 3, before 30,762 fans at the Polo Grounds.

The Braves sewed up the game in the first inning when they chased veteran Louis (Bobo) Newsom to cover with a barrage of five singles and four runs. Ex-Giant Bill Voiselle, who started for Boston and received credit for the triumph, allowed but one hit until the seventh when the Giants chased him with four hits and two runs.

Brooklyn, getting five-hit-pitching from Joe Hatten, defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 2 to 1. The Dodgers, who registered only four hits off Walt (Hot Dog) Dubiel, won the contest in the fifth when Billy Cox singled, Hatten doubled and Jackie Robinson smothered another single to left-field.

In the American league, Detroit handed both the Cleveland Indians and Bob Feller their first defeats of the season, 10 to 3. Paul (Dizzy) Trout snapped the Indians' winning streak at six games. Six errors, three by Outfielder Larry Doby, contributed to Feller's downfall. Shortstop Johnny Lipon, with three hits, led Detroit's 14-hit attack

Despite the defeat, Cleveland still held first place in the junior circuit by a game-and-a-half.

Right-hander Jack Kramer, making his first start of the season after recovering from a pulled leg muscle, pitched the Boston Red Sox to an 8 to 6 victory over the second place New York Yankees.

Fred (Porky) Sanford of the St. Louis Browns pitched shut-out ball until the ninth, then weakened, but still managed to emerge with a 6 to 2 victory over the last-place Chicago White Sox.

The Philadelphia Athletics, behind Carl Scheib's eight-hit flinging, humbled the Washington Senators 5 to 1, Early (Gus) Wynn, touched for home runs by Infielders Eddie Joost and Hank Majeski, was charged with the setback.

NATS Asia Scores Thirteenth Victory Of The Season

Bernard Carlock, ace hurler for NATS Asia, almost assured himself of a berth on the Guam All Star softball team by twirling his fourth no hit game of the season.

The NATS Asia club jumped on losing pitcher Lincoln, hurler for Utility Squadron Nine, for four runs and eight hits to win their thirteenth game of the season, picked to end among the four top teams, the NATS Asia Flyboys needed the victory to tie Marine Brigade for fourth place.

ComMar Wins

The First Marine Brigade Devildogs were downed by the ComMar Hilltoppers 9 to 6 but losing pitcher Ed McClard tried his best to win and stay in fourth place by a hitting two run homer which tied the score in the fifth inning. However, "Red" Morris, winning pitcher, held the Marines in check while Com Mar went on to score three runs which spelt their 17th victory of the season. Revenge was being sought when the Hilltoppers invaded the Brigade diamond and revenge was received.

The NBRS softball club has forfeited their remaining games and have dropped from the Inter-Command softball league. There were no other results received.

The Inter-Command baseball league took shape today with four games being made up because of postponements due to weather and personnel duties. The Fifth Service Leathernecks rampaged over the happy Triple "A" Gunners 11 to 4 when the Gunner infield fell apart in the first inning by committing six errors which allowed seven runs to score which spelt the victory margin for Fifth Service.

The FasRon 13 Airedales went back into a tie for first place by downing the Marine Barracks crew, 6 to 0. The First Marine Brigade trounced Yards and Docks 14 to 3 at the Brigade while the NAS Agana All Stars romped over the NAD Trojans 7 to 2 at the Agana diamond.

The standings will be published Wednesday as another full schedule will be played in the red hot league race.

Trojans Victorious in Dual Track Meet

BERKELEY, Calif., May 2 (UP) the Trojans of Southern California rang down the curtain today on the glorious coaching career of Dean Cromwell, the "Maker of Champions," by drubbing the University of California track team 73 to 58 in a dual meet here.

It was the 21st time in 22 such contests that the Trojans under their metnor had defeated their arch rivals in the track and field. The southern stars, paced by sprint ace Mel Patton and distance runner Roland Sink, outdid themselves to hand their retiring coach a victory.

Sink racked up a new meet record of 4:13.2 in the mile run, cracking Lou Zamperini's mark.

Cromwell is stepping out to take on duties as NCAA and AAU coach and head coach of the Olympic team.

Patton, a leading contendor for a berth on the Olympic team, turned in a 9.6 100 yard dash and a 21 second 220 yard dash.

Padres Break Losing Streak With 8 to 0 Victory Over San Francisco

SAN DIEGO, May 2 —(UP)— Xavier Rescigno blanked the locally-unpopular San Francisco Seals with five hits today as the San Diego Padres romped to a 12-hit, 8 to 0, victory to break a three game losing streak

While a partisan crowd of 6,182 jeered the visitors and cheered the local heroes, the hometowners took a two run lead in the first inning when Dain Clay walked and Johnny Barrett hit his sixth home run of the season.

Losing Pitcher Bob Joyce was knocked out of the box in the second inning when the Padres tallied another run on three singles.

Seal Pitcher Al Lien gave up a run in the fourth stanza when Ray Tran singled and scored on another single by Clay. Dewey Soriano was on the mound for the northerners in the eighth when the Padres batted around to bring in four runs. Soriano walked the first three San Diegans.

UCLA Has Fast Runner

LOS ANGELES, May 2 —(UP)— The fastest 220 low hurdle mark in the nation so far this year was set by Craig Dixon of UCLA as he flew over the course in 22.7 seconds at a UCLA-Stanford track meet.

Five meet records toppled as UCLA downed the Indians 80½ to 50½ before 5,000 spectators.

Other meet crowns went to Otis Chandler, Stanford, shot put; 53 feet 2 inches; Dixon, UCLA, 120 yard high hurdles, 14.2 seconds; Bill Larson, Stanford; pole vault, 13 feet 7 7-8 inches; and Gay Bryan, Stanford, broad jump, 24 feet 5 inches.

Pieper Leads in Calif. Golf Tournament

PEBBLE BEACH, Cal., May 2 —(UP)— The wind and the always-tough Pebble Beach course wrecked Ernie Pieper on the last two holes today but his three-over-par 75 still was good enough to keep him leading the California open golf tournament field.

Pieper, with a two-under par 70 yesterday, thus was able to hold top spot after 36 holes of play. His total count was 145.

Bill Nary, of Monterey Park, and Smiley Quick from Los Angeles, either of whom could have grabbed the lead from Pieper today on the basis of 71's yesterday, failed to rally to the occassion. Quick chopped out a 75 for a 146 total and a tie for second. Nary faded to a 78 for a 149.

The day's lone par-shooter was Ellsworth Vines of Pasadena, 53 ex-tennis sharper, who added a 72 today to yesterday's 74 for a 146 and a tie with Quick.

Paul Runyan of Pasadena,, whose respectable 73 today went with yesterday's 74, had a 147 total, just two swings in arrears of the San Jose player.

Art Bell of San Francisco, up close yesterday with a 73, stayed on the trail with a 76 in the second round, his 149 matching Nary's.

More British Troops Enter Jaffa

Palestine, Jerusalem, May 5 —(UP)— Five hundred British Marine Commandos, some of the toughest soldiers in the world, and a tank unit from the Suez Canal zone reached the Palestine border this morning.

Reliable sources said still more troops were expected tonight from Cyprus. The influx brought to impressive proportions the British reversal of their pullout from Palestine, an emergency bid to stave off chaos in the last two weeks of the British mandate.

British army leaders here sought to convince the Jews and Arabs that the truce imposed on Jerusalem should be extended. Their efforts were reported lagging. Responsible quarters predicted that if they failed altogether, the Jews would resume their offensive against Arab quarters outside the old city wall.

Haganah headquarters in Tel Aviv reported that some Lebanese troops crossed the northern border this morning near the Jewish settlement of Ramot Naftali in upper Galilee. Such sallies across the border have been frequent in recent weeks.

Conference May Bring Lasting Peace

JERUSALEM, May 5 —(UP)— An additional 2,000 British reinforcements took up positions in Jaffa today to help enforce a British truce that has brought comparative calm to the major cities of the Holy Land for the first time in months.

Conference that may bring permanent peace to the holy city of Jerusalem were scheduled to be held in Amman today among members of a United Nations truce commission and two top Arab leaders.

The commission announced it will visit the Trans-Jordan capital to confer with King Abdullah and Abdul Rahman Azzan Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League.

The commission has been entrusted by the United Nations with finding a truce formula for the holy city. Members did not disclose the purpose of their visit, but it was presumed they would sound out the Arab Leaders on a truce plan.

Members are Thomas C. Watson of the United States, Rene Neuville of France and Jean Neiwenhuys of Belgium. All are consuls in Jerusalem.

Jerusalem continued unusually quiet under the British threat to blast anyone who resumed hostilities.

Unofficial reports said the British warned Arabs at Ramallah, 10 miles north of Jerusalem, that they will be attacked by rocket-firing Typhoons if they continue to shell Jerusalem.

The 9,100-ton British cruiser Newcastle joined two destroyers off Jaffa and 2,000 new troops landed with heavy Cromwell tanks, 75 millimeter field pieces and heavy artillery to keep the peace in that besieged Arab port city.

The new forces brought British strength in Jaffa to 5,000.

U.S. Building Air Base Within Range of Russia

TOKYO May 5 —(UP)— American authorities confirmed today that the U.S. is constructing a large military air base at Misawa, northern Honshu, within easy fighter range of Vladivostok, Russia's major military sea outpost.

News that the base was being built was common knowledge in Tokyo for than a year, but correspondents refrained from writing about it at the request of Far East forces which classified the information as "restricted."

What was described as "unauthorized" publication of information about the base in a New York paper forced authorities to confirm the story for general circulation.

It was understood that the Misawa base has one concrete runway of 8,500 feet with an overall length of more than 9,500 feet, including gravel approaches. This runway is capable of handling the fastest and largest planes under construction or planned for early use.

Construction has been under supervision of U.S. Far East Air Forces, commanded by Lt. Gen. Ennis Whitehead. Thousands of Japanese, including women, are being employed on the project.

Advisement Board Aids Japanese Economics

TOKYO, May 5 —(UP)— Four members of a five-man deconcentration review board arrived today from Washington to help Gen. Douglas MacArthur break up Japan's largest economic combines.

The board, headed by Roy S. Campell. Camden, N. J., president and general manager of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation will make recommendations to the supreme commander regarding policy and procedural changes in the program

Goal of the program is setting up a pattern similar to the anti-trust tradition to guarantee free enterprise in Japan and protect small businesses.

Last Saturday, MacArthur announced removal of 194 concerns from the 'restricted' list. Some 50 compaines were given complete clearance and the other 144 were required to make minor administrative adjustments. The original list of restricted firms numbered 325.

Martin Predicts House Will Approve Draft

WASHINGTON, May 5 —(UP)— Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., predicted today that the House will approve the bill to draft men in the 19 through 25 year group for military service.

Martin did not commit himself one way or another on the two-year draft program okayed overwhelmingly yesterday by the House Armed Services Committee. But he said it will be brought up for debate "as fast as possible."

"I don't see an reason why it won't pass," he added.

Meanwhile, there were strong signs that House GOP leaders would scuttle any effort to link to the draft bill a delayed-action plan for universal military training. Rep. Harry L. Towe (R-N.J.), who said he may propose a step.

Attempt to Avert Nationwide Rail Strike Collapses

CHICAGO, May 5 —(UP)— The National Railway Mediation Board's last-ditch attempt to head off a nationwide railroad strike through mediation collapsed today.

The strike by 150,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen has been scheduled for May 11, a week from today.

Chairman Frank P. Douglas of the mediation board announced at a news conference that he will return to Washington tonight to report on the dispute "directly to President Truman."

Douglass said that "neither side has budged" in the wage and working rules dispute which threatens to result in the second national rail strike in two years.

"We stopped negotiations today and are going to Washington tonight to give the President a complete report tomorrow," he said.

"We have just concluded a series of meeting in an effort to get either the railroads or the unions to recede from the positions which they had when they came here a week ago," Douglass said.

"We have failed in that."

The Rotary Club of Guam will hold a panel discussion of the plans for education on Guam, one of the problems involved in accomplishing the high level of education desired by the people of Guam. The general public is cordially invited.

This panel discussion will be held tonight from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. at the George Washington High School auditorium in Sinajan Village.

Speakers for the evening include Simon A. Sanchez, superintendent of schools; Norbert F. Tabery, principal, George Washington High School; Capt. H. C. Oard, Guam Memorial Hospital; Cdr. S. A. Britten, School of Medical Practitioners; Capt. J. A. Roberts, Board of Education; Sister Inos and Father Timony; and George V. Hall, director of education.

A period of open discussion will follow these talks. Questions from anyone present will be welcome. These questions may be directed to anyone of the speakers.

It is hoped that al persons interested in education on Guam will attend this public meeting and take part in the discussion of current problems.

Adm. Newton Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5 —(UP) Vice Admiral John Henry Newton, USN, retired, died Sunday night at the Fort Ord Army Hospital, the Navy announced today.

Newton, 67, had lived at Carmel, Calif., since retiring two years ago. He is survived by his wife.

McKinney, Texas Hit by Tornado

MCKINNEY, Texas, May 5 —(UP)— Residents and rescue workers milled around in the littered streets of McKinney today, trying to bring order out of the chaos left by a tornado which killed at least three persons and injured scores of others.

The giant twister cut a 12-mile swath of destruction across north Texas yesterday. It followed by less than 24 hours an earlier storm, also born in the Midwest, which killed 20 persons in Middlewestern and Eastern states.

Rescue crews, working by flashlight and car headlights, dug feverishly in the wreckage all night in search for possible additional victims. The tornado roared into McKinney shortly before 8 p.m. Property damage was estimated at more than $2,000,000.

Operating rooms and the nursery at the city hospital were ruined. Attendants said the babies escaped death only because it was time for their afternoon feeding and all were with their mothers in the maternity section.

Damage to the surgical rooms forced doctors and nurses to attend to the many injured in a few hospital rooms and in the corridors.

House Members Plan Curb of UN Veto Power

WASHINGTON, May 5 —(UP)— Several House members today urged revision of the United Nations charter to curb Russia's veto power.

One of them, Rep. Walter H. Judd, (R-Minn.), accused Russia of using her veto power "not to block war but to block peace."

The congressmen testified before the House Foriegn Affairs Committee which is considering proposals to strengthen the UN's power to enforce peace.

Smuggling Investigated

SHANGHAI, May 5 —(UP)— Customs officials today launched an investigation into an abortive attempt to smuggle 105 pounds of raw opium into China aboard the Standard Oil Tanker Charles F. Meyer.

Discovery of the illicit cargo was made at sea by the ship's captain, W. B. Simpson. He turned the drug over to customs officials on his arrival.

Capt. Simpson said he found the opium in a closet in a cabin occupied by two Chinese seamen. It is believed that the two Chinese were the only members of the crew involved in the smuggling.

Russia Claims Occupation by U.S. is Bad

SEOUL, Korea, May 5 —(UP)— Soviet-controlled propaganda broadcasts predicted today that the Communists will form a "proper" government for all Korea when the Soviet-American occupation of the country ends.

The broadcasts charged that American occupation forces in southern Korea were no better than Japanese conquerors.

Pyongyang radio, in the Soviet occupation zone, demanded that all occupation forces leave and let the Korean people work out their own fate.

"We are ready to achieve united independence as soon as foreign troops withdraw," the broadcast said "We will immediately establish a proper government."

Two more guerrilla attacks were reported by the U.S. Army on the island of Cheju, south of Korea.

Indian Statesman Succeeds Mountbatten

LONDON, May 5 —(UP)— Chakravanty Rajagopalachari, one-time associate of the late Mohandas K. Ghandi in the India independence movement, has been appointed governor general of the Indian Dominion, it was announced today.

He will succeed Earl Mountbatten, cousin of King George VI, on June 21.

Rajagopalachari now is governor of west Bengal Province.

During Mountbatten's visit to England for the wedding of his nephew Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, to Princess Elizabeth, Rajagopalachari became the first Indian ever to occupy government house. He substituted for Admiral Mountbatten for several weeks.

Appointment of the senior statesman of India was made by King George, presumably with the blessings of Mountbatten who is known to have felt that India's independence would be complete only when an Indian occupied the governor general's post.

Colombia 'Suspends' Relations With Russia

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 5 —(UP)— The Colombian government has decided to "suspend" relations with Russia, apparently because of alleged Communist organization of the April 9 riots, the Foreign Office announced today.

Official circles denied that the action constituted a "break" in relations, but a Foreign Office spokesman said that the government "had reached the conclusion that there is no object in continuing relations between the two countries."

Informed sources said that the brisk tone of Russia's Sunday protest against alleged "violation of Soviet diplomatic immunity" of Colombian officials had hastened the rupture in relations.

Eclipse to be Studied

TOKYO, May 5 —(UP)— Coordinator J. P. Johnson, announced today that the National Geographic Society expects to have five observation posts ready for the annual eclipse May 9.

Johnson said three of the observation parties have reported their sites in operation, at Rebn Jima, Japan, Hangchow China, and Tenan, Korea.

Two other posts, in Mergui, Burma, and Bangkok, Siam, are expected to be ready, Johnson added.

Information gathered will be used to check the exact size and shape of the earth, and to correct map data.

Heavy Voting in Ohio Primary

COLUMBUS, O., May 5 —(UP) Reports of heavy voting in the early afternoon indicated today that the forecast of a total vote of 1,200,000 in Ohio's nationally important primary election may be fulfilled or even exceeded.

The secretary of state's office said balloting was proceeding quietly and without incident throughout the state. There had been some expectation that Democrats might seek to "invade" the Republican primary to support Harold E. Stassen against Sen. Robert A. Taft in their fight for GOP presidential delegates.

If 1,200,000 votes are cast as predicted, it would be the heaviest balloting in a presidential primary in Ohio since 1940, when 1,419,017 ballots were cast. In the presidential primary in 1936, the vote totaled 1,313,862 while the 1944 total was 895,125.

Clear to cloudy skies prevailed throughout the state, and election officials said this condition might possibly lead to a slightly smaller rural vote. Heavy urban balloting was expected between 4 p.m. and 6:30 p.m., (EST), when the polls close.

Although Ohioans were nominating Republican and Democratic candidates for state, county and judicial offices and for Congress main interest was centered on the fight between Taft and Stassen for backing of the Ohio delegation to the Republican national convention

The World In Brief . . .

by United Press

China

SHANGHAI, May 5 —(UP)— Chinese nationalist troops were locked in battle today with 50,000 Communists in an all-out effort to prevent complete collapse of the critical government position in central Shantung Province.

Reports from Tsingtao, U.S. Naval Base on the Shantung coast, said the nationalists had encircled the Red 7th, 9th and 13th columns in the south sector of the province, and reinforcements were being rushed to the battleground in an attempt to regain the ground lost by the Communist capture of strategic Weishsien and Changlo.

Greece

ATHENS, May 5 —(UP)— Greek firing squads executed 154 alleged guerrillas and Communists today for the biggest single day's work in a long series of mass executions.

Authorities reported that the bulk of those executed today had been under death sentence for a long time for purported crimes committed during the bloody uprising and civil strife late in 1944.

Significantly the red letter day for the firing squads came amidst a roundup prompted by the assassination of Justice Minister Cristos Ladas. Officials said "hundreds of dangerous Communists" had been arrested in connection with the investigation.

Germany

MUNICH, May 5 —(UP)— One American flier was burned to death and two other seriously injured late last night when a B-29 Superfortress crashed shortly after its takeoff from the Furstenfeldbruck Air Base.

This accounting listed 12 men, two more than the usual 10-man crew of a Superfort.

The plane apparently was one of the 30 Superforts that have been on maneuvers in Europe for the past few weeks. From their base in the American occupation zone they have made practice flights to England and Turkey.

Russia

MOSCOW, May 5 —(UP)— The government today asked the Russian people for another 20,000,000,000 Ruble ($4,000,000,000) loan to aid reconstruction and speed fulfillment of the first postwar five year plan.

The Soviet publication Agitators' Notebook called on all Russian workers to give three or four weeks pay to the loan. The article emphasized that contributions are "fully voluntary."

St Louis Post-Dispatch Wins Pulitzer Prize for Distinguished Public Service

NEW YORK —(UP)— The St. Louis Post-Dispatch was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for the most distinguished and meritorious public service rendered by an American newspaper during 1947.

The newspaper received a gold medal costing $500 for its coverage of the Centralia, Ill., mine disaster and subsequent stories which resulted in "impressive reforms in mine safety laws and regulations."

Other winners of 1948 Pulitzer Prize awards announced by the trustees of Columbia University were:

For a distinguished example of local reporting, a prize of $500, to George E. Goodwin of the Atlenta Journal for his story of the Telfair County vote fraud.

For distinguished reporting on international affairs, two awards of $500 each, to Bart Andrews of the New York Herald Tribune and to Charles Finney of the Minneapolis Tribune.

For distinguished reporting on international affairs. $500 award to Paul W. Ward of the Baltimore Sun for articles on "Life in the Soviet Union."

For distinguished editorial writing, $500 award to Virginius Dabney of the Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch.

For distinguished cartoon, $500 to Reuben L. Goldberg of the New York Sun.

For outstanding news photography, $500 to Frank Cushing of the Boston Traveler.

Dispensary Services Increase at Harmon

HARMON FIELD — Increased facilities and additional personnel have made the 239th Medical Dispensary at Harmon Field one of the best equipped and most efficent dispensaries on Guam.

There has recently been a sharp increase in the number of cases handled at sick call and in the number of surgical operations performed. This is due, it was explained, not to an increase in illness at Harmon Field, but to an ever-increasing number of new arrivals, both civilian and military, each month.

The staff handles an average of 140 military and civilian patients at sick call each day.

Neighbors Hold Long Distance Baby Shower

A unique baby shower was held recently in California for the Howes' new baby girl.

It all happened when the Chula Vista Chapter, Royal Neighbors of America got to thinking of what they could do for one of their former officers, Mrs. E.S. Howe.

One of their members, Mrs. Thelma Anderson, made necessary local arrangements and had a table decorated with a stork and bassinet to hold the gifts. The guests were Royal Neighbors and the two grandmothers received the gifts and air mailed them to Guam. The gifts included sweater set, baby ring, jacket, baby dish and cups, rubber panties, bonnets, blanket and comforter, towel sets, booties and a record congratulating the mother and the father.

The Howes have two other children, both girls.

Mr. Howe is in charge of the automotive section of the Post Exchange.

Whaddya Mean Friendly?

SPOKANE, Wash. — (UP)— Spokane's slogan as "The Friendly City" doesn't hold any more with regular inhabitants of the city jail.

Police Judge Raymond Kelly announced that habitual drunks could look forward to smashing rocks on a real rock pile, just as in the comic strips.

Jail house reaction was immediate. Said head trustee Joe Witz, known as the most arrested man in the county:

Gov. Pownall Approves Import Regulations On Plants, Animals

COMMAR HILL — Admiral C. A. Pownall, Governor of Guam, has approved certain regulations last week covering the inspection, quarantine and importation of plants and animals to Guam. The regulations approved in accordance with the authorization of the Guam Congress are designed to prohibit entry into Guam of plants and animals which may be infected with diseases or carriers of harmful insects and pests.

All plants, fruits, vegetables, livestock, poultry or other animals will be subject to inspection upon importation into Guam. Animals and plant materials found to be, or suspected of being, infected with disease or carriers of harmful insects will not be allowed entry.

The regulations specify a large number of items from various areas of origin which will not be allowed entry because of specific risks of importance to the welfare of local agriculture. Other materials and animal life found free of diseases and insects and imported in accordance with prescribed proceedures will be allowed to enter Guam.

Permit Required

Any person contemplating the importation of plant propagating materials must first obtain a permit from the Department of Agriculture and fisheries. Import permits will be granted or denied depending upon the nature of the material, the area of origin, and compliance with precautionary measures.

Livestock, poultry or other fowl imported into Guam from any area must be covered by an import permit. The importation of monkeys, parrots and reptiles are strictly prohibited. Cats and dogs may be imported from the United States or Hawaii in accordance with the regulations of the Department of Public Health.

The Bureau of Customs and Immigration is charged with the responsibility of enforcing the plant and animal import regulations. The Department of Agriculture will perform necessary inspections and quarantines.

Any person violating the import regulations is subject upon conviction to fines and imprisonment.

Copies of the regulations may be obtained free of charge at the Naval Government Headquarters in Agana, the Customs House at Piti or at the Agricultural Farm in Barrigada.

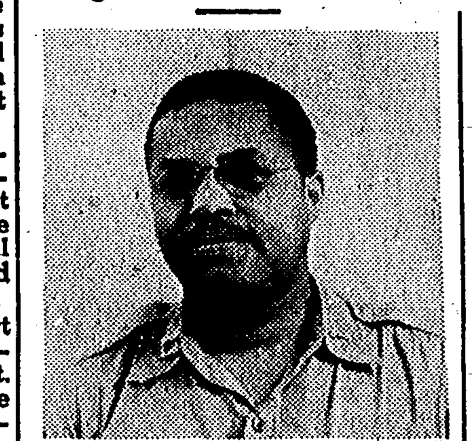
Longest Wild Goose Hunt in History Begins



Assistant Chaplain at Harmon—Chaplain Ervin E. Grimmett, recently arrived at Harmon Field and has been assigned to duty as assistant base chaplain. SAN FRANCISCO — A Yale Museum expedition has left Miami, Fla., by Pan American World Airways Clipper for the desolate land of Tierra del Fuego, it was learned recently.

The expedition will hunt the world's largest concentration of wild geese—not with guns, but with cameras and notebooks.

They hope to find out new things about the life and habits of wild geese and perhaps discover a few new species.

Huge colonies of the wild birds nest amid the rains and fogs of Tierra del Fuego, which is called the bleakest spot on earth. It is a sort of wild goose capital of the world, and has long been considered a gold mine for ornithological research.

But this land—its name, ironically, means "Land of Fire"—down at the bottom tip of South America, used to be so far away that it put a damper on scienific explorations.

FORCED OUT AT HOME — Ridolfi runner for the NBRS crew is forced out at home plate by Catcher Audrain who received the throw from Cy Cassidy, shortstop for the NSC crew. The play is called by Umpire Orcase, ACGM.

NBRS Downs NSC For Third Straight As They Gain in Inter-Command League

It was a typical "Flatbush" scene at the Naval Barracks-Receiving Station's Ebbets Field yesterday as the Dodgers romped over the Naval Supply Center Rams 8 to 3 for ther third straight Inter-Command league victory and their fifth win of the season. The victory enabled them to pull within two games of first place because of their scheduled game with the Triple "A" Gunners being postponed.

The Dodgers waited little time before jumping on losing pitcher, "OK" Olsen, as they scored twice in the first inning on two walks, an error and a solid smash to left field by Catcher W. C. Audrain. Again in the fifth, two more counters crossed the plate for NBRS as Audrain again starred by smashing a long three base hit to deep center field, after a single by Second Baseman Gilliland Shortstop Cassidy's free base caused by an error, set the scoring stage. With enough runs already totaled to win the ball game, the Dodgers were not satisfied so came back strong in the sixth with three more runs as relief Pitcher "Del" Delbridge lost control and walked two men besides hitting a batter which was coupled by another Ram error to give the Dodgers a 7 to 0 lead.

The Rams decided to do something about the situation in the seventh inning and got their opportunity after Earl Jones, winning pitcher, gave up a walk and tossed a fast ball to Third Baseman Ridolfi who slammed it to left field for a two base hit driving in the first Ram run of the day. The Rams scored again in the top of the eighth on a hit, a walk and an error.

The Dodgers came across with their last run in the last of the eighth as Delbridge again lost control by hitting another batter, his fourth of the day, allowing a hit and walking two men which forced the Dodger's eighth run across the plate.

The Dodgers collected eight hits off Olsen and Delbridge and committed two errors while the Rams shared batting honors with eight hits off the pitching of Jones but did not fare so well in the error department as they booted five.

In other games played, the NOB Industrial Miners downed the Yards and Docks Gophers 9 to 2; the First Marine Brigade came from behind with a barrage of runs in the late innings to down the Marine Barracks crew, 12-1; The Fifth Service Leathernecks nosed out the ComMar Hilltoppers 9-7; The 1507 Vagabonds downed the NAD Trojans, 15-3 and the NavComSta Bears blasted the NAS Agana All Stars by a 16 to 3 count.

Cards Win From Dodgers 5 to 4; A's Still Second

NEW YORK, May 5 —(UP)— A three-run fifth inning and two subsequent homers gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 5 to 4 victory over their arch-enemies, the Brooklyn Dodgers, tonight as the teams met for the first time this season.

The Brooks started out with murder in their eye, and clipped George Munger for two runs in the first inning.

But in the fifth the Cards took over, scoring three runs on singles by George Kurowski and Marty Marion, a wild throw by Spider Jorgensen, a double by Del Rice and Al Schoendienst's single.

Stan Musial's homer in the sixth and Enos Slaughter's circuit ride in the eighth rounded out the Card scoring. Al Brazle had to relieve Munger in the fourth and he was credited with the win. Ralph Branca went to the eighth for Brooklyn and then Paul Minner finished.

The other two night games were halted by rain. Pittsburgh beat Boston 3 to 1, when rain stopped play in the top of the fourth, and in the American league Chicago and Washington played to a 3 to 3 tie for five innings before the rains came.

Meanwhile, the Boston Red Sox finally began looking like pennant contenders. They pulled up to the .500 mark with a 6 to 3 win over the Detroit Tigers today.

The victory was a heartening one because it was achieved by Dave (Boo) Ferriss, their strong-armed right hander of the 1946 pennant year, whose loss of effectiveness last year was a major factor in the parallel decline of the Red Sox.

The game was a tight duel between Ferris and Tiger Right-Hander Art Houtteman until the sixth when the Tigers broke a 1-all tie by putting over a pair of runs, after which Boston came back to score four, two coming in on Vern Stephens' terrific triple.

Another slow starter, Frank Shea of the Yankees, also came up with this first top-notch performance of 1948, holding the Browns to four hits in a 6 to 1 triumph at New York. Shea, batted out in his two previous starts, still showed a disturbing lack of control by walking six batters.

The game was a fine pitching duel between Shea and old Nelson Potter of the Brownies until Potter got an arm kink in the fifth and retired in favor of Bryan Stephens. Stephens escaped trouble until the seventh when the Yankees put over three runs, George McQuinn driving home two with a single. Shea himself contributed to the offense by getting the game's longest hit, and eighth inning triple after which he scored on a single by Bobby Brown.

The Athletics retained their lofty station in second place by beating the league leading Indians, 8 to 6, at Philadelphia, when Eddie Joost broke it up in the 10th with a two run homer.

Rookie Lou Brissie, fifth Philadelphia hurler, received credit for his second victory. Sam Chapman got a three run homer for the A's.

Philadelphia at Chicago in the National was rained out.

Bossio Wins Hard Fought Decision From Santoy

SAN DIEGO, May 5 —(UP)— Defending All-Navy bantamweight champion Bill Bossio tonight took the first leg of his bid for the 1948 title by winning a hard fought three round decision over Aldrandro Santoy, Western Pacific area.

A crowd of 6,000 saw the second night's bouts of the All-Navy matches, which included two knockouts and six TKO's.

MarBo's football managers and organizers will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 1430 at the Special Services office to lay plans for the coming season. Mike Karvasales, sports head at MarBo, has extended an invitation to all Navy and Marine Corps recreation officials to attend so that football efforts in all services may be coordinated.

Lyman Drops One Game For Berth in Tennis Semifinals

Major Andy Lyman dropped only one game as he swept past Lt. Frank Kriz to move into the semi-finals of the local All Navy tennis tournament with a one-sided 6-0, 6-1 victory yesterday on the Naval Government courts.

It was a combination of Lyman's deep and fast moving drives and an abundance of errors by Kriz that enabled the Marine Major to gallop through the first set in short order, only one of the six games going to deuce. Kriz tried smashes, lobs, placements and drop shots but couldn't seem to hit his stride as Lyman ran him from corner to corner.

Lcdr. J. D. Smith, seeded second, moved past Chris Meyer yesterday on the same court with a 6-2, 6-4 win and earned himself a berth in Saturday's semifinals.

Meyer jumped out in front in the first set with a love game, but as the match went on Smith warmed up and began rifling baseline shots and pulled away from there on.

The portly Chief Radioman led 3-1 in the second set before Smith got his motor turning over. He tied it up at 3-all and then bore down to take the next three games and the match.

Smith will meet Lyman in the semifinals on Saturday at the Naval Government courts to determine the lower bracket finalist.

Given Green Light

NEW YORK, May 5 —(UP)— The U.S. Professional Lawn Tennis Association today was given the green light for its 1948 championship tournament when Promoter Jack Harris released Jack Kramer and Bobby Riggs from previous commitments so that they could compete.

P. Schuyler Van Bloem, chairman of the tournament committee, announced that Harris has released the two players from contracts to make a South American tour under him, setting the stage for the event to be played at the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills, June 12 to 26.

The results: (All bouts three rounds unless otherwise indicated).

Girl Scouts Receive Proceeds From Fights

The Girl Scouts of Guam will be on the receiving end of the proceeds tonight as Oriental Flyweight Champion Little Dundee and Young Paraiso square off in the ten round main event at the Paseo de Susana.

The card, promoted by Bill Lujan, will be a six bout benefit affair for the edification of the local Girl Scouts and will give local fans a sneak look at the new brand of boxing coming to the local garden. The big affair is slated for next week with Kui Kong Young meeting Gon Ladrazo.

Harold Herashiki, a mean man of no mean ability in his local appearances to date, will tangle with Sera Del in the six round semi-final and Jesse Aguon, a George Washington high school sophomore meets Kid Selay for four rounds in the special bout.

Shorty Domingo tackles Johnny Tinde, Alfredo Gutierrez faces Fighting Benny, and Baby Argonez meets Greg Escalantes in the three preliminaries, starting at 1930.

Seals Down Beavers

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5 —(UP) Big Cliff Melton pitched a four-hit shutout today to give the San Francisco Seals a 3-0 victory over the Portland Beavers befort a crowd of 6,533 here tonight.

It was Melton's fourth win of the season. It gave the Seals a 1-0 edge in their series with Portland and kept them in the league lead over Los Angeles.

Gene Woodling, the Pacific Coast league's leading hitter, just waited around for Portland Pitcher Vince Deblasi to get over-generous with walks.

Then in the seventh, after Debiasi passed Catcher Dixie Howell and Third Baseman Jackie Tobin, he stepped up to the plate and whacked out a double that brought the two romping home.

Arabs Agree to a Truce Provided Jews Will Stop

JERUSALEM, May 8 —(UP)— Arab leaders agreed today in a conference at Jericho to a truce in Jerusalem effective at noon tomorrow.

The Palestine government announced that the Arabs had agreed to the cease-fire throughout the Jerusalem area provided the Jews also silenced their guns. The Arab military command was instructed accordingly.

The decision was reached at a meeting in Jericho of Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, the British high commissioner, Sir Henry Gurney, chief secretary of the Palestine government, Abdul Rahman Pasha, secretary general of the Arab League, and the Egyptain consul here.

A little earlier, Jewish and Arab representatives meeting here had reached a provisional agreement for a truce within the old walled city of Jerusalem.

They were unable to break a deadlock on the question of Jewish access to the old city. Some quarters were hopeful that this issue might be solved by a general truce in Jerusalem.

In Haifa, 3,000 to 4,000 British troops boarded the transport Georgic to sail for home.

...aska Students Riot ...inst Parking Law

...OLN, Neb., May 8 —(UP) ...used tear gas today to dis... crowd of more than 2,000 University of Nebraska students, demonstrating against parking law enforcement and some students invaded the governor's office to protest directly to him.

The demonstration began when students at classes spotted wreckers towing away students' cars that were double-parked.

They swarmed out of buildings to protest, and began dismantling a wrecking car.

A police squad car and a motorcycle appeared, and the students let the air out of a squad car tire.

Hawaii State Discussed by Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— The powerful Senate Republican Policy Committee discussed Hawaiian statehood legislation today but did not reach a decision on whether it should come to the Senate floor this session.

Chairman Robert A. Taft of Ohio told nowsmen statehood had been discussed "at some length" but that "the committee reached no conclusion." He said it would probably be discussed later on.

The Pclicy Committee is a major force, if not the major force, in scheduling Senate action on legislation. In the opinion of observers here, strong support from this body would undoubtedly influence members of the Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs, where the statehood bill is now stalled.

Railroad Strike Talks Recess For Conference

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— President labor adviser John R. Steelman late today recessed his talks with the three strike-threatening rail unions until after he has conferred with officials of the railroads.

Steilman, who is handling the strike threat for President Truman, will confer with railroad industry officials tomorrow morning. He met with the union chiefs in two long sessions today, but no development were annonuced.

The meetings were labeled "exploratory discussions" on the agenda. The three unions have called a nationwide rail strike next Tuesday at 6 a. m.

After today's second conference with Steelman, Stanley Johnston, president of the engineers, told newsmen Steelman will talk to the railroads "and then let us know."

Johnston said Steelman offered no definite settlement proposals, did not ask the unions to postpone their walkout, and did not mention possible seizure of the railroads to head off the strike.

New Chinese Court Order

SHANGHAI, May 8 —(UP)— The Chinese court here received instructions from Nanking today ordering Chinese judicial authorities hereafter to investigate all criminal cases involving American armed forces personnel.

The document did not mention whether the Chinese court will claim jurisdiction to try U.S. military personnel, who in a 1946 agreement, were placed under American jurisdiction.

Russia Blamed For Blocking Control Of Atomic Energy

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 8 —(UP)— The three Western powers today called for suspension of the fruitless United Nations negotiations for international control of atomic energy until Soviet Russia alters its foreign policy and joins "in the world community."

The United States, Great Britain and France warned jointly that the world must reaign itself to an uncontrolled atomic armaments race.

The three powers charged in a hard-hitting joint report that Russia alone was responsible for the UN's failure to establish global atomic energy control machinery. They proposed that the UN atomic energy commission quit its 22-months-old effort to bring East and West together on atomic controls.

The commission was slated to approve the three-power report and pass it on to the UN Security Council by a vote of 9 to 2. However, it was possible that objections from Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko might require further meetings.

More Southern States Going Anti-Truman

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— The Alabama plan to prevent President Truman's election next November even though he be the Democratic nominee was spreading today to other southern states.

South Carolina, Mississippi and Arkansas members of Congress told the United Press today their states very likely would follow Alabama's lead. Alabama on Tuesday named to the electroal college 11 persons pledged to withhold the state's vote from Mr. Truman. Virginia with 11 electors may vote against Mr. Truman on instruction of a state convention.

The movement to send anti-Truman delegates to the Democratic National Convention also is well advanced in the south. That might not prevent Mr. Truman's nomination for a White House term of his own. The popular voting on Nov. 2, however, will not directly elect a President. That must be done by the electoral college which meets later and consists of 531 members. When the electoral college casts a minimum of 266 votes for an eligible candidate, that person is elected President of the United States.

West Coast Troop Training

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— The Army said today routine troop movements from the West Coast and Hawaii to Alaska for summer training purpose are now in progress.

The Army announced April 16 that the troop movements would take place. It said at that time that the new troops would bring the forces in Alaska into balance.

Army officers emphasized that there is no emergency involved in the movement.

Headline Highlights

ATHENS, GREECE, May 8 —(UP)— King Paul awore in a revised cabinet tonight which included eight new members. Both Premier Themistocles Sophoulis and Deputy Premier Constantin Saldaris retained their posts. The new cabinet was sworn in at abrief ceremony at the palace. Formal approval of the new cualiton group concluded a week of negotiations.

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— The House Appropriations Committee today placed an anti-Communist rider in a federal money bill for the third time this year.

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— Robert A. Taft, Senate Republican policy chief, said today he will vote for the draft. The Ohioan said that if it is shown there is no other way to meet manpower needs of the armed forces, he will support peacetime conscription.

WASHINGTON, May 8 —(UP)— A House Republican and a Senate Democrat won the third annual Collier's awards for distinguished service in Congress. The winers are Senate Democratic leader Atben W. Barkley of Kentucky, a veteran of 35 years in Congress, and Rep. Christian A. Herter, a six-foot-four-inch New Englander who has represented the 10th Massachusetts district in the House for five years.

U.S. Troops to Patrol Elections in South Korea

SEOUL, Korea, May 8 —(UP)— The U. S. Army will send American troops on patrols to help thwart Communist attacks during next Monday's elections in the American-occupied zone of Korea, Army sources announced today.

The order for an alert will require most Americans to carry arms. The patrols will bristle with guns. Other troops will hold themselves ready for an emergency.

The presence of the soldiers was expected to have a sobering influence on Communists who have promised to try and break up the balloting.

The American troops will be backed up by 420 American civilian employes who will walk the streets and watch polling places to see that the voting is carried on properly.

The civilians will report to the United Nations commission which has the duty of determining whether the elections are conducted freely and without pressure.

The commission itself broke up into nine teams and headed for outlying provinces to observe the balloting. It will report in September to the United Nations General Assembly on how the United States carried out the UN mandate to hold the elections and formed a new government in south Korea.

The Communists are boycotting the elections. They may or may not respond to plans from Soviet-controlled north Korea that they "fight to the death" to smash ballot boxes.

The duty of fighting off such an attempt will fall primarily on the Korean constabulary—the black-uniformed Korean police and largest armed force in south Korea.

Red Troops Stage Attack On Nanyang

NANKING, May 8 —(UP)— Communist troops staged a powerful, three-pronged attack on Nanyang in south Honan Province and Nationalist sources feared the offensive was a prelude to an attempt to cross the Yangtze River.

Government planes strafed and bombed Red columns all day. Communist advance units were only five miles east of the city at Liuchanpu.

Communists Near

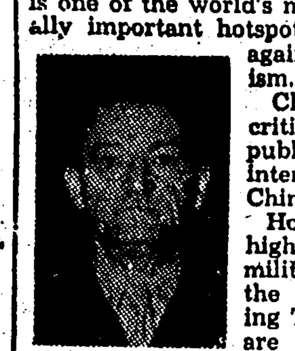
A force of 30,000 Communists were said to be 35 miles northwest while other troops were converging on the city from the west, east and south.

Telephone communications with the city were cut.

In Shensi Province, pro-government reports claimed that 27,000 Communist troops defeated in the Paochi area now are being besieged 75 miles north.

Gen. Chennault Criticizes U.S. Public

SHANGHAI, May 8 —(UP)— Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault told a press conference today that China is one of the world's most strategically important hotspots in the war against Communism.



Chennault

Chennault also criticized the U.S. public for lack of interest in the Chinese situation.

However, many high-ranking U.S. military leaders, the wartime Flying Tiger ace said are "keenly aware of China's strategic position." He returned here from a trip to the United States yesterday.

Five Japs Accused of Killing 62 U.S. Fliers

YOKOHAMA, May 8 —(UP)— A former Japanese army convict testified today in the trial of five Japanese prison officials that the Japanese ordered the killing of 62 American fliers who were trapped in a burning prison.

Warden Shouts

The witness, Keinosuke Nakagawa, told a United States Army commission he heard prison warden Toshio Tashiro order the guards, "don't let them escape—kill them."

He said he then saw two of the guards on trial with Tashiro draw their swords and fatally stab three American fliers who tried to flee from the burning building.

Prosecutor Andrew A. Adolf, 2015 Roberts Ave., Bronx, N. Y., pointed out that the prison authorities allowed 500 Japanese convicts to flee when B-29 bombs caused a fire to break out at the Tokyo military prison.

Longshoremen May Strike

LOS ANGELES, May 8 —(UP) Longshoremen at Los Angeles harbor roared unanimous approval tonight of conducting a vote to authorize a strike.

The union local said the vote will be taken Monday on empowering the Coast Longshore Negotiating Committee to call a strike June 15 and on approving a strike in conjunction with other CIO maritime unions.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, flew here from San Francisco to address the 2,400 members at Wilmington Bowl. He said the biggest issue in negotiations with Pacific Coast Ship owner was the longshore hiring hall.

Guam Red Cross Fund Raising Campaign Closes

COMMAR HILL — Governor of Guam, Radm. Charles A. Pownall, USN, announced yesterday that the Red Cross fund raising campaign officially closed and that it raised a total of $30,594 14.

This money will be used to discharge the local chapter's responsibilities during the coming fiscal year. Briefly those responsibilities are as follows:

(a) Home service: Home service is concerned with personal and family service for dependents of servicemen, for disabled veterans and for civilians. Home service carries out these responsibilities through:

1. Communications — Assisting with communications when common means of communication are not available or effective, or when the situation is of such nature that a personal interview by the Red Cross is desirable.

2. Information — Supplying information concerning government regulations and legislation affecting dependents of servicemen, ex-servicemen and their families, and concerning International Red Cross and its regulations. Supplying information about community resources and assistance available for other civilian families.

3. Benefits and claims — Assisting dependents of servicemen in applying for family allowance and ex-servicemen and their dependents in presenting claims for pensions and other government benefits.

4. Reports — Assisting the military or naval authorities by obtaining social history material required for medical treatment, and by making reports on home conditions needed by commanding officers in deciding questions of discharge, furlough or clemency.

5. Financial assistance — Providing financial assistance for basic maintenance on the basis of need to dependents of servicemen, to disabled veterans and their dependents during the temporary period when the application or claim for government benefits is pending. Also providing financial assistance on the basis of need to other civilians.

(b) Camp and hospital — the purpose of this service to assist in providing emergency and supplementary equipment, supplies and services to the armed forces by channeling community resources to the various Army and Navy installations through the Red Cross field directors and their field staffs.

(c) Disaster relief: Disaster relief, which is given to persons affected by natural disasters, such as floods, tornadoes, and fires, and by disasters caused by such things as explosions or wrecks, remains the responsibility of the Red Cross. This includes emergency care and rehabilitation of families and individuals who are unable to meet their minimum needs. The Red Cross assists the responsible governmental agencies in their service of warning, evacuation, and rescue.

(d) Home nursing: This service teaches homemakers and potential homemakers to give simple nursing care to members of the family, under the doctor's guidance, and to promote better community and family health.

(e) First aid and water safety: The purpose of Red Cross first aid instruction is to provide for immediate intelligent care of the injured in an emergency. The water safety program is educational in its aims. Its activities are designed: (1) to provide large numbers of persons with training in swimming and in water rescues and resucitation; (2) to increase understanding of the hazards involved in water sports and of the precautions to be taken.

(f) Junior Red Cross: The American Junior Red Cross is the junior membership of the American Red Cross and is the Red Cross in the schools. It provides boys and girls in public, private, and parochial schools the opportunity to serve others and to promote understanding among the children of the world.

The Guam Chapter extends its service to all needy personnel on Guam whose personal situation comes within the premises of the above authorized services.

Predicated upon experience to date, and the responsibilities for the ensuing year, it is evident that the American Red Cross is an essential activity on Guam and that it deserves the continual support of "all hands."

It is gratifying to note that the response to the current drive for funds was adequately met and indicates that the majority of the people on Guam feel justified in offering both financial and moral support to the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

The current organization of the Guam Chapter is as follows:

Executive Committee

Chairman, Radm. Charles A. Pownall, USN, Governor of Guam; Vice-Chairman, Maj. Gen. Francis H. Griswold, [illegible] Vice-Chairman: Capt. Milton H. Anderson, civil administrator; and Secretary Treasurer: Miss [illegible] P. L. Guerrero.

CROCK HAPPY CALHOUN points out spot in Apra Harbor where monster sea serpent reared its fearsome head! Said Crock Happy, "A more ferocious and blood-thirsty creature I've never seen!" (Photo by Carey)

Monster Reported Seen in Apra Harbor

by Tom Richards

A huge sea serpent, well over 290 feet long and 15 feet in diameter, was reported sighted last Thursday night by that pillar of the community Crock Happy Calhoun! Crock Happy, who is noted for his truthfulness and honesty, issued the following statement to the press:

"On the night of May 6th last, at approximately 11:17 p. m., I was reclining comfortably on one of the rocks which are part of the Apra Harbor breakwater. The rock on which I was lying is located about 20 feet from the old sunken cement barge on the inner side of the breakwater. I had had only 2 cans of beer, which same I was using for chasers, and was was just thinking about catching 40 winks, in spite of the driving rain, when I noticed the water, about 100 feet out, was strangely rolled. I raised up and, leaning on one elbow, looked keenly at the spot. Suddenly I was dumbfounded to see what I first though was a railroad box car, thrust itself out of the water and shake itself some 15 feet over the surface of the bay. Looking closer, I perceived it was a huge snake's head, fully 40 feet long! I had never believed that such things actually existed and I was too surprised, for the moment, to be frightened, and I watched it carefully. It gave off a phosphorescent glow that clearly illuminated the weird scene. Its eyes were about five feet wide and maybe 15 feet long. They were of a horrible green color, with the exception of the pupils, which were bright red and seemed to be fastened to a sort of stem, which squirted in and out in a manner very disconcerting to behold. Its 20 foot mouth opened to reveal a darting forked red tongue the size of a cargo boom and shining white 15 foot fangs from which barrels of fresh blood dripped into the seething brine. It body was of a mottled pea green and I could see its tail, which occasionally flipped out of the water, was like that of a fish and must have been at least 50 feet across the flukes!

It spied the old barge and, apparently thinking it was something good to eat, let out a piercing, screaming hiss, that chilled me to the marrow of my bones, and reared its head 90 feet into the air. Then, with its jaws distended, it struck with lightning speed at the barge and, grasping it firmly in its fangs, the monster shook the barge like a dog shakes a rat! The sight was too much for my shattered nerves and I fell back unconscious. When I awoke from this horrible dream at about 5:00 a. m. Friday morning, the serpent had left and barge was just where he had dropped it, in its old place inside the breakwater.

It's a good thing the snake didn't see me or I wouldn't be here now. I have never seen a more ferocious creature in my life. I think maybe it lives in those huge subterranean caverns under the Island."

Chats About Guam... Umatac Village

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of stories about Guam, its people and its resources, written by Mrs. Agueda I. Johnston. The history of the village of Umatac and its people is continued from last Sunday's edition of GUAM NEWS.)

The village of Umatac plays an important part in the history of Guam and the other islands in the Marianas group. The following excerpts in connection with Magellan's landing at Umatac and his discovery of Guam is taken from the accounts of Antonio Pigafetta, Magellan's historian. It gives a vivid description of the treatment (beside being called "thieves") that the Islanders received from their discoverers;

"Seeing us take departure, the natives followed us with more than a hundred boats (canoes) for more than a league. They approached our ships, showing us fish and feigning to wish to give to us, but when we were near, they cast stones at us and avoided us. We saw among them many women who were weeping and tearing their hair, surely for their husbands killed by us."

The people of Guam did not fare much better at the hands of later visitors. Some of the early navigators enticed them on board their ships and made slaves of them so that they might man the pumps and keep the ships free from water. They were spoken of as "infidels," and to slay them was no great sin. However, if encounters occurred between them and Europeans, and a white man was killed, he was declared to have been murdered, and his death was avenged by the burning of village, boats and boat houses, as well as by killing men, women and children. They were branded the name "ladrones" by the discoverers, just for stealing a boat and some bits of iron. But the early navigators did not hesitate to steal husbands from their wives and fathers from their children.

A few of the early Europeans who arrived on Guam were helpful to the natives. The "Vida y Martyrio de Sanvitores" tells that in spite of the barbarious cruelty the natives received from visiting Europeans, the people of Guam showed kindness to shipwrecked sailors and gave cordial reception to Padre Sanvitores and his companions. They provided homes for them and built them a church. Mention was also made that the people had a sense of respect for one another's property, for "they never closed or locked their doors." At first all wished to be baptized, until an arrogant Chinese named Choco started the first serious stumbling block which resulted in the eventual death and martyrdom of Padre Sanvitores. This started a series of wars between the Guamanians and Spaniards, which lasted almost three years. It was called the "War of Extermination," because it practically exterminated the male population of Guam. This is the basis for the belief by some anthropologists that there are no pure-blooded Chamorros or Guamanians in Guam today.

"AMERICAN MOTHER OF THE YEAR"

Mrs. Helen Gurtside Hines, 60, sews in her home in Springfield, Ill., after being named "American Mother of the Year" by the American Mother's Committee of the Golden Rule Foundation. (AP Photo)

Mother's Day Message

I hope that every man and woman, boy and girl, in our state may value at its own supreme worth the counsel, the self-sacrifice, and the unfailing love which only a devoted mother can give.

Show reverence and respect for the best friend that God ever gave us—mother.

No state is greater than its mothers.

The very word "mother" is a synonmy for reverence. In all nature there is nothing so tender and loving and joyous as the relationship between mother and child.

I respectfully request our citizens generally throughout the state to observe the second Sunday in May as Mother's day. If the day can be spent, at least in part, in her presence, make it one of great comfort to her by ministrations as the heart of a true man will dictate. If she is living elsewhere, write her a letter full of cheer and confession of love. If she is held in the great beyond do some deed of beneficence in her name that will cheer the life of another.

PRAYER

Lord Jesus, thou hast known
A mother's love and tender care
And thou will hear while for my own mother most dear
I make this sabath prayer.
Protect her life, I pray.
Who gave the gift of life to me;
And may she know, from day to day, the deeping glow
Of joy that comes from thee.
I cannot pay my debt
For all the love that she has given;
But thou, love's lord, wilt not forget her due reward,
Bless her in earth and heaven.

41th Mother's Day Observed By Progeny

Long, long ago, in ancient Greece, the Grecians worshipped the Goddese Rhea, "The Mother of Gods," in a week-long barbaric festival. This is the first known ceremony honoring a mother.

Miss Anna M. Jarvis of Philadelphia was the originator of the first Mother's Day as we know it. In May of 1907, on the anniversary of her mother's death, she was inspired to suggest that sons and daughters of the church which she attended should set aside one Sunday of each year to pay tribute to their mothers whether they be living or dead.

The people of the church readily approved of Miss Jarvis' idea and on the second Sunday of May, during the same year, special services were held in honor of their mothers. During the services Miss Jarvis originated the famous quotation: "In honor of the best mother that ever lived your mother."

Adopted by U. S.

In the following year the entire nation caught on to this idea and solemnly observed Mother's Day. In 1912 Congress passed a bill designating the second Sunday of May as the occasion for all the people of America to "pay tribute to mother."

By 1913 it had spread to England and in 1943 Canada, China, Africa, and South America were observing Mother's Day.

Miss Jarvis wore a white carnation on the first Mother's Day and it became a tradition for those whose mothers had died to wear a white carnation on this day and sons and daughters of mothers still living to wear a red one.

Mothers on Guam Receive Tribute

HQ 20TF AIR FORCE, Guam—Mothers on Guam, who are the same as mothers the world over except that they have the additional talent of being able to convert a quonset into a home and the agility to dismount from a jeep gracefully, are prepared today to receive tribute on Mother's Day.

A check revealed that Mrs. Jamie Haddock, wife of W. H. Haddock, educational advisor for 20th Air Force, was the oldest mother in the area. Mr. and Mrs. Haddock were married in 1916 and two sons, George, 30, and Philip, 29, both ex-servicemen reside in Florida.

Approximately 25 mothers, ranging between "oldest" and "newest" reside with their children and husbands in the 20th Air Force Housing area, and will receive special tribute today, on Mother's Day.

Poet's Corner

MOTHER AND STYLES

Fashion bids them come and go;
Dresses high and dresses low,
Tresses bobbed and tresses long;
Fashion sways the moving throng;
What was new becomes the old,
Thus this changing life is told.
First we view it with a smile,
Then adopt the latest style——
But with all the passing days,
Mothers never change their ways.

Gay of heart and bright of face,
Fashion seems to rule the place.
With the swinging of the clock
Youth gives age another shock,
Flaunting into public view
Something age would never do,
Laughing at us when we preach,
Scornful of us when we teach——
But will all of the fashion's wiles,
Mothers never change their styles.

Motherhood's no fickle thing,
To be changed each fall and spring,
As it was, so it remains,
Spite of all its cares and pains.
Joy may call and pleasure lure
But a mother's love is pure,
And the baby sinks to rest,
Pillowed on her lovely breast,
Closing little drowsy eyes
To the softest lullabies.

Mothers worry night and day
When their children are away;
Mothers grieve when they are ill,
Always have and always will.
They would shield you with their care
Every day and every where,
And they're happy through and through
At the slightest smile from you——
To the ending of their days
Mothers never change their ways.

Edgar A. Guest

TO MY MOTHER

Because I feel that, in the heavens above.
The angels whispering to one another,
Can find, among their burning terms of love,
None so devotional as that of "Mother."
Therefore by that dear name I long have called you,
You are more than mother unto me,
And fill my heart of hearts, where death installed you,
In setting my virginia's spirit free.
My mother—my own mother, who died early,
Was but the mother of myself; but you
Are mother to the one I loved so dearly,
And thus are dearer than the mother I knew
By that infinity with which my wife
Was dearer to my soul than its soul-life.

EDGAR ALLAN POE

MOTHER'S WAY

Tender, gentle, brave and true,
Loving us what'er we do;
Waiting, watching at the gate
For the footsteps that are late,
Sleepless through the hours at night
Till she knows that we're all right;
Pleased with every word we say——
That is every mother's way.

Others sneer and turn aside.
Mother welcomes us with pride;
Over-boastful of us, too,
Glorying in all we do.
First to praise and last to blame,
Love that always stays the same,
Following us where'er we stray——
That is every mother's way.

She would grant us all we seek,
Give her strength where we are weak.
Beauty? she would let it go
For the joy we yearn to know.
Life? She'd give it gladly, too,
For the dream that we pursue;
She would toil that we might play——
That is every mother's way.

Not enough for her are flowers——
Her life is so blent with ours
That in all we dare and do
She is partner, through and through;
Suffering when we suffer pain,
Happy when we smile again,
Living with us night and day——
That is every mother's way.

EXTRA FOOD COST CUT

BROCTON, N. Y. —(UP)— The soaring cost of living has taken a 16 per cent nose dive at the cafeteria at Brocton Central School.

The price of a plate lunch—a balanced meal, including the necessary food elements—has dropped to 15 cents, three cents lower than last year.

School authorities said state and federal aid funds had made it possible to lower the price.

Reverie For Mothers' Day

Another 2nd Sunday of May enfolds day's decreasing light and perfumed air to her bosom. Children throughout the United States and other lands join in loving tribute and thanksgiving for one of life's noblest gifts, their good and wise mothers. A letter once laid with flowers on a mother's grave voiced this universal thought of childhood: "We hope that God will bless us and make us charitable and give us some of mother's very good qualities."

During the recent war performance of front line duty brought wide admiration for WACS, WAVES, SPARS, particularly the ANC, in their supreme and unsurpassed courage sharing with soldiers, sailor, and airman, war's inevitable cruel hardships, often furnishing the last ray of hope to the dimming eyes of the wounded and dying. Red Cross girls, Grey Ladies, Auxiliary Women Organizations everywhere matched the devotion of the uniformed women personnel in the military service with a spirit of endless sacrifice frequently accompanied by outstanding heroism.

Beyond Battle Front

Yet, beyond the curse and roar of battle front on distant home fronts, there looms above all of this truly wonderful feminine nobility, a solitary image, indelibly impressed on every normal human heart, the picture of mother. Reverently, children esteem in their mothers, the sacredness of motherhood and all virtuous womanhood as a token thereof.

Mother's day recalls memories left her features by whose sorrow men have come into the light of day and of life. Tears and smiles, praise and blame, endurance, foresight, strength, skill, must all be blended in her who enters on life's most sacred and difficult profession, motherhood with its duties of the rearing of children, comforting her husband, establishing a home, of securing for nations their hope of life and of immorality. Children fondly recall their mothers, because "mothers are an affirmation of the most natural function of the human race," unfortunately, now threatened by divorce and other evils destructive of domestic, civic, and national life.

Child's Growth

A child grown to adulthood recalls the "dull, daily routine, anguish and worry, untold sacrifice and self-effacement inseparably bound up with the duties of motherhood." Author Anna L. Best derives these thoughtful suggestions from the letters and spelling 'mother'; "M-Stands for Mainstay, giving to the home stability and security. O-For obedience—to divine, natural and moral law, that children may come to enjoy freedom by strictly following the rules of life's game. T-Tactfullness—in dealing with children that character and useful habits and traits might be developed. H-for home, not merely the physical set-up, but the creation of a place radiating hospitality, joy, good will, and true neighborliness. E-Implies an ever-read ear, that invites her children' confidence and her husband's trust. Her lack of sympathy never repels nor thrusts those about her into hurtful silence. Finally R-For religion, not merely the Sunday worship variety, but the guidance of all members of her family to daily prayer and speaking with God, 'that all might life.'"

Motherhood is 'clothed in strength and beauty.' Brave sons and loyal daughters realize fully that their mothers share with them the luster and glory of every star of gold or silver lighting the windows of distant homes. A mother's decorations surpass all honorable awards and badges of merit worn by her child, for next to God, it is only through her that these were made possible. Therefore, her children "rise and call her blessed. Men praise her.' And paraphrasing a verse of scripture one may exclaim: 'O how beautiful is chaste motherhood with glory, for the memory thereof is immortal, because it is known with both God and man. (Wisdom 4:1)

Hollywood Highlights

Mustaches

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)— Ninety percent of you men who sport mustaches shouldn't, a movieland poll revealed. You wind up looking like a farm boy playing wolf—or a bald man trying to prove something.

This is the verdict turned in by the ladies who help make movies out Culver City way. And Rosalind Russell, who's made a lot of film love to be-mustachioed actors, is behind the whole thing.

She hates 'em. And it didn't take her long to get the script girls, hairdressers, secretaries, and telephone girls at RKO's branch lot on her side.

The vote was 100 percent against that fuzz some fellas work so hard for

Sophisticated Wolves

"Very few men who go in for it look good," La Russell argues. "They look as if they're trying to be sophisticated wolves who know how to handle the ladies as well as a razor."

But it doesn't work, men. The gals aren't fooled. And all you'll get from most of 'em is a startled snicker when your kisses tickle.

"My pet peeve," the movie queen added, "is these round, pudgy little men who're shiny bald on top and hairy on their upper lip. You just know they're saying, 'by golly, I'll show you guys I can, too, grow hair—someplace!'"

Getting Particular

With the ladies, it seems, a mustache has to "go with your personality," men. If you aren't the male type, you're dead.

"The only people who should wear the things," Miss Russel said, "are Adolphe Menjou and Monty Woolley. The rest just loosk silly."

The rest of the anti-mustacle league didn't even go that far. They like their dates smooth-shaven and they weren't backward about saying why that old "ticklish" business again.

So, if you wanta make time with the Hollywood cuties, mow off that mustache and concentrate on your "anti-ticklish" technique.

Americans Losing Sense of Humor

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)— Red Skelton believes Americans are losing their sense of humor.

People worry about everything these days, Skelton declared, even about the weather.

"Used to be that you'd look up at the sky and say, 'it looks like rain'," Skelton said. "Now you say, 'it looks like a flood'."

The nation's serious-mindedness is keeping even its comedians from cracking their best jokes, the comedian warned.

"I'd like to be able to say something like, "he's so scotch he won't chew bubble gum because he can't stand losing the bubbles when they pop'," he explained.

"But if I did, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Scotsmen would be on my neck."

He added that he doesn't advocate voicing dialect jokes

"Everybody ought to be able to laugh at himself, that's all," he said.

"Everybody knows the Scotch are really no stingier than anybody else," he said. "What's the objection to a joke about them, or anybody else, for that matter?

"All jokes about people are at the expense of some of them. We shouldn't get so minority-conscious that we take dialect jokes seriously." Skelton explained.

Skelton's latest movie at Columbia is one big joke about the American institution of the Fuller Brushman. That's also the name of the picture.

Skelton hopes that television will revive the American sense of humor.

"The biggest comedians are children and the biggest jokes are things that happen to us," he said. "I hope television will re-establish the home as the center of entertainment."

BUMPER BABY CROP

NEW YORK —(UP)— The number of babies born in the United States during 1947 probably reached 3,440,000, an all-time record, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company predicted. The company said the record will probably stand for many years.

Mother Day Messages

(The message of six great lovers of mothers)

The love of a mother is never exhausted,
It never changes, it never tires.
It endures through all; in good repute, in bad repute, in the face of the world's condemnation,
A mother's love still lives on.

Washington Irving

The happiest part of my happy life has been my mother, and with God's help she will be more to me than ever.

Phillips Brooks

All Mothers are rich when they love their children.
There are no poor mothers, to ugly ones, no old ones.
There love is always the most beautiful of the joys.
And when they seem most sad, it needs but a kiss which they receive or give to turn all their tears into stars in the depths of their eyes.

Maurice Maeterlinck

Even He that died for us upon the cross, in the last hour, in the utterable agony of death, was mindful of his mother, as if to teach us that this holy love should be our last worldly thought.

Henry W. Longfellow

All that I am or hope to be, I owe to my angel mother.

Abraham Lincoln

To
Our Mothers
All that is good in them belongs
Only to you.

W. E. Henley

THE MOTHER'S LOVE (Music "Waltham," No. 267)

You struggled blindly for my soul
And wept for me such bitter tears
That through your faith by faith grew whole
And fearless of the coming years.
For in the path of doubt and dread
You would not let me walk alone,
But prayed the prayers I left unsaid
And sought the God I did disown.
You gave to me no word of blame
But wrapped me in your love's belief,
Dear love, that burnt my sin like flame,
And left me worthy of your grief.

Airdales Lead Inter-Command League At Mid-Way Mark; Beat Leathernecks

Banners were flying high over Orote Field yesterday afternoon as the FasRon 13 Airdales romped to a 7 10 2 Inter-Command victory over the hightly talented First Marine Brigade Leathernecks.

"Lefty" Paul Allen, winning pitcher, scattered nine Marine hits to add another victory to his his long string. Losing pitcher, Norman Coss, didn't seem to have his stuff and also had room to complain about the support from his teammates.

Walk, sacrifice, pass ball and long fly netted the first run of the ballgame for the FasRon crew in the first inning. An error and a single gave them their second run of the game in the third and then the FasRon bats started cracking for nine more hits as the Airdales scored two more in the fourth, one in the fifth, and sixth with their final two coming in the eigth.

The Brigade tied the count in the second with one run and then were baffled until the ninth in which the scored their final run.

The victory enabled the Airdales to keep their half game lead over the NOB Industrial Miners and NSC Rams and it put them a full game and a half ahead of the Brigfde as the first round of the season drew to a close.

In other games played, the NavComSta Bears blasted the NAD Trojans 10 to 2 at Bear Field; the 1507 Vagabonds came from behind to give the NAS Agana All Stars a 11 to 10 defeat on the losers diamond; the ComMar Hilltoppers downed the Yards and Docks Gohpers 11 to 7 at Stoney Stadium and the NAS, MAG 24 Orote Boondockers stopped the NBRS Dodgers with a close 3 to 2 victory at Ebbets Field. No other results were received.

Drobny Leaves For Prague For Tennis Meet

ROME, May 8 —(UP)— Jaroslav Drobny, Czechoslovakia's amateur tennis king, left by plane today for Prague where he will lead his country's team against Brazil in a European Zone Davis Cup match May 15.

Drobny, who appeared in excellent condition, declined to talk to anyone and hurriedly boarded the plane.

During his two-day stay here, he remained in his hotel room, except for a brief trip to purchase his ticket, and refused to talk to newsmen.

It had been reported that Drobny and three other Czech players, who have been in Italy, were not going to return to their native country because of political conditions there. The other three players, Vladimir Cernik, Milan Matous and Helena Straubeova, the top Czech woman player, still are at Palermo and future plans were not disclosed.

Sets New Swim Record

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 8 —(UP) Nancy Merki, Portland, Ore., tonight established a new American record for the 150-yard individual medley in the annual spring aquacade at Purdue University.

Miss Merki, the guest star of the show who is regarded as a leading prospect for the U. S. Olympic swimming team, churned the distance in 1:50.8, clipping half a second from the former record held by Lorraine Fischer of the New York Swimming Association.

Single Gives Braves 4-3 Win Over Reds; Lemon Hurls Four-Hitter For Cleveland

NEW YORK, May 8 —(UP)— Spunky Eddie Stanky, playing with a strained ligament in his right knee which would have kept players of lesser nerve on the bench, gave the Boston Braves a 4 to 3 victory over the Reds at Cincinnati today on one dinky hit.

The hit, a single with the bases loaded, sent home two runs, breaking a 2-2 deadlock, and giving Ewell Blackwell, baseball's top winning pitcher of 1947 his third defeat against two wins.

Backwell went out of the game with a lame shoulder and will be x-rayed to determine whether he will be able to continue pitching.

Bill Voiselle, who went all the way for the Braves, gained credit scattering eight hits, one a homer for his third straight victory, by Ted Kuszewski. Jeff Heath and Bob Elliott hit Boston homers.

The Dodgers had to call on Fireman Hugh Casey to stop the obstreperous Cubs and his five innings of scoreless relief pitching paid off with a 9 to 5 victory at Chicago. The Cubs went out in front, 4 to 0 by battering Dodger starter, Lofty Joe Hatten, who had beaten them six times last season. He was ushered out in the first inning and in the fifth Casey came on to stop the Cubs the rest of the way.

Brooklyn made only eight hits to 12 for the Cubs but the Dodger blows wer timely. First Baseman Preston Ward hit a triple with the bases loaded in the sixth, the ball dropping just inside the foul line to score three base runners who had walked. Chicago pitchers gave up 14 bases on balls in the weird three hour and 36 minute ball game.

The New York at Pittsburgh game in the National league and the Detroit at New York, St. Louis at Boston, and Chicago at Philadelphia games in the American league were rained out.

In an American league night game at Washington, Pitcher Bob Lemon of the Cleveland Indians allowed only four hits as he set back the Senators, 8 to 0. It was Lemon's third win of the year and it moved Cleveland up into second place. Southpaw Mickey Haefner, who gave up five runs, was the starting and losing pitcher for Washington. Allie Clark and Joe Gordon led the Indians' 18-hit attack with homers in the fifth inning.

In the National, the St. Louis Cards won an arc-light tilt from the Phillies, 7 to 4, at St. Louis. Lefty Howie Pollet went all the way to win for the Cards, giving up seven hits. Dutch Leonard, Walt Dubiel, and Oscar Judd hurled for the Phils with Judd the loser. Nippy Jones' homer topped St. Louis' 10 hits.

Dave Egan Claims Boxer Stimulated; Investigation Held

BOSTON, MAY 7 —(UP)— The Massachusetts State Boxing Commission began an investigation today of reports that a boxer was stimulated at Salem Tuesday by the application of lighted matches to his back near the kidneys.

Report of the alleged burning was contained in a Boston Daily Record sports column written by Dave Egan. He charged that the fighter was Middleweight Johnnie Walker of Everett and that the matches were applied by Joe Dow of Boston, manager of several boxers including New England featherweight champion Timothy (Buddy) Hayes.

In opening its investigation the commission summoned all persons involved in that match. These, according to commission member Samuel Flaksman included Walker, Dow, Refree Tom Lannin of Revere and State deputies who witness all boxing bouts.

"By the end of this week we'll know where the fault lies, if any," Flaksman said.

He was serving as spokesman for the three-man commission. Other members Football Coach Albert D. (Hop) Riopel of Holy Cross College, and State Public Safety Commissioner John F. Strokes who serves as chairman.

Strokes said that the active investigation would be conducted by Flaksman and Riopel and that he would "sit in" on the case.

"It's an absolut rotten lie," Dow said. "I never did it." "I've never heard of such a thing." said Commission Member Flaksman. "We've had no reports from our deputies who were at the match."

"Naturally we're investigating it. All those involved will be brought before us immediately. Walker will be given a thorough physical examination to determine if he was burned. If it did occur those involved will be barred from boxing in this state for life."

In describing the alleged burning, Egan wrote.

"From time to time, in what is described as the rest session between rounds, he (Dow) applied lighted matches to the kidneys of Walker, thus sending him out on the Lound to face fists that could hurt him no more than he already had been hurt in his corner. This Barbaric practice was repeated continuously over the final five rounds of the fight in which Walker lost a split decision."

Neither Flaksman nor other members had received any such reports from the arena. It was said that boxing rules in the state did not specifically ban such a practice. However, Flaksman said that "it's naturally understood" such an action would not be condored.

New York Golfer Leads Goodall Tournament

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 8 —(UP)— Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., playing through the rain despite an ankle injury that nearly led to his withdrawal before he tied off, fired a three under par 69 today and moved into a one point lead over Bobby Locke of South Africa at the end of the second round of the $10,000 Goodall round robin golf tournament.

The driving rain forced postponement of the third round, also scheduled for today, making it a double round Saturday and a single round in the windup Sunday.

Barely able to walk when he climbed out of bed this morning, Barron, considered withdrawing and Harold (Jug) McSpaden was waiting at the first tee ready to replace him.

The chunky White Plains pro decided to tee off, however, and blazed the tough front nine in 33. He came back with 36 for a on picking up 11 points for a two round total of plus 24 in the standings. Barron twisted his ankle when he stepped into a fairway hole yesterday.

Locke, master of all the shots and extremely dangerous in wet weather, matched Barron's round with 35-34-19 and picked up points for second place at plus 23.

Bob Hamilton of Reynolds, Ky., shot a 37-35-72 and picked up nine points for third place at plus 20, Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., was next with plus 12 on a 36-35-71 and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the first day leader, lost three points with a 38-35-73 and dropped to fifth place among the 16 pros in the field plus 11.

Holland Wins in Tennis

THE HAGUE, Holland, May 7 —(UP)— Holland eliminated Portugal in a second-round European zone Davis Cup match today when A. C. Ven Swol and I. Rinkel beat the Portugal doubles pair of D. Da Silva and I. Ricciardi, 6-1, 6-0, 6-3 to notch a 3-0 lead with two singles matches remaining.

Baseball Players Fined

LOS ANGELES, May 8 —(UP)— Two Los Angeles baseball players were fined today by Pacific Coast League President Clarence Rowland for arguing with Umpire Al Meyer in last night's game against Hollywood.

Shortstop Billy Schuster was fined $50 and Catcher Eddie Malone $25.

PLATT NIPPED AT THE PLATE — Platt, left fielder for the Browns tried to score from third when Al Zarilla hit one to the mound, which glanced off Pitcher Orval Grove's glove to Luke Appling on third, Lukes throw to White Sox Catcher Aaron Robinson (right) caught the runner. Seidel Downs Hanson; Smith To Meet Lyman

Dr. William Seidel, Friday gave the done bucket a lusty boot as he knocked off top-seeded Lt. Martin Hanson, 3-6, 6-2, 8-6 on the Naval Government courts to move into the semi-finals of the local All Navy tennis eliminations.

In a match marred by double faults and numerous errors, Seidel warmed up in the second set and went on to take the third as Hanson wilted and played below his usual par.

The semi-finals were originally scheduled for yesterday with the finals today, but because of military duties and other personal reasons the other semi-final match between Major Andy Lyman and Lcdr. J. D. Smith, will be played tomorrow at 1430 at Naval Government and the finals will come off later in the week.

Seidel earlier eliminated Lt. Austin "Ace" Parker of the First Marine Brigade, in the upper bracket quarter-finals match. Hanson defeated Cdr. Albert Kohlhas a week ago to earn his berth in the semi-finals.

Wilson Defeats Turner In Hard-Fought Bout

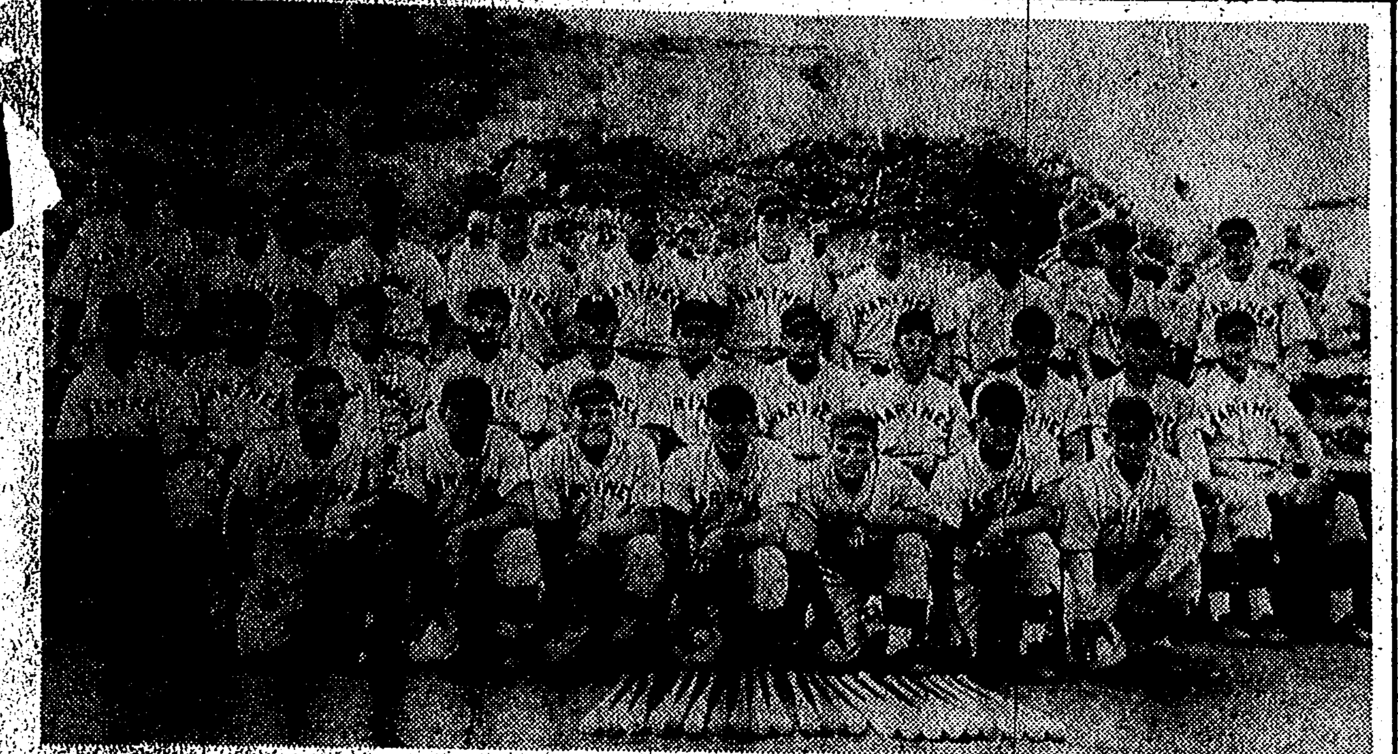
HOLLYWOOD, May 8 —(UP)— Welterweight Jackie Wilson won a unanimous 10-round decision from Earl Turner in a wild, hard punching fight here tonight.

Wilson 148½, Los Angeles, had Turner, 151, Oakland, down three times in the second round and three times again in the fourth. Turner got up quickly from some of the knockdowns, but under current rules, the referee made him take an eight-count each time.

After the sixth round, Turner found new fight and rocked Wilson with good hard punches several times. He had Wilson hurt in the eighth round and took the ninth, but the rally was too late to give him the match.

$80,000 Harness Race

ARCADIA, Cal., May 8 —(UP)— The greatest one-day purse distribution in the history of harness racing will be made tomorrow when the nation's leading standard bred horses compete for more than $80,000, highlighted by the $50,000 Golden West trot.



MUCHO TALENT — The First Marine Brigade Devildogs boast one of the biggest clubs in the current Inter-Command baseball league. Winning nine straight games before being stopped by the Triple "A" Gunners they have landed right near the top and are ready to take over the lead. 1st row; (L to R) J. Weeks, T. Maynard, H. Litner, V. Cianciotto, D. Mencose, A. Julian, and M. Slandrich. 2nd row; J. Willis, J. Ego, N. Coss, W. Grace, D. Green, C. Quick, L. Tymenski, L. Smith, E. Wright, A. Strickland, W. Long. 3rd row; J. Paluszak, C. Riedel, V. Pokenis, B. Dilday, R. Kiley, S. Cooper, H. Casebolt, Armentrout, K. Rice, and Maj. P. Olsen, Manager (USMC Photo)

First Brigade is 'The Team to Beat'

The First Marine Brigade Devildogs could post signs all the way from Agana to Camp Dealy saying they were the team to beat in the second half of the season and they wouldn't be far from wrong.

Getting off to a slow start by losing to the Yards and Docks Gophers by one run and also to the Naval Supply Center Rams by one run, they have staged a drive which has brought them right up to the top of the current Inter-Command baseball race. Their third defeat of the season was administered by the Triple "A" Gunners two weeks ago and again there was only one run difference.

One of the reasons for the Brigade's high standing is the fact that the command has a large group of men to pick from. If you should happen to look over the roster you'd find 27 players, and not a one is [illegible] unworthy of taking a place on the diamond or at the plate. Their pitching staff is dependable and when one hurler doesn't have his stuff on his scheduled day, there are always six or seven others who can relieve him.

With fellows like Bob Dilday, Tymenski, Casebolt, Litner, Ego and Green at the offensive and defensive ends, it is hard to believe the Brigade won't make the grade. Some of the best pitchers have gone against these men and still have taken defeat. There seems to be nothing standing in the Brigade's way of taking over the lead and turning it into a one team show. However, teams like NOB Industrial, FasRon 13 and NSC are to be considered and because of their records this first half of the season—you can't count them out.

Musician Tries For Record

LONG BEACH, Cal., May 8 —(UP)— Bandleader Guy Lombardo tries to coax "the sweetest music this side of heaven" from a 1300 horsepower Allison engine today as he guns over the Salton SAA in quest of a new American speedboat record.

Lombardo, currently playing in Los Angeles, spent several weeks readying his sleek 25-foot Tempo VI for a crack at Gar Wood's 18-year-old U.S. mark of 124.86 miles an hour. He said he was confident he could break the record and approach Sir Malcomb Campbell's 141-mile-an-hour world mark.

American Power Boat Association timers were here to make the try official.

Babe Martin Uses Hard Work to Rid 'Worries'

NEW YORK —(UP)— Boris (Babe) Martin of the Red Sox used to take the ball bame home with him.

In the jargon of the game, it means that the husky, good-looking catcher was in the habit of brooding about mistakes long after the games were through. He worried constantly in two previous trials with the St. Louis Browns and was shipped back to the minors each time.

Martin, however, always did well in the minors. It might have been that there was less tension there. Last season he hit .319 with Toledo of the American Association and Boston brought him up.

No stranger to the American league, Martin nevertheless is fairly new to the catching business. He was an outfielder until two seasons ago when he was transferred behind the plate.

"I think I've left those worries behind," the Babe smiled as he adjusted his shin guards.

"It took a while to get rid of the habit but I think I have it licked now."

"Hard work did it. I have been catching batting practice every chance I got. I knew that I needed more polish. The only way I knew to get that polish was to keep catching. That's what I've been doing."

Martin watched some of the hitters at the batting cage and then reached for his chest protector.

"Honestly, I don't think I've ever worked harder in my life. And that work has given me tremendous confidence."

Head Injury Still Bothers Dyer; Using Sun Treatment

CHICAGO, —(UP)— Eddie Dyer, the St. Louis Cardinal manager, was taking the slow sun cure today in an effort to get back to his accustomed spot in the coaching boxes.

Dyer was beaned near the right temple during the Cards' spring training at St. Petersburg, Fla. and ever since he's had headaches. But the sun cure, he figures, will pull him through.

"No, I never had headaches before," he said. "And the doctor told me there's nothing really wrong with me. But I like to get out on the field and stay in the coaches box to run the team, and when I get out in the sun a while I get the headaches.

"So I'm taking it slow, trying to take a little more sun every day, and after a while I'll be able to stay out there for a full game. That's on the doctor's advice too," he said.

Dyer, who directed the Cards to the 1946 pennant in his first year as a big league manager, believes he can help the team most working in the coaching box.

"There's a lot of argument over that," he said, "and there've been some great managers of both kinds.

"Sitting on the bench you might have more time to figure out strategy. Figure that if you put in so-and-so to bat, the other manager will put in so-and-so to pitch. And if you decide to call for a bunt, the other manager might call for a picthout.

"When you're out in the coaching box you may not have so much time to figure these things out, but I like it better and think I can be more valuable out there on the base lines trying to keep the team running."

"John McGraw was a bench manager. He never went on the field," Dyer said. "And Billy Southworth used to be a field manager but last year he took to the bench."

"Maybe later I'll switch to the bench. But as long as I can I'm going to stay out on the base lines."

Mangrum Takes First Round Lead

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 7 —(UP)— Dapper Lloyd Mangrum, the National open golf champion from Chicago, took first round lead in the $10,000 Goodall Round Robin at Wykagyl Country Club today when he fired a course record, 34-32—66, six under par.

Threading the narrow fairways with booming woods which seldom strayed and putting with a silken touch, the swashbuckling Mangrum clipped one stroke from the course record established in 1944 by Byron Nelson to total 14 points. That put him one point ahead of Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y.

The slim Texan's three match play opponents in this tournament, where the pros go all the way despite the score—Vic Ghezzi, Herman Keiser and Cary Middlecoff—couldn't come close to matching his nerveless perfection.

Mangrum thus took seven points from Middlecoff, the slender Memphis dentist; four from Keiser of Akron, O., and three from Ghezzi, the lumbering Italian from Knoxville. Keiser salvaged two points with a 36-35—71 which copped five from Middlecoff and one from Ghezzi. Ghezzi's 37-35-72 won four points from Middlecoff's 42-31—77. Barron, former winner of the All-American open, carded a steady 38-32—70, two under regulation figures, to win nine points from Johnny Palmer, of Badin, N C., three from Chick Harbert of Detroit and one from Ed Furgol of Detroit. That put him in the runner up spot, just one point back of Mangrum.

Furgol, one of the newer additions to pro ranks, spun a 38-33-71 which took six points from Palmer and two from Harbert. The long-driving Chick's 39-35—74 copped three points from Palmer's 40-38—78.

Masters, and burly Bob Hamilton, of Reynolds, Ky., former PGA champion, were unfortunate to hook up in a foursome where both plastered 69's. Hamilton's 37-32 gave him 11 points while Harmon's 35-34—69 was good for only seven.

Today's entrancing fashion flicker is what is called a "Holoku." This particular "Holoku" is of a royal purple heavy silk with large floral design of contrasting colors. The self ruffle edging the low square neckline is repeated around the hem line and train. It has a mandarin type coat which is of the same material as the dress.

The designer of this "Holoku" is Anna of Vienna (born in Vienna) or Anna Cavanaugh. Prior to the war she was as well known in Paris as in Vienna for her lovely clothes. Now, she is living in Honolulu and has a small exclusive shop where she sells custom made clothes.

"Stop and Go"

The word "Holku" is Hawaiian for "Stop and Go," and dates back to the days of the missionaries' wives. When they first arrived in the islands the native women were wearing tapa cloth. To introduce Christian clothes to the native women they made a dress reminiscent of 1890 New England....that is, with princess lines, big sleeves, and square neckline. The native women at the time, had great difficulties manipulating the sewing machines, therefore, they made numerous stops and starts while sewing. Thus, the dress they were taught to make and wear, was named "Stop and Go" dress.

Evening Gown

The grown has now been modernized and become the traditional evening dress worn by the "Haole" or white race. The "Holoku" is always made of plain or gaily printed cottons. It is never worn with jewelry, but with rows of leis around the neck, flowers in the hair and wristlet of flowers.

Another costume from Anna's shop is of oriental abi cloth. It's a heavy beige silk with accent on a wide black band on the bodice and the skirt. The design is hand painted with spot embroidery of silver and gold threads on the design. If those fashions date back to 1890, they are definitely spotlighting the "old look." After all, that's all the "new look" really is....the "old look" with a new glamour job.

The Fan Returns

The new look, by the way, is bringing back one of milady's most flattering accessories. That is the fan. It has been found not only to enhance a costume, but to provide a graceful ornament to occupy hands during moments of idleness. The fan, supposedly, has a language of its own for the young maiden who wishes to speak her thoughts subtly. For instance, one should beware of a fan that is twirled in the left hand....it signifies that the lady wishes to be rid of you. On the other hand, if a fan is carried in front of the face with the right hand, it means "follow me." When a lady draws her fan across her forehead, she is telling her escort that they are being watched. And when she puts the handle of the fan to her lips....it means that she wants to be kissed!

Longer Dresses Coming

On the subject of the "new look", what do some of the studio designers say on the subject? They say, long dresses are here, and longer dresses are coming...but not to stay! While everybody is wondering about the future of the long skirt, the MGM designer, Helen Rose, says that they will go longer until they reach ankle-length, probably by this time next year. Then she expects them to start in the opposite direction, until they reach almost pre-war shortness.

But you know, with all the pro and-cons about the "new look" there is one thing very definite.... and that is fashion spotlight is on smaller waistlines with both the long and short hemlines.

THE ROCK . . . . . by Tom Richards

THE FOLLOWING POEM, so well written by Wilbur D. Nesbit and found in his treasure chest of unpublished poems, is probably one of the world's finest descriptions of a mother's kindly unswerving love.

"The Mother"

A book unheeded in her lap
She sits with dreaming eyes
And looks from out the window
At the distant hills that rise
Yet soon she crosses all the hills
And finds a path-way straight
To where the children hail her
On the fence beside the gate:
To where the children hail her
With their shouts of wonderous glee,
Yet still the book unheeded
Lies half-open on her knee.

And far from out the window
Beside the sky is hazy blue,
And she fares forth upon a road
That leads the meadows though,
That hurries down the city streets
Until she finds a door,
Which opens to her gentle knock
And then, as oft of yore,
She hears the laughter of her boy,
She sorrows when he grieves.
Yet still the book is lying
With her hand between the leaves.

And now she goes another way,
Where mountains touch the sky,
She threads the forest fastnesses
Until she draws anigh,
The little cottage where her girl
Has helped to make a home,
While in the distance on the sea,
Are gleams of up-flung foam;
And for awhile they speak of all
The joys that used to be,
Yet still the book unheeded
Lies half-open on her knee.

And so she fares till sunset,
She goes far and far away,
But always finds her haven
At the ending of the day;
And takes her book and idly
At the open page peers,
With eyes that have the softness
That is caused by unshed tears.
And sometime she will murmuur low,
And sometime she will smile,
For out and over all the land
Her heart has been the while.....

SOME TIME AGO my sister was forced to be firm with her three year old daughter, who had been naughty, and the little one cried and called out for "Mama." It shows the infinite trust a child places in its mother. No matter what the danger or trouble that confronts a child, it feels perfectly confident that "Mama" can handle the situation. Incidentally, the little girl who cried for "Mama" and her little sister have both grown up now and have babies of their own. Their mother has gone to a better land but still I know that she "Hears the laughter of her girls and sorrows when they grieve."

I TALKED TO A MAN about a year ago who told me about a peculiar experience he had had when he was working in Los Angeles and was living in a near by city. One night he was driving home from work rather later than usual. He drove down a side street to an intersection and, seeing no headlights coming in either direction, he had just started to pull out in the main street when he heard his mother's voice very distinctly say "stop, son!" He slammed on his brakes and, as he did so, a large car traveling at a high rate of speed, perhaps 70 miles an hour, hurtled by, just in front of his car. His mother had passed away 20 years before. Surely a mothers love knows no bonds....

Dog Rides Stroller To Rabies Clinic

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(UP)— All sorts of dogs came to be inoculated against rabies in a Shelby country drive. But only one came in a baby stroller.

Mrs. Robert E. Harpst, who was registering dogs in one of the dozen emergency veterinarian clinics, was surprised to see the dog sitting comfortably in the stroller with a woman alongside.

"He wouldn't walk," the woman told Mrs. Harpst, "so I rolled him over for his vaccination."

Former Japanese Attache Sentenced

YOKOHAMA —(UP)— Jan Kunichi Sasaki, ex-naval attache of the Japanese embassy in Washington and graduate of the University of California, was sentenced to 18 years in prison for contributing to the death of an American prisoner of war and ordering numerous other allied prisoners tortured and abused.

Sasaki, one-time resident of Tucson, Ariz., was convicted by the Eighth Army military commission of ordering the fatal beating of William H. Walker, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Ex-Naval Attache

The prisoner was attache to the Japanese embassy in Washington at the time of Pearl Harbor and was later interned at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He was returned to Japan with other Japanese diplomats aboard the first exchange ship in 1942.

Sasaki nicknamed "Handsome Harry" by American prisoners was civilian interpreter with the Japanese Naval general staff in Ofuna, Japan, following his return from the United States.

The Eighth Army court sentenced six other convicted war criminals to terms of five 25 years imprisonment.

The heaviest sentence 25 years was imposed on former Commander Sashizo Yokura honor graduate of the Japanese Naval Academy for mistreatment and torture of numerous allied prisoners.

Railroad Unions to Strike Tuesday

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(UP)— The government failed today to settle the railroad wage dispute and a union spokesman said that "as far as we are concerned the strike is on at 6 a.m. Tuesday."

Barring developments tomorrow, the government is expected to seize the nation's railroads on Monday. High officials are confident that will prevent a walkout.

Nearly four hours of White House negotiations between the chiefs of three strike-threatening unions and representatives of the railroads brought another no-progress report.

"They didn't offer us a thing," said Alvanley Johnston, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Operators.

William Farley, president of the Association of American Railroads, said the industry will not go beyond the wage increases and working rules recommendations of President Truman's fact-finding board—"and that's final."

But Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, who is handling the rail strike crisis for Mr. Truman, said "we're going to try again tomorrow."

"I have asked both sides to think over the matter and discuss it with their people," he said.

Steelman asked the operators to meet with him at 10 a.m. EDST tomorrow and the union representatives were asked to stand by for a call.

In the long afternoon session, the railroads stood pat on their refusal to grant any larger wage increases than 15-½ cents an hour, plus some working rules changes, recommended last March by the presidential board.

The unions, seeking a 30 per cent wage increase with a minimum of $3 a day, turned down that recommendation a few days after it was made and called a nationwide strike for Tuesday.

Today's joint negotiations broke up about 5:55 p.m., ESDT. The management men came out first. Farley said the railroads did not like some of the recommendations of the fact-finding board but were willing to put all of them into effect "completely—the desirable and the undesirable."

But beyond that, he said, the industry will not go.

"When men and management disagree in a labor dispute which will affect the lives of every American citizen, is there any better way of settling the dispute than to have the President appoint an impartial board to make recommendations on the issues?" he asked.

A few minutes later the union chiefs came out of the White House.

Johnston said the railroads' position "is no offer of settlement."

A top Republican leader in Congress shared the view of the administration that the rail strike will not take place. House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., predicted to newsmen that the railway workers will not walkout. But he would not reveal the reason for his belief.

Administration officials feel that if the government takes over the railroads, the men will not strike because they could not hope to win against the full force of the federal government.

Cease-Fire Agreement Brings Peace to City

JERUSALEM, Palestine, May 9 —(UP)— A British-Arab cease-fire agreement brought peace to Jerusalem today, ending at least temporarily a 160-day bloodbath in the Holy City.

Fear of renewed fighting created an atmosphere of tension in a city still threatened by shortages of water and food. But the tug-of-war for the shrine city of Moslems, Christians and Jews appeared for the time being to center around the conference table.

Time was running short, and no permanent truce had been concluded in the Holy Land. As darkness fell over a city where the loudest sound was the wailing of a hot desert wind, less than 150 hours remained before the end of the British mandate and possible all-out war between Arab and Jews.

Elsewhere in the Holy Land, battles were reported raging at Safad, key city astride the Huleh Valley invasion route into northern Palestine; Ramat Naftali, battered Jewish settlement near the northern border, and Quiri, near Afula in central Palestine.

Reports from Haifa indicated fears that the typhoid epidemic in nearby Acre might spread to the great, Jewish-held northern port.

Showdown With Russia May Come; Draft is Urged

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(UP)— The House Armed Services Committee said today recent world developments indicate that Russia "may now be willing to risk a showdown with the United States."

In a report urging speedy revival of the draft, the committee said "aggressive and dangerous" Soviet actions have brought to the forefront "a possibility that appeared remote six months ago."

"The committee is convinced," the report said, "that these actions raise the new and ominous possibility that the Soviet Union may now be willing to risk a showdown, on the assumption that the future can bring only a worsening of the Soviet position."

The House group cited the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia, pressure on Finland and the Soviet "restrictions" on U. S. occupation forces in Germany.

Prompt enactment of the 19-through-25 draft bill, the committee said is a "necessary response" to these Russian moves.

Detroit Fire Claims Lives of Five Children

DETROIT, May 9 —(UP)— Five children were burned to death today when an oil burning heater exploded on the first floor of their home and trapped them in their second story bedroom.

Police identified the dead as John Orton, 12, and his brothers and sisters, Mary, 9, Patricia, 7, Jerome, 5, and Dennis 3. Their mother, Florence, 31, was taken to receiving hospital suffering from severe burns.

Mrs. Orton told the police she first noticed fumes from the oil heater at 4:40 p.m. The heater exploded and sent flames quickly over the entire first floor.

The spreading fire filled the stairway to the second floor, trapping the family. The five children were caught in their bedroom and burned beyond recognition.

The children's father was away from home

New Research Laboratory Dedicated

INYOKERN, Cal., May 9 —(UP) Scientists and military officials gathered today to dedicate the huge new Michelson research laboratory at the Naval ordnance test station here, the most complete scientific workroom in the world.

The laboratory is named in honor of the late Dr. Albert A. Michelson, physicist and Nobel prize winner. The Navy said it was one of the nation's most important research and military installations.

The research and development at Inyokern is supported by a community of more than 12,000 persons who live in the Navy's city in the middle of the Mojave desert, 150 miles from Los Angeles.

The laboratory, virtually self-sufficient, has extensive facilities for all kinds of research in physics, chemistry, aerophysics, mathematics, electronics, metallurgy, rocket and missile propulsion, and fire control and guidance.

Still under construction are the laboratory's all-weather and altitude testing rooms, where the Navy will be able to custom-make weather at will, simplifying the testing of new weapons under different conditions.

Military Air Service Officially Confirmed

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(UP)— Defense Secretary James Forrestal announced the creation of a new Military Air Transport Service which will go into operation June 1 on a global scale.

The new service (MATS) combines in one operation planes and personnel of the Air Transport Command and the Naval Air Transport Service, both of which die as separate agencies next month.

Unified Service

Maj Gen. Laurence S. Kuter commands the unified service. Its routes will stretch from San Francisco to Karachi, India, and from Washington to Dhahran, Saudi Arabia. MATS planes will fly as far north as Thule in Greenland, above the Artic Circle, and as far south as Rio de Janeiro.

Military leaders greeted creation of MATS as proof that armed forces unification is a reality.

MATS gets 215 four-engine Douglas DC-4 transport types—176 from the Air Transport Command and 39 from Naval Air Transport. Twenty of these planes are plush jobs for "special missions."

In addition, the new service will acquire 59 Douglas DC-3 craft—55 from ATC and four from NATS—which will be used on feeder routes and as utility planes.

A MATS development unit will "shake down" planes like the Boeing C-97, cargo version of the B-29, and Douglas C-74, a cargo craft capable of carrying 15 jeeps. These planes then will be assigned to runs.

Auto Bosses, Union to Meet

DETROIT, May 9 —(UP)— Federal labor conciliators announced tonight that Chrysler Corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers had agreed to meet at 11 a.m. Monday in an effort to avert a strike Wednesday of 73,000 workers.

Mediator Leo T. Kotin said Norman Matthews, director of the union's Chrysler department, and company officials had agreed to meet with the U. S. conciliators Monday in a last-ditch attempt to head off the nationwide walkout.

Kotin's disclosure came five days before the zero hour for the first major walkout in the auto industry since the prolonged 113-day General Motors Corporation strike in 1945-46.

Air Search For Lost Aircraft is Resumed

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, May 9 —(UP)— An aerial search for two missing Air Force P-51 Mustangs resumed today.

The planes have been missing since Thursday afternoon. Last contact was made with P-51's late Thursday afternoon when the pilots reported their position as 40 miles south of Fairbanks.

The Mustangs were on a routine training flight from Elmendorf Field, Anchorage to Ladd Air Force Base here.

Ladd Field commanding officer Colonel Lloyd H. Wattree, said poor weather halted search for the missing planes Thursday night but yesterday 50 planes took off, including B-17's, B-25's, C-47's and P-51's.

Names of the missing flyers are being withheld.

COMMAR HILL, May 9 — A message from the USS Metomkin (AG-136) said it had picked up seven crew members of a Guam shipping boat who had been adrift for six days.

The message said the boat left Saipan for Rota on May 2 and the engine failed. There was no food aboard, but the crew were reported all in good shape.

Two crew members attempted to sail a life raft to Rota for help. They were picked up by the Metomkin later in the day.

Joe Sablon was in charge of the boat, the message said.

WASHINGTON, May 9 —(UP)— The Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee today virtually killed any hopes of Hawaii to be admitted to the Union this year.

The committee voted 7 to 5 to postpone action on a statehood bill until committee members visit the Islands. Such a trip seemed out of the question before Congress adjourns. The House has approved legislation to give statehood to Hawaii.

The committee vote came on a motion by Sen. Eugene D. Millikin, (R-Colo.).

Chairman Hugh Butler, (R-Neb.), said the vote was not a decision on statehood for Hawaii. He thought a majority of committee members may vote for statehood after visiting the Islands sometime before the next session of Congress. He said he hoped Hawaiians would not be "discouraged."

INYOKERN, Calif., May 9 —(UP) —The Navy disclosed today it was developed a camera that can take pictures of what happens during one-hundredth of a millionth of a second.

The camera, invented by Dr. A. M. Zarem, will be used in research at the Michelson laboratory here, being dedicated today.

The Navy said the Zarem camera operates so fast light travels only 10 feet during one exposure. The speed of light is one thousand million feet per second.

If the camera took movies of a bullet being fired and showed them on a screen at the normal rate, it would take six hours for the bullet to cross an ordinary living room.

Industry Urged as Theme for Carnival

AGANA—Monsignor Calvo was guest speaker at a meeting of the Guam Chamber of Commerce called together last Wednesday evening in Agana to discuss details of the forthcoming carnival and fair in July.

Representing the board of trustees for the Guam Memorial Hospital Fund, Mons. Calvo presented questions and opinions of the board regarding principles and aims of the Commerce Committee with regard to the fair. He said that unless the fair were conducted along the lines of pre-war Guamanian fairs, the Guamanian people would be greatly disappointed.

Speaking for the trustee board, Mons. Calvo urged that the fair be conducted with most of the emphasis placed on commerce, agriculture and industry. In this way, he said, the theme of the fair would have a deep bearing on the progress and culture of the Guamanian people instead of a mere superficial aspect.

It was further urged that the farmers of Guam be contacted individually and asked to produce crops and livestock to be used as exhibits at the fair.

Mons. Calvo said that a revival of old time customs and traditions of Guamanian fairs would go a long way to bolster civic pride, encourage industry and agriculture, and renew interest in local and island-wide affairs by the Guamanian people.

Son Passes His Last Bad Check

ST. LOUIS —(UP)— A man who has spent $22,000 since 1934 in a vain attempt to keep his son out of prison watched as the young man was given a two year sentence.

Curtis W. Mushlitz, 30, of Evansville, Ind, was sentenced by Federal Judge Roy W. Harper for passing bad checks.

$22,000 of Bad Checks

Mushlitz' father, Curtis T. Mushlitz, an Evansville contractor, told FBI agents he had made restitution for $22,000 worth of bad checks written by his son in the past 14 years.

The elder Mushitz said he had saved his son from prison as long as he could, and refused to make good a $600 rubber check cashed at St. Louis hotel a year ago.

At his trial, Mushlitz was described as an alcoholic, and Judge Harper recommended that the sentence be served in the federal prison hospital at Springfield, Mo.

Service Station Opens at MarBo

MARBO—A new stateside service station opened this morning at MarBo.

Many of the features found only in first class service stations in the States will be offered to the public. It is planned at first to have for sale a limited quantity of accessories for the motorists. More will be added as they become available in the States.

The station will be near the MarBo Central Exchange and will be open daily from 7:30-11:30 and 12:30-4:30, except Sunday.

The sale of gas and the servicing of the cars will be featured at this station. Cars requiring more extensive repairs will be taken to the garage located at Harmon Field. Ten expert mechanics have been hired and are at work in this garage.

The service station is operated under the management of Mr. J.W. Rose, an experienced garage man from the States. It is a concession of the Post Exhange.

NOTICE—Air Force artists intending to compete in the Far East Command art contest must submit their entries by May 27, Maj. M.R. Palmer, personal affairs officer, announced this week. Art should be channeled through Unit special Services officers, or taken directly to the MarBo hobby shop, where regional winners will be selected. Complete contest rules and application blanks are available at Unit Special Services.

[illegible] Ingle confessed that [illegible] the Gabriel home [illegible] because he decided [illegible] about the best chance [illegible] an automobile. Police [illegible] youth made this confession [illegible] had a car for a fishing trip [illegible] told the couple. But they didn't offer him the car so he returned home and took his father's 22-calibre pistol. He walked back to the Gabriel's and shot the mon through the head in the presence of his wife.

The eighth-grade student then forced the terrified woman to help carry her husband into the basement. He ordered her to get into the car and he hurled through a heavy plate glass door when she attempted to elude him.

He caught her near the garage and told her he would not harm her if she would "drive him around." About two miles west of Byran, Ingle forced Mrs. Gabriel out of the car, shot her through the head and threw her body in a ditch, according to police.

Industrial Moves Into Second Place; Sunsetters Nose Out Hilltoppers; 7 to 6

The NOB Industrial Miners downed the Fifth Service Leathernecks Saturday 4 to 3 at Miner Stadium to take over sole possession of second place in the red hot Inter-Command baseball league race.

The Leathernecks outhit the Miners but could not quite outdo the strong NOB team in runs scored. "Rog" Kroul was credited for the victory allowing 11 hits and "Casey" Porter suffered another defeat giving up nine safties. Both teams committed three errors each.

GUNNERS VICTORIOUS

The Triple "A" Gunners picked up ground on the Leathernecks Saturday by blasting the Marine Barracks nine 15 to 5 at the Dust Bowl. "Bean Ball" Wallace received credit for another beautiful pitching performance allowing only two hits and fanning 15 batters. Larry Horan, just back from the Pacific basketball playoffs in Pearl Harbor, was the loser giving up 16 hits. The errors were evened at four apiece for each club.

COMMAR NOSED OUT

In a practice game yesterday, the Northwest Sunsters squeezed past the ComMar Hilltoppers in a practice game 7 to 6 at Geiger Field as Sgt. Majors, Hilltopper manager, discovered two new pitchers for his eighth place club.

Try New Pitchers

"Lefty" Daugherty started on the mound for ComMar and was the losing pitcher allowing all seven runs. "Greek" Lekanidis relieved the slugging first baseman in the sixth to hold the Sunsetters in check the rest of the way. "Greek" baffled the hard hitting Army team for four innings and proved his pitching ability which is badly needed by the Hilltoppers.

Winning pitcher, Dale Moore, was knocked from the box in the sixth by ComMar as they rallied with three runs to come within one run of the lead but Kennie Kennedy came into the game for the Sunsetters to stop the Hilltoppers and save the game for his teammate, Moore.

Score by Innings:

ComMar	201-003-000	6	11	6

Los Angeles City College Wins Track And Field Title

PHOENIX, Ariz., May 9 —(UP) Los Angeles City College tonight won the seventh annual National Junior College track and field championships by spread-eagling the field of 35 teams from seven states with 80½ points.

Runner-up was Compton College, 1947 meet titlist, with 61 5-6 points.

Only meet record broken was in the special mile relay, won by the Los Angeles quartet of Jack Dwyer, Bob O'Rouke, Fred Sims and Bill Mitchell, in 3:21.9.

Art Williams, Riverside Junior College dusky sprinter, was the meet's only double winner, scoring 20 points with a 9.9 win in the 100-yard dash and a 22.1 furlong.

Williams, Willie Dancer, Mt. San Antonio, Cal., high jumper, and the LACC relay team, were the only repeat winners out of nine 1947 champions. Dancer's high jump mark was 6 feet 5⅝ inches.

Pep Wins 125th Bout

DETROIT, May 9 —(UP)— Willie Pep, world featherweight champion, won his 125th professional fight with ease tonight, taking a unanimous 10-round decision over Detroit's badly outclassed Leroy Wyppx.

The Hartford, Conn., boxer was awarded nine of the rounds in the slow-moving brawl that brought catcalls and boos from a crowd of 6,686 Olympia Stadium fans who paid a gross total of $615,446.

There were no knockdowns in the non-title bout, but the Motor City Negro, rated as Michigan's number one featherweight left the ring with a slash over his right eye.

TROTS HOME — Joe Scarfo, catcher for ComMar Hilltoppers, is shown scoring from third base in the last of the third which momentarily put the Hilltoppers out in front, 3-2. "Nick" Predovic is the Sunsetter catcher as a Northwest Army Sgt. calls the play. The Sunsetters won 7 to 6.

Blatnik Robs Brecheen of Perfect Game; Giants Take Lead With Win Over Pirates

NEW YORK, May 9 —(UP)— One scratch single that never left the infield tonight robbed Southpaw Pitcher Harry Brecheen of the St. Louis Cardinals of the first perfect game in the National league since 1880 as he shut out the Philadelphia Phils, 5 to 0, in St. Louis.

The veteran left-hander faced only 28 batters, walking none and there were no Cardinal errors. He retired the first 20 batters and the last seven to mark up his third straight shutout. But the 21st hitter, Rookie Johnny Blatnik, ruined the night-flawless performance.

Blatnik in his first year in the majors, was the third Phil up in the seventh inning. He hit a slow bounding ball down the third base line and raced madly for first as Third Baseman George Kurowski dashed in to grab the grounder. Kurowski made a perfect throw, but Blatnik reached the bag just a fraction of a second sooner.

Sylvester (Blix) Donnelly pitched for the Phils tonight, giving up seven hits, six of them which figured in the scoring. Card First-Baseman Nippy Jones drove in four tallies with a bases-loaded single and with a homer with one man on base.

Power paid off today for the New York Giants, who clubbed Pittsburgh into submission, 12 to 5, and thereby vaulted into undisputed possession of first place in the National league.

Spanking out a total of 15 hits, including home runs by Bill Rigney and Bobby Thompson, the Giants routed Pirate starter Vic Lombardi in the first inning with a five run burst. Before they were through, the Giants registered three more runs in the second and four more in the seventh. Rigney, with two doubles and a single in addition to his homer, led the New York onslaught. Larry Jansen racked up his third triumph of the season.

The Boston Braves rallying for three runs in the eighth, edged the Cincinnati Reds, 3 to 2, completing a two-game sweep. Held to four singles in the first seven innings, Boston finally solved Southpaw Johnny Vandermeer in the eighth. Charley (Red) Barrett was the winner.

Left-hander Johnny Schmitz, who had been beaten three times previously, hurled a five-hit shut-out and paced the Chicago Cubs to a 6 to 0 triumph over Brooklyn. The Cubs, snapping their three-game losing streak, scored twice in the first and twice more in the fifth before Rookie Dwain Sloat was replaced by John Mavh. Eddie Waitkus' single and triple led Chicago's eight-hit attack.

In the American league, the Cleveland Indians beat Washington, 6 to 1, and remained within a half game of the league leading Philadelphia Athletics. Both the Indians and Athletics have identical percentages of .667. Gene Bearden, making his first appearance of the season, limited the Senators to three hits. The game was featured by Larry Doby's 450-foot home run for Cleveland—said to be the longest belt ever hit at Griffith Stadium since the hey-day of Babe Ruth.

Philadelphia, helped by Pitcher Carl Scheib's grand-slam home run and a triple play, plastered the Chicago White Sox, 16 to 1. Scheib, a 21-year-old veteran was touched for ten Chicago hits but scattered them well. His team-mates pounded six White Sox hurlers for 16 safeties.

The third-place New York Yankees split a double-header with Detroit, losing the first game, 3-2, and capturing the night cap, 9-1.

NavComSta Bows To NAS Agana; NSC Downs MAG

The NAS Agana softballers continued on their undefeated trail yesterday by knocking off NavComSta 4 to 1 in the Inter-Command softball league.

"Pappy" Granger allowed one run but only gave up two hits for his seventeenth victory of the season. Granger remains the only undefeated pitcher in the league.

NavComSta's losing pitcher, Mitchell, gave up eight hits and the NCS club led the error department with four while the NAS Agana team played another error-less game.

DEVORE CHALKS UP ANOTHER

The NSC Storekeepers held their third place standing by downing MAG 24, 6 to 3 as Jack Devore scattered six hits. Losing pitcher, Duplet, only allowed eight hits but the Storekeepers took advantage of men on the bases to out score the Marines by three runs.

5TH SERVICE DOWNS PAN-AM

The Fifth Service Leathernecks picked up a little ground in the race for first division as they downed the Pan American Airways 10 to 1 at Fifth Service Bob Maula also hurled a two hitter while the Leathernecks kept the runs and hits even at 10, off losing pitcher Ken Swofford.

In the only other game scheduled, the First Marine Brigade won a forfeit from Triple "A."

Acorns Get Lavagetto

SACRAMENTO, May 9 —(UP)— Cookie Lavagetto, Brooklyn's hero in the last world series, will sign with the Oakland Acorns of the Pacific Coast league as soon as he arrives on the coast, Brick Laws, Oakland president, said today.

Lavagetto recently was released by Brooklyn.

In an unrelated move, the Oakland management announced that Pitcher Tom Hafey will be released and allowed to deal for himself in hooking up with another club. Tom is the older brother of Will, whose sale to Cleveland was announced this week.

Rodney Breaks Record

ARCADIA, Cal., May 9 —(UP)— Rodney, the giant of the harness world, today cracked the world's record for a mile and a quarter trot as he captured the $50,000 Golden West trot by a length before a crowd of 18 258 fans.

Seals Down Portland For Fifth Straight on Werle's Six-Hitter

SAN FRANCISCO, May 9 —(UP) Bill Werle hurled six-hit ball for San Francisco today as three Portland pitchers handed the Seals an easy 7 to 2 victory. It was the 16th Beaver loss in 17 Pacific Coast league games.

It was San Francisco's fifth straight victory over the Beavers and the eighth consecutive Portland loss. Virtually all of the credit for the win could be laid at the feet of Portland's pitching staff of ancient Ad Liska, Ed Kowalski and Ken Wyatt.

The game was tied up at one-all going into the last of the fourth when Liska handed Mickey Rocco a 380-foot homer, walked two men and unleashed a single to Bill Leonard that drove in Dino Restelli.

Kowalski took over and managed to retire the side.

San Francisco picked up three more runs in the sixth when the bases were loaded on two walks and a single by Werle. Kowalski surrendered the mound to Wyatt who then served up two successive wild pitches, allowing Leonard and Werle to score. Gene Woodling then singled to score Jackie Tobin.

The Seals picked up another tally in the 7th on a single by Hugh Luby and a double by Leonard.

Portland's other run came in the first of the seventh on a single by Herm Reich and a double by Dick Wenner.

The Seals drew 11 free passes to first off Portland's loose jointed threesome Werle pitched a good tight game, striking out six men and walking none.

Threatened Rail Strike Already Crippling Nation

CHICAGO, May 10 —(UP)— The threatened rail strike set for Tuesday already was crippling the nation today.

While the government groped for a statement of the dispute in Washington, some railroads cancelled crack passenger train runs for tomorrow, forcing hundreds of persons to seek other transportation.

The pinch in passenger service was expected to be felt barly even though 150,000 engineers, firemen and switchmen are not scheduled to strike until 6 a. m., local time Tuesday.

But the roads—which carry 2,000,000 passengers daily—began cancelling trains that could not reach their destinations by that time.

The New York Central system announced that its 20th Century Limited and other crack passenger trains would not leave Chicago tomorrow.

"Strike Instructions"

Under strike instructions issued by the unions involved, trains may leave on their scheduled times up to 5:59 a. m. Tuesday—one minute before the walkout. Once the strike is in effect, however, the trains may run only to the nearest terminal where the crew, ordinarily, would be changed.

More railroads were expected to cancel trains leaving tomorrow that would be stranded short of their destinations by the strike deadline.

Embargoes on perishable freight discouraged shippers as early as Friday and fruit and vegetable prices soared in New York and Chicago. Experts believed it would not take long for the increases to spread throughout the country.

The Port Director advises that due to shortage of cargo space in the USS Gen. Anderson (AP-111), all prospective passengers for that vessel having automobiles for shipment to the West Coast, should book them with the Naval Supply Center, Naval Operating Base, prior to 1630, May 12. Shipment is expected to be made in the USS Zilima (AP-49), ETD Guam May 15.

Social Security Changes

WASHINGTON, May 10 —(UP)— A House Ways and Means Subcommittee will recommend this week some extensions of social security coverage but will hold up "far short" of President Truman's goals, it was disclosed today.

Informed sources said the group, will issue a report sharply criticizing the way the social security system is being run.

The subcommittee will propose extending social security coverage to state and municipal employes when a state and the federal government enter into a voluntary compact.

Navy Planes Collide

NEW YORK, May 10 —(UP)— Two Navy fighter planes on a routine training flight collided in mid air about 20 miles out over the Atlantic today.

One plane was missing. The other returned to Floyd Bennett Field with a wing slightly damaged and its pilot, the only man aboard, uninjured, the Navy said.

New Guam-Shanghai Fares Set

NAS AGANA, May 10 — A special round-trip excursion fare between Guam and Shanghai on Pan American Clippers, which will mean savings to air travelers of more than 30 per cent, was announced today by Al Long, district traffic manager here.

Long said the new excursion fare, which is effective May 15, would be $245.00, or $106.00 less than the regular round-trip tariff of $351.00. "Pan American is offering this new rate primarily for the benefit military, Guamanian, Civil Service and construction personnel residing on Guam who wish to fly to China for brief furloughs or vacations," Long said.

The new fare does not apply to children, he said, nor can it be used in conjunction with the purchase of a ticket to a more distant destination.

Regular sleeperette lounge clippers will be used for the flights, with no charge in the established Pan American service.

Long said he thought the new reduced fare would mean that persons who had not contemplated such a trip would now consider it in their vacation plans. Others would find the 30 per cent savings a welcome budget item.

Churchill Calls For United Europe

AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands, May 10 —(UP)— Winston Churchill today called for the formation of a United European nation so strong that no tyrant would "dare molest her tranquil soil."

Britain's wartime prime minister addressed a wildly-cheering crowd of 30,000 in ancient Dam Square.

Churchill spoke here in his capacity as honorary chairman of the unofficial congress of Europe, now meeting at the Hague.

He said that the "United States of Europe" which he has advocated repeatedly during the past two years would not be "against any race or any nation" but would oppose "any form of totalitarian tyranny."

Russia Moving Ukrainians to Siberia

SHANGHAI, May 10 —(UP)— Russia is carrying out a plan of transferring Ukraine farmers to Siberia, factories and repopulating the whole province, a former Soviet citizen said today.

He also declared that many political prisoners are being moved into Siberia and Sakhalin, north of Japan, and put to work in Siberian factories and Sakhalin labor camps.

The movement of western Russians to the east and of eastern Russians to the west, this source said, was for the purpose of isolating those of the Soviet Republic who have been overexposed to western ideas by virtue of their nearness to Russia's western neighbors.

They are being sent to sections of Russia where they will no longer be "exposed to the examples set by the Western democracies and where they will have no chance to put those examples into practice or contaminate other Russians with what they know about Western ways of life," he said.

Far more residents of the Ukraine have moved to the east than have moved to the west, he said. He estimated between 4,500,000 and 5,000,000 Ukrainians had for one reason or another been uprooted and sent off to Siberia and Sakhalin.

Eclipse Expedition Success

REBUN JIMA, Japan, May 10 —(UP)— A sudden change in the weather allowed the sun to peep through a few minutes before "zero hour" today to bring apparent success to the Japanese-American eclipse expedition here.

At full eclipse time the island was almost dark with a full moon hanging over it as the scientists feverishly handled the instruments to record the event.

Reds Try to Stop Korean Election

SEOUL, Korea, May 10 —(UP)— Communists spread terrorism and sabotage across American-occupied southern Korea today as Koreans went to the polls for the first election in their history.

Reports reaching Army headquarters here during the last 36 hours listed 39 dead, 17 wounded and six missing. Police arrested 142 rioters.

Sharp fighting was in progress on Cheju island, leftist stronghold 50 miles south of Korea. Communist bands, striking from the hills, terrorized half of the election officials there into quitting.

Sabotage disrupted telephone and railroad service throughout southeastern Korea. Fourteen strikes began.

The avowed purpose of the violence was to break up the election. Some 8,000,000 persons in southern Korea were registered to vote. Unless frightened away from the polls, they will elect a 200-man assembly to write a constitution for Korea's first really representative government in 4,000 years.

The United Nations is sponsoring and observing the elections, which are limited to American-occupied southern Korea. Russia will not permit balloting in northern Korea, which is occupied by Soviet troops.

Communist propaganda broadcasts to southern Korea last night cried, "smash the elections."

Lt. Gen. John R. Hodge, American occupation commander, ordered all American troops to be ready to assemble on 30 minutes' notice if necessary. Seoul was placed under curfew.

Trucks filled with black-uniformed Korean policemen rumbled through the streets. At every corner Korean police, American military police and specially deputized Korean civilians challenged anyone attempting to pass. The deputies carried clubs and axes.

The disturbances began Friday night after a week of quiet. In 48 hours, police reported 24 locomotives sabotaged, two railway lines cut, six police boxes attacked, one bridge blown out, and five ballot boxes and 6,000 ballots destroyed.

Navy to Set up Radio Station in Holy City

JERUSALEM, May 10 —(UP)— A United States Navy detachment, anticipating possible chaos in Palestine when the British mandate ends, arrived today to set up emergency radio communication facilities at the American Consulate General.

Lt. Hober L. Robertson, USN, arrived with 12 men and 9,000 pounds of equipment to establish the communications station.

"Radio Contact"

It is planned that if all other communications fail, as is threatened, the consulate still will be able to maintain direct radio contact with the outside world.

British negotiations with Jews and Arabs still were in progress for a truce in Jerusalem. But even if one is concluded, Jerusalem may be isolated from the rest of Palestine the moment the mandate ends.

Official sources said the exact moment at which British authorities will declare the mandate ended is 12:01 a.m. Saturday (6:01 p.m. Friday EDT).

Well-informed sources said that in preparation for the end of the mandate British frontier guards were removed during the week end from the Palestine end of the vital Allenby "invasion" bridge across the Jordan River.

Some incidents had a "wild west" touch to them. On the southeast coast, armed leftists entered a railroad roundhouse, stole a locomotive, drove it out of town then reversed the direction of the locomotive and leaped out. The engine plunged madly into the switchyard and smashed two other locomotives.

Gov. Wright Upholds Segregation Laws

JACKSON, Miss., May 10 —(UP) Gov. Fielding L. Wright told Mississippi Negroes today that they should move out of the state if they do not subscribe to its segregation laws.

Wright spoke on the eve of a south-wide states rights conference to draw up battle plans against President Truman and his civil rights program. Over 1,500 delegates from 11 "solid south" states are expected tomorrow for the one-day meeting aimed at halting the program which would destroy many southern racial barriers.

The delegates will plan action to defeat the President if possible either at the Democratic convention or in the election.

Czechs Adopt New Red Constitution

PRAGUE, May 10 —(UP)— Parliament adopted today a new constitution which Communist speakers said will pattern Czechoslovakia after Russia.

"Without the Soviet Union, "Communist Premier Klement Gottwald said, "this new constitution would not have been possible."

The deputies voted 246 to 0 for adoption. Fifty-four deputies were absent. More than a score of them have fled the country, dozens more are in jail, and three are now awaiting trial in Bratislava on charges of conspiring against the Republic.

Gottwald was given a standing ovation when he entered the lighted Vladislav Hall of Hradcany Castle, where the Parliment met.

Headline Highlights

HUGHES SPRINGS, Tex., May 10 —(UP)— The main line of the Louisiana and Arkansas Railway was blocked near here tonight after 27 cars of a Dallas-bound freight train left the tracks. Firemen from Hughes Springs, Linden and Daingerfield fought a fire in which 11 cars were burned. The blaze started when five gasoline tank cars ignited and winds blew the flames to six other cars loaded with coal.

LOS ANGELES, May 10—(UP)— A former dancer who has renounced the world last night boarded a TWA Constellation for New York on the first leg of her journey to join a Buddhist convent in Ceylon.

Countess Jeannette Mlodeska, 53, who returned a gift of $100,000 from relatives last week because she has no further use for worldly goods, said she is seeking "supreme deliverance."

Before she climbed aboard the sleek airliner, she knelt to pay her respects to the venerable Lokantha, a buddhist monk who came to the airport to pray for her.

NEW YORK —(UP)— A section of electric wiring in the cockpit of a Pan American Airways Constellation caused the big plane to crash at La Guardia field early today—and endangered the lives of its crew of four.

The plane was on a night training flight over New York City when the pilot radioed to La Guardia that he would have to come in for an emergency landing. He reported the cockpit had filled with smoke from defective wiring.

The plane skidded off the runway into Bowery Bay and was partly submerged. The crew, one of whom was slightly injured, was taken off by launches.

The

Guam Girl Scouts Carnival Date Set For May 15-16

"Peanuts, popcorn, cracker jacks, chewing gum!"

Yes sir, the carnival is coming to town this weekend on May 15 and 16 at the Plaza de Espana, Agana.

The Girl Scouts of Guam are sponsoring this carnival, complete with concessions, game booths, demonstrations, arts, handicraft sales and all the noise that goes to make a carnival. The proceeds of the carnival will go to the Girl Scouts, to be used as an operating fund during 1948 and 1949 here on Guam

The program is scheduled to begin Saturday morning at 9 a.m. with a parade. Immediately following this will be the investiture of new Girl Scouts by His Excellency, the Bishop of Guam, Bishop A. Baumgartner.

Arts, Crafts

Highlighting the carnival will be a number of demonstrations by the Girl Scouts on handicraft of early Chamorros. Included in this will be a demonstration in husking coconuts employing the old Chamorro method using the hegao, and demonstrations of agag weaving and shellcraft, making various articles including purses, cigarette cases, doilies, and different colored shells made into the Guam flag.

There will be a demonstration of palm thatching, employing the method by which Chamorros roofed their homes with palm leaves. This process is still used in the surburban areas of the Island. There also will be a demonstration of palm weaving, making baskets, fans, cutupots, whistles, etc.

An explanation and partial demonstration of making flour from bananas, sweet potatoes, breadfruit, and casava will be made by the Girl Scouts. Also, another demonstration of making starch from casava will be made.

Farm Display

The Naval Government Department of Agriculture Experimental Farm will have a display of the useful and harmful insects on Guam, plants and flowers of the Island, various preserved goods and a wide assortment of colored chicks to amuse the children.

Merizo Village will sponsor a display on the many uses of the coconut tree.

Most of the handicraft demonstrated and displayed at the carnival will be offered for sale.

Remember, the date is May 15 and 16, so let's make a date and support the Girl Scouts of Guam.

Expanding Industry Answer to Asiatic Hunger Problem

TOKYO —(UP)— Japan must be allowed to produce and sell abroad enough goods to buy one fourth of its food to prevent the permanent prospect of starvation for millions of Japanese, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters warned yesterday in a new report on the food situation.

The warning came as an indirect answer to all the criticism of American plans to revive Japanese industrial production and the nation's export trade.

"Japan cannot provide all its food requirements from domestic sources or reduce its prewar dependence upon imported food," stated the report which was published by the Natural Resources section at MacArthur's headquarters.

"Only by an increase in industry and trade can Japan support its population on a minimum daily diet of 2,160 calories per person.

The report, however, expressed doubt that plans for increased food production would be realized.

"The only solution," the American report said, appears to be a program designed to "concentrate the nation's resources to an increasing extent on consumer goods industries."

Ten Men Granted Rest Leaves

NORTH FIELD — Ten men, a cross section representing almost every organization at North Field, left for a ten day rest leave in Japan last week. The men will spend their leaves in the Tokyo area.

Men selected for the rest leave are Cpl. Robert Goff, Cpl. Myles Standish, Cpl. John Hartzell, S-Sgt. Aylmer Klinger, S-Sgt. Charles H. Plott, Cpl John J. Gabrys, Pfc Warren Dill, Cpl. Carl Savage, Pfc Paul Morrisan and Sergeant Carlos A. Ramos.

It was pointed out that the rest leaves in Japan are in reward for hard work and length of time on the Island This policy was inaugurated some time ago by the 20th Air Force. Since that time a great many persons have had the privilege of taking advantage of the system.

PELHAM MANOR, N. Y., May 9 —(UP)— John Moran, an electrical engineer from Indianapolis broke 194 discs to win the 200-shot singles championship in the 39th annual championships of America.

Extension of Foreign Tours Announced

HARMON AFB — Information released by Headquarters MarAMA, clarifies command policies on extension of foreign service tours.

It was announced that Department of the Army circular 249, 1947, is under revision. Pending publication of the new circular, authority has been delegated to the commanding generals of major commands to extend the foreign service tours of enlisted personnel serving first or subsequent tours since Dec. 7, 1941.

Tours of male personnel may be extended for any period, provided satisfactory physical qualifications are met, and the extension of the tour, in the opinion of the commanding general of the major command, would not adversely affect the morale and welfare of the individual concerned. Tours for female military personnel may not be extended for more than three months.

Anyone interested in applying for tour extension may make applications through his unit personnel section.

'Strange Animal' Results From Crossbreeding

SALT LAKE CITY, —(UP)— A strange animal, the first of its kind born in the United States, made its appearance last week at the Hogle Garden zoo here.

Weighing in at "about a pound" and measuring possibly six and one half inches in length, the animal is a "tigron" or a "lioniger"—the offspring of a lion and tiger.

"Daisy," three-year-old tiger formerly housed at the San Francisco zoo, was the mother, Huey, seven year old king of the Salt Lake zoo, was the father Park Director Joseph Sloan said the tigron was whelped this morning. It has the striped body of a tiger and a head which is neither lion nor tiger, but resembles both.

Sloan said it is believed this is the first instance of such an animal ever being born in the United States.

He said no one has yet been permitted by "Daisy" to approach the tiger cage.

ALL NAVY — A secret operative at the All Navy finals in San Diego enlightens on the omission of Mike Jankowski's name in the middleweight results....Mike, who lost to Hiner Thomas here in the local finals, went to the States when the aged Hiner complained that his rheumatism bothered him in the States, and that his upper plate needed a ring job and new shock absorbers....The job was already in progress, and since Hiner does not look his best without his uppers, he decided to remain....The lack of pearlies is hard to discern when Hiner is not talking, which is a hypothetical situation, but rather than suffer this handicap while in San Diego, Mr. Thomas stood aside.....

Getting back, the operative, whom we shall call Punetang Gizmo (that's Yiddish for "Bongo Bongo is a lie, civilization is wonderful)," reports that while the other seven members of the WesPac team were training seriously for the tourney, J. Mike absconded to parts unknown....Three days later he returned, worked out for 15 minutes, and once again peregrinated, and hasn't been seen since....He failed to show up for his first fight and lost by default, this being frowned upon by one and all....Just what happened to Jankowski is debatable, but Pune (very informal fellow) declares the San Diego papers have instigated a search for the missing middleweight....A song entitled "Who threw the wanderer in Mr. Thomas' place" is being plugged up and down the west coast in an effort to local the wayward one....

Pune emphasized the fact that the other seven boys were deadly-serious in their training....Pete Calderon ran up against a tough cookie in Edmund Mullins....A peculiar style, says Pune, and a hard hooker....

Pune's message on the finals is now in the process of being decoded (highly secretive information) and is not available at this time, but advance reports stated that Johnny Kamber was bothered by a slight cold before his bout with Jimmie Ithier, the eventual winner....The final story, received by Navy communications (unrestricted), makes it sound as though Kamber had the better of it....It's a tough break for Kamber and one of those things, but there's no use crying over bridges before you come to them, we always say (in unison.) Kamber was the only local hope who got past the first round....Cosme Buenavista, the WesPac flyweight, who got into the second round, was from Kwajalien, a neighboring isle, and is only semi-local....

In his first report, Pune vouchsafed to say the Heavyweight Katzaklan had a 50-50 chance to win the title....Six rubles have been deducted from Pune's pay, since Kataklan was 'kayo'd in the first round of his first fight, and such erroneous information is extremely misleading....

It was tough sledding in San Diego in every class (one wit suggested that this possibly was due to the fact that snow is out of season right now) and the WesPac team did themselves proud....seven of them, anyway.....

Marino to Box Lindsay

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10 (UP) Classy Dado Marino, Honolulu-born Filipino flyweight, makes his Bay Area debut tomorrow night at Coliseum Bowl, meeting Kenny Lindssy, Vancouver, B. C., in the 10-round main event.

Lindsay, a fancy boxer, began his pro career in 1940 after winning the National AAU flyweight title. He will have a slight weight edge on the ranking flyweight challenger. Lindsay campaigned as a featherweight last year and will probably weigh in around 115 pounds. Marino is expected to make the flyweight limit of 112.

Athletics Take Twin-Bill From Detroit; Cards Down Braves to Take Over NL Lead

NEW YORK, May 10 —(UP)— Those astonishing Philadelphia Athletics seemingly bent on unfolding one of the most dramatic baseball sagas of modern times, ran their winning streak to eight games today—longest of the season —by topping the Tigers, 10 to 5 and 5 to 3, at Philadelphia.

They looked done for in the nightcap when they put on their clutch rally against Tiger sophomore star, Art Houtteman. A walk, singles by Eddie Joost and Hank Majeski and doubles by Barney McCosky and Buddy Rosar accounted for three runs after which Dizzy Trout went on to yield another walk and Pitcher Lou Brissie's single. Brissie, who went the route, gained his third victory.

The A's coasted in with a six-run first inning in the opener, making it easy for Joe Coleman to chalk up his second victory. Sam Chapman's three run triple was the key blow. Coleman, who scattered nine hits, struck out seven batters, although he also walked seven.

The Indians, also off on an early season rampage, moved into the American league lead by eight percentage points by winning a pair at Boston, 4 to 1, in 10 innings and 9 to 5, with Ken Keltner's home run bat providing the payoff. Keltner, who hit three homers in the two games, now has nine to date, putting him two ahead of the field in the major league home run derby and only two behind his entire 1947 total of 11.

His homer in the 10th of the opener touched off a three run rally, giving Bob Feller his third victory in a duel with Joe Dobson. In the second game, Keltner started off Cleveland's scoring with a fourth inning homer, after which Larry Doby's two run homer in the seventh and rookie Joe Tipton's three-run smash in the eighth salted away the win. Ted Williams hit homers in each game for the Red Sox to bring his total for the season to seven.

At New York, Frank Shea of the Yankees pitched hitless ball for 6 2-3 innings, then finished with an 8 to 0 five-hit triumph over the White Sox. Homers by Tommy Henrich, with two on, and by George McQuinn, Charley Keller, and Billy Johnson with none abase, gave Shea the support he needed.

A three run rally off Rookie Pitcher Ned Garver, in the first inning, provided the Senators with their output for the day in a 3 to 1 win over the Browns at Washington. Walt Masterson, with relief help from Tom Ferrick, won his second game.

Cards Rally to Win

The Cardinals moved into first place with a 6 to 4 triumph over the Boston Braves at St. Louis. Trailing 3 to 0 in the sixth, the Cards tagged Southpaw Warren Spahn for all of their runs in two innings. George Kurowski with a double and single drove in four runs to lead the 10-hit Cardinal attack. Murry Dickson, tagged for homers by Jeff Heath and Jim Russell, settled down to win his second game.

Russ Meyer distinguished himself at Chicago by pitching the Cubs to a 2 to 0 triumph over the Giants handing the New Yorkers their first shutout of the season. Meyer and Dave Koslo were locked in a scoreless duel until the eighth. Then the Cubs put across two unearned runs when Buddy Kerr threw wild to the plate with the bases loaded after stabbing a line drive.

The Phils pushed the Reds into last place at Cincinnati by beating them 14 to 2 and 8 to 0. Good southpaw pitching by Rookie Curt Simmons in the opener and by Veteran Ken Heintzelman in the nightcap, plus 28 hits for the day, 15 in the opener and 13 in the second, was the victory formula.

The Dodgers and Pirates split a pair of slugging battles at Pittsburgh with Brooklyn winning the opener 14 to 2 and the Pirates coming from behind to win the nightcap 10 to 8.

THE BABE RUTH GRIP — Baseball's great Babe Ruth, who used to hold the bat way down at the end, shows Actor William Bendix how it was done. Bendix is playing the title role in "The Babe Ruth Story," now in production. Ruth was on hand recently as Bendix went through batting secens for the movie cameras. (AP Wirephoto)

Herman Barron Outlasts Bobby Locke; Wins Round Robin Golf Tournament

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 10 —(UP)— Staggering on the ropes in the final round, Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., hung on gamely to out-last on-rushing Bobby Locke and win the Goodall round robin golf tournament at Wykagyl Coutry Club today.

Barron started the fifth and final round 17 fat points in front of Bob Hamilton and 21 ahead of Locke, the South African invader. But he slumped to a two over par 74 which gave him a final total of 38 points, only six up on the determined Locke.

In chill sunshine, Barron apparently had the championship—his first major victory in two years—wrapped up as they started the final two holes. But bantam Ben Hogan, lumbering Vic Chezzi and Butch Harrison gave him a rough afternoon.

Meanwhile, Locke was feeding off Chick Harbert, Lloyd Mangrum and P.G.A. champion Jim Ferrier. So as they went down the last nine holes, Barron was victory hungry on every shot.

Locke made a terrific bid which thrilled the tence crowd of 6,000 as he stroked an even par 35-37—72 to pile up 14 points for the afternoon and raise his grand total to 32.

So as the 16-man field finished, Barron walked off with the $2,000 first prize and was followed by Locke with 32 points; Ben Hogan and Bob Hamilton tied for third with 16; Lloyd Mangrum, 9; Jim Ferrier, 8; Henry Cotton, 5, and Henry Kelser, even.

The other nine entries finished on the minus side of the ledger in this mathematical tourney.

Two New Swim Records

LAFAYETTE, Ind., May 10 (UP) Two American breast stroke records were set today as the annual aquacade at Purdue University ended.

Jeanne Wilson of Purdue clipped two-tenths of a second off the existing 100-yard breast-stroke record of 1:13.8.

Purdue's Keith Carter, another Olympic swimming team hopeful, was timed in 3:50 flat for the 300-yard men's breat-stroke. The old record of 3:52.4 belonged to James Consilman of Ohio State.

Kamber Loses by Split Decision in All Navy Finals

SAN DIEGO, May 10 —(UP)— Hard-luck Johnny Kamber dropped a split decision to Jimmie Ithier last night in Balboa Stadium in the battle for the All Navy featherweight championship, and found small consolation in the fact that he will be one of the 32 boxers leaving for Annapolis for further training and an Olympic tryout.

It was a repeat performance for the Des Moines, Iowa, youth who lost a split decision in last year's bantamweight final, and it marked Kamber's last try at an All Navy crown, for he will be discharged from the Navy in August.

After winning his first two fights and assuring himself of a place in the Olympic tryouts in Boston next month, Kamber found himself right where he stood last June in the 1947 All Navy Tourney, only this time he had moved up one division.

Kamber took the edge early in the first round on vicious infighting but Ithier backed away and cut loose with low range rights and lefts to Kamber's head. The second round was a repeat, with the painter from NOB Industrial punishing Ithier with his lightning-fast body punches. Ithier rushed in at the start of the third round, trying for a knockout, with Kamber still fighting a cautious battle.

Hank Herring, a San Diego product and naturally the crowd favorite, successfully defended his All Navy welterweight title by a knockout in 1:35 of the first round over Bill Bullock. It was the sixth time in Herring's last eight fights that he has ended the battle in the first round. None of his fights in this tourney went the distance, and the semi-final bout with Edmond Mullins, which Herring ended in the second by a kayo, was the longest.

Typhoon to Pass 100 Miles West of Guam

COMMAR HILL — Commander Marianas set typhoon condition II yesterday afternoon. At 8 p. m. tonight, Fleet Weather Central forecast that the typhoon would pass 100 miles west of Guam Tuesday morning.

First signs of a tropical storm were picked up Saturday night when FWC noted the presence of low pressure near the island of Yap.

This storm increased in fury until Sunday afternoon FWC began issuing storm warnings to outlying islands. At 10 a. m. yesterday, FWC termed it a typhoon since the wind had increased to 65 knots in the center of the storm.

Earlier last night, FWC issued a bulletin stating that the storm had been located by an Air Force weather plane near Ulithi, about 300 miles southwest of Guam. The storm was reported moving generally towards Guam, but is was expected to miss the Island.

The Air Force announced it had dispatched a plane to attempt to track the typhoon, but at this writing, the report from the plane had not been received. This is the first time that a plane from here has attempted to track a typhoon at night.

The Port Director's office announced yesterday afternoon that ships in Apra Harbor were getting underway and putting out to sea.

All vehicles, except emergency ones, at naval and military units were being secured yesterday afternoon.

Taft Urges Troops For Palestine

NEW YORK, May 17 —(UP)— Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R—O.) tonight urged that the United Nations provide armed forces to keep peace in Palestine.

At a mass demonstration in Madison Square Garden saluting the new Jewish state, Taft said:

"We must urge the Security Council to recognize Israel and to take action. We must urge the use of United Nations armed forces to prevent aggression against Israel."

However, he told a huge crowd, "if all else fails, we have economic pressure of our own."

Gov. Warren Calls For GOP to Adopt 'Liberal' Platform

SACRAMENTO, Calif., May 17 —(UP)— Gov. Earl Warren of California today called on the Republican party to adopt a "liberal" platform. He said it should include a broadened social security system, civil rights legislation, a "basic" standard of education and some kind of protection against the cost of illness.

A candidate for the Republican nomination for president, Warren said the public does not know exactly what his party would do if returned to power after 16 years, and gave his answers.

"I would start by saying that we shall have one law for all men—a law under which everyone may enjoy the full exercise of all rights of American citizenship," He added:

"I would provide the opportunity for every family to live in a neighborhood of decent homes, with adequate protection to the bread-winner against involuntary unemployment caused by illness or economic reasons."

And he said he would insist that every child without regard for race, creed or color "be given the basic education which will enable him to make a living in the field of his choice."

Poll Shows Senate Will Pass DP Bill

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(UP) An informal poll shows that a majority of the Senate will vote for legislation to admit 200,000 displaced persons into the United States during the next two years, supporters of the legislation said today.

The chamber is expected to take up the question of European refugees from Nazi or Soviet persecution this week after it finishes work on a flood control bill.

Before it is a judiciary committee bill to admit 100,000 DP's during the next two years. Numerous senators have introduced amendments to raise the figure to 200,000 and to remove restrictions imposed by the committee.

A source close to this group said the poll shows at least 55 senators ready to vote for the less restrictive legislation.

Dewey, Stassen Prepare for Showdown

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(UP) — The presidential hopes of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Harold E. Stassen are riding today on this week's Oregon primary.

The loser will suffer a severe jolt to his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

The Oregon voting, May 21 is the last contested primary before the Republican National Convention meets in Philadelphia to pick its candidate for the 1948 presidential election.

Oregon has only 12 delegates to the convention but the importance of this far west test as a show window for the two presidential aspirants far outweighs the votes.

Dewey needs a victory to offset the beating Stassen handed him in Wisconsin's April 6 primary and the fact that he trailed the former Minnesota governor in the Nebraska and Pennsylvania popularity polls.

Stassen needs to win in Oregon if the bandwagon he started rolling on the strength of those victories is to survive the braking applied by Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio's May 4 primary.

Jews Threaten Reprisal Bombings

TEL AVIV, Israel May 17 —(UP)— Arab warplanes bombed this capital of the new state of Israel four times today and Jews threatened reprisal bombings of Cairo the capital of the Arab world.

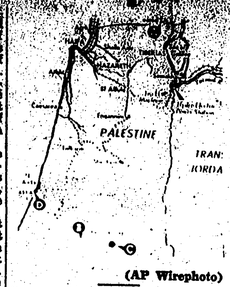
Haganah, the Jewish army, asserted that it had defeated the Egyptians in the south in the first battle since the proclamation of the Jewish state between Egyptian and Jewish ground forces.

Five Jews were killed in the third of today's raids on the waterfront area of the capital by groups of Arab fighter-bomber planes. Two of the raiding craft were shot down.

The Haganah report on the first Egyptian-Jewish clash said that the Egyptians were "routed" in an attack on the Jewish settlement of Norim, near the Egyptian border.

More than 30 Egyptians were killed, Haganah said, and a large number of Bren guns captured.

Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok asserted that Jewish troops operating on the far northern seacoast were "practically crossing the Lebanese frontier" at the border town of Ras El Naqura.



(AP Wirephoto)

"This is necessary to ensure the safety of our supply convoys," Shertok said.

Shertok said that Israel was sending announcements of the formations of a Jewish state to all 58 members of the United Nations and some other countries.

Diplomatic delegates will be sent to some world capitals within the next few days, he said, with Eliyahu Epstein, Jewish Agency leader, representing Israel in Washington. The envoys will not be called ambassadors, he said.

Shertok expressed the hope that the United States would lift its arms embargo now that it has recognized Israel.

He said he forwarded documentary evidence to the UN Security Council today on Egyptian troops in the south, as well as by incursions of Syrian, Lebanese and Trans-Jordan troops.

Shertok said that Jewish troops hold practically all strategic points in Jerusalem.

Motorcycle Accident Fatal to One Man

AGANA — A traffic accident which occurred Saturday afternoon in front of the Agana Radio Repair Shop on Marine Drive proved fatal to Harry Logan, third engineer aboard the SS Charles E. Dont.

Logan was riding a motorcycle driven by George Parks, first assistant engineer aboard the same ship. They were traveling south along Marine Drive when a sedan, operated by Ensign Glen Trewet, USN, and heading north along the highway, turned across the road to the radio shop. Just as the sedan left the road the motorcycle hit the rear end and caromed off across to the other side of the road. Logan was hurled into a ditch, while Parks was thrown to the ground next to the motorcycle.

Both were taken to the 103rd Naval Hospital, where Logan was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Parks suffered a skull fracture and is still unconscious.

Auto Thief Outwits Police

ATLANTA, Ga., May 17 —(UP) A new Jesse James, as slick an operator as the original bandit of 60 years ago, rolled a drunken cellmate of his identity cards today and strolled nonchalantly out of jail by posting bond.

Big Time Auto Thief

Jesse James Roberts, accused big-time auto thief, was still at large 15 hours later. The red-faced Atlanta police department, Fulton County and the State Highway Patrol had organized a vigorous manhunt for him. He allegedly did a $100,000 annual business in stolen cars.

But Roberts had a big jump on his pursuers. His brazen escape was not discovered until four hours later when the drunk whose identity he had assumed woke up and demanded bond for himself.

U.S. Not to Ban Red Officials

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(UP)— The United States does not plan to limit in any way the number of Soviet officials allowed to enter the United States, it was learned todav.

Many reasons are given by officials for not taking such action despite the severe limitations placed on the number of American officials allowed in the Soviet Union, but the chief reasons are these:

1. The Soviet Union is in a position to win hands down in any such "reprisal" game.

2. It would be a violation of principles long followed by the United States an to which this government is pledged by its membership in the United Nations education, scientific and cultural organization.

The Soviet Union has for some time been reducing the number of Soviet Nationals assigned to duty in the United States. Most of the cuts were a result of curtailment of funcitions performed here after the close of the war.

The numbetr of Soviet officials of all categories now in this country is fewer than 350 compared with 760 a year ago; 1,458 in 1946 and about 2,500 at the end of the war.

Only about 170 American officials, including dependents, are in Russia.

The Soviet government always has been reluctant to let any other foreign country send large staffs to Moscow. The reason always given is the shortage of housing. Such a shortage is severe, but the United States has never succeeded ingetting Soviet approval for the building of a new embassy building in Moscow even though it was prepared to supply most of the materials itself from abrod.

U. S. Soldier Decides To Remain in Russia

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(UP)— The State Department announced tonight that a 21-year-old sergeant had deserted the U. S. Army in Moscow and served notice that he is remaining in the Soviet Union.

State Department officials said it was a case of seduction and exploitation by an experienced female Soviet agent of a young inexperienced American in a strategic spot. The State Department's formal announcement said:

"The American Embassy in Moscow has reported that Sgt. James M. McMillin, U. S. Army, sent word to the embassy on May 15 of his refusal to return to the United States on that date under orders to complete his term of service, and of his intention to remain in the Soviet Union."

Wage Cut 'Ridiculous'

DETROIT, May 17 —(UP)— CIO United Auto Workers Union leaders and rank and file members today called the Ford Motor Company proposal that workers accept wage cuts instead of increases "ridiculous" and "two-faced."

John S. Baose, Ford vice president and director of industrial relations, unexpectedly answered the union's May 3rd demand for a 30-cent-an-hour pay raise for Ford workers.

Ford asked its 108,000 workers to agree to the elimination of the "substantial wage differential between Ford and its major competitors."

Price Cut Refused

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 —(UP)— Salmon fishermen said today 11 major northern California fish dealers had cancelled their working contracts after the CIO uhion had refused to cut prices two cents per pound.

Walter Lucee, union representative, said there was "no justification whatsoever" for lowered prices and that fishermen would refuse to deliver salmon to the 11 dealers.

Headline Highlights

CHICAGO, May 17 —(UP)— The CIO Packinghouse Union said tonight its strife-torn strike was still "effective" but said it would meet with meat packers in new negotiations immediately.

Union President Ralph Helstein made the announcement after a daylong meeting of the strike strategy committee.

The committee reportedly had met to discuss a new settlement proposal in the two-month walkout arranged by federal mediators.

Helstein did not refer to a possible settlement proposal in a prepared statement after the conference.

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(UP)— House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., now thinks it is out of the question for Congress to quit for good when it packs up for the political conventions in June.

He told reporters he hopes to clean up pending legislation by June 18, two days before the GOP convention opens in Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON, May 17 —(UP)— Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, (D—Colo.) disputed a new Army claim that it had done everything possible to get the added men it needs by voluntary methods but without success.

Johnson said the Army is flatly rejecting men over 35 years of age with no good reason.

Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 17 —(UP)— The American Federation of Labor pledged full support to the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery Program today but balked at joint participation with the CIO in its administration.

The AFL said it would not join with the CIO in the economic cooperation administration as long as the latter labor organization belonged to the world federation of trade unions.

Paul G. Hoffman, chief of the ECA, had come to Milwaukee to enlist The AFL's support in his administration of the Marshall Plan. He also was looking for labor leaders to serve on the special missions to the 16 recipient European nations.

Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, May 14 —(UP) A tiny, 85-horsepower Luscombe cabin plane piloted by Chet Keasling, 35, took off today on an attempted non-stop speed flight to New York.

Keasling's departure from Municipal airport was timed at 1:28.30 p.m. PDT. He said he hoped to land at LaGuardia Field, New York in 22 hours.

The plane was loaded with 140 gallons of gasoline by the addition of wing tanks.

San Diego

SAN DIEGO, May 17 —(UP)— A new high-speed patrol bomber, powered by four turbine engines, was announced tonight by the Navy Department.

Designated the XP5Y-1, the new seaplane has been designed to replace the Catalina and Coronado as a Naval search plane for over-water or over-land use. It has a high wing and a single tail. It is being built for the Navy by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. at its San Diego plant.

Details of the XP5Y-1 were withheld by the Navy's announcement, which said merely that the four-engined craft developed more horsepower per pound of aircraft than some modern fighter planes.

The plane was expected to be tested early in 1949.

South St. Paul

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn., May 17 —(UP)— National Guard troops were ordered to Albert Lea, Minn., today to extend state control over strife-torn areas in the bitter CIO packinghouse worker's strike.

Heavily-armed troops continued to patrol struck meat plants here and at nearby Newport, Minn., after wresting control of the streets from massed pickets at bayonet point yesterday.

Officials said all was quiet at the plants today.

Col. Harlan Bynell, Chief of Staff of the state adjutant-general's office, said additional troops would be sent to Albert Lea, 120 miles south, some time today at the request of local officials.

Body of Missing CBS Correspondent Found Washed Ashore at Salonika

NEW YORK —(UP)— The Columbia Broadcasting System said yesterday that the body of George Polk, 34, missing CBS Middle East correspondent, has been found at Salonika, Greece, under mysterious circumstances suggesting that he was murdered.

CBS said Polk's body was washed ashore at Salonika early yesterday. The network quoted Raleigh Gibson, American consul at Salonika, as saying that Polk's hands and feet were "loosely tied."

Greek police who discovered the body said money and valuables had not been removed from Polk's pockets and that robbery apparently was not the motive. They said the body bore marks of violence, according to the CBS statement.

Mrs. Rea Polk, the correspondent's bride of eight months, was quoted that, "it is incredible to think that George would leave on a trip to the mountains without his camera, shaving kit, or typewriter." Polk had been missing since May 9. Most of his clothes and all of his baggage were left in his Salonika hotel room.

Salonika police called in to search for Polk said they discovered that he had been trying to establish contact with the Greek underground for two days. CBS reported. This angered Greek police, because no foreign correspondent has been able for months to leave government controlled territory to meet the guerrillas and Polk had not made an official request to visit the fighing zones, the network said.

CBS quoted the Salonika coroner that Polk's body had been in the water about seven hours

'Radiant Jade' Dead? – Probe Ordered

PEIPING —(UP)— There seems to be a question in the minds of more suspicious people that the Japanese Mata Hari, Yoshita Kawashima, better known as "Radiant Jade" actually died with a bullet in her skull on the frosty ground of a Peiping jail yard.

A letter written by a Chinese youth has set the Hopei Supervisory Commission on the trail of what could turn out to be a top-notch postwar mystery.

A youth signing his name as Liu Feng Cheng wrote government authorities stating that his sister, Liu Feng Ling, died in Radiant Jade's place for an agreed price of 10 gold bars. Commission investigators are seeking the writer.

Hopei high court circles and Chu Wai Jen, special commission of the Peiping jail, emphatically denied the contents of the letter.

On the other hand, the supervisory Commission's clerk told the United Press that the central government in Nanking had ordered a complete investigation.

Press reports said young Lin wrote the government charging that his sister agreed to die if 10 gold bars were paid to the family. Only four of the 10 promised bars were ever received, said the youth. Therefore, he was exposing the deal.

Skepticism was cast on the authenticity of the story because the youth failed to give his address. He has not so far been located. Chu told the United Press the story was "all nonsense"

One Day in Kindergarten Enough For Jimmy

MILWAUKEE —(UP)— Five-year-old Jimmy Johnstone came home from his first day in kindergarten and approached his father with a belligerent air.

"Dad" he asked, "are you saving money to send me to college?"

"Well, yes," Johnstone replied, pleased that the youngster had taken such a sudden interest in future education.

"Then stop it," Jimmy commanded abruptly. "I'm not going."

'Love the People'

NANKING, China—(UP)— "Love the people" is the new slogan of the Chinese Army.

The Ministry of National Defense announced the launching of the new "Love the People" campaign in the army for the "purpose of promoting cooperation between the people and the army."

June will be designated "Love the People" month, the ministry said. All the ministry's organization, academics, medical units, colleges and army units have been ordered to orgaiize "Love the People and Comforting Societies" for schools, dispensaries and refugees.

Periscopic Air Sextant Boon to Navigation

Pan American World Airways is flight-testing a periscopic sextant that is expected to eliminate the astrodome, or navigator's blister, on the larger clippers now on order, the company reported.

This new device combines in one instrument the periscope, as used in submarines, and the bubble sextant, long a mainstay of airline navigators in computing position.

It is attached to the ceiling of the flight compartment and permits the navigator to get his sights without sticking his head into a plastic bubble.

Stars and celestial objects are sighted through a small tube which projects a few inches through the metal skin of the plane and can be rotated for a 360-degree view of the sky.

One of the new periscopic sextants has already been used by navigators in six trips across the Atlantic on the Clipper Paul Jones, flying from New York to Calcutta.

Navigators said the new sextant lets them shoot their fixes and compute position more quickly and more easily. Doing away with the projecting bubble of the astrodome also eliminates a five-mile-an-hour drag on the plane's speed.

Irate Night Club Workers Consume $3,000 in Merchandise

MANILA —(UP)— Because their paychecks were overdue, employes of the swank rooftop Cathay night club allegedly barricaded themselves inside the club Sunday, then ate and drank $3,000 worth of food and liquor in a day-long Roman banquet.

The night club management said the employes were led by the leader of the dance band.

Police finally took a number of the tipsy employes into custody later that night. They said only one case of whiskey and one of ginger ale were recovered.

England Building Town Of 10,000 Homes

LONDON —(UP)— Berthold Lubetkin, a London architect, is blueprinting a $50,000,000 project on his drafting board for the world's most modern town. It is one of the biggest tasks ever assigned to one man.

The new town, Peterlee, soon will be taking shape in the north part of England. Its 10,000 homes will accomodate some 40,000 miners and their families in an area where now a few small mining communities are scattered over large tracts of country.

Over 500 years ago, in the little town of Dordrecht, Holland, beer made by the De Sleutel method, was famous. It is still famous, today. In America, that method, improved across the centuries, is Van Merritt's prized secret. Only fine ingredients are used. Aging is far longer than usual—bottling under stricter controls. SPORTS SLANTS

by Joe Scarfo

One day not long ago, Dean Cromwell, USC track mentor, predicted that his ace cinder man (Pell) Mell Patton would some day break the world's record for the 100 or the 220-yard-dash.

Well that day has finally come. The slender Californian burst across the tape in the record breaking time of 9.3 seconds for the century a the West Coast relays on Saturday to nip Lloyd Labeach, ex-Wisconsin star who pressed him all the way.

The mark has been delared official and will be submitted for world recognition.

It was a little over a year ago that the sportsworld first heard of the name Mel Patton.

The slender young sprint star from the University of Southern California first attracted attention when he raced a spectacular 9.5 in the century and 20.4 in the 200, both marks a tenth of a second off the world standards.

The sophomore cinder flash gained further recognition when he ran away from Herb McKenley of Illinois to win the 220-yard-dash in the fast time of 20.4 in a dual meet between USC and Illinois last May. On May 27 (Pell) Mel equaled world record for the 100 in the California relays when he poured on the pressure to come from behind to nip Bill Martinson of Baylor and Don Anderson of California. Patton again equaled the world record of 9.4 in a dual meet with UCLA on June 3, but pulled up lame at the finish of the race and had to withdraw from the 220 that day.

With his legs still troubling him, the Trojan ace won the 100 yards in 9.6 at the Southern Pacific track and field events, but lost for the first time in 19 starts when he was nosed out by Lloyd Labeach in the 220-yard-dash.

In late June of last year, leg injuries forced Patton to hang up his spikes and withdraw from the Pacific Coast conference-big nine track meet and cancelled the anticipated rematch between him and Negro track star, Herb McKenley.

Up until his record shattering time of 9.3 in the century, Patton's best time this year was 9.5 for the distance.

North Field Loses Twice Over Weekend

North Field's Bombers, riding high on their undefeated record until Saturday, took it on the chin twice over the weekend—both times by only one run.

The 1918th EAB administered the first defeat Saturday, a 10-9 affair on the 20th Air Force headquarters diamond. Jim Crowley, the Bombers' ace pitcher and one of their three no-hit pitchers was tagged with the loss when he relieved in the fifth inning to stop an Engineer rally.

BPM Camp One took the Bombers into camp again Sunday night, 4-3, in 13 inninngs. Floyd Lewis was the losing pitcher, and Fox was credited with the win.

Acorns Split Double Header With Angels

LOS ANGELES, May 17 —(UP) Nick Etten blasted out four home runs good for eight Oakland tallies here today as the Acorns divided a Pacific Coast league double-header with Los Angeles, losing the first game 8 to 5 and winning the nightcap, 10 to 3.

Etten hit three of his round-trip clouts in the second game to drive in seven of Oakland's 10 tallies.

He hit one in the opener with bases bare.

His busy schedule for the nightcap went like this:

Second inning, smacked out one homer with no one on base. Sixth inning, made it number 2, with George Metkovich on as result of a single.

Seventh inning, with one run already across the plate, two out and bases loaded, drove a grand-slam homer into the right field bleachers. He struck out in his other trip to the plate.

Two other Oakland tallies in the nightcap came by way of a homer, in the fourth.

The double bill drew 16,545 fans to Wrigley Field.

Janiro To Meet Beau Jack

NEW YORK, May 17 —(UP)— Tony Janiro of Youngstown, O., and Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga.—ex-lightweight champion—will meet tonight at Washington, D. C., in a return 10-round bout that should feature this week's national boxing schedule.

In their only previous clash, Janiro registered a technical knockout over Brown-Skinned Beau in the fourth round when Beau's trick knee caved in at Madison Square Garden, Feb. 21, 1947.

Command entries for the All Navy golf eliminations will be accepted until Friday of this week. The original deadline was set for last Friday, but staff welfare and recreation has extended the time.

Palmer Takes Title In Philadelphia Golf Tournament

WHITEMARSH, Pa., May 17 —(UP)— Affable Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., playing with the wind and the rain in his hair, overcame a two-stroke deficit today and splashed home with a four under par 68 to win the Philadelphia Inquirer Invitation Golf Tournament with a 281.

Smilin' Johnny, two strokes down to Ben Hogan when the final round began, disregarded a beating and soaking rain to fashion a 34-34 and simply overpower the field.

Hogan Second

Hogan finished second with 285. Hogan, frequently in difficulty with a driver which steered him into the rough in contrast to his general long booming game straight down the fairway, was followed by Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, still the leading money winner of 1948, who carded 287 for third place.

Up and coming Eric Monti of Santa Monica, Calif., was fourth with 288 and PGA tournament Chairman George Schneither of Ogden, Utah, and Ky Laffoon of Chicago tied for fifth with 289. Defending tournament Champion Bobby Locke from South Africa and Dutch Harrison, of Little Rock, Ark., tied for seventh at 291.

Palmer led the field yesterday by carving a 69 round, but surrendered the front-runner spot today when Hogan scored 68 in the morning round. Johnny's 73 wasn't particularly impressive beside Ben's four-under score before lunch.

The rain began as they left the tee in the afternoon, and in the drenching downpour Palmer grew progressively better as he went headlong into a position within one stroke of the course competitive record and first prize money of $2,500.

Cardinals Win Over Pirates-6 to 5; Red Sox Take Easy Victory From Senators

NEW YORK, May 17 —(UP)— The Cardinals cashed in on a jurisdictional dispute in the Pirate outfield today to put over a big 10th inning run and a 6 to 5 victory which increased their first place margin over the idle New York Giants to a full game.

Johnny Hopp and Ralph Kiner, both members in good standing in the outfielder's union, couldn't get together on who was to take Terry Moore's high fly. While they were curtsying to each other the ball dropped safely as Ralph LaPointe raced home from third with the deciding tally. It appeared that Hopp would get the ball, an easy chance, but Kiner came rushing over and scared off Hopp. Both stopped short and the ball landed between them.

Kiner Hits Seventh Homer

Kiner hit his seventh home run and Dixie Walker got three singles to pace Pittsburgh's 13-hit attack. LaPointe, with three singles and Enos Slaughter with a double and a single led the Cards, who made 11 hits.

The Reds outslugged the Cubs in a bat bee at Chicago, 13 to 11, getting two runs in the 10th on Johnny Wyrostek's triple, Babe Young's scoring fly, Augie Galan's walk, an error by Bob Scheffing and Virgil Stallcup's single. Andy Pafko got five hits including two homers to lead the Cubs. Scheffing also hit a Chicago homer while Hank Sauer and Danny Litwhiler homered for Cincinnati. Chicago got 17 hits and the Reds 15 in the melee.

The Red Sox also sported their hitting clothes at Boston, hopping out 19 safe blows to top the Senators, 14 to 5. Veron Stephens and Birdie Tebbetts each got three hits. Eddie Yost led Washington with a single and triple, batting in three runs.

Rookie Whitely Flat tormented the Tigers at Detroit, getting a homer, triple, and double to pace the Browns to a 3 to 2 triumph. His triple, a 440-foot drive to deep center, came in the ninth after which Roy Parlee singled him home with the winning run. Bryan Stephens, third St. Louis pitcher was credited with the victory while luckless Art Houtteman was debited with his fifth straight defeat.

The Indians kept up their spectacular home run smashing in dividing a doubleheader with the White Sox at Cleveland, losing 6 to 4 in 10 innings as Chicago snapped a nine game defeat string, then winning 9 to 2.

The amazing Ken Keltner, who now has 12 homers for the campaign got today's blast in the second game.

Pat Seerey and Allie Clark hit first game homers while Joe Gordon and Eddie Robinson also got route clouts in the second game.

The New York at Philadelphia doubleheader and the single game between the Braves and Dodgers at Brooklyn were rained out in the National. In the American, Philadelphia at New York and the second game between Washington and Boston also were rained out.

Patton to Compete In Two More Track Meets This Week

FRESNO, Cal., May 17 —(UP) Gangling Mel Patton, the world's latest "fastest human," today faced an immediate and dangerous threat to his title and sensational new record of 9.3 seconds for the 100-yard dash.

The galloping southern Californian goes straight from his terrific performance in the West Coast relays here to two more duels on the "olympic grapefruit circuit" with Dusky Lloyd La Beach, the Panamanian flash who pushed Patton to the record and then later tied the world 100 meters mark himself.

The two great sprint stars match strides in a joint record assault again on Friday night in the Coliseum Relays at Los Angeles, and Saturday in the California Relays at Modesto.

Six Inch Margin

Patton shaded the tall Panama speedburner by a scant six inches in the special 100-yard duel which highlighted the 22nd annual relays here Saturday, and La Beach promised to beat Patton yet "even if I have to run 9.1 to do it."

The performances of Patton and La Beach outshone an orgy of record-breaking in the relays which saw is marks tied or broken as the west's top athletes battled for places in the Olympics.

Willie Steel of San Diego State College established himself as the top American contender in the broadjump with a tremendous leap of 25 feet 11-¾ inches, and Roy Cochran of the Los Angeles Athletic Club turned in the nation's fastest 400-meter hurdles clocking of 52.2.

Guinn Smith of the San Francisco Olympic Club, considered second only to Cornelius Warmerdam in the pole vault, demonstrated that he was recovering from a knee injury by wining the event at 14:3 feet.

Dr. Steve Seymour of the LAAC won the javelin with a 224:0-¾ feet heave.

DAVIS CUP COMPETITION

LONDON, May 17 —(UP)— Italy and Czechoslovakia today advanced into the third round in the European Zone Davis Cup eliminations.

The Italian netsters qualified to meet the winner of the Ireland-Denmark matches by eliminating Yugoslavia, 3 to 2, at Zagreb, Yugoslavia.

At Prague, the Czechs' ace, Jaroslav Drobny, and teammate Ferdinand Vrba won singles matches to down Brazil, 4 to 1.

Rookies Have 2nd Year Jinx in Major League

NEW YORK —(UP)— The sophomore jinx is one of baseball's very real superstitions and it's facing more that a dozen of last year's prize rookies as the 1948 season gets under way.

There are exceptions to every rule, but the second year in the majors usually is the toughest. The pitchers have spotted the weaknesses in the rookie hitters by that time and the hitters are catching up to young pitchers as they come around for the second year.

National League

In the National league they'll have a close watch on Jackie Robinson, rookie of the year last son of Boston, Frank Baumholtz of Cincinnati, Larry Jansen of New York and Jim Hearn of St. Louis.

American leaguers coming up for their sophomore year include Frank (Spec) Shea of New York, Art Houteman of Detroit, Bill McCahan and Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, Sam Mele of Boston and Yogi Berra of the Yankees.

The jinx already is working on Fain, a peper pot first baseman who hit. 291 for Connie Mack's A's last year. An old leg injury is keeping him out of action.

Barret Pitches Perfect Seven Inning Game

SEATTLE, May 17 —(UP)— Dick (Kewpie) Barrett, an old man of 40 summers, pitched the Pacific Coast League's first perfect no hit, no run game for 1948 today when he retired 21 batters in a row to give Seattle a 3-0 victory over Sacramento in a seven-inning finale.

Seattle won the first game of the doubleheader 8-7 to take the series five games to one.

It was the first perfect game for the gudgy right-hander who has been pitching professional baseball for more than half his life. He will turn 40 on Sept. 28 of this year.

The old-timer was never in rarer form his curve ball was outing the edges of the plate as thin as restaurant cheese as he kept the Sacramento sluggers waving at a ball that just wasn't where it should be.

Nearly 7,000 delighted Seattle fans who sat through a dismal, drizzly afternoon to watch the feat, swarmed onto the field as the last batter went down and mobbed the the town's new "favorite son."

CARRIER VALLEY FORGE HOME FROM FOREIGN WATERS — Flagship of Task Force 81, the 27,000-ton aircraft carrier Valley Forge sails up New York Harbor past the Statue of Liberty (center background) to complete another leg of the 44,000-mile voyage around the world which started from San Diego, Calif., on Oct. 9, 1947. The carrier was accompanied by two destroyers. Last port call of the task force was Portsmouth, England. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. Supports Russia For Palestine Bill

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., May 29 —(UP)— The United States announced today it would support the Russian proposal for strong UN intervention in Palestine.

Warren Austin, U. S. delegate, speaking to newsmen shortly before this morning's Security Council meeting, refused to speculate on what the American position would be if the Soviet proposal could not muster the seven votes necessary for passage.

American Attitude

Austin said it was too early to say what the American attitude would be toward the British proposal for a four-weeks cease-fire in the Holy Land war during which the flow of arms and men to Palestine would be banned.

However, an American spokesman refuted reports that the British plan had been the result of Anglo-American talks in London by saying the United States had been given no advance warning of it.

Arabs Blast Jewish Suicide Troops Out Of Old Walled City

JERUSALEM, May 29 —(UP)— King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan made a triumphant entry into the old walled city of Jerusalem yesterday to pray at the grave of his father, it was disclosed today as the battle for Jerusalem continued along a 15-mile front from here to Latroun.

Abdullah entered Jerusalem amid the roar of exploding artillery and mortar shells as troops of the Arab Legion demolished the last houses [illegible] around Latroun and Bab el Wad to keep the highway closed and starve out the Jews in modern Jerusalem.

The battle for new Jerusalem is expected to start soon. Advance units of the Arab Legion have taken up positions within the new city and units of their artillery are softening up targets there.

MacArthur Refuses Invitation to go Home

WASHINGTON, May 29 —(UP)— Gen. Douglas MacArthur today refused an invitation to come home now on the grounds that such action would be "misunderstood and condemned by many as politically inspired."

But he told the Senate Appropriations committee, which had sent the invitation, that he would be glad to return after next month's Republican presidential convention.

The committee had cabled the Allied Commander in Tokyo an invitation [illegible] foreign assistance Wednesday or [illegible]

Supporters of MacArthur for the Republican presidential nomination hoped he would accept. They thought his homecoming—the first since he went on foreign duty in 1937—in advance of the convention starting June 21 would boost his political stock.

As though replying to this thought, MacArthur said in a cablegram to committee chairman Styles Bridges (R—N. H.):

Refuses to Capitalize

"It would be peculiarly repugnant to me to have it felt that I sought to capitalize to political advantage, as many have frankly urged, the public good will which might manifest itself upon my first return to American soil following the Pacific war."

In any case, MacArthur said, he does not see in the present state of the world "such cause for concern as would render the time element one of paramount urgency."

And in view of the political circumstances, MacArthur said, much that he might tell the committee "would lose its effect under the impeaching process of doubt" to his motives.

In refusing to capitalize on his Pacific war record, MacArthur said, "countless gallant Americans" contributed to the victory against Japan. "Usurpation of such goodwill by me to serve a political end would be a shameful breach of their faith and a betrayal of the mutual trust on which was erected the cornerstone to the Pacific victory."

Schedule of Memorial Day Services

Military and naval units, veterans organizations and others on Guam will observe Memorial Day on May 31. Ceremonies will be held at the majority of the bases and the main program will be held at the Plaza in Agana.

The Guam Central Veterans Council has prepared observances at Agat at 8 a. m. and at Asan at 8:30 a. m. The main program at the Plaza will start with a parade at 9:30 a. m. and will include:

Introduction statement by Dewey "America" sung by the audience.

E. Sessions, master of ceremonies.

Invocation by one of the guest service chaplains.

Opening statement in behalf of the veterans organizations by Perry E. Miller, commander, mid-Pacific post No. 1, American Legion.

Band selection by the 1st Marine Brigade Band.

Radm. C. H. Wright, USN, deputy Commander Marianas, will introduce the guest speaker, Maj. Gen. Francis H. Griswold, commanding general, MarBe and 20th Air Force.

Closing statement in behalf of the veterans organizations by John O'Hara commander, Guam post 104, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

National Anthem.

Volley by the firing squad.

Benediction.

Naval activities under Commander Marianas will observe services at the Naval Operating Base, dock William One at 9 a. m. The program is as follows:

National Anthem by the NOB Band.

Invocation by Chaplain H. F. White.

"America" sung by all hands.

Address by Capt. L. C. Grannis, USN.

"The Navy Hymn" sung by all hands.

At the conclusion of the above, the USS PC 1546, Lieut. Ralph A. Hilson commanding, will put to sea, carrying flowers for scattering on the waters with appropriate services, including benediction by the chaplain and taps.

Services at the MarBo flag pole will begin at 8:30 a. m. and will include:

National Anthem, by the 12th Army band.

Invocation by Chaplain Robert A. Bryant.

Special music by the 93rd Engr. Const. Bn., directed by S-Sgt. Eugene T. Bivens.

Prayer by Chaplain Paul J. Schmid.

Laying of memorial wreaths by representatives of the armed services.

Taps.

Volleys by the honor guard.

Headquarters 20th Air Force and Headquarters MarAMA will conduct combined services at the ramp adjacent to the Harmon sports arena at 9 a. m. Chaplain John P. Fellows and Chaplain Charles M. Quest are scheduled to address the assemblage. North Field and North West Field will conduct their own services.

Memorial services will be held at the Protestant cemetary on Marine Drive north of Agana at 8 a. m. H. D. Harmeyer, Th. D., presiding. The program will include:

"America" sung by the audience.

Invocation by Rev. Alpha Warren, Yigo.

Special music by the Memorial Baptist Church choir.

Address by Mr. G. V. Hall, director of education.

"God of Our Fathers" sung by the audience.

Benediction by Rev. Edward Couch, Talofofo.

Decoration of graves.

The public is invited to attend any of the above services.

All traffic will be stopped in Agana and on Marine Drive for the Memorial Day parade Monday morning. The road block will extend from the U.S. Naval Cemetary to the Agana bus terminal. Leary junction will be blocked to all traffic. The road block will last from approximately 0930 until 0950.

Flood Takes 15 Lives

PORTLAND, Ore., May 29 —(UP) Portland braced today for its worst flood in 50 years as rivers fed by mountain snows forced 10,000 persons from their homes and claimed 15 lives throughout the Pacific northwest.

Roads in the flood areas of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia were busy with refugees, their personal possessions piled high on automobiles, trucks, carts or any other transportation they could muster.

Three thousand persons fled in what amounted to a mass migration from a dozen communities in the Fraser Valley of British Columbia.

Other thousands fled from lowlands within a vast arc sweeping from Canada, through Idaho and westward into Oregon.

TOKYO, May 29 —(UP)— Criminal investigation agents of the U.S. Army reported today they have broken up the biggest black market ring in the history of the occupation of Japan.

Prison terms already have been meted out to American and Japanese leaders of the scheme, which involved the procurement and sale of thousands of bolts of rayon through the use of forged Army procurement orders.

Mundt-Nixon Bill Defied by Communists

WASHINGTON, May 29 —(UP) William Z. Foster, the nation's top Communist, said today the Communist party would defy a House-approved bill to curb Communists and refuse to register.

Foster is secretary of the Communist party in the United States.

He testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee on the Mundt-Nixon bill which, among other things, would require that the party, its members and Communist front organizations register with the Justice Department.

Foster told the committee that the Communist party bears no resemblance to the "monstrous caricature" the Mundt-Nixon measure gives to the party's nature and purpose.

Before the Communist leader could testify, Chairman Alexander Wiley (R—Wis.) began reading excerpts from a book Foster wrote in 1930.

As Wiley read excerpts which told of the time when the Communist party would take over the government and liquidate the capitalistic system, the Republican and Democratic parties, religious institutions and establish the party of the "boiling masses," Foster finally exploded:

"I'd like to talk about the Mundt bill. Am I on trial here? Is this thought control? I'd like to talk about the Mundt bill instead of this nonsense."

After a heated exchange, Foster then was permitted to put into the record a prepared statement denouncing the bill.

Before the Foster testimony, Rep. Vito Marcantonio, American Labor party, N. Y., denied that he followed a Moscow-directed "line" in also opposing the bill.

Unions Protest Order

WASHINGTON, May 29 —(UP) Three rail unions today asked Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough to dismiss his court order forbidding a strike on the government-seized railroads.

They said in a brief statement that the government had no legal right to obtain any temporary restraining order against them and has no right to get a injunction.

Britain Loses in South Africa Election

CAPETOWN, May 29—(UP)—An era of South African history ended today as Jan Christian Smuts, elder statesman of the British Empire, resigned as prime minister.

Dr. D. F. Malan, leader of the anti-British Nationalist party, was to form a new government. Smuts personally and his United party had gone down to defeat in parliamentary elections which emphasized the increasing separation between South Africa and Britain.

Smuts conferred briefly with his cabinet, presumably to tell them formally that the election results had left him no alternative but to resign, and then went to Governor-General Gideon Van Zyl in Pretoria, to hand in his resignation. It was accepted as a matter of course.

Parliament Majority

The governor-general, however, asked Smuts to remain in office while Malan was forming the new government, in order to assure continuity of control of the executive branch of the government. It was believed Malan might need several days to assemble his cabinet, since the Nationalists admittedly had not expected to win a working majority.

The white-bearded 78-year-old Smuts looked old and tired as he went to Van Zyl's office, but his head was high, and he smiled as he shrugged his shoulders and told reporters:

"These things happen. What is to be will be."

The nation still was thunderstruck by the outcome of the elections held Wednesday. Even the victorious Nationalists found it hard to believe that, with the aid of their allies, the smaller Afrikaner party, they would hold a majority of five seats in the new Parliament.

EUGENE, Ore., May 29 —(UP) President Truman's private plane "Independence," bearing Secretary of State George C. Marshall, landed at the Eugene airport tonight after it had been prevented by bad weather from landing at Portland.

The Independence landed in clearing weather at 5:15 p. m. PST, after a 100-mile flight southward from Portland.

The plane had circled over the Portland airport several minutes in heavy overcast before turning to Eugene.

At the time the Independence was scheduled to put down at Portland, Commercial Airlines were grounding outbound flights.

Vote to Change Unions

WASHINGTON, May 29 —(UP) The Marine Engineers Beneficial Association (CIO) said today that its 15,000 members will vote on whether to switch their affiliation to the AFL.

President Samuel J. Hogan said the referendum will be held before the 1949 convention. He said no switch could be made until the 1949 convention authorizes such a move, provided the members vote for a change in affiliation.

Hogan, just back from the 1948 convention in Jacksonville, Fla., said the resolution authorizing the referendum was adopted by a close vote.

Reds Confuse Repatriates

TOKYO, May 29 —(UP)— Allied Headquarters in a press release today said the Japanese Communist party was concentrating its new membership drive on repatriates returning from Soviet areas.

The statement said the Communists are trying to convince the repatriates they owe their repatriation to work of the Communist party.

U. S. officials have frequently accused the Soviet Union of deliberately delaying the return of Japanese from Soviet-occupied areas, where 670,000 Japanese still are held.

Military Training -- Some Objections

EDITOR'S NOTE: In today's discussion of Universal Military Training, we shall discuss some of the objections voiced against the program by opponents of the bill. Facts and figures are compiled from Army and civilian public information releases.

The cost of UMT will be considerable, both in individual sacrafice and in dollars, but it is small compared to the cost of unpreparedness in war, and nothing compared to the cost of defeat.

UMT would yield more in maximum security for the money expended than any other plan proposed.

Secretary of War Patterson estimated before the House Military Affairs Committee that it would require a standing army of 1,750,000 to provide an M-Day force comparable to a trained pool such as UMT would provide. He estimated the budget of such a force at $8,400,000,000. Current estimates of the probable cost of Universal Military Training are less than one-eighth of this figure.

As far as interruption of education is concerned, our GI's have answered part of this question already. After lengthy interruption of their education, they are back in schools with renewed determination to learn. Experience in the Armed Forces has whetted their desire for an education. They have seen the stern side of life. They are more determined to face it courageously. They have responded with an earnestness and performance well above the peacetime average. The value of military service before entering college can well be seen in the remarkable grades made by ex-servicemen.

Wartime morals, either in the Armed Forces or in civil life, have no bearing on problems of peace time training. There was no such question in CCC training.

There is a good side to the Army also. Perhaps you have a son or a neighbor who has been in the Armed Forces. How are his morals?

Some 15,000,000 men have been in the Army. What is the estimate of their moral deterioration? Or gain? Will anyone say that the men who won the war are worse than those who stayed at home?

If Army service is conductive to loose morals, then both the public and the [illegible] must apply corrective measures. We cannot afford to have such a great and vital institution with questionable moral standards. The Army is certainly alive to this challenge, and Army leadership is doing much to remove any semblance or suspicion of loose conduct.

Under the UMT plan the cadet would be surrounded by special safeguards which could not be applied to adult soldiers overseas. His code of conduct and discipline would be recommended and supervised by a civilian commission. American parents can insist on the safeguards they feel to be necessary.

While no one questions that military power is often used for aggression by other nations, the character, ideals, and history of our own people supply the best answer to this contention. There is no evidence whatsoever in this country that any responsible group in the United States would wish to employ our forces for aggression. And certainly no one wants war—least of all the 15 million men who save served in the Armed Forces. The war veteran is your most sincere advocate of peace —he knows the horrors of war that the pacifist talks about. And the war veteran is the greatest proponent of UMT for exactly the same reason. Veterans' organizations are unanimously for it.

C-54 Training Unit Visits Harmon

HARMON AIR FORCE BASE — A C-54 training unit from Chanute Field, Ill., is now at Harmon Air Force Base to standardize flight procedures and train multi-engine pilots, crew members, and mechanics, it was announced yesterday.

The purpose of the instruction is to familiarize pilots and mechanics with the latest modifications and operational procedures for multi-engine aircraft, and to assist Air Force commands in providing on-the-job technical training for Air Force maintenance personnel. The course includes familiarization, inspection and preventive maintenance, standard and emergency operation, trouble shooting, and corrective maintenance. It is being given to officer and enlisted students simultaneously in three phases: classroom instruction, flight line and shop work, and actual flying instruction.

For purposes of demonstration and practical work, the unit is equipped with mock-ups of aircraft radio equipment, hydraulic and propeller systems, electrical wiring and connections, and engine structure cut-aways.

The unit is expected to remain at Harmon Field for six months, or until training of personnel is completed.

Shirley Temple in Circus

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)— Actress Shirley Temple complained she thought a circus was trying too hard to get into the act when it billed an elephant as "Shirley Temple."

The former baby star, now married and a mother, called her lawyer the minute she heard that Rogers Bros. circus was advertising "Shirley Temple featured with Rogers Bros. Circus," she said.

Army Announces New Medical Reserve

MARBO — A Department of the Army circular announced a new policy regarding requirements and eligibility for appointments in the Medical Department Reserve Corps.

It is the policy now to appoint persons in the Officers' Reserve Corps who have certain technical or professional qualifications which are essential to the Army. These persons do not need to have previous military experience. However, it was pointed out, they are expected to meet the minimum military training requirements already established to maintain a commission in the grade and section in which the appointment has been made.

All applicants must be over 21 years of age, second lieutenants must not be over 30; first lieutenants 34; captains not over 37; majors not over 45; lt. colonels not over 50 and colonels not over 52.

Applicants for a commission in the Medical Department Reserve must have a license to practice in their speciality.

Queen Contest Votes Soar in Second Counting

AGANA — With interest in the Guam Carnival and Fair "Queen Contest" mounting steadily each day, voting has become more extensive throughout the various districts on the Island. A second counting of votes thus far contributed keeps Miss Beatrice Calvo in the lead, with Matilde Cruz of Barrigada replacing Kuulei Johnson in second place. The standings of contestants following this second counting are as follows:

Beatrice Calvo, Sinajana	4,599
Matilde Cruz, Barr'gada	3,371
Kuulei Johnson, MKK	1,807
Maria P. Duenas, Inarajan	1,800
Barbara Bordallo, Tamuning	1,120
Carmen Macias, Tamuning	702
Maria C. Duenas, Bank of Guam	669
Isabel Perez, Sinajana	591
Evelyn Perez, Naval Govt.	559
Patty Strength, Harmon Field	266
Norma Bordallo, Tamuning	256
Rosie Macias, Tamuning	202
Ruth C. de Leon, Merizo	125
Avelina S. Quinata, Umatac	125
Josefina Martinez, Agana	60
Jeannette Gogue, Agana	53
Vicky Perez, Sinajana	45
Connie Velarde, Agana	45
Luisa Garrido, Agana Hts.	45
Connie Martinez, Agana	40
Dorothy Butler, Coca-Cola	40
Luisa Crisostomo, Barrigada	35
Frances Harmon, J. H. Pomeroy	6

It has been noted that several times in the recent voting, ballots have been cast bearing the incomplete names of contestants. Due to this fact, there have been several duplications of votes, meant for different candidates. For this reason, anyone voting for a candidate is asked to place on the ballot the complete name, with the initial, of the candidate for whom he wishes to vote.

Guam Police Urge Added Precaution

AGANA — Guam police recently investigated a robbery of a Guamanian liquor store of $250.

The police found by the investigation that the owner had left the store for about 15 minutes, during which time, the thief reached through an open window and took the money which was kept in a box under the window. No witnesses could be located.

The police department warns that there is little it can do in this type of case and that Guamanian residents should be instructed in the security of their monies, jewels and other properties.

Guam Scouts to Hold Camporee

The Boy Scouts of Guam will assemble at the Father Duenas Memorial School grounds starting Sunday morning, May 30, for the first full outdoor camporee of the entire council since August 1946. There have been others planned but they had to be postponed because of epidemics and other conflicting events. The Scout Council has cleared all agencies and the camporee will get underway early Sunday.

Events open to the general public will include the campfire program starting at 7:30 p.m. Sunday evening, the contest on Monday morning from 9:00 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and the contest and award ceremonies starting at 2 pm. Monday afternoon.

The camporee site is located in the old Sea Bee area on Route 10 (south of the Naval Government experimental farm on the west side of the road) which has been purchased for use as a seminary by the Catholic Church on Guam. Scouts will be posted at the entrances to direct visitors to the camporee area. Former scouts and scouters from the States are particularly invited.

The Island Scout Troops will begin to arrive early Sunday afternoon, and set up their unit campsites. The afternoon program will largely consist of preparations for the campfire program, and getting the unit campsites squared away. The troops are expected to set up various camping gadgets and structures, including natural shelters, and prepare for the contests which will take place Monday. They will do their own cooking, provide their own shelter, and be under their own leadership during the entire camporee.

The campfire program will be under the general direction of Eugene C. Krapf, Scout Executive, and will consist of community singing, and skits and stunts presented by each of the troops.

The opening of the campfire will be preceded by a fire-making contest in the dark, by some 50 scouts.

The Monday morning program will start with a field mass celebrated by the Very Reverend Mons. Oscar L. Calvo, council president and Scout chaplain. The Mass will start at 6 a.m. After mass and breakfast, the contest period will begin at 9 a.m. and extend to approximately 11:30 a.m. Contests in all phases of Scout activity are scheduled and will be on the basis of patrol representatives competing so as to get a maximum number of Scouts in action.

After the noon meal has been prepared and eaten, and the campsites policed properly, a series of special contests will be held including marching drills by those troops which have prepared for them, and some speed events in certain of the scout requirements. The camporee will come to a close at 4 p.m. with an award ceremony for those units which have won various contests, and for the five units which amass the greatest number of points during the entire camporee. There will be a recognition of all Scouts who have advanced to second and first class ranks since March, 1947, the date of the last general Scout get-together on Guam. The new council flags will also be presented at this time. The whole ceremony is expected to be over by 4:30 p.m.

The purpose of this camporee is to have the various troops demonstrate their ability to take care of themselves, and provide for themselves under the direction of their own leadership. This is strictly a camping event as opposed to the circus-type which it is hoped to present at a later date this year, probably in early October.

Thumbnail Sketches

(Ed. Note — This is the tenth in a series of weekly "Thumb-nail Sketches" briefly portraying the lives of Island personalities by Mr. J. C. Johnston.)

To say that he has led anything short of an experience-packed life is a gross understatement in describing Mr. Jose M. Torres.

Born October 20, 1832, he attended the public schools in Guam, and was graduated from the Juan de Letran College, Agana, during the Spanish regime.

Meets Business World

Having completed his formal education, he was married to Miss Maria Calvo Perez, and set out to meet the business world. Together, they established a retail business in the district of San Nicolas, Agana, which later resulted in a chain of thriving stores. Through hard work and a keen insight of the people's needs, his local business budded, and by 1912, he was doing a full-scale import-export with agents in Manila, China, Japan and the United States.

In his endless business endeavors, Mr. Torres built a soap and candle factory, and made marked improvements in an infant copra industry by constructing Guam's first copra drying plant.

He held his first public office in 1917, as Congressman, representing the San Nicolas District.

At the outbreak of the war with Japan, he was among the group of key merchandise distributors who were summoned for a reorganization of stores to distribute Japanese goods on a ration basis. His three succeeding years represented much work and little reward.

Excluding the time of Japanese occupation, his past twelve years were spent as Associate Justice of the Court of Appeals, Naval Government.

Mr. Torres is vitally interested in the resumption of the copra industry, better education facilities, and heartily endorses the Naval Government not only as a necessity but as a cornucopia for the rehabilitation of Guam.

It's always fun to change your hairstyle. The informality of summer days and nights at the ocean or in the mountains lends itself particularly to gay new ideas for hairdos.

Here is what is called a four-in-one hair style, because it can be changed easily to suit any occasion. To set it, the hair should be parted in the center, and a halo of large pincurls all the way around the head. For sports wear, simply brush it out, hold the sides back off the face with combs and turn the ends under page boy. For shopping or daytime wear, turn the ends up instead of under. For date wear, pull the sides of the hair up and away from the face, holding it smoothly in place with gold combs and dress the ends into a mass of fluffy casual curls. If your date calls for formal dress, then you may just prefer the "upswept look." Keeping basically the same hair-do, with the center part and sides held back with combs, sweep the ends up in large loose curls with the back of the hair lifted just slightly off the neck to give a Grecian effect. Rhinestone clips pinned at either side of the curls lend a final formal touch. It proves to be quite a clever stunt.

It appears that the long glamour bob is definitely out and taking its place is a sculptured coiffure, which hugs the head just as the new dress style hug the waistline. This new hairstyle is taken quite seriously, particularly in the eastern part of the states.

"Hat styles are determined by styles in clothes; therefore, hair styles must follow along with the hats, somewhat. Since milliners have decreed small hats for the most part the hair must be dressed to closely follow the contour of the head.

One way of doing this is to have the hair shingled in the back and the sides left about six inches long. The sides are done into shallow waves and flat curls. The back, if not cut short, may be swept to the side and held with a comb. However, you should have a well-shaped head and almost perfect features to wear this particular head dress.

In getting away from the head hugging hair-do, somewhat, and still remaining in the realm of the new style, braids and coils, which were popular just about the same time that these nipped-in waists and longer skirts were in vogue, are also once again seeing their popularity.

"How to look lovely in curlers — That's a nice trick if a gal can do it, and it can be done . . . for example, a pale blue tulle material, about a yard long, which can be pulled tightly across the forehead and over the hair, can be used. It can be tied loosely at the back allowing the two ends to fall softly over the shoulders. This same material can be used, but drawn forward from the nape of the neck, over the head, and the two ends twisted in front . . . turban fashion. No longer is it necessary to shock your husband or unexpected callers with that plastered look so inevitable with wet, set hair. The tulle forms a pretty frame for your face, and softens and flatters. It is truly so attractive that the gals have no objection to being photographed while their hair is drying something we never would have dared. Artful Marilyn Maxwell wears a two-yard length of veiling, in lovely colors to match her curls, ending in a butterfly bow over the forehead. This flattering little coif is just as utilitarian as the ever worked hairnet, and what's more it's definitely a beau catcher . . .

STRIPTEASER FINED— Striptease Lili St. Cyr tried to convince a judge her dance at a burlesque theater in Los Angeles was art and an interpretive dance of love, but he ruled it was lewd and fined her $350. A young squad officer testified she "shed practically everything," and then when she faced the audience "only her hands kept her from being nude and she quickly dropped them." (AP Photo)

Forever Ample Sundae

ST LOUIS—(UP)—A St. Louis drug store whipped up a supersize ice cream special and christened the king-sizer the "Forever Ample."

A group of youngsters, well-heeled with week-end allowances, ordered eight of the $1 confections.

As the tired fountain girl dug out the last scoop of ice cream and loaded it on the last dish, she announced: "this is forever ample for me, too. I quit."

And she hung up her apron and walked out.

GAINING POPULARITY—Bobb's Hawiians, well known MarBo dance orchestra, is rapidly becoming one of the most popular on Guam and their smooth Hawiian style of playing mixed with the latest stateside

Step Out on Wives

CHICAGO —(UP)— Margaret Healy, the only woman operating a private detective agency in Chicago, said the majority of men step out on their wives.

Twenty years as a private operative proved it to her, she said, but now that she heads the Hearly Detective Agency, she tries to help prevent broken homes.

"I wish all woman would learn as I have that men are going to step around- all men," she said flatly.

But just because the guy is flirting with another woman, it doesn't mean he's not in love with his wife, she said.

"He doesn't want to break up his home." she declared. "The grass on the other side of the fence just looks greener."

THE ROCK .... by Tom Richards

It ain't the gift a feller gits,
It ain't the shape ner size,
That suits the heart to beatin'
An' puts the sunshine in yer eyes.
It's knowing that it represents
A love both deep and true,
That someone carries in their heart
An' wants to slip to you.
It's knowing that some folks love you,
And tell you in this way .....
Jes' sorta actin' out
The things they really long to say.

ANONYMOUS

AMONG THE CHIEF ATTRACTIONS on a foreign contract is the constant meeting of people who soon become real friends. A fellow often doesn't realize that it's the friendships one forms that make a place like home. We don't especially value a home for the creature comforts there but more so for the loved ones who welcome us with a friendly smile and a cheery word and rally to our side when we are ill. Last Friday I was knocked [illegible] by my regular [illegible] Ralph Curly, manager; Nelson Brown, Bob McAffery, Joe Boyer, Vincent Grymokowski, Stanley Espinosa, John Esposo and Raymond Perras.) Many of my buddies who toil beside me at the salt mine toddled by my humble burrow to smooth my pillow or cool my fevered brow with tales of friends who have died of something very similar back in '27 or '35, Africa or South America or some such place. Nothing to get worried about you understand. 'S funny thing though about poor old Bill. One day he was perfectly normal, the next — bingo! Just like that. Quite simple. That's fate though, nothing to worry about. They buried him three hours later. The tropics y' know.... Often wondered if poor old Bill was really dead. Since that time one of the "boys" (Bill's buddies, we presume) would manage to slip in and cut the fever victim's throat just before they lowered him away. At about this point the narrator of the interesting tale would roll his eyes and give a meaning look implying that we were one of their buddies.... Yep, it surely is good to have friends.

A NINE-FOOT SHARK gave Bert Bronson, Civil Service and George Hullsick B-P-M a few exciting moments last Sunday. The boys had been spear fishing about 200 yards from shore at the lower end of the Island and were [illegible] underwater cave when [illegible] and they both looked up in time to see a large shark glide swiftly by just over their cave. They had to come up for air so each swimmer, alternately slapped the water and swam until they safely reached shore. Usually when there is one shark around there are other sharks in the immediate vicinity. Both of the men were in considerable danger because they had wounds on their bodies and blood had been spilled in the water. Incidently the day's catch consisted mostly of parrot and crumpet fish.

Hollywood Highlights

by Patricia Clary
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)—The title of the "Biggest wolf in Hollywood" has been given to actor Tom Conway.

Conway insists it's only because he happens to look like a wolf.

Actually, he says, he's a home-loving, contented husband, utterly harmless off the screen, and no more a wolf than the falcon he has played for years in the "Falcon" series.

"The biggest wolf in Hollywood" was what Universal-International producer Lester Cowan demanded for the role of Whitfield Savory, the department store owner in "One Touch of Venus," who stalks Aya Gardner, who's Venus.

Conway, they decided, fitted the character of the rich and predatory Savory even better than such conventional movie wolves as Vincent Price, Franchot Tone and Clifton Webb.

It's by far the best part to date for Conway, brother of the actor George Sanders. He changed his name when he came to Hollywood in 1939 at his brother's insistence.

A trick of fate started Conway's career on the English stage.

"I was a salesman for a safety glass company," Conway explained. "One day I tried to sell a casting director an order of glass. This man couldn't get his mind on my sales talk. He kept trying to sell me on being in his play. He said I was just the type he needed.

"I told him I had a quota of sales to make; I couldn't spend all day talking theater. So we struck a bargain: I took the part and he bought up the rest of my glass quota."

Conway is the second player in "One Touch of Venus" to epitomize his part.

Miss Gardner was chosen to play Venus because she was closest to the classic ideal of beauty.

The Anatolain Venus she depicts was a well-rounded gal. And the studio found that most other actresses were too skinny to do.

Star Scratched

PARIS, May 29 —(UP)— Patricia Cunning Todd of Lajolla, Calif., post her French International Women's Singles Championship today under circumstances which may deprive her of her berth on the United States Wightman Cup team.

The American tennis start was declared officially scratched from the tournament today after her semi-finals opponent, Mrs. Nelly Landry of France, failed to show up for a re-schedule of their match which Mrs. Todd walked out on yesterday.

It was not the first time that blue-eyed, brown haired Mrs. Todd has figured in an International tennis incident and it may not be the last.

For the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association in New York announced that while it had "no statement to make at the present," it "undoubtedly" will investigate the situation.

The dispute developed yesterday when Mrs. Todd refused to play Mrs. Landry on a side court after the match had been shifted from the center court.

NEW YORK, May 29 —(UP)— It used to be that you couldn't beat the Dodgers in Ebbets Field, but these are different time now, so after the saddest home stand in Manager Leo Durocher's career, Brooklyn went to Boston tonight and won an impressive 7 to 5 victory.

It was impressive because it was the first time that the Dodgers had beaten the Braves this year and because they mauled ace right hander Johnny Sain and three other throwers for 15 hits. The victory came after they had lost nine of 11 games at Ebbets, eight of them in a row.

The Phils were rude to Giant ace Larry Jansen, pummeling him for 14 hits and a 6 to 3 victory which was officially protested by New York Manager Mel Ott. Rookie Richie Ashburn made four hits and stole two bases to drive the Giants wild. A three-run homer by Dick Sisler in the first gave Pitcher Dutch Leonard a lead he never relinquished and Eddie Miller also contributed when Leonard took a ground ball on Verban for a force play, Verban, trying to double a runner at third, let the ball get away and Ott insisted he had not held it long enough for the force out. Sid Gordon got a Giant homer.

The Cubs put on an uphill fight to top the Reds, 10 to 8 at Cincinnati, overcoming an early 7 to 0 deficit with a five run rally in the third and four more in the sixth. The Cubs made 16 hits enough to offset four Cincinnati homers, two by Hank Sauer, and one each by Grad Hatton and Johnny Wyrostek. Sauer took the National League homer lead with 12 to date.

Rain ended a pitching battle at Pittsburgh between Harry Brecheen of the Cards and old Fritz Ostermueller of the Pirates with the score tied at 1 to 1 when festivities were called off in the sixth inning. Each hurler gave up three hits.

Don Black of the Indians won his second well-pitched game in as many starts after a delayed entry into American league competition because of arm trouble, blanking the White Sox, 2 to 0 at Chicago on hive hits. However, he walked five and needed relief help from Russ Christopher to protect his shutout. Larry Doby drove in one run with a triple and Lou Boudreau's double plus Eddie Robinson's single scored the other.

The pace-setting Athletics won their sixth straight game, defeating the Yankees, 6 to 3, as Nelson Potter pitched two-hit relief ball for five innings to gain his second victory. Johnny Lindell's homer went to waste for the loser. Elmer Valo and Pete Suder each made two hits for Philadelphia.

Gerry Priddy's single drove in Bob Dillinger with the winning run in the fifth in a 5 to 4 victory for the Browns over the Tigers at St. Louis in which Frank Biscan won his third game in a relief role. Dillinger led the Browns with three hits.

The Senators came from behind to top the Red Sox, 2 to 1, for the first time this season at Washington. Early Wynn's pinch-single in the seventh scored Garden Gillenwater from second and enabled Ray Scarborough to score his third victory.

USC Wins Track Championship; Mel Patten Sidelined

LOS ANGELES, May 29 —(UP) —The University of Southern California piled up a victory in the Pacific Coast Conference Track championships tonight although its star sprinter, Mel Patton, sat on the sidelines.

Patton's muscles tied up after the afternoon trial heats. He said didn't want to take a chance running in the cold tonight.

SC scored 47½ points, to UCLA's 41½, Stanford 38½, California 35½, Washington and Washington State 21, Oregon 9½, Montana 5, Oregon state 3½, and Idaho 1.

Patton's default opened the way to University of California sprinter Don Anderson to take an easy victory in the 100 and 220-yard dashes before 8,000 shivering spectators at Memorial Coliseum.

Craig Dixon, UCLA, smashed a pair of meet records in winning both hurdles. He clipped the high sticks in 14.1 seconds breaking the record of 14.4 seconds established by Steve Anderson, Washington, 1928, and Sam Klopstock, Stanford, 1936.

Dixon stepped the 220-yard lows in 23.1 seconds shaving 1 second off the mark set by Earl Vickery, USC, in 1939, and tied by Lee Orr, Washington State, a year later.

Roland Sink of the Trojans won the mile in 4:12.6 but did not compete in the two mile which Washing on State's Bob Selfridge won in 9:35.5.

Lou Robinson of Oregon won the javelin with a toss of 199 feet, 1 inch, shading Frank Held, Stanford, by one and one-half inches.

Industrial Takes Over First Place

The NOB Industrial Miners found themselves leading the Navy Inter-Command baseball league last night after downing the 1507 NCB Vagabonds 7 to 4 at Miner Stadium.

"Rog Kroul hurled the Miners into first place by downing Bob Kessler of the CB's with a splendid six hitter.

The league lead came about after "Lefty" Stultz Anatosio of the NavComSta Bears hurled a brilliant five-hit, 3 to 1 victory over the high flying FasRon 13 Airdale crew at Bear field.

Ranked as one of the league's leading dark horses, NavComSta jumped on "Lefty" Paul Allen for two runs in the third inning for the margin of victory. A homer by Readors in the eighth inning for the incovinceable Bears iced the game and gave the Bears a little insurance.

However, Norman Coss, ace hurler for the First Marine Brigade took highlight honors yesterday as he joind the Guam baseball Hall of Fame by hurling a no-hit, norun game against the NAD Trojans to aid the Brigade in establishing a firm hold onto third place for the Marine nine. Coss, one of the best local pitchers seen on the Island for sometime, was never in danger as the Brigade won out 18 to 0.

NY Boxing Commission Suspends Four Boxers

NEW YORK, May 29 —(UP)— The New York State Boxing Commission today suspended four fighters, including Irish Giant Jim Cully, and ruled a fifth boxer temporarily ineligible.

Cully, a seven-foot-three-inch heavyweight aspirant who recently came to this country from Tipperary, was denied the right to fight following a report from Dr. Louis A. Kaiser of Buffalo, N.Y., regarding the giants purported inability in the ring

Suspended with Cully, who was knocked out by Earl Pierce in three round at Buffalo last Tuesday, were Wally Baden, New York, Joe Martin Scranton, Pa., and John Iacovazzi, also of Scranton.

Henry (Snow) Flakes, youthful Buffalo heavyweight who recently defeated Lee Oma, was declared ineligible until doctors can examine his eye injury.

Whats Become of Yesterdays Stars

NEW YORK —(UP)— The trail to the Major leagues runs both directions and the minors are studed with old familiar names.

Ever wonder what happened to old Joe what's his name? Here are a few such Joe's and their whereabouts as the season opened in the Major leagues where once they were a part of baseball's biggest show:

Gus Mancuso, the great catcher of the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants, is managing San Antonio in the Texas league.....Burgess Whitehead, one-time giant second baseman, still is on the active list of Jersey City....Hugh Mulcahy, who was a victim so often with the Phillies that he became known as "Losing Pitcher" Mulcahy, is flinging for Memphis in the Souther Association.

Tony Cuccinello, formerly with the Boston Braves and Chicago White Sox, is a Coach at Kansas City under Manager Dick Bartell. Tony came within a couple of percentage points of winning the American League batting title in 1945, and couldn't land a Major league job the next season.

Ortiz Injurs Hand

LOS ANGELES, May 29 —(UP) —World's Bantamweight champion Manuel Ortiz injured a knuckle in his right hand during the third round of a fight with Henry Davis in Honolulu Tuesday night, his manager Tommy Farmer, reported today.

Ortiz won the fight by a decision.

"The Little Champ had to use his head instead of his hand from the third round on," Farmer said. He said the hand was not broken but that the knuckle was painfully injured.

As a result, Ortiz will return to his El Centro, Cal., ranch and "take things easy" for the next six or seven weeks until the knuckle heals, Farmer said.

Northwest Field Downs 811th EAB; Eighth Win

The Northwest Field Sunsetters climbed within one-half game of the 20th Air Force league leading North Field Bombers yesterday as they downed the third place 811th EAB, 11 to 1, at North Field.

Mort Frazer breezed along with a shutout until the ninth but was finally tabbed for his third and fourth safty of the game which spoiled his no-run performance.

"Cleve" Cleveland was the losing pitcher giving up eight hits. The Sunsetters were charged with two errors and the EAB nine committed four.

HERE'S A RECOUNT of one of the most thrilling college football games ever witnessed in the Middle West. This particular famous game was played in Columbus, Ohio, in 1935, in Ohio Stadium, between Notre Dames Fighting Irish and Ohio States Scarlet and Gray battling Buckeyes.

Sports writers everywhere, had pegged the game as a toss-up, with 6 to 5 odds, and you had your choice! Notre Dame had several potential All-Americans in their starting line up. It was Wayne Milnar at end, and Bill Shakespeare and Andy Pilney in the backfield. Ohio State had two All-Americans in their starting line-up. They were Gomer Jones at center and Inwood Smith at Guard. Seldom in modern football history, had two such common names deserved national prominence. Just plain Jones and Smith—no Yunavich, Stapanovich or Wajahowitz. Just Jones and Smith.

At the end of the 1st half, mighty Notre Dame was trailing by the unbelievable score of 13 to 0. During those first two quarters of that sensational ball game, everything, Ohio State had tried, had worked perfectly. The flawless exhibition was nothing short of all-time, All-American play, from end to end, from QB to tailback. Ohio State was in! But that was only the first half. The trailing fighting Irish trotted off the field at halftime and returned for a 2nd half ball game that paralyzed the football world.

When play was resumed, a determined Notre Dame halfback faked a line plunge, then skirted end behind a wave of interference which spread out like an open bridge hand. The Irish were going to ride herd! Shakespeare crashed thru center, Pilney skirted end, 225 pound Irish Fullback, Don Elser, mowed down anything that moved, as he paved the way for a jet propelled ball carrier who had made Notre Dames' 1st touchdown early in the 4th quarter. Score 6 to 13, Ohio State still leading.

The work-horses had been sparked! It was off-tackle, around-end, thru-the-center, another pass, another smash, and Notre Dame scored their 2nd TD, but failed to convert, and still trailed 13 to 12 only 4 minutes remained.

Notre Dame kicked-off and Ohio State advanced cautiously, hoping only to smother the ball. It seemed like certain victory for Ohio State, with possession of the ball and only 2 minutes remaining, but quicker that the next second, vicious tackling had caused Ohio State to fumble and Notre Dame recovered.

Second after second had ticked off, and the huge crowd was counting aloud every last second as the large electric clock read 30 seconds, 29 seconds, 28 seconds......the football honor of the fighting Irish was at stake...... 23 seconds, 22 seconds. There was time for only one more play, and from out of nowhere, Wayne Milnar, All American Notre Dame end, had snagged a perfect strike in the end zone, to score the winning touchdown as 80,000 screaming, hysterical fans, cut loose with the loudest moan, groan, and cheer, ever heard in the history of Buckeye football. The Fighting Irish had won. Score—13 to 13.

North Field Tops in AF Loop

North Field's bid for the top slot in the Island's baseball sportlight is its current version of the Bomber baseball team which is presently leading in the 20th Air Force summer baseball league.

Coached by Major Bill Barney, executive officer of the 514th Weather Reconnaisance Squadron, the Bomber aggregation proudly looks back on an imposing record of 47 victories out of 52 games played since its inception in the latter part of last year. The Barneymen easily captured the 20th Air Foce winter league title with a brand of diamond dazzle-dust which netted them 11 wins and one loss, the sole default coming at the hands of the second place and neighboring 811th EAB. The North Fielders standing in the summer circuit book shows eight wins and one loss. The 198th Engineers from 20th Air Force Headquarters nosed out the league leaders by a score of 10 to 9 but had previously fallen under the Bomber steamroller in the first half of league play. Not only have the Bombers outplayed and outclassed all combintions in the commnd but have branched out in out-of-league games to display their form and class to dismayed teams of Navy and Marine units, and clubs representing civilian firms on the "Rock."

Major Barney, who was a member of the Farmersville and Cartersville teams in the Kitty league in Missouri, has whipped his charges into a closely knit and well-oiled organization. Exceptionally outstanding is the formidable Bomber pitching staff which sports more no-hit and near-no-hit performances than any other combination of the Island.

Diminutive Master Sergeant Jim Crowley was the first hurler to turn the trick. His perfect game came during the winter league play against the 1918th Engineers. He repeated his remarkable feat by holding the Morrison-Knudsen and Peter Kewitt ball club hitless in an out-of-league tilt two weeks ago. The Bridgeport, Connecticut lad set a high school record in 1940 when he pitched twenty consecutive innings without giving up a single safety. In another contest during the winter league, the Bomber chucker established himself as a strike-out artist when he fanned 16 opposing batters.

Master Sergeant Floyd Lewis, of Nowata, Oklahoma, and a veteran of last year's North Field team, joined the ranks in baseball's hall of fame on Guam with his sterling no-hit-stint against ATC after narrowly missing doing the deed in two other engagements when lone hits in both games spoilco his attempt.

The third Bomber tosser who emulated his fellow no-hit pitchers with a like performance of his own was T-Sgt. Kenneth Kennedy. The lanky Pontotac, Mississippi hurler reached the pinnacle of any pitcher's mound hopes against the 31st Air Service Group.

With this combination of pitching ability, fielding and slugging power at the plate, the Barneymen look like a good bet to capture the 20th Air Force league crown.

NCAA Clarifies On Sanity Code Scholarship Rules

CHICAGO, May 29 —(UP)— The National College Athletic Association today clarified scholarship provisions of its recently-adopted "sanity code" and urged their strict enforcement.

The NCAA's constitutional compliance committee also asked the 350 members schools to report all code violations.

The committee ruled that athletes must actually perform jobs for which they are paid and that wages must be based on prevailing local rates.

The code provides that scholarships to athletes are permissible if they cover only "tuition and stated incidental institutional fees." If they are awarded for "high scholarshop," and if they are granted on qualifications other than athletic ability.

The committee limited "indirect aids" received by athletes to such items as medical attention and meals on sanctioned road trips.

Students may receive allowances to cover any actual expenses on athletic trips, the committee said.

Jersey Joe Loafs As Blister Heals

GRENLOCH, N.J., May 29 —(UP)— Jersey Joe Walcott loafed at his training camp today under doctor's orders, to give his tootsies a rest.

A blister that had developed on his right foot was treated by Dr. Nicholas R. Musulin. Dr. Musulin issued a statement that the challenger would be ready to resume boxing Sunday or Monday in preparation for his title fight with Joe Louis, June. 23.

LOS ANGELES, May 29 —(UP)— Los Angeles Ram Tackles Dick Huffman and Gil Bouley signed contracts to play with the team again in 1948.

Huffman was an All-National Football league tackle last year on his first season in professional football.

Hart, Todd Advance

PARIS, May 29 —(UP)— Three U.S. women tennis players won second-round matches today in the French International tennis championships at Roland Garros Stadium.

Helen Ribbany, Boston, defeated Mrs. D. Bocquet, Great Britain, 8-6, 6-2; Doris Hart, Miami, Fla., beat Jacqueline Marcellin, France, 6-2 8-6; and Patricia Todd, La-Jolla, Calif., overwhelmed H Borren if The Netherlands, 6-2, 6-0.

In men's first round doubles, William Robertson, Hollywood, and V. Vodicka, Czechoslovakia toppled the French pair of Rene Laval and Philip Galan, 7-5 5-7, 7-5, 8-6.

Memorial Day

by Tracey Byers

West of the sunset — out here in the vast wastes of the blue Pacific beyond the International Date Line, where the new day is born, where so few years ago men were fighting and dying, observation of Memorial Day begins its measured 24-hour march around the globe, with solemn honors to America's valiant dead.

Thousands Made Homeless; Damage Runs Into Millions; Troops Called Out

PORTLAND, Ore. May 30 —(UP)— Pacific northwest flood waters edged higher today under the impact of warm rains that melted mountain-top snows and sent them plunging into swollen rivers of the Columbia system where $30,000,000 damage was counted and 20,000 persons made homeless.

Both the Columbia and the Willamette rivers rose relentlessly in the Portland-Vancouver area. River forecasters said there was no sign that either city would be spared the predicted 30 foot levels, 15 feet over flood stage.

Col. O. E. Walsh, Portland district Army Engineer, estimated damage might go higher if turbulent streams in Washington, British Columbia, Oregon, Idaho and Montana continue their rise. He said the northwest was being dealt one of the heaviest economic blows in its history.

Rains averaging one half to one inch swamped northwestern Washington and northern Idaho, bringing a weather bureau warning of heavy melting of remaining snows.

Gov. C. A. Robins of Idaho has prepared a state of emergency in the 10 northern Idaho counties, hard hit by the worst flood in half a century. The National Guard was called out in Washington. And the Provincial Militia in British Columbia was called out to aid refugees in the flooded valleys. Coast Guardsmen were ordered into Portland to handle the expected crisis.

Slides, washouts and rain-softened roadbeds isolated large areas and forced railroads to reroute trains. A Northern Pacific train was derailed at Ellensberg, Wash., holding up both Northern Pacific and Great Northern traffic. The rear truck of the observation car on the Chicago-Seattle train jumped the track as the streamliner hit an undermined section of roadbed.

The Washington state patrol warned motorists to stay off all highways except in cases of dire emergencies.

Army engineers said they planned to open dikes between Deer Island and Globle, 38 miles northwest of Portland, Sunday to relieve flood pressure on the Portland area. The dikes already were leaking in the nearby Clatskanie area.

A 1,000 foot section of the mainline Great Northern railroad track washed out near Monitor, Wash.

Flooded waters isolated the town of Conconully in eastern Washington, about 200 persons were in the town without communication, but McChord Field said its air rescue units would drop supplies and rafts there as soon as weather clears.

Vancouver, B. C., was without direct rail connection with eastern Canada for the first time in history. Both the Canadian Pacific Railroad and the Canadian National Railroad lines were cut by floods.

Water was 15 feet deep in residential sections of Bonners Ferry, Ida., and two feet deep in some stores on the lower part of the town's main street.

Army Troops

Weary Army troops, city firemen and volunteers gave up hope of saving the only unflooded district at St. Maries, Ida., where Gov. Robins arrived to assist per[illegible] Mayor B.E. Lewis said.

Schools were closed at Ellensberg, Wash., when the heaviest 24 hour May rain on record sent the Yakima river spilling into farmlands and across highways.

The Kootenai river virtually completed its conquest of the mountain-girded Kootenai Valley, one of the richest farming sections in the northwest.

The Spokane river seeped into downtown Spokane stores and the city hall. Pumps were manned to prevent further flooding.

Grand Coulee Dam

A sudden flooding of Burke Canyon in north Idaho's Coeur D'Alene mining district tore apart a dozen homes whose occupants already were evacuated. Mining operations were suspended at the Star and Sherman mines while miners joined volunteer sandbagging crews.

Giant Grand Coulee Dam had 18 feet of water flowing over its gates. Both Grand Coulee and Bonneville, prime producers of northwest power reported power was off 30 per cent. High waters cut down the "head" or distance the water falls through penstocks, thus reducing the efficiency of generators. Voltage sagged in Portland for several hours. Red cross and other disaster units stood by for developments.

U.S. Holiday Accidents Soaring to New High

May 30 —(UP)— The Memorial Day holiday death toll mounted today as thousands of Americans flocked to vacation spots for a three day weekend.

Traffic accidents, drowning and other causes took at least 23 lives [illegible] of the first day of the holiday. This did not include six dead in an apartment house fire at Chicago.

Ohio and Massachusetts had the highest early traffic death tolls, three each.

One of the heaviest death tolls in the nation's history was predicted by the National Safety Council. The council estimated 225 persons would die in highway accidents during the long weekend.

Holiday traffic during a similar three-day Memorial Day holiday resulted in 290 deaths, one of the highest totals on record.

'Balance of Power' For World Peace; Nimitz

SEATTLE, May 30 —(UP)— Adm. Chester W. Nimitz says he is convinced that there won't be another war.

The wartime chief of the Pacific fleet told a new Navy League Chapter he believed the "balance of power" system practiced after the Napoleonic wars could give the world 100 years of peace.

"It takes a huge industrial might to wage war now days," the five-star admiral said, "and I don't think any country is in a position to muster that might."

Fleet Admirals technically never retire, but Nimitz has bought a house in Berkeley, Calif., where he said he is going to "settle down."

On Kwajalein, Guam, the China coast, in the mountains of India, along the shores of Arabia and Egypt, across Europe, and hour by hour throughout America, brightly gleaming half-masted flags mourn the dead heroes of long ago and those of the last war, our beloved relatives and friends who were killed fighting to keep America free.

Tokyo GI's End Necktie Controversy

TOKYO, May 30 —(UP)— The great necktie controversy among U.S. troops in Tokyo ended today when U.S. Army headquarters announced that officers and men could leave off their neckties except at social functions.

The controversy started a week ago when Commandant Brig. Gen. [illegible] Glendale, Calif., ordered all military personnel under his command to wear neckties in all off duty public appearances in Tokyo this summer.

The Army newspaper, Stars and Stripes, printed the announcement and added a check with the weather bureau revealed that this summer probably will be as hot as last.

Readers chuckled, but Gen. [illegible] executive officer howled that such a crack must have been Communist inspired, informants said.

After hush-hush conferences, headquarters quietly announced that it would back down, leaving only social functions for the [illegible] necktie questions.

Rear Adm. [illegible] commander of [illegible] for the 14th Naval Di[illegible] Pearl Harbor, will become Commander of the Pacific Division, Military Air Transport Service, Pearl Harbor, on June 1, for about a month.

Rear Adm. William G. Tomlinson, now in the office of the Chief of Naval Operations, has been ordered to the Military Air Transport Service here for temporary duty and then will go to Pearl Harbor in July as Commander of the Pacific Division, Military Air Transport Service.

Rear Adm. Henry S. Kendall, Commander, Carrier Division 15, Pacific Fleet, has been ordered to duty as Commander, Fleet Air, Quonset Point, R. I.

Rear Adm Frederick W. McMahon, deputy and chief of staff to the U. S. Navy representative on the United Nations Security Council Military Staff Committee, will report in July to the Chief of Naval Operations for duty.

Students at Guam Area School Eligible for Increased Benefits

HQ. 20TH AIR FORCE —A major change in educational policy at Guam area school, by which USAFI correspondence school credits will be awarded in addition to a Guam Area School (AES) certificate, was announced yesterday by School Director G. E. Rainge.

Under the new plan, which will affect nine courses in Block IV starting June 7, and eventually will include approximately half of the school's 62 courses, the student will enjoy these additional benefits:

1. Upon transfer or discharge, a student may continue a course, receiving USAFI credit for work undertaken but not completed at Guam Area School. For example, a student whose tour of duty on Guam expires in four months may wish to take high school algebra which requires more than half a year to complete at Guam Area School. Consequently under former school policy, he would leave Guam without a certificate for a class two-thirds completed. Under the new school policy, the student may complete the course for USAFI credit either by attending the remaining classes at an Armed Forces education program school at his new station or by submitting the remaining lessons by mail to USAFI headquarters, Madison, Wis. In the event that the student is discharged rather than transferred, he is permitted to complete the course by correspondence, even though a civilian.

2. The student completing a USAFI correspondence-Guam Area school course will have a permanent record of his accomplishment on file at USAFI headquarters. This feature will be of particular value to students working toward high school diplomas and to non-college trained OCS candidates and officers who must complete the equivalent of two years college.

3. The student taking a USAFI correspondence-Guam Area School course will enjoy the double benefit of a lesson plan that has proved successful for thousands of students, plus supervision of a trained instructor. Consequently, the student should be in a position to complete courses more rapidly.

GMA Society to Meet

Highlighting the Guam Medical Arts Society meeting this month will be an address by Cdr. E. L. Woolsey on "Ectopic Pregnancies." The regular monthly meeting will be held at the Officers' Club, Naval Medical Center, on Tuesday, June 1, at 4:30 p.m.

Wednesday is Beach Day at 46th Fighter Wing Base

HQ. 46TH FIGHTER WING — Every Wednesday afternoon the Thunderbolt Service Club at the 46th Fighter Wing Air Force Base becomes a scene of confusion as the weekly beach party prepares to sally forth to meet the trials and triumphs of an afternoon at Tumon Bay.

"First-timers" stare in amazement as the caravan winds its way along the scenic road to Tumon Bay. The bay is seen first from the heights about a mile away, lolling beneath the tropical sun. Two promontories, jutting out to meet the flying spray, arc gently towards one another until they merge quietly beneath the palms, whose leaves sway rythmically to the melody of a soft breeze. The water crawls up on the white sand of the beach, rests a while, and then recedes in various shades of blue and green until it is caught in the midst of the surf on the reefs.

With a final lurch, the trucks bounce to a jolting halt and men scramble off in all directions. While some spread the lunch cloth and set about getting the lunch ready for hungry appetities, several adventurous explorers don underwater goggles and begin scouring the ocean bottom for the magnificient kingdom of the coral and marine vegetation.

After lunch, some settle down to a game of hearts, while others wander off to explore the nearby caves and pillboxes.

Of course, no beach party would be complete without the camera fiend. He dashes around from group to group—a click here, a snap there—recording the day's events for his album.

And so the afternoon wears on until the slanting rays of the setting sun warns the merrymakers it is time to clamber onto the trucks and head for home.

New PX to Open at MarBo

MARBO — A new and greatly enlarged post exchange will open at MarBo Tuesday morning at 9:30 to all authorized military personnel.

The new addition will make available nearly four times the present facilities. Better display of merchandise and more comfort for the shopper are two of the most outstanding features.

The physical layout of the store, fixtures and the type of merchandise available for sale will make the MarBo Central Exchange store one of the finest stores in the Pacific. A furniture and household department has been added to the new line of merchandise offered for sale. In addition to this, a special department for women's and children's needs has been established. An enlarged photographic department soon to be opened is bound to be popular.

A completely new barber shop and beauty salon have just been completed. This new salon can easily be compared to those in the States.

Hostesses Taking Hobby Craft Courses

HARMON AIR FORCE BASE — Three Air Force Special Services hostesses from Harmon Field are attending a six-week course of instruction in hobby craft at the MarBo Service Club hobby shop. The purpose of the course is to teach Special Services hostesses to become instructors in various local hobby shop activities.

Classes began April 12, and in the remaining weeks subjects to be covered include: metal, leather, and wood work; plastics; clay modeling; radio and photography.

The Special Services hostesses from Harmon Field are Miss Doris Weston, Aero Club; Miss Grace James, Pacific Paradise Club; and Miss Mary Tolliver, Pacific Paradise Club.

400,000 MORE BABIES IN 1947

The 3,900,000 births in the United States in 1947 were 400,000 more than in 1946, a year which also set an all-time U. S. record for births.

Scenes of Guam Through Shutter's Eye

These exceptionally fine examples of the beauty found on Guam are the result of the keen photographic eye of [illegible] official B-P-M photographer.

The scenes shown above are but a few of the many to be found throughout the Island. To shutter fans craving suitable subjects and scenes to "shoot," Guam offers an unlimited variety of typical romantic "South Sea" settings.

Truman Sees Navy Out-Row Cornell--Beat Army

SPORTS SCOPE

By Larry McMahon

THE NOB INDUSTRIAL MINERS served notice last night that they are in first place in the Navy Inter-Command baseball league to stay. With only nine more games to play, the Miners feel assured of the 1948 title.

"We were seeded first as the season got under way and we started off like lightning in our first two games. Then we went into a two game slump but now have fought back to the top.

"We're here to stay."

For the first time this season, the race has suddenly taken a slight head and it now looks like the fight is on for second place and first division. With teams like the First Marine Brigade, FasRon 13, NavComSta, Fifth Service and other first division clubs, there is no doubt but what the Miners may take a couple more setbacks but so will the other top teams.

"Rog" Kroul, ace hurler for the Miners, has been the big factor for the Miners' up hill victories and is due to leave the "Rock" just before the season ends. However, "Tex" Dulaney will then take the spotlight on the mound for Industrial and has shown signs of being able to beat off the onrushing clubs.

"We have been waiting two weeks for a break such as we received Saturday when the Bears of NavComSta knocked off the Airdales. We have downed the Airdales already in league competion and are ready for anything they want to throw at us in our next encounterment—come June 9th."

The Scope will be awaitin' for June 9th and has already began polishing up its lens. It should tell whether or not the statements that Industrial players and fans have made will dome true. The game will be played at Miner Stadium and if there is any chance of getting reserved seats—act now !!

TURNING THE SCOPE STATESIDE—The Athletics are burning up the trail. They have now downed the Yankees four straight games which brings their season record to four wins and one defeat with the world champions...... Buster-ing Ben Hogan is right on the trail of Texan Lloyd Mangrum for the professional golf spotlight as far as the money is concerned......

The Buckeyes won their second big nine track title in history—their other being in 1942.... Jack Kramer has predicted that Australia may recapture the cherished Silver Mug.

The Navy Inter-Command baseball league will celebrate Memorial Day as two league games will find the 1507 Vagabonds at the First Marine Brigade and Marine Barracks at NavComSta.

Yesterday at NAS Agana All Stars downed the ComMar Hilltoppers 7 to 3 with a five run rally in the seventh.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 30 —(UP)— [illegible] brought the Navy luck today.

President Truman cruised aboard his yacht Williamsburg [illegible] U. S. Naval Academy for a day watching Navy athletes [illegible] it turned out fine for Navy. The Middies won all four [illegible] from Cornell and Beat Army 10 to 0 in baseball.

During the morning, Mr. Truman watched the Navy give Cornell its first regatta defeat of the season. The Middie shell [illegible] the mile and three quarter course on the historic Severn [illegible] win a length and a quarter ahead of the Big Red.

Navy's varsity jumped into an early lead, stretched it to a length and a half at the mile mark and then fought off a desperate Cornell rally which at one time closed the gap to three quarters of a length. But then Navy pulled away again, moving away at the finish. Navy's time was 9:54, Cornell's 9:58.5.

The president then returned to his yacht for lunch before journeying to the Naval Academy baseball park.

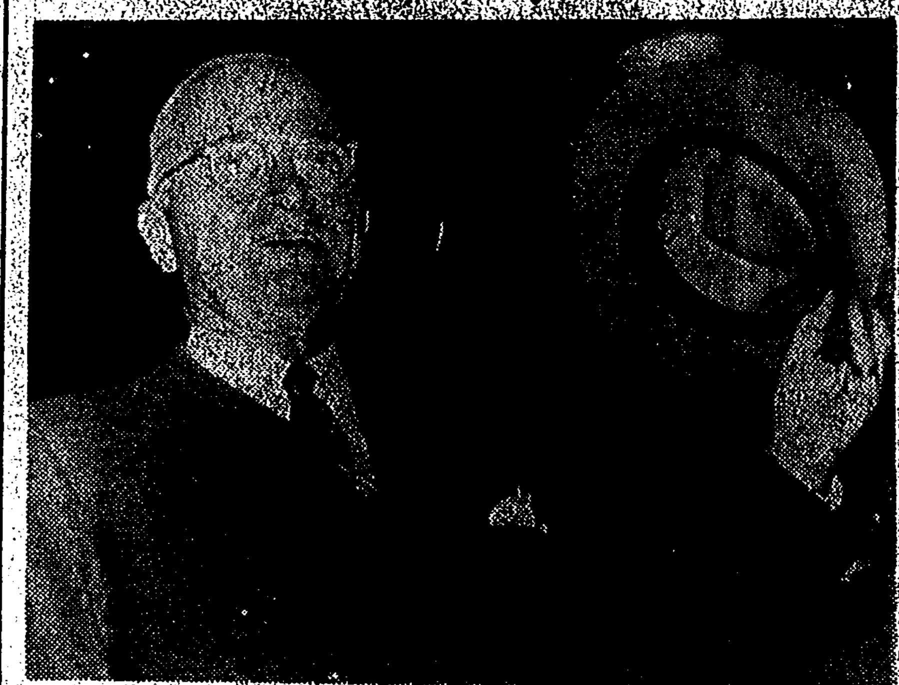
After shaking hands with the two team captains the president threw out two ceremonial first balls, one lefthanded and one righthanded.

The president kept very still and rooted fairly for both teams until a home run by Navy Captain Andrew Frahler with the bases loaded brought the president to his feet with a tremendous yell.

After the game, Mr. Truman attended a reception at the home of Rear Adm. James L. Holloway Jr., Academy superintendent, before boarding his yacht for the overnight cruise back to the White House.

Mr. Truman described the Navy-Cornell crew races as "the most exciting I've seen in years." Asked how he liked the game, the president said, "fine, fine. I enjoyed it immensely."

President Truman—Navy's Rabbit Foot



Cleveland Beats White Sox; A's Win

NEW YORK, May 30 —(UP)— Right-Hander Bob Lemon, whom Cleveland Clubowner Bill Veeck said would win 20 games this season, didn't allow his boss' prediction to sour today as he white-washed the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 0, for his sixth victory of the year.

It marked the 27-year-old Lemon's second consecutive four-hit shutout and gave him a string of 23 scoreless innings pitched against the opposition.

Cleveland got to Bill Wight, Chicago's southpaw starter, for two runs in the fourth and clinched the contest with two more tallies in the ninth. The Indians' triumph was marred somewhat when Cleveland Outfielder Thurman Tucker was hit on the index finger by a ball, which it was feared, might have broken a bone.

Despite the victory, Cleveland remained a full game behind the pace-setting Philadelphia Athletics, who beat the New York Yankees 6 to 5.

The Athletics scored their seventh consecutive when Buddy Rosar's hit-and-run single scored Sam Chapman from first base in the eighth inning. Bill (Bullfrog) Dietrich, bespectacled right-hander who relieved rangy Dick Fowler in the sixth, was the winner. Southpaw Joe Page, who rescued Allie Reynolds in the same inning, was the loser. Hank Majeski of the Athletics and little Phil Rizzuto of the Yankees each hit homers.

Zach Taylor's St. Louis browns moved into fourth place by downin the Detroit Tigers, 6 to 1. Three Brownie pitchers—Sam Zoldak, Al Widmar and Bryan Stephens—limited the losers to a total of three hits with Widmar gaining credit for the win.

Washington made it three in a row over the fading Boston Red Sox, sweeping a double-header, 5 to 4, and 7 to 6.

In the National league, Thornton Lee, 40-year-old southpaw, snapped Philadelphia's four-game winning streak by pitching the New York Giants to a 7 to 1 triumph. Lee struck out six, yielded seven hits and gave up the only run in the first frame on Rookie Richie Ashburn's inside-the-park homer. The Giants clinched the game with four runs in the fifth. Sid Gordon homered for the winners with two on in that frame.

Pittsburgh moved into third place by beating the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals, 7 to 8, behind the five-hit flinging of Rookie Bob Cheanes. George (Red) Munger, charged with the defeat, suffered his first setback at the hands of the Pirates since 1943 during which time he beat them 11 successive times.

Ewell Blackwell, making his first round appearance since May 7, pitched air tight relief ball to insure Cincinnati's 4 to 3 triumph as Blackwell took over for Southpaw Johnny Vandermeer in the eighth after home runs by Danny Litwhiler and Virgil Stallcup had given the Reds their lead.

The Brooklyn Dodgers defeated the Boston Braves 3 to 1 tonight in a game before 27,703 Beantown customers that was held up for 27 minutes in the fourth inning by rain.

Ohio State Big Nine Track Champions

MADISON, Wis., May 30 —(UP) —Favored Ohio State walked off with the 48th annual Big Nine Track Championship here today, but Minnesota's fortune Gordien stole the show with a new American Collegiate record of 178 feet 11-½ inches in the discus throw.

The Buckeyes scored 53 and one third points to win. It was Ohio State's second track championship in the history of the meet.

Michigan finished second with 36 points but was trailed closely by defending champion Illinois with 35 points. Minnesota finished fourth with 29 while other point totals were: Indiana, 28; Wisconsin 19 and one third; Northwestern, 18½; Purdue, 4½; and Iowa 1 and one third.

Gordien's record breaking toss surpassed the old American Collegiate and NCAA record of 174 feet, 8¾ inches set by Archie Harris of Indiana in 1941.

Michigan's Charley Fonville turned in the only other record breaking performance when he hurled the shot 56 feet, five inches.

NSC Beats Agana; Fifth Service Wins

[illegible]

The NSC Storekeepers were the second team to triumph over the Agana nine this season as they downed the league leaders 8 to 1 at Agana. Jack Devore hurled a neat five-hitter while his teammates were banging hits and ties off losing pitcher "Willie" Wilson.

The highlight of the game was a home run by Al Alcorn, shortstop for NSC. The Agana crew committed one error against NSC's perfect fielding day.

In another softball tilt, the Fifth Service Marines defeated the NavComSta club 8 to 3 at NavComSta's 12th defeat of the season against 11 wins.

SEATTLE, May 30 —(UP)— The University of Washington varsity crew swept to an easy five length victory over Wisconsin University varsity in a two-mile race on Lake Washington here today.

Thousands Homeless, Columbia Dike Breaks

PORTLAND, Ore., May 31 —(UP)— Nineteen thousand men, women and children fled in panic tonight when the Columbia River broke through a dike and destroyed Vanport City, Ore., with a surging wall of water that was feared to have taken a heavy toll of lives.

Dr. F. Sydney Hanse, Multnomah County health officer, said he feared the number of dead in the sudden flood disaster may reach into the hundreds.

[illegible]

[illegible] or flooded. Wreckage of crumpled homes was jumbled in clusters like kindling.

Terror-stricken residents, caught with only a moment's notice in the late Sunday afternoon, fled as best they could. Parents carried babies in their arms. A few bundled together precious belongings. Hundreds had only time to run for their lives with the clothes on their backs.

Highways were choked with dazed, bewildered evacuees.

Gov. John H. Hall called out a portion of the Oregon National Guard to guard against looting and assist in the monumental task of emergency flood relief.

The catastrophe developed swiftly, almost without warning. The Columbia, bulging at it highest mark in half a century, suddenly crumbled a dike near Smith Lake and poured countless tons of muddy, spring-thaw waters upon the neat rows of war project housing units.

The dike gave way rapidly under the impact of the river torrent. It spread into a gap of 200-feet.

Refugees told of seeing persons "disappear under the water."

Truman Plans Program

WASHINGTON, May 31 —(UP) President Truman is laying the ground-work for a campaign based on failure of the Republican-controlled Congress to approve his social and economic program.

He is doing it through a series of demands which, as a veteran of many adjournment-dates in the Senate, Republicans claim he knows will not be fulfilled before the scheduled June 19 closing of the present session.

Within the last two weeks he has made special requests for passage of a long-range farm program, bigger and better social security, a higher minimum wage law and federal aid to education.

NANKING, May 31 —(UP)— Yu Yu-Jen, who was defeated in the vice-presidential election last month, announced today he definitely is not running for the presidency of the Control Yuan next month.

Yu, president of the old Control Yuan for over 10 years, said he also had resigned as a member of the Yuan.

Chinese Reds Reported Crossing Yellow River

NANKING, May 31 —(UP)— Six Chinese Communist armies were reported crossing the Yellow River for a full-scale campaign to recapture the whole of coastal Shantung province.

The move was reported by semi-official Nationalist government sources, which warned that the Nationalist position in Shantung faced its most serious threat since the start of the civil war.

The reports said that an entire Communist army had completed the crossing operation and was moving into Yungcheng in southwest Shantung. Three other Red armies were massed near Tussukuo, Fanchiachen and Taian, south of the provincial capital of Tsinan.

The situation was reported particularly serious at Taian. Some of the government's non-combat administrative personnel already have been evacuated from Tsinan.

War Scare Alerts Defense Forces

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 31 —(UP)— Defense forces here were alerted and border precautions were redoubled today as result of a "war scare" yesterday which caused the arrest of 225 alleged Communists and the discovery of a large cache of submachine guns.

The roundup of Communist suspects and the search which disclosed the hidden weapons were ordered as the result of the appearance of a fighter plane, believed to be Nicaraguan, over Costa Rican territory.

The plane bore the identity symbol GN-11, believed to be the marking of the Nicaraguan National Guard. It was first sighted over the Atlantic port of Limon about 2 p. m. During the next two hours, it was reported at various points, and about 4 p. m. it appeared above San Jose and circled for some time.

The revolutionary regime headed by Gen. Jose Figueres, fearing that the appearance of the plane might be the signal for an attempt by Costa Rican Communists to overthrow the three-week-old government, immediately ordered the arrest of all San Jose's known Communists.

Partly cloudy with occasional moderate showers. Moderate easterly winds.

Yesterday's temperature: Max. 85 Min. 78.

Yesterdays rainfall: 0.47 inches.
Rainfall for month: 3.99 inches.

Headline Highlights

RALEIGH, N. C., May 31 —(UP)— Former Gov. Melville Broughton took a strong lead tonight in his bid to replace William B. Umstead as U. S. Senator from North Carolina as returns mounted in the primary election.

NANKING, May 31 —(UP)— Former Premier T. V. Soong disclosed today $20,000,000 has been set aside from the American Aid Program to restore the vital Canton-Hankow railway to its prewar capacity.

According to reports from Canton, Soong made the disclosure at a press conference.

OBAN, Scotland, May 31 —(UP)— Miss Unity Freedman-Mitford, who was Adolf Hitler's idea of a "perfect Nordic beauty," died in an Oban hospital Saturday night, authorities disclosed today.

Unofficial reports said she died from meningitis of the brain as a result of the mysterious bullet wounds she received in Munich sometime after the war broke out and which caused her to return home on Christmas day, 1939. Her family said she shot herself, but her own story, never came out.

Israeli Troops Continue Village Conquests

TEL AVIV, Israel, May 31 —(UP)— Israeli columns sweeping southeast and southwest across the plains of Armageddon yesterday captured five villages near the northern apex of the Arabs' dangerous triangle in central Palestine, Haganah announced early today.

In New Jerusalem, the "zero hour" for a purported Arab artillery and poison gas attack passed almost without incident. A Jewish spokesman earlier had said that Arab legion command reports indicated plans to seize the main part of the city in two separate attacks. The first was to begin [illegible]

Reds Foresee Czechoslovak Victory

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 31 —(UP)— Czechoslovaks will choose 300 members of parliament tomorrow in a "single list" election which is bound to result in victory for the Communist-dominated government.

Ministry of Information officials will take correspondents on a tour of voting places in Prague, but otherwise there will be no foreign observers.

(Nine members of the Czechoslovakian embassy in London resigned today to protest the manner in which the elections are being conducted.)

Some Czechs still are trying to figure out a way to avoid voting the Communist ticket. All the candidates have been approved by the Communist-run Central Action Committee, and no matter how many—or how few—votes they get, the government wins.

Those opposed to the government will cast blank, or "white" ballots. Prague stores reported large sales of pictures of President Eduard Benes. Some Czechs said they would place the pictures in the ballot box and throw the "white ballot" away in public. Others have said they will put pieces of toilet paper in sealed envelopes and then put them in the ballot boxes.

Rhee Named Head of So. Korean Assembly

SEOUL, Korea, May 31 —(UP)— The American-sponsored South Korean Assembly convened for the first time today and quickly elected hard-fisted, 73-year-old Synghaman Rhee as its chairman.

Rhee, who is pledged to speed the formation of a South Korean Army able to defend itself against the Communists, received an overwhelming majority of 188 votes to nine. The remaining votes were divided among four other assembly members.

Deaths neared the 200 mark as only a few hours remained of the second day of the Memorial Day weekend today.

At least 188 people had been killed in holiday accidents. Traffic mishaps took the lives of 102 persons; 23 died by drowning, and miscellaneous. Other causes killed 63 more.

California maintained the lead in fatalities with 21 dead. Illinois had a total of 20, New York, 10, Ohio 13, and Michigan 10.

A flood disaster at Vanport, Ore., where the flood swollen Columbia River burst through a dike trapping many persons promised to be the worst tragedy of the week-end although its toll would not be reflected in the list of holiday accidental deaths.

Europe Realizing Aim Of ERP; Hoffman

WASHINGTON, May 31 —(UP) European-aid Administrator Paul G. Hoffman said tonight that Europe is becoming more and more convinced that the recovery program is just what it purports to be and "doesn't have any ulterior motives."

Despite Communist propaganda that the United States is trying to get an economic stranglehold on Europe, there is growing belief there, Hoffman said, that we are interested only in putting Europe back on its feet.

"We have a sense of urgency about this program," Hoffman said in an interview. "We want to get in an get out as quickly as possible. I want to be out in four years."

Bishop Baumgartner Leaves For States

Agana, May 31 — His Excellency, the Bishop of Guam, Bishop W. Baumgartner, left Guam this morning for the states with two priests going home on vacation, and two Chamorro boys going to the states, one to study for priesthood and the other to join the Brotherhood.

Father Cyril, from Yona, and Father Paul, from Tamuning, are going home for vacations after spending more than three years on Guam. They will return after their vacations.

To Perform Marriage

Brother Francis Camacho, formerly from Barrigada, left with the Bishop to enter the Brotherhood in Detroit. Vincente Pangelinan, from Saipan, left for New York, where he will study for priesthood.

While in the states Bishop Baumgartner plans to perform the marriage ceremony of Bill Holtz, an American lawyer formerly on Guam, who pleaded the war damage claim of the Catholic Church of Guam. Bishop Baumgartner also plans to have a general physical checkup while in the states.

Change of bus fares — Effective Thursday, June 3 the present zone system of fares for the Guam Bus Lines will be discontinued and a straight 15 cents fare will be charged for all passengers except those riding on the Umatac run who will go beyond the Talofofo bridge. In which case there will then be an extra ten cents charge.

This charge is being made in order to avoid inequalities of fare for those persons who cross the present zones and to simplify the fare collection system.

New Security Loan Gets Underway at MarBo

MARBO — A drive known as the "security loan" is under way in this command. According to treasury officials this drive will have a dual purpose; it will create greater individual savings and national security through increased savings and thus help to prevent inflation.

The purchase of series "E" Bonds is to be stressed, particularly through pay reservations and allotment plans. It is hoped that all personnel here, military and civilian, not at the present participating in pay reservations or allotment plans be notified of this drive.

The personnel officer of each unit has been designated the savings officer for the unit. Major E. B. James, personnel officer in the office of the Adjutant General has been named chairman of the drive. In offices where there are civilians employed, the civilian personnel coordinator will be designated savings officer.

French Youth Receives Free Hospital Care While Posing as Ex GI

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(UP)— A French youth faced almost certain deportation home today but congratulated himself that he is returning much healthier than when he left.

Jean Antoine Navarette collected $15,000 worth of free medical treatment at government expense while he posed for two years as an American ex-GI.

"I love this country," Navarette said. "I am lucky to have had a chance to live in the United States and receive medical care I couldn't have gotten anywhere else."

He was jailed on federal fraud charges when the Veterans Administration and Army records finally caught up with him at Whipple Veterans' Hospital, near Prescott, Ariz.

The 24-year-old Frenchman was receiving expensive, highly specialized tuberculosis treatments at the time.

Navarette said he got tuberculosis when, at the age of 16, he was sent to a German concentration camp in Frankfurt and worked 18 and 20 hours a day.

His home was destroyed in the war and his parents killed, he said. No French hospitals had room for him.

V-12 Officers to be Released on Schedule

Approximately 700 Naval Reserve Medical and Dental officers, who had been advised of possible retention on active duty beyond their eligible dates of release during June and July, are now being informed they will be separated not later than originally scheduled.

About 200 of this number are medical officers on duty with the Veterans Administration, who will be authorized early separation by the amount of the accrued, but unused, leave standing to their credit.

Other Naval Reserve Medical and Dental officers, in this V-12 group who are serving two-year obligated terms of duty, will be released to inactive duty as scheduled.

Fight Water Shortage

Four new water storage tanks have recently been constructed at Harmon Air Force Base by the 2319th Engineer Aviation Company. Each of the tanks has a 200,000 gallon capacity.

The tanks, which will be completed by June 15, are expected to alleviate present existing water shortages in the evening and early morning. They will be used to store water for use by ATC, Mar-AMA, and Twentieth Air Force here at Harmon Field.

At the present time the tanks are being painted and pipes are being laid to connect with the water distribution line. The work is under the direction of Lt. George Fink and [illegible] Willis Stevens.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Senate has confirmed the promotion to major general of William T. Clement, Director of the Marine Corps Reserve to fill the vacancy recently created by the retirement of Major General Ralph J. Mitchell, Marine Corps, Headquarters announced today.

General Clement served on Bataan and Corregidor during the first months of World War II, participated in the Okinawa Campaign toward the end of the war and commanded the Fleet Landing Force at Tokyo Bay in the occupation of Japan. After the war he commanded the Marine Forces at Tsingtao, China.

GI Sex Determining Schools Checked By U.S. Government

WASHINGTON —(UP)— The Veterans Administration today began checking tuition rates of schools teaching ex-GI's such subjects as bartending, chicken-sexing and rabbit-breeding.

Effective July 1, the VA will require certain schools to sign contracts covering tuition rates and showing that the institution is providing a legitimate course.

These contracts must be signed before the VA will permit the schools to collect tuition fees under the GI Bill of Rights. They will be given 30 days' written notice before the rate contracts are required.

Schools affected, will be those established since adoption of the GI bill and those whose charges have increased substantially since the GI bill went into effect.

They are mostly privately operated profit schools. Some private, non-profit schools will not be affected.

A VA spokesman said passage of the GI bill brought about a great increase in the number of private schools teaching everything from determining the sex of baby chicks to how to be a filling station attendant.

Outside World Changes After Years in Prison

CHICAGO —(UP)— Robert Webb, 60, stared at the hurrying crowds and giant buildings in Chicago's Loop today and couldn't believe what he saw.

Webb was known as Chicago's first automobile bandit. But the automobile traffic he saw today was almost more than he could face.

[illegible] he has not seen the outside world since he went to prison in 1914.

Webb killed a policeman who was trying to arrest him in his hideout on a charge of automobile theft. He was sentenced to life imprisonment, but was released yesterday on parole.

Origin of Royal Family Determined By Emperor Hirohito's Ears

TOKYO—(UP)—The position of Emperor Hirohito's ears may prove that his imperial ancestors were East Indians, an Indian scholar suggested today.

Chaman Lal pointed out that the Mikado's ears are below the line of his eyes, in the same manner as the ears of the Shakadynasty of India. He claimed this was no more coincidence but another link in the anthropological chain between the Japanese imperial family and their Hindu origin.

The ears-below-eyes theory is not Lal's but that of an 87-year-old Japanese scholar named Rintaro Nagasawa whom Lal met last week.

Nagasawa told Lal he published a leaflet on Hirohito's family tree several years ago for which he almost went to jail. He was accused of affronting the imperial family.

"I since have found out that the physiognomy of the members of the imperial house has something in common with that of some In[illegible]," Nagasawa wrote. "I [illegible] there still [illegible] prefecture on [illegible] of Kyushu Island [illegible] whose physiognomy is very much like that of the imperial members. The latter differ from Japanese of Mongolian origin, whose ears are higher than the line between their eyes."

Nagasawa traced Emperor Hirohito's ancestors coming from India via Changhai and Mongolia and "planting the paddy" in the great Chinese Basin between the upper reaches of the Yangtze and Yellow rivers.

Lal, who spent three years in Japan before the war, said the presence of Orthodox Hindu gods in Japanese shrines convinced him of pre-Buddhist relations between India and Japan.

The commissioner of Indian affairs will have to consent to the adoption, attorneys said. Rogers and his wife have no children.

32nd Annual 500 Mile Speedway Starts Today

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 —(UP) Throttles gunned to "rewrite the record book," 33 cars were primed tonight for tomorrow's 32nd annual running of the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway Auto Race, a $75,000 plum for danger dogs.

Speedway President Wilbur Shaw, himself a three-time winner of the classic, flatly predicted a raft of new records. "They'll rewrite the record book," he said. "I expect the winer to average about 120 miles an hour."

Most of the drivers echoed Shaw's comment, and Duke Nalon, one of the favorites, anticipated a 123 mile per hour average.

But everybody agreed that the 117.200 mile per hour record which the ill-fated Floyd Roberts set when he won in 1938 would be far surpassed.

This year's field of 33 starters qualified at the highest average speed in history. The slowest starter will be Johnny Mauro in an Alfa Romeo which averaged 121.790 for the 10 mile qualifying run. From that speed the starting cars ran up to 131.603 which Nalon established in a Novi special.

Rex Mays was the second highest qualifier, traveling 130.577 for four laps on the opening day of qualifying to seize the pole position.

Logically Nalon and Mays were two of the top favorites. In fact Mays has said he intended to lead the race for the first 50 laps, then lay back until the final 100 miles when he expected to come on and finish first.

But three other drivers, National Champion Ted Horn, defending speedway winner Marui Rose, and Bill Holland, 1947 runner-up to Rose here, were also given excellent chances to win.

Northwest Names Ping Pong Champs

Finals of the Thunderbolt Service Club at Northwest Field were held Friday night with Floyd Bythiner and Paul D. Cummings winning the round robin affair.

Bythiner, former title holder of the ping pong championship at Tyndall Air Force Base, Florida, and Cummings took top honors and now represent the 46th Fighter Wing in further meets. Tonight they will play at the Aero Club at Harmon Field in competition with 16 others representing the best Air Force pinpongers on the Island. The winners of that joust will play the officer champs.

Giants Win; Bucs Take Two

NEW YORK, May 31 —(UP) It was hard to determine in the American league today just who stood in the spotlight. The arguement is between Early Wynn of Washington and Nelson Potter of the A's.

Wynn hurled a neat two-hit, 8 to 1, victory over the fading Boston Red Sox for his fourth win of the season and gave the BoSox their 11th defeat against two victories on the road. Gil Coan was the big man at the plate with a double, single, and homer.

Nelson Potter was the hero in the eyes of the Philadelphia Athletic's as he came into the first game in the tenth inning to halt a Yankee rally and give the Athletics a 7 to 6 triumph. It was the third straight victory for the A's over the Yanks and the eighth consecutive win of their current victory string. However, it was Vic Reshi of the Yanks who halted everything for the A's in the "so-called gyp nightcap" as he hurled the Yanks to a 2 to 1, five inning victory. Rain stopped the game at the end of the fifth with a fine pitcher's duel between Raschi and Bob Savage. Both had given up three hits.

The White Sox, who had gone 28 innings without a run, rose up to beat Bobby Feller with a four run ralley in the sixth which gave them a 4 to 2 victory over Cleveland, but the Indians came back to win the second game, 13 to 8, with a nine run rally in the eighth. Bob Lemon, who now has a string of 26 scorless innings, retarded the Chi-Sox in two relief innings to score his seventh victory—tops for the majors to date.

The Tigers regained fourth place by two percentage points, with a 6 to 4 win over the Browns at St. Louis. Hal Newhouser gained his fourth victory in the 11 inning affairs giving up 12 hits.

MADISON, Wis., May 31 —(UP) The Big Nine today turned down an application by Michigan State College for entrance into the conference.

BRUSSELS, May 30 —(UP)— Cyrille Dellannoit of Belgium, new European middleweight champion, was uncertain today whether to go to the United States and challenge for the world title.

NEW YORK, May 31 —(UP)— In what must have been their hottest day since the invention of horse-hide, the Pittsburgh Pirates spent tearing it off baseballs today and at the same time deflating the myth that the St. Louis Cardinals are a "super team."

The bopping Bucs topped the Cardinals in both ends of a double-header 9 to 3 and 7 to 6, and moving to within a game and a half of first place in the National league as they completed a sweep of a three game series.

In the opener Wally Westlake got two homers and two singles, driving in three runs as Kirby Higbe pitched one-hit relief ball for four innings to gain the victory. Ed Stevens and Clyde Kluttz also homered for the Bucs as Howie Pollet lost his first game after four victories. Ralph Kiner's two run homer in the seventh inning of the second game provided the wining margin; although Westlake got his third round tripper of the day and Stevens a triple—with the bases loaded—to keep Pittsburgh flying high. Pinch-Hitter Ron Northey and Relief Pitcher Gerry Staley hit Cardinal homers.

The Giants moved to within half a game of the Cardinals with an easy 10 to 4 victory over the Phils at New York. Bobby Thomson and Whitey Lockman hit Giant homers and slow, uncertain fielding was responsible for most of the other runs as Clint Harting scored the win, his first this year in a starting assignment. Dick Sisler and Eddie Miller hit Philadelphia homers.

The Reds downed the Cubs, 6 to 1 and 8 to 3, with home runs the big help in each instance. In the opener Grady Hatton's grand slam homer broke up a pitching battle in which Kent Peterson got the decision over unlucky Johnny Schmitz of the Cubs. In the second game Ted Kluszewski's three run homer in the [illegible] five-run rally which gave the Reds their margin. [illegible] Phil Cavarretta hit a second inning homer for the Cubs.

Fifth Service Stages Intra-Squad Smoker

NSC's boxing team failed to show for its dual meet with Fifth Service last night, but the crowd at the Punch Bowl was treated to an intra-squad smoker with six boxing bouts and one wrestling match.

The proposed bout between Jesse Aguon and Willie Carter fell through as a result of NSC's absence, but Aguon put on an exhibition with Tom Scribner.

CIO Accuses Corporations Of Concealing Huge Profits

WASHINGTON, June 1 —(UP)— The CIO accused big business today of covering up huge profits with "smokescreen" propaganda as an excuse for advocating lower wages.

In its monthly economic outlook, the CIO said that corporations recently have begun to admit to huge profits, but say that much of these profits is not real.

The CIO attacked this claim. It said that profits obtained through [illegible]

[illegible] funds for such purposes have traditionally been obtained from floating stock and bond issues.

"There are more savings available for investment purposes today than ever before in all history," the CIO said in reply to this. "Far from having a shortage of capital, we are literally swimming in it."

It said corporations are urging lower taxes and higher profits to encourage "additional incentives" by investors, but asserted that "the real reason people with money are not flocking to the stock market is because they are afraid of another depression."

"What the corporations' proposal amounts to, then, is that workers should accept a lower wage and a lower standard of living because people with capital don't have enough faith in these corporations' future to invest in stocks."

Navy Liberty Boat Swamped by High Seas

NORFOLK, Va., June 1 —(UP) A liberty boat loaded with Navy personnel returning from their last night on shore before heading for the Mediterranean was swamped by raging seas tonight in Hampton Roads.

Navy spokesmen said the liberty boat had a capacity of 90 men and was probably completely filled when it overturned.

All available craft in Norfolk Harbor, including ferry boats, were ordered to the scene, nearly a mile off Old Point Comfort in Hampton Roads. Officers said all personnel at the Norfolk Naval Base was alerted.

Commander Wilson Starbeck of Fifth Naval District Headquarters said some of the men had been reported picked up.

Radford Defends Large Navy

PHILADELPHIA, June 1 —(UP)— Vice Adm. Arthur W. Radford, vice chief of Naval Operations, struck out today against the "reckless" argument that the nation no longer needs a powerful navy.

Addressing a Naval Reserve rally at Franklin Field, he said there was no denying that "this is the air age."

But, he added, the great carrier task forces of World War II showed that the fleet has a vital role in modern warfare—both in assuring the flow of supplies for the war machine and to keep the "ravages of war from our homeland."

"Air power," he said, "is indeed our first line of defense; air power in its offensive sense which can be projected against the enemy from carriers that exploit to the fullest the combined range, power and mobility of ship and plane."

In the past, Radford said, this country too often has allowed "reckless" disarmament to weaken its naval strength.

"Five times," he said, "we have had to regret the rashness of too extensive disarmament and fight a defensive war until our sea power was restored... The lessons of history are written in the blood of our patriots. They cannot be ignored."

Turning to manpower problems, Radford said the Navy would try to put 1,500,000 men and women in uniform within three months after the outbreak of another war. In World War II, he said, it took 18 months to expand from 83,000 men to more than 1,500,000, but "this would be too slow for a future war."

He urged immediate expansion of the Naval Reserve to 965,000—its authorized peacetime strength—and said about 300,000 empty billets must be filled to meet "the Navy's minimum requirement for national security."

NANKING, June 1 —(UP) Chinese pickpockets prefer prison to reformatories or social relief camps because they get more to eat in prison.

Reports continued to reach Nanking that pickpockets in other Chinese cities who surrendered to police walked back to their old professions when police told them they could go only to reformatories or relief camps, not prisons.

The reports said the pickpockets surrendered because they found it hard to earn a living in the streets.

Lewis to Exhaust UMW Welfare Fund Before June 30

WASHINGTON, June 1 —(UP)— John L. Lewis tomorrow begins a 30-day spending campaign which will exhaust the United Mine Workers 1946 welfare fund by July 1.

The UMW contract providing legal authority for fund expenditures expires at midnight June 30 and Lewis has announced that he is taking no chances of having any balance "frozen."

UMW officials refused to say how much is left in the fund. It was raised by a five-cent royalty on every ton of coal mined during government operation of the mines from May 29, 1946 to June 30, 1947.

Chiang Appoints First Constitutional Gov't

Jewish Coastal Area Split by Powerful Arab Legion Attacks

TEL AVIV, June 1 —(UP)— Arab reports said today that Iraq army units from the Tulkarm area have driven westward to the sea, splitting the Jewish coastal area claimed by the newborn state of Israel.

Israel sources were silent on the Arab claims, but a late Israel communique reported heavy air attacks against the Iraqs in the Tulkarm area some 22 miles northwest of Tel Aviv.

The Iraq attack toward the coast, launched late last week, was reported Saturday to have reached within six miles of the coast in the area of Natanya, Jewish diamond cutting center 17 miles north of Tel Aviv.

The Iraqi drive to the coast, if accomplished, has thrown an Arab barrier across the route to be followed later in the day by Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator for Palestine, who landed at Haifa from Cairo this morning with 18 United Nations officials and advisers.

Haifa dispatches said Bernadotte was scheduled to drive down the coastal road to Tel Aviv this afternoon to interview Israe'i government leaders on the possibilities of peace in Palestine.

Haifa dispatches said Bernadotte would be given a strong Haganah guard for his trip down the coast this afternoon. Serious fighting may develop if the convoy runs into Arab road blocks on the coastal highway.

The Israeli government was reported called into session last night to consider the United Nations Security Council order for a four-weeks cease fire starting at 11 p.m. GMT tomorrow (1 p.m. EST) but there was no hint of possible Jewish decisions.

Private Industry Lays Plans For Atomic War

WASHINGTON, June 1 —(UP)— The Armed Forces Munitions Board called on private industry today to start making its own plans for quick mobilization in case of atomic war.

Chairman Thomas J. Hargrave issued a 48-page guide to help the management of each plant in the nation prepare now for its production role in any future emergency.

Emphasizing that the program should not be taken to imply that a war is expected in the near future," he said:

"After the atom bombs start falling is no time to start planning. We must do it now.

"Preparedness is a foundation of peace. An alert nation, militarily and industrially prepared against a national emergency has an excellent chance of avoiding such an emergency."

[illegible], Boatmen Begin Search for Bodies in Portland, Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., June 1 (UP) Divers and boatmen began a painstaking search for bodies among the flooded ruins of devastated Vanport City today as the cresting Columbia and Williamette rivers overflowed into Portland's sprawling harbor industrial area.

ENCROACHING WATERS LAPPED toward heavily-populated riverbank districts of the Portland metropolitan area, forcing evacuation of hundreds of workers and families.

THE LEWIS RIVER BROKE through a protective dike at Woodland, Wash., sending floodwaters into the city and forcing the evacuation of most of the community's 1,200 population. Residents were evacuated from south Kelso, Wash., under threat of flood from the Cowaeman River. Red Cross workers and National Guardsmen moved into Vanport.

OTHER EVACUATIONS WERE under way at Rainer, Ore., and Kennewick, Wash.

DESPITE TREMENDOUS OBSTACLES to an orderly search, rescue workers penetrated the suburbs of Vanport to hunt for missing persons. Divers and volunteers moved into shattered homes, making their way across house-tops and jumbled debris.

WATER FED FROM THE COLUMBIA River break-through rose slowly but steadily in the Vanport disaster area, hitting the level of second story windows of the few houses and apartments still standing.

RED CROSS WORKERS ATTEMPTED a cross-check of Vanport refugees at emergency schoolhouse shelters throughout Portland. But in the confusion of the first registration of evacuees, officials said an immediate accurate count of survivors and missing persons would not be possible.

Teen-Ager Fells Aunt; Burns Her Alive

PITTSBURGH —(UP)— Murder charges were placed yesterday against a cute, 17-year-old bobby-soxer who told police she felled her aunt with a flower pot during a violent argument and then burned her alive.

Dressed gaudily in a striped jersey and blue jeans stenciled with arrow-pierced hearts, Dolores Waldo calmly admitted the slaying of Mrs. Gertrude Norris, 61, with whom she had lived for only two weeks.

Dolores, a ward of juvenile court, said her aunt had nagged her constantly over dating boys, but they fought heatedly yesterday over money matters.

The girl said Mrs. Norris slapped her when she hesitated in obeying an order to light a water heater in the basement.

"I went into the basement and she began screaming at me again. I grabbed a flower pot and hit her on the head with it.

"She crumbled and fell with her head against the hot water heater. She didn't say anything. I thought she was dead."

Dolores said she gathered papers and rags and piled them on top of Mrs. Norris' unconscious form and set them afire.

Radio patrolmen were sent to the house when neighbors reported a noisy quarrel. They broke open a locked door and found Mrs. Norris ablaze in the basement. She died three hours later in Shabsyal hospital.

Daughter Makes Annual Visit to Trackside Grave

ELROD, S. D. —(UP)— Once a year the train stops on the lonely prairie six miles west of here.

It stopped last night at twilight. A woman passenger went to a grave by the track marked with a white cross. There was no name, but a wreath was laid.

She was Mary Ford. Her father was the late William F. Chambers, conductor on a train that puffed past this spot before the turn of the century.

Then, a little boy ran from a tar-papered squatter's shack to wave at the train, and the conductor waved back.

The little boy died suddenly. His last request was that he be buried at the spot where he waved to his friend on the train.

During the rest of his lifetime, Chambers stopped the train every year on Memorial Day to remember his lonely young friend with flowers.

The train stopped for the 56th year last night.

Mary Ford carried on the tradition unbroken.

"My father thought a lot of that boy," she said.

MAGISTRATE FREES 'PUBLIC BENEFACTOR'

NEW YORK —(UP)— Moe Pimster was a free man after a judge decided his sales of plump, red tomatoes made him a "public benefactor."

Pimster was hauled into court on the charge that his tomato cart obstructed a trolley stop. When Magistrate Henry A. Soffer asked how much he was selling tomatoes for, Pimster said two pounds for 25 cents.

"That's very cheap," the judge mused. "You are a public benefactor. Case dismissed."

Ramsey Urges Pacific Island Leper Colony

SAN FRANCISCO —(UP)— Admiral Dewitt C. Ramsey said recently that studies are being made toward possible establishment of a Pacific island center for the care and treatment of native lepers from the Caroline, Marianas and Marshall Islands.

Ramsey is commander of the Pacific Fleet and high commissioner of the Trust Territories of the Pacific, comprising islands formerly under Japanese mandate. He arrived here aboard the cruiser St. Paul, en route to Washington, D. C.

The admiral said health was a major problem among the 50,000 islanders. Leprosy demands particular attention, he said because the natives completely banish lepers.

"We are investigating a proposed colony to concentrate all the lepers on one island, where they can have proper treatment and be removed from the stigma placed on them by other natives," he said.

In addition, studies are being made toward central establishments for treatment of other diseases, the admiral said.

20TH NCO CLUB OPENS OUTDOOR DANCE PATIO

HQ. 20TH AIR FORCE — Making their debut at the Twentieth Air Force NCO club last Saturday evening, LeRoy Biegemann and his dance band, "The Five Kings," provided a string of melodious numbers for a near-record turnout of couples, as they christened the club's new outdoor dance patio. Primarily featuring the slow, dreamy type of music, the "Kings" gave out with just enough of the lively "jitter bug" variety to add color and popularity to their program.

The NCO club has been undergoing drastic remodeling for the last few weeks, necessitating a discontinuance of dancing during that time. Renovations nearly completed now, however, include the addition of the all-concrete patio where dances will continue to be held when the weather permits. [illegible] made promises Saturday [illegible] becoming a favorite spot [illegible]. The attendance was the greatest [illegible] New Year's Eve, and the pleasure experienced by the dancers on the new open patio under the stars was heart-warming to observe.

46TH OFFICERS' WIVES HOLD MONTHLY MEET

HQ. 46TH FIGHTER WING, Guam — The 46th Fighter Wing Officers' Wives' club held its first coffee hour at the Officers' club, Northwest Air Force Base, Friday, May 28.

The purpose of these monthly gatherings is to acquaint the girls with present club members and the varied program offered to club members.

Coffee and pecan rolls were served, while the new members were introduced to the "old timers." A pleasant hour was enjoyed by all attending and the club hopes to continue this new innovation each month.

"FOOT SUPPORT" — Pop's feet came in mighty handy for Diana Kline as she tried out her legs on Pier 80 last week. The 10-month-old tot and her father were waiting for grandma coming in on the Mauretania. (AP Wirephoto)

Siamese police are turning up more and more loot from a recent two-and-a-half-million-dollar robbery.

On May 12th, hijackers stopped a truck loaded with 38 crates of gold bullion. The shipment was being transported to an airport at Bangkok, Siam. The robbers made off with the huge haul and evidently stashed it away in different places.

THE ROCK ..... by Tom Richards

A BUNCH OF THE BOYS and I were shooting the breeze around a couple of tables at the B-P-M snack bar a few nights ago. We had already discussed the girl situation very thoroughly and had systematically kicked about such interesting topics as fishing, racing, cattle in the panhandle, and the atomic bomb when Northrup (Rusky) Molovitch injected into the conversation the subject of cooks and what makes them that way. We listened attentively to Rusky's remarks because as any school child knows, Rusky used to be a cook on the Al-Can highway job where, "Men were Men." Not only that, but Rusky, who is scheduled to leave for China shortly, is very handy with his dukes and is apt to get excited if people don't pay attention when he talks. I for one would dislike to see Rusky get excited.

"A cook's life is indeed a hard one," said Rusky. "A poor cook has to work long hours over a hot stove. Some of you boys have been on the Red Sea. You griped about it being a bit on the hot side, maybe 145 degrees. Well, just remember this. While you were looking around on the blistering hot deck plates, swilling Cuba libres, the cooks were down in the galley REALLY taking a beating. It is so hot down there that the eggs are hard boiled while they are still in the boxes. The steaks are fried on cakes of ice. The cook pots get so hot, just hanging in the lockers, that a hand full of dry peas thrown in a skillet will go right through the bottom and make a sieve out of it. The only way that cooks can cool off is to occasionally jump under a jet of live steam. But that's not the worst of it by a jug full. The cooks here have the same trouble. No matter whether the grub is good or bad, the dopey people who eat it think that it's their duty to gripe about it. If a guy is a good dragline or bulldozer operator, or durn near anything else, people slap him on the back and tell him how good he is. This sort of thing isn't for the cooks though. The cooks you cuss and throw rocks at, right or wrong." At this point Rusky became so overcome with manly emotion that he had to take another deep drag on his chocolate milk shake to keep body and soul together. We felt Rusky had made a point here at that.

THE MEANEST MAN IN THE WORLD who swiped two hundred dollars from Roy Tomlin some time ago has no doubt been tearing his hair lately. You will remember that Roy is the boy who was committed to the 103rd Naval Hospital with pneumonia some six months ago. When the pneumonia was cured, an infection had developed in his right leg which eventually necessitated its removal about a month ago. While he was lying at death's door some person unknown swiped Roy's money. His friends at B-P-M heard about his plight and passed the hat. Good pals and guys tossed $707.44 into the kitty. Among those who helped pass the hat were Mr. M.H. Blenford, the Safety Engineer, Don Ageton and Nick Edwards, Recreational Directors, Pablo Taylor, the suave crane operator, Dutch Pullen, Warehouse Superintendent, George Johnson and Charles Farrell of the Sheet Metal Shop, Boris Swarthout, Foreign Correspondent, and others.

[illegible] MarBo and [illegible] Air Force, gave the main address at the Memorial services at the Plaza de Espana in Agana. Gen. Griswold said in part, "Today calls for no riotious celebration, but rather evokes a universal hope for peace. The devastation wrought by two world wars within one generation has intensified that desire. We realize that our solemn obligation is to keep the peace, now and forever....So, today we pay tribute to those men who have given their lives in the cause of democracy and freedom.....men who have gone before us with the sign of faith and rest in the sleep of peace. Of those hallowed memory we reserve today some died at sea, some in the death that rained from the sky and others in the desert and jungle. It is our own responsibility to reconsecrate ourselves, the living, to the job that lies ahead, to assure that those who made the supreme sacrifice for us shall not have died in vain." Ken Raffensberger Hurls One-Hitter to Knock Cardinals From First Place

NEW YORK, June 1 —(UP)— Lefty Ken Raffensberger had his proudest hour today when, in the gathering twilight at Cincinnati, he pitched a one-hit, 7 to 0 victory that knocked the St. Louis Cardinals out of first place.

Raffensberger's great exhibition, in which he pitched no-hit ball until Nippy Jones singled in the eighth, completed a double dump of the Cardinals, who lost the opener, 4 to 3, and who now have dropped two straight double-headers and have lost five in a row.

The tall sparse-haired veteran from York, Pa., was absolutely magnificent against the fearsome Redbird batters who have been bombarding fences all over the league. After he walked Stan Musial and White Kurowski with two out in the first inning, not another batter reached base until Jones singled. Musial walked again in the ninth and not another batter got on base.

The Giants moved into the lead by splitting with the Dodgers at Brooklyn, winning the afternoon game 10 to 1 as Johnny Mize hit two homers and a single to drive in four runs, after Brooklyn took the morning affair, 4 to 3. Sid Gordon also homered and added a double and two singles for a "4 for 4" performance. Young Andy Hansen became the third second-string Giant pitcher to win a game in as many days, holding Brooklyn to six hits his first win.

The Braves divided with the Phils at Boston, batting out a 10 to 4 triumph for Lefty Warren Spahn after Philadelphia rapped five pitchers for 12 hits and a 6 to 3 opening victory.

Elmer Riddle won his fifth game for the Pirates, 4 to 2, at Chicago to give Pittsburgh a split after the Cubs took the opener, 4 to 3.

The Yankees topped the Senators twice at New York, first 10 to 0, behind the two-hit pitching of Frank Shea; and the 5 to 4 as Bobby Brown got two walks and seven straight hits, getting on base nine times in a row before grounding out in his last time up.

Cliff Fannin's four-hit pitching gave the Browns a 6 to 0 victory at Cleveland and squared matters for the Indians' 9 to 3 first game triumph.

The Tigers beat Chicago, 4 to 3, at Detroit as Eddie Mayo's three-run double gave Dizzy Trout the margin for his fifth victory, but the White Sox came back to win the second game, 9 to 3.

The Athletics split with the Red Sox, losing 7 to 0 — then winning 2 to 1.

Mauri Rose Repeats Victory

MarAMA's boxing team at Harmon Field is looking for team or individual matches with any Army, Navy, or Marine outfit on the Island. They can be arranged on a home and home basis if desired. Interested teams or boxers call Lt. Weigelt or Lt. Homer at Ch 3105 or CH 6211.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1 —(UP)— Little Mauri Rose won his second consecutive 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Speedway today driving a consistent race finish with a record average speed for the final 200 miles.

Again it was a one-two finish for the Lou Moore racing team as Bill Holland, driving a sister car of Roses's, finished in second place for the second consecutive year. It was and exact duplicate of last year's finish except that this year Rose was more than a minute ahead while in 1957 he finished with only 32 seconds to spare.

A crowd of more than 150,000 watched the grind with sunny skies overhead and the temperature in the mid-70's.

Rose, by winning first place, took $20,000 for finish and collected another $1,00 in lap price money, which meant that he was first for 1 lap, two-fifths of the distance. Holland netted $10,00. For second money, contrary to last year, he never once was in front of the pack, and he won no lap money.

Other than Rose, only three other men held first place. Ted Horn, who finished fourth, paced the field for 5 laps for $7,500 lap money. Rex Mays, who went out after 129 laps, won $3,600, and Nalon collected $900 for running in front for nine laps.

There was plenty of evidence to bear out the contention of both drivers and officials that this would be the fastest speed clash ever run. The first four men all smashed Roberts' 1939 finishing record. Holland averaged 119.147, Nalon 118 034 and Horn 117.844.

Despite the super-speed of this year's field, in which the contenders qualifid at the highest average speed in history, the race was marked by only one accident.

Griswold Dedicates Memorial Field to North Field Base

NORTH Guam AFB — Memorial Day was a fitting day for the dedication of the North Field baseball stadium as Memorial Field in honor of the crew members of B-29, No. 1700 which was declared missing on a flight April 20, 1948. Major General Francis H. Griswold was the dedicating officer and unveiled the plaque. Immediately following the dedication ceremonies, the North Field Bombers played an exhibition game with the team from Northwest Field defeating them 4 to 1.

In his dedication speech, general Griswold said, "Today we add something of permanence to this base and its grounds in memory of our friends and fellow soldiers who a short time ago were occupying the same places that you are now, both in the stands and on the field.

On this day, it is especially appropriate that we dedicate this field to the memory of those men who represented so faithfully our American and democratic way of life.

The success of our nation, our Air Force, even our daily living as individuals and fine ideals is set by these men.

'Will And Brave Heart'

It is dedicated to those principles of competitive spirit, teamwork, leardership, aggressiveness and sportsmanship coupled with a strong will and brave heart that is so essential to esprit de corps and to the final tests of a soldier. The fact that our Air Force and its crew, both air and ground, have yet to fail this test is a commendation in itself. It was for these principles that these men have sacrificed their memory, the memory of the crew of No. 1700 I dedicate this statium as "Memorial Field."

USC WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

SEATTLE, Wash., June 1 (UP) The University of Southern California won the baseball championship of the Pacific Coast conference here today, riding into a 6-3 victory over Washington State College, Northern division titlists.

The victory gave the Trojans, runaway winners of the Southern division crown, the right to represent the Coast conference in regional NCAA playoffs in Denver.

British Golf Winner Arrives With Trophy

NEW YORK, June 1 —(UP)— Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., who arrived here by plane with his newly won British Amateur Golf Championship trophy, said today that the heavy rains which fell during the tournament worked to the advantage of the American competitors.

The blond, 25-year-old son of a spark plug manufacturing millionaire said that the steady downpours slowed down the fast British greens and to the speed of those to which the Americans were accustomed.

Stranahan came home to compete in the National tournament starting June 10 at Los Angeles. He plans later to return to England for the Bitish Open. He was beaten by Fed Daly of Britain in the finals of the 1947 British Open tournament last year.

ST. ANNET'S-ON-THE-SEA
Eng., June 1 —(UP)— Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Megion, Pa., captain of the victorious American Curtis Cup team, led a field of U. S. golfing stars into the third round of the British Women's Amateur Golf championship today.

Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., scored the first victory for her Curtis Cup teammates by trimming Lany Eddis of England, 7 to 6.

Americans Chose Sports For Memorial Day Fun

NEW YORK, June 1 —(UP)— It was make mine sports for more than 1,500,000 Americans today.

Celebrating Memorial Day weekend, they crammed baseball parks, race tracks and what-have-you till the turnstiles groaned—and the cash registers yodled.

THERE'S A MIGHTY FINE OPPORTUNITY awaiting every military athlete on the Island who would enjoy making an athletic trip to Japan or the Philippines. Such opportunity will be afforded by the Army when MarBo officials conduct the track and field meet, scheduled 1400 Saturday the 5th of June. The activity will take place at the 5th Service Depot track. A representative MarBo team will be selected, and upon concurrence from commanding officers, personnel will be placed on temporary duty, and take-off for the sight of Japan, and competition in the Army All Pacific Inter-Command track and field meet scheduled to be held 2-4 July inclusive.

The track events to be conducted by MarBo will include the dashes both 100 and 220; the 440 and 880 yard race; one mile run, and two mile run; 120 yard high hurdles, and the 220 low hurdles. There will be no team relays. However, a MarBo relay team will be selected from speed merchants who compete in the local meet.

In the field events, only the hammer throw will be excluded. Events to be held include: shot put (16 lb) discus, javelin, high jump, broad jump, and pole vault. Handsome eight inch trophies will be presented to each winner in the fourteen events.

There is no limit to the number of entries from any military unit but competitors will be limited to three events.

THE MARBO ELIMINATION TENNIS TOURNAMENT, singles only, will begin the 21st of June. A squad of five men will represent this command in the Army Pacific tournament to be held at Camp John Hay, Baguio City, Philippines, beginning the 28th of July. Like all local Army competition, all armed forces personnel are invited to compete. The number of entries from any unit is unlimited. Applications should be forwarded to the MarBo special services office, APO 246 prior to the deadline the 15th of June.

ALL ISLAND MILITARY BOXERS will have a chance to make the local Army boxing team which will compete against PhilRyCom in a dual match scheduled the 7th of August, in Manila. The MarBo elimination tournament will begin Tuesday, July the first, and extend continuously for as many days as it is necessary to conclude. All military boxers are urged to compete in this activity, either as an individual or as a member of an organized team. Competition will be rough, since top notch fighters from Navy, Air Forces, Army and Marines have indicated a desire to participate. Submit your application with name, organization, and fighting weight included, to the MarBo athletic officer prior to the entry deadline, the 25th of June.

ELLENVILLE, N. Y., June 1 —(UP)— Rocky Graziano will use the Jeffries crouch when he defends his middleweight championship against Tony Zale at Newark, N.J., on June 9.

"I won't come up from the crouch till Zale is on the deck," Rocky declared today at his training quarters.

As the brown-haired, muscular champion lounged in the neat gymnasium—after a 14-mile hike to the summit of Mt. Shawgunk and back—he explained he would take no chances on leaving his solar plexus a target for the terrific body-puncher from Gary, Ind.

Graziano admitted frankly, "Tony knocked me out with a shot to the belly in the sixth round of our first fight. I wasn't unconscious, but my body was paralyzed [illegible] ... I took one helluva beating for three rounds—before I snapped out of it. Well, I'm goin' to keep my belly out of the way this time."

James J. Jeffries, old-time heavyweight champion, used a low crouch to protect his body. He was the first prominent scrapper to use the crouch for long-range as well as short-range fighting.

Trainer Whitey Bimstein explained that Rocky was a versatile slugger who could toss explosives from any position. He admitted, however that the Rock liked best to blaze away from the upright stance with "looping straight" punches and hooks for the head.

Rocky recalled "I crouched with him after the third round last summer, and I really fixed him up with a body punch—a right to the heart in the fifth round.

New Owners See Rockets Winning

CHICAGO, June 1 —(UP)— New owners took over the doormat Rockets of the All-America football conference today and announced they were out to boot home a winner.

The Rockets, a fizzle in two years of conference competition, will be operated by the newly-formed Football Club of Chicago, a group of more than 20 business, sports and professional men in the Chicago area.

R. E. Garn, Chicago investment broker and the club's executive director, made the announcement. He said the Rockets would play, "and play hard" at Soldier Field next fall. He announced that Ed McKeever, former San Francisco University coach, would be head coach, "on a long-term contract."

"Coach McKeever has already negotiated with more than two full lineups of new personnel," Garn said. "We are now engaged in signing these men, as well as outstanding members of the previous Chicago squad. We are making every effort to strengthen the personnel by trades within the conference."

McKeever will pick out a training camp within 10 days, Garn said, and additions to the coaching staff and to the playing personnel will be announced shortly.

Kramer Predicts Aussies May Regain Davis Cup

NEW YORK —(UP)— Tow-headed Jack Kramer, who brought the Davis Cup back to the United States and then kept it here, took time out today from counting some $50,000 in professional cash to predict that Australia may recapture the cherished sliver mug.

Big Jake has just returned from a tour in which he belted the meholies out of Bobby Riggs in 44 states and Canada.

Kramer is a modest young man. He spends difficult minutes explaining away his proficiency and trying to uphold Riggs' morale and the expedition's box office. But when that theme runs dry, in a track record for Death Valley, Kramer turns again to the amateur game where he made his reputation.

And he sees real trouble ahead for the United States when it gets around to defending the Davis Cup against its challenger, undoubtedly Australia.

"Jack Bromwich is playing real well and he probably could win two points, particularly if he gets a lift by winning at Wimbledon," the Los Angeles lad figured. "And don't laugh off Adrian Quist, just because he's getting along. He might be able to get the clincher."

But after this year, Kramer believes, nobody will be able to touch the United States for a few years.

"We have too many fine young players coming up," he said "They just might not be ready this year, but they'll be along. Guys like Tom Brown, Vic Seixas, Jim Brink, Dick Gonzales, Earl Cochell and Eddie Moylan."

Rated by the reeling Riggs as the greatest player of them all, Kramer admitted he liked to play in the all-for-glory amateur affairs, but added succinctly:

"Money's money."

And Big Jake is doing pretty well at the cashier's window since turning professional last December. His troupe, with Australian Dinny Pails and Ecuadorian Pancho Segura as window dressing, has played to 315,077 people for $472,149.

They get their heartiest chuckle out of an incident at Tucson, Ariz., where Riggs and Kramer hooked up in a killer which went 70 bitter games. It ended for Kramer, 14-12, 4-6, 18-16. Then, as the

ABC Tourney Ends Without Major Upset

DETROIT, June 1 —(UP)— The 45th annual American Bowling Congress tourney ended tonight as the final firing in the 80-day meet failed to produce any 11th-hour upsets.

The team division wound up with the Chicago Washington Shirts winning the title, $2.500 and diamond medals with a 3,007 total. Chicago also won two of the three minor events titles—the doubles and all-events.

The finals few weeks of the tourney failed to produce any challenges to records set in earlier firing

Jimmy Towns and Bill Sweeney, two Windy City unknowns, fired 1,361 April 16 to pace the 14,018 teams in the two-man events. They won $1,000 of the $108,741 in prizes shared by 3,504 duo teams.

Ned Day of [illegible] topped 21,8[illegible] 054 [illegible] in the all-events class. The five-time world match champion hit 1,940 May 3 to win $1,000. A total of $49,257 will be paid to [illegible] in the nine-game class.

Day was the only "name" bowler to win any of the four championships.

Lincoln Protich of Akron, O., tallied a 721 series on April 5 to head the singles class. He won $500 of the $109,064 awarded to 6,991 participants in the individual event.

NEW YORK, June 1 —(UP)— Bookies reported brisk betting today on next month's two big title fights, with Joe Louis favored at 3-1 over Jersey Joe Walcott, and Rocky Graziano liked at 2-1 over Tony Zale.

Shirley Fry Loses International Finals

PARIS, May 31 —(UP)— Mrs. Nelly Landry of France won the French International women's tennis singles championship today when she defeated Miss Shirley Fry of Akron, O, 6-2, 0-6, 6-0

The 32-year-old French star, who gained the final round when her scheduled semifinal opponent, Mrs. Patricia Canning Todd, the defending champion, walked out on the match, had too much experience for the 20-year-old Fry, playing in her first international final.

Except in the second set when Mrs. Landry tired, Miss Fry never was able to find her usual game.

With Miss Fry's defeat, Americans still had a chance to win three of the four remaining titles to be decided today.

Judge May Order Lewis to Bargain

WASHINGTON, June 3 —(UP)— Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough hinted today that he will order John L. Lewis to bargain with the Southern Coal Producers Association.

He dropped the hint at hearings on a government request for an order directing Lewis and his United Mine Workers to negotiate with the southern group on a new soft coal contract.

"Nothing you have said," Goldsborough told the UMW counsel Welly K. Hopkins, "shows the association is not competent to negotiate."

Goldsborough also said, "it would be a national tragedy if there was a walkout at the conclusion of this contract." The present soft coal contract expires June [illegible]

Lewis walked out on a new contract negotiations two weeks ago when the coal operators voted to seat a representative of the southern operators as individual groups.

The government, in requesting the order against Lewis, urged that his refusal to bargain with the association has created "imminent danger of another soft coal strike on and after July 1."

Such a strike, it said, would do irreparable injury to the nation.

WASHINGTON, June 3 —(UP)— The Congressional Taft-Hartley [illegible] committee decided today to leave the labor law rest until next year at least.

Chairman Joseph H. Ball of the special Senate-House committee set up to observe operations of the law, said the decision was influenced by the heavy log-jam legislative business already awaiting action before scheduled adjournment June 15.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 3 —(UP)— An explosion and fire at the Union Oil Co. rocked the harbor district today and sent smoke and fire billowing 200 feet into the air.

The blast shortly after dawn occurred in the cracking plant of the $80,000,000 refinery, reportedly in a still.

Superforts Make Mock Attack on Airfield

ANDREWS FIELD, Md., June [illegible] —(UP)— The biggest mass flight of B-29 Superfortresses since World War II will make a mock bombing attack on Selfridge Field, Mich., late today, the strategic air command said.

The attacking groups included nearly the entire strategic air command striking force of 225 bombers plus [illegible] fighters.

The bombers were scheduled to assemble over Kansas City, Kans., at [illegible] EDT. They will roar northward to strike at the target 700 miles away in Michigan.

The only similar operation since the war was a practice strike at New York City last year involving about 100 of the Superforts.

Top German Doctors Executed

LANDSBERG, Germany, June 3 —(UP)— Dr. Karl Brandt, Adolf Hitler's personal physician, and six other doctors were hanged today in the cold bleak Landsberg prison courtyard for killing thousands of Nazi prisoners in medical experiments.

The seven men were executed by American soldiers on the twin gallows where the 10 Nazi leaders tried with Herman Goering paid for their war crimes only a stone's throw away from where Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf" in a prison cell.

Brandt, who served Hitler in his last years, was defiant to the end. Arrogantly, he faced the 25 witnesses to the executions—guards and correspondents—and said he was proud to have served his Fuehrer.

He was the first to die. One hour and two minutes later, all seven were pronounced dead. The others were:

Rudolph Brandt (no relation to Karl), personal administrative assistant to Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and responsible for medical research in concentration camps.

Wolfram Sievers, head of a group which collected Jewish skeletons for "research."

Karl Gebhardt, Himmler's personal physician.

Joachim Mrugrowsky, chief of the SS hygienic institute. Viktor Brack, a colonel in the SS medical corps.

Waldemar Hoven, chief physician of the notorious Buchenwald concentration camp.

Their hands tied behind their backs, they were brought one by one to the open courtyard and, flanked by guards, walked steadily up the 13 stairs to the gallows. They wore black shirts and trousers, without belts, suspenders or shoe laces.

Mrugrowsky, fifth to mount the scaffold, spoke loudly and clearly in German: "I die as a German, sentenced by a brutal enemy." He warned that Germany "will rise again."

Rudolf Brandt told a priest: "I [illegible] neither hate nor revenge in my heart for anyone."

100,000 Persons Homeless, 28 Killed; Property Damage Runs Into Millions

PORTLAND, Ore., June 3 —(UP)— The Columbia River's destructive flood crest began dropping slowly at Portland today and the peak of the Pacific northwest's spring thaw crisis appeared to have passed after two weeks of record-breaking devastation.

Approximately 100,000 persons were left homeless or temporarily displaced, 28 persons were killed or drowned and an estimated $80,000,000 damage was inflicted on crops, property and riverfront industries in four states and British Columbia.

During a three-hour period, the Columbia dropped from 30.2 to 30.0 feet at Vancouver and the Willamette, carrying a backwater load from the Columbia, lowered six-tenths of a foot during a 11-hour period.

The danger to the flood-stricken Portland area and down-river communities was not yet eliminated, however. Volunteer workers and troops, Oregon National Guard, fought through the night and morning to prevent a threatened break in a north Portland dike which would flood a farmland area 12 miles long and two miles wide.

The Columbia's mighty crest, gathered from a myriad of streams and creeks throughout British Columbia, Oregon, Washington and Idaho, moved from Portland to the river's mouth at Asoria, Ore., 112 miles distant.

As it bulged over and through its retaining dikes it poured floodwaters into a row of deserted communities despite the day-and-night toil of volunteers, summoned by emergency calls.

Between Portland and the ocean, the Columbia spilled into Clatskanie, Brownsmead, Ore., Woodland, Wash., and other riverbank communities while its Washington tributaries flooded Kulama and South Kelso, Wash.

The Red Cross registered 7,000 homeless families in Portland at the civic auditorium. Thirty-thousand meals were dispensed to refugees from the destroyed city of Vanport and other flooded metropolitan areas. Twelve shelters were set up and 50 doctors and 25 nurses cared for more than a hundred injured and suffering.

Guerrillas Suggest Peace In Civil War

ATHENS, Greece, June 3 (UP) The Communist-led guerrillas today proposed a negotiated peace in Greece's civil war but government leaders said the rebels must choose between unconditional surrender and a total defeat.

The guerrilla radio said that Gen. Markof Vafiudes "provisional democratic government" would discuss any proposals for peace, provided that the democratic rights and independence of the Greek people were safeguarded and that "every foreign interference be ended."

The broadcast said that the guerrillas were ready "to make all the concessions permitted by the people's and the national interests."

U.S. Plane Bombs American Sub

WASHINGTON, June 3 —(UP)— Hugh D. Scott (R-Pa.) asserted today that 50 crew members of the U. S. submarine Carp were hospitalized after it was depth-charged by a U. S. Air Force plane about two months ago.

The incident occurred some 200 miles off San Diego, Cal., during the so-called Russian submarine scare, Scott said.

The plane, he added, "laid a pattern of depth-bombs" around the Carp. It forced the submarine to submerge.

Saying that the incident had been surrounded by deep secrecy, Scott said the undersea craft had to remain submerged for from 12 to 24 hours while emergency repairs could be made to surface it.

Hospitalization for 50 members of the crew was necessary because of poisonous fumes discharged by the batteries after the depth-charging, Scott said.

The pilot who dropped the charges "didn't know his recognition signals," he added.

LUCKY STRIKE

Milwaukee—(UP)—Bob Brown, bartender, was saved a dentist's bill by a belligerent patron.

The dentist had told Brown to return for extraction of an ulcerated tooth when the swelling went down. That night Brown refused a drink to a customer who had had one too many.

The patron put up an argument and Brown tossed him from the tavern. In the scuffle the bartender was slugged on the jaw.

The tooth popped out, the swelling quickly went down, and a trip to the dentist was avoided.

Marylynn Hargrove MarBo May Queen

MARBO—Marylynn Hargrove, 17, Washington High School Student, was chosen May Queen by a vote of the enlisted men. The beautiful coronation ceremonies took place in the MarBo Service Club.

One of the largest crowds ever to enter the service club was on hand when Lt. Col. George Godding, headquarters commandant, placed the beautiful crown on the head of the queen.

The identity of the queen was kept secret until shortly before she was crowned Queen of the May. The other contestants formed the court of honor.

All of the contestants entered the service club with their escorts through a line formed by a guard of honor. The girls went to the center of the hall and pulled a ribbon from the May pole. After dancing around the pole the girls took seats on the stage. The center chair reserved for the queen was left vacant. When Col. Godding had completed his brief talk, Miss Hargrove took the chair reserved for the queen.

Miss Hargrove is an accomplished young lady; she sings, dances, plays piano, and sketches. In addition to these she is interested in all sports and plays soft ball.

Hundreds of enlisted men took part in the voting.

The music for the dance was furnished by members of the 12th Army Band.

Despondent Chinese Attempts Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO —(UP)— A 41-year-old Chinese woman despondent because immigration authorities refused to allow her to join her American-Chinese husband, climbed out on a 14th story ledge of the Appraiser's building and defied efforts of firemen, police and interpreters to lure her from her suicide perch.

A crowd of 5,000 spectators jammed the streets below and forced re-routing of traffic after the woman Noong Loy, crept onto the narrow ledge of the 15 story building.

At 5:45 p.m. (PDT) three hours after she escaped from the detention quarters' exercise yard in a well-like open air roof portion of the big white building [illegible] But she [illegible] side and jump to [illegible]

She spoke to English [illegible] terpreters and her lawyer called to her in Chinese from the floor above asking her to abandon her plan of leaping to death.

A brisk wind off San Francisco Bay whipped her black dress around her figure. Each move she made along the ledge brought gasps from the throngs in the streets below.

Firemen of two companies rigged a large jumping net in the street below and lowered ropes from the roof, hoping to pull the net as close as possible to the woman before sending members of the companies out on the ledge after her.

"We don't want to frighten her off before we're all prepared," one fireman said. "The way things stand she could jump before anyone could reach her."

Immigration Regional Chief I.F Wixon said she arrived in San Francisco Jan. 17 from Hong Kong and sought entry into the United States on grounds she was the wife of Gin Hop Lok, Aberdeen, Wash.

Water Tank Trucks Aid Fire Fighting

Umatac Pastor Celebrates Silver Jubilee

UMATAC—Thursday, May 27, marked the silver anniversary of the Rev. Adelbert Donlon, OFM, Cap., pastor of Merizo and Umatac. An appropriate and colorful ceremony was held at that time, which also was the feast of Corpus Christi.

A Solemn Mass of thanksgiving was celebrated at Umatac by Rev. Father Adelbert, assisted by the the Very Rev. Felix Ley, OFM, Cap., superior regular of the Apostolic Administration of the Ryukyus as deacon, Rev. Arnold Bendowske, OFM, Cap., as subdeacon, and Rev. Cyril Langheim, OFM, Cap., master of ceremonies. The Rev. Timothy Kavanagh, OFM, Cap., was master of ceremonies to the Bishop.

Sermon by Bishop

Following an English language sermon by the Most Rev. Apollinaris W. Baumgartner, OFM, Cap., Bishop of Guam, in which he stressed the dire need of priests on Guam, a sermon in Chamorro was given by the Very Rev. Monsignor Oscar L. Calvo.

After Mass, the Corpus Christi procession wended its way first to one end of the village, then to then to the other, with pauses at each place for benediction.

Following the mass and procession, the jubilarian and his guests proceeded to the Governor's quarters at Merizo, where an excellent buffet luncheon was served, with local talent providing the entertainment.

Father Adelbert is the first of the American Capuchins on Guam to have reached his jubilee year.

BODACIOUS BILL LUJAN dropped in yesterday and sadly reported that he failed to make his $10,000 gate last Friday night when David Young lulled Little Compo to sleep....This despite the fact that the Paseo was packed and the roof of the Guam Commercial Company issued groans as a result of the large number of people ensconced thereupon....At the prices he charged, it would have taken roughly 2500 paid admissions to bring Lujan a ten grand take....There were more than that number in attendance last week, but still he didn't make it.

The answer is simple....Too many would-be One-Eyed Connolly's...The fences, just a little over seven feet high and unlighted, don't even present much of a challenge to anyone who would rather hop a fence than pay the admission price....And it isn't much of a task either to scale the side of the Guam Commercial store and walk the roof to a fine vantage point overlooking the three buck seats....

Naval Government owns the alleged arena, but still Bill has made the recent improvements, including a new fence and cleaning up of the inside....No city government anywhere would permit a fight card in a municipal auditorium without assigning several policemen to keep order....Yet it was 15 minutes after the recent disturbance there was quelled before the gendarmes made their entrance....And it would seem logical that members of the local constabulary should be there for still another reason.....Twenty cents of every dollar Bulgy Bill takes goes to Naval Government in taxes and still the only fence-watchers are Willum himself hires.....A few officers of the law stationed at places near the fence would not only keep the crowd more but bring the government a good deal more revenue.

The Gon Ladrazo-Young fight a week from today should draw an larger crowd than the first now that the Chinese 118-pounder has shown his wares here....Besides that, local followers feel that Ladrazo will give Young a tougher battle....An estimated 20 per cent of last week's crowd witnessed the proceedings gratis, thus slicing between three and four hundred skins from the government's take—not to mention the loss Lujan suffered....This time, with a bigger crowd, the loss of both parties is likely to be larger....Aside from the government's welfare, Lujan is a taxpayer and is, it would seem, entitled to some protection of his interests....

Banned From Baseball

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C., June 3 —(UP)— Police stepped into the investigation of a "thrown" Carolina league baseball game today after a player-manager, who confessed taking a bribe, and a club official he implicated were banned from the sport for life.

Minor league commissioner George Trautman blew the lid off the newest gambling scandal to cloud the baseball scene when he announced that Bernard De Forge, pitcher-manager of the Reidsville, N. C. club had admitted receiving $500 for throwing a game against Winston-Salem May 14 and charged Ed Weingartner, secretary-treasurer of Florence, S. C., of the Tri-State league with being in on the coup.

Trautman, in addition to placing both on the "pemanently ineligible list," demanded criminal action under a North Carolina law which calls for one to five years imprisonment for accepting or offering a bribe in a baseball game.

Police were quick to follow through. Chief John Gold of the Winston-Salem force said he already had detailed facts on the case and was continuing an extensive investigation.

Gold pointed out, however, that a criminal case would require more evidence than a baseball probe. "I couldn't say what action might be taken," he said. "That will depend on the facts we uncover."

Meanwhile, Charlotte, N. C., police revealed they were checking into reports of a gambling coup on the May 16 Tri-State league game between Charlotte and Florence.

Suggs in Finals of British Golf Championships

ST. ANNE'S-ON-THE-SEA, Eng., June 3 —(UP)— Louise Suggs of Atlanta, U. S. amateur golf queen defeated Dorothy Kielty of Los Angeles, 4 and 3, today to gain the finals of the British Women's Amateur championship and will meet Jean Donald, Scottish titleholder, for the crown tomorrow.

Miss Kielty took the 14th when Miss Suggs three-putted after bunkering a drive, but conceded the match on the 15th hole when she wound up in a blinker on her third shot and failed to blast out with the fourth, while Miss Suggs holed out with a birdie four.

Miss Suggs had gained the semifinals with a 1 up victory on the 20th hole against her Atlanta clubmate, Dorothy Kirby, this morning. Miss Kielty moved up by eliminating Mrs. Adrian Gee of England, 5 and 3.

In the other quarter-final matches, Maureen Ruttle of England beat the veteran Mrs. Helen Holm of Scotland, 2 and 1. And Scottish champion Jean Donald ousted Mrs. E. M. Hartley of Britain, 3 and 2.

MarBo Takes Meet From 5th Service 4-2

George Crump, Island featherweight champ, took a confusing second round TKO over Audio Mercurio of Fifth Service Depot last night as the Army came out on the long end of the count in a spare dual meet between MarBo and Fifth Service.

After a cut had been opened over his left eye in the first round, Crump was blasting away with all guns and Mercurio fell halfway through the ropes and then dropped to one knee. David Young, who referred the last fight, decided that Mercurio had had enough and gave Cump a TKO without counting the knockout.

David Dorsey won a unanimous semi-final decision over classy Rudy Deleon in what was probably the best fight of the night. Deleon showed a good style, but Dorsey, MarBo featherweight, tagged him with hard looping rights to the head several times and staggered him in the second round.

In the opener, Salvador Iro KO'd Argus Pitts in 30 seconds of the first round for the Army's first victory. Enie Stepney of MarBo took the second with a TKO over middleweight Mike Bouer, and Larry Taylor connected for a knockout over Troy Perkins of MarBo in 28 seconds of the third round Dan Payne won a default for Fifth Service's second victory.

NEW YORK, June 3 —(UP)— Vic Raschi, who can't do anything wrong and Art Houtteman, who can't do anything right, hooked up today in one of the finest pitching duels of the season and as usual Raschi won and Houtteman lost, the Yankees topping the Tigers, 1 to 0.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for Houtteman, the Tiger native who has been hailed as a right handed Hal Newhouser and who looks the part on the mound. But when he works his mates just can't seem to get any runs. In his seven defeats, Detroit has scored an average of 2.28 runs per game which means that in order to win, hard luck Art would have to have held the opposition to a little more than a run per game.

It was a costly win for the Yankees because Charley Keller, the oft-injured left fielder, suffered a broken bone in his hand when trying to catch a liner by Vic Wertz that went for a double in the fourth. He will be out of action a month.

The Giants, behind the pitching and hitting of ace Larry Jansen topped the Reds, 7 to 4, at Cincinnati. It was Jansen's sixth victory and although he has been much more effective, he was steady enough in the clutches. He gave up 11 hits but only one batter, Claude Corbitt, hit for extra bases, getting a pair of doubles. At the plate, Jansen drove in three runs with a pair of singles.

The Cubs won another pitching battle, 2 to 1, from the Phillies at Chicago in the 12th when catcher Andy Seminick was guilty of a passed ball on one of Pitcher Dutch Leonard's knuckle balls, then threw wild to permit Eddie Waitkus to score the winning run. Waitkus and Phil Cavaretta had singled and moved up on the passed ball. Dutch McCall went 11 innings for the Cubs and fanned 11 batters, but Jesse Dobernic was given the victory after McCall went out for a pinch hitter. Del Ennis got the only Philly run, a homer.

Bob Lemon's consecutive scoreless inning streak, which had made him Cleveland's second citizen right next to Bobby Feller, finally came to an end in a night game. Washington beat the Tribe, 2 to 1, at Cleveland with Ray Scarborough beating Lemon in the duel.

Fred Sanford allowed only seven scattered hits as the Browns downed the Red Sox, 3 to 1, at Boston.

The Pittsburgh Pirates pulled a triple play, the third of the ... league season, but ... to the Braves, 6 to ... Johnny Sain's three-hit pitching was too much for the Bucs. The Dodgers ... [illegible]

The "they" was Dr. Vincent Nardiello, chief physician of the New York Boxing Commission who examined Louis thoroughly here yesterday after a raft of reports that the champion was not in good enough condition to go through with the June 23 match.

Nardiello said Louis is in better condtion now than before his first bout with Walcott on Dec. 5. In fact, he is even in better shape than when I examined him before the second fight with Conn in 1946.

Louis agreed: "I guess you're right, Doc.

"I feel better now than at any time since I got out of the Army."

New Flood Crest Threatens More Destruction in Northwest

Volunteers Fight to Save Dikes as Flood Waters Recede to Ocean

PORTLAND, Ore., June 4 —(UP)— A new flood crest boiled through the upper valley of the Columbia River today threatening to add more death and destruction to the Pacific northwest's greatest flood disaster.

The new threat came as weary volunteers and troops fought to save dikes which were holding back the old crest as it swept ponderously toward the Pacific Ocean between Portland and Astoria.

Residents in the area around Portland, much of which is still under water, were warned to brace themselves for the swell bearing down on them today.

The new flood raced down the upper Columbia and its principal tributary, the Snake, when hot sun melted a deep snow pack in the mountains of British Columbia, Idaho and Washington.

Elmer Fisher, U. S. weather bureau forecaster, said the Columbia was rising from Coulee Dam to the mouth of the Snake. The lower Snake, after a brief fall, surged upward again. It will continue to rise for at least two or three days, Fisher said.

This meant that the Columbia, after receding slightly from its Wednesday morning peak in the Portland area, will start climbing again to a danger level next Saturday.

The Columbia will drop from its crest of 29.9 feet to 28.4 feet on Saturday, then move up again to 29.7 on Sunday. Beyond that, official forecasters were not prepared to predict.

"We have made no forecasts beyond Sunday," said Fisher.

"But the Columbia at Portland may come up substantially. I would not say that the river will not get back up to the crest it reached Tuesday. If it does, Portland and Vancouver, Wash., should look out."

WASHINGTON, June 4 —(UP) Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said he would never run for President on the Democratic ticket because he is a Republican, Pathfinder Magazine reported today.

In its current issue, the magazine quoted the former Army Chief of Staff as unloosing this political bombshell in "an exclusive statement" to one of its reporters.

The brief but dramatic story was carried in the Pathfinder's column, "Under The Dome," and read this way:

"Democrats can forget about nominating Ike Eisenhower. In an exclusive statement to Pathfinder, the retired general said that he would never run for the presidency on a Democratic ticket for the simple reason that he is a Republican. He will support whomever the Republicans nominate."

First Naval Shelling

PALESTINE, June 4 —(UP)— Heavy fighting, including the first naval bombardment of the Palestine war, raged Thursday as Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, talked with Arab and Jewish leaders in three capitals in an attempt to fix the starting time for a four weeks Palestine truce.

Egypt reported that its Navy had bombarded the Jewish port of Casaria, midway between Tel Aviv and Haifa, and said heavy damage was done.

In addition the Egyptian communique said more than 400 Jews were killed in a savage fight in the Isdud sector of Palestine, 21 miles south of Israel capital of Tel Aviv.

Direct hits on port installations and the sinking of one vessel were claimed by the tiny Egyptian Navy following the bombardment.

Israel announced that its troops entered the city limits of Jenin, ... miles north of Jerusalem, at the northeastern corner of the Jenin-Tulkarm-Nablus triangle on the central front.

Meanwhile the battle of words went on in the United Nations.

WASHINGTON, June 4 —(UP) The White House announced late today that flood conditions may cause changes in President Truman's itinerary through Washington, Oregon and parts of California.

The White House said these appearances have not been cancelled, but that it is not known now, whether the presidential party will be forced to forego some of the stops scheduled for June 10, 11 and 12 because of flood conditions.

Demonstrators Protest Against Mundt Measure

WASHINGTON, June 4 —(UP) The largest protest "Army" to march on the capital in recent years disbanded today after a noisy demonstration against the Communist-Control Bill that was marked by three arrests.

Leaders of the group remained behind with a promise to fight the so-called Mundt-Nixon measure until its "buried forever." They called a meeting this morning to plan their strategy.

They urged their followers to intensify the campaign against the House-approved bill by letter and telegram when they return home. A majority of the demonstrators came here from eastern states, chiefly New York.

Capitol Park police said the "army," which wound up its day with a mass meeting at the foot of Washington Monument, was the largest of its kind in recent years. A spokesman for the hastily-formed committee-to-defeat-the-Mundt-bill estimated that some 7,500 took part in the demonstration.

The protesters spent the day calling on congressmen and on representatives of the Republican and Democratic national committees. One group picketed the White House. Another called on Presidential Aide David K. Niles, but reported that he made no commitments regarding the Mundt bill.

Rehabilitation Bill Veto Hits Japanese Industry

TOKYO, June 4 —(UP)— Top American economic officials at Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reacted glumly today to news that Congress failed to appropriate $150,000,000 for Japanese rehabilitation.

While no official comment was available here, members of the allied economic and scientific section admitted the lack of funds would knock the props from under the Japanese reconstruction program, unless the money could be raised elsewhere.

An appropriation of $110,000,000 was counted on to buy raw materials, machine tools, hides, leather, coking coal and other vital materials necessary for Japan's industrial recovery. The Japanese government based a five-year plan for economic recovery largely on that money.

History's Longest Dry Spell Hits Midwest

CHICAGO, June 4 —(UP)— The longest spring dry spell in history plagued the midwest today.

Weather forecasters said that for the 18th day in a row, no rain fell today on wide areas of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Iowa.

The lack of rainfall has retarded crops and created acute forest fire hazards.

Forecasters said that never before in the spring months had there been 18 rainless days in a row.

Last of Service Supply Boosts Defense Cost For Coming Year

WASHINGTON, June 4 —(UP)— A $3,686,733,150 bill to maintain the world's biggest Navy in the coming fiscal year was slated for certain House approval today.

Last of a series of regular supply bills for the armed services, the measure booted proposed defense costs for the fiscal year starting July 1 to a total of $13,394,672,250.

Either later this week or early next week the House Appropriations Committee is expected to approve a measure providing funds for Army, Air Force and Naval installation construction programs which will cost an estimated $416,000,000.

Today's bill, besides providing for a Navy and Marine Corps strength of 552,000 men and maintenance of an active fleet of 703 combat and auxiliary ships, grants an initial construction allowance for a 65,999-ton super-carrier.

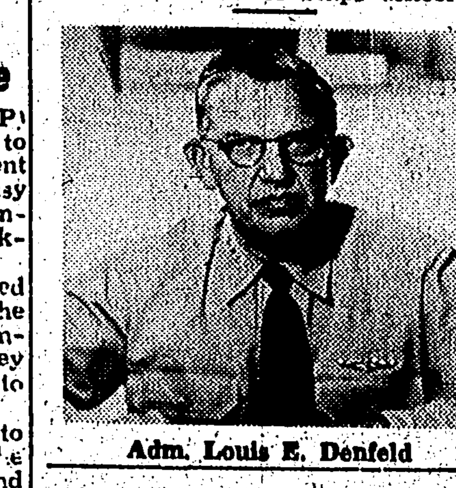
Virtually no opposition was expected to the measure even though the House Appropriations Committee trimmed $241,005,450 from the budget bureau estimates.

The funds will permit the Navy to maintain an inactive reserve fleet of 1,879 ships.

Navy blueprints for the fiscal year starting July 1 call for an active Pacific striking force of 111 ships deployed on what the Chief of Naval Operations described as "something approximating a war footing."

Adm. Louis E. Denfeld told a House Appropriations Committee that Atlantic and Pacific fleets were not engaged in routine training, but "because of present world conditions" were widely deployed.

But Bureau of Ships officers told the committee that while Navy plans were to keep the reserve ships ready for immediate action certain economies were to be effected. At the reserve fleet stations at Orange, Tex., and Astoria, Ore., operations were to be cut down, they said.



Adm. Louis E. Denfeld

Neither the Navy nor the Appropriations Committee, however, permitted economy to get in the way of the ship construction program The committee granted the department's request for $56,800,000 for that purpose. Members turned down a later request for $3,000,000 more, but they directed the Navy to transfer from other funds another $16,000,000 for ship building.

In the Pacific, the Navy planned to have five carriers, three escort carriers, 15 cruisers, 48 destroyers, 35 submarines and five destroyer escorts. In the Atlantic there would be one more carrier one more escort, three less cruisers, five more destroyers, six more submarines and two less destroyer escorts.

Denfeld said the absence of the traditional battlewagons from the active fleet was temporary and due to the fact that during the war the U. S. Navy obliterated "enemy" vessels from the seas.

American Detained By Russian Police In Midtown Berlin

BERLIN, June 4 —(UP)— Dr. Harry L. Franklin, deputy chief of the Civil Administration and Affairs office of the American Military Government here, was freed today after being detained by the Russians for 16 hours while they checked up on his identity.

An American military detail went to Russian headquarters at midday and Franklin was turned over to it. He was weary and grimy, but said he had not been mistreated in any way.

He was confined to a room at Soviet District Headquarters in midtown Berlin. There was no bed in the room, but he got some rest on a table.

Senate Asked to Pass Draft Bill For Peace

WASHINGTON, June 4 —(UP) Sen. Chan Gurney (R—S. D.) today asked the Senate to pass the 19-through-25 draft as a "peace measure" because voluntary enlistment programs have failed to provide enough men.

"If America is to be influential in the peace councils of the world, we must lead from strength and not weakness," Gurney said. "We must build up and maintain military forces capable of breaking up any attack against us."

"We must have it understood that we are capable of instantly launching a counter-offensive so devastating that no enemy will dare to make war on us."

Pope Pius Calls For Reforms

VATICAN CITY —(UP)— Pope Pius XII called yesterday for social reforms as a cornerstone on which to build a lasting peace.

These reforms, particularly the urgent need to provide poorer classes with housing, bread and work, lie at the heart of, and control the "fundamental problems growing out of the ruin and revolution of the war and its aftermath," he said.

But he added that it would be "dangerous" to base "fantastic hopes and expectations for a fully satisfactory and speedy solution" on this alone.

The Pontiff spoke for 25 minutes to the Sacred College of Cardinals on his name day, St. Eugene's. In the address, the Pope:

1. Hailed the possibility of a truce in Palestine as a "dawn of new hope."

2. Called for unceasing efforts to end this "strange illness....the wavering between peace and war."

3. Praised the "vigor, high mindedness and strong feeling for order and justice" which led Italians to spurn Communism.

4. Proclaimed 1950 the tenth holy year in the history of the Church and expressed the hope that it would be the "harbinger of a new era of peace, prosperity and progress

5. Endorsed the idea of a united Europe.

Girl May Expose Chinese Smuggling

MEXICO CITY —(UP)— An American girl, who said she had been threatened with death by a Chinese, claimed that her return to the United States to face charges of falsifying documents would expose a smuggling racket involving the Chinese government.

The girl is Keejaen Jane Bacon, 24, of Texarkana, Ark., who said she was the estranged wife of Cornell Newton Shelton of Miami, Fla., former personal pilot of Madame Chiang Kai-shek.

Asked why her life was threatened, she replied:

"Because of certain facts I know involving Chinese government activities regarding smuggling of contraband in and out of the United States."

She refused to elaborate other than to say the "contraband" included arms and ammunition, jewelry and Chinese seeking to enter the U.S. illegally.

SURPRISE PARTY—A dinner celebrating the 51st birthday of Capt. Hal Willis, BPM police, was served at Ethredge Beach on May 25. Willis has been a popular and well liked fellow so long that the entire group of workers at Ethredge pulled the feast as a surprise. The dinner, in five courses, was prepared by Chef Chris Markanto (left), formerly of the Chicago Congress Hotel. Willis, with his assistant, Tom Lee, was responsible for the recent capture of two Japanese soldiers near Ethredge. (Guam News Photo)

Grand Jury Probes Sale of Horse Meat

HOUSTON, Tex. —(UP)— A county grand jury is seeking to learn whether Houston school children have been eating horse meat all semester without knowing it.

A butcher charged that horse meat, disguised as choice beef, was sold throough school cafeterias to Houston pupili.

At Austin, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said an investigation was underway by his department.

No matter what the grand jury does, Cox said, his department will continue its inquiry until the report of horse meat sales is cleared up.

A butcher at a Houston Meat Company implicated his bosses. He said the horse meat came from New Jersey in barrels bearing green labels. He said he was instructed by his superiors to scatch out the label.

Not only was some of the meat delivered to school cafeterias, he said, but also to some of the better restaurants of Houston.

In some of the latter places, it was sold at prices ranging up to $1.20 per pound.

"I was butcher there for about eight weeks," he said, "and I ground up a lot of the meat. What was not ground was cut into steaks and cutlets and soaked in tubs with soda and vineger to change the color and smell.

MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD, Vallejo, Calif.—(UP)—Capt. H. C. Fish, commander of the Mare Island Navy Yard Reserve Fleet, branded as "absolutely untrue" the statement of a Pennsylvania Congressman that the U.S. submarine Carp was depth-bombed by an American Air Force plane two months ago.

Fish's statement was backed by Capt. Ted Wirth, public information officer of the 12th Naval District, who invited members of the press to take pictures of the Carp, now at Mare Island for routine repairs, and interview members of the crew.

U.S. Warned of Strong Enemy Air Power

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Military Intelligence has "certain knowledge" that a potential enemy nation has long-range bombers—similar to B-29's—capable of striking at U.S. cities, it was disclosed yesterday.

The information was given to the House Appropriations Committee by Maj. Gen. L.C. Craigie, Air Forces research chief.

Although he mentioned no names, it was clear he meant Russia.

Craigie said there is "considerable doubt" that this country is "substantially ahead" in the race for new weapons.

He said new weapons are "being exploited to the utmost in other parts of the world."

Craigie said this "potential enemy" also has rocket and jet-powered interceptor fighters patterned after the most advanced German designs at the end of the war.

"Thus, he is moving rapidly into a position where he can reach our cities with his bombers and then retire behind an adequate defense system," he said. "We must be able to retaliate so swiftly and devastatingly that he cannot dare to strike"

Hundreds Respond to Marriage Ad

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. —(UP)— Shapely Dorothy Lawlor, hat-check girl who advertised for a husband with $10,000, had so many offers today that she couldn't make up her mind which to accept.

"There's a Michigan farmer who sounds nice," the blonde divorcee said, "But there are also a Kentucky horsebreeder, a North Carolina former Navy lieutenant and a Florida night club owner."

The blue-eyed mother of two children had planned to announce her final selection at midnight last night But changed her mind because of the continuing flood of offers. She said she had received more than 1,000 letters and telegrams since her want ad appeared last week in a local paper.

"My mother told me to take my time in making up my mind," Mrs. Lawlor said. "So I'm going to wait until I'm sure which one is best."

She said that she rather favored the Michigan farmer whom she identified as Max Yarrington of Midland.

"He writes that he has a good, substantial income and that he needs a mother for his 5-year-old daughter as much as I need a father for my kids," she said. "But I want to wait until I see him before making up my mind."

Warning Issued Against Illegal Money Lending

HARMON AFB—All commands have been requested to warn service personnel against illegal money-lending practices, it was disclosed here yesterday.

The central armed forces disciplinary control board has learned of certain usurious schemes currently being practiced upon servicemen. A typical example is the requirement that a borrower complete and sign a check for twice the amount of the loan. At the time of payment, the lender then demands that he make good the check or be prosecuted for writing it on a bank in which he has no account.

In requesting commands to issue warnings against such practices, the Air Provost Marshal, Headquarters USAF, also asked that steps be taken to insure that those discovered engaging in all such illegal practices be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

PHANTOM ISLAND REMOVED

LAWRENCE, Kan. —(UP)— An "island" has been removed from the map of Kansas, after it had stood on the charts for 50 years because of a surveyor's error.

A.R. Leonard, of the State Geological Survey, reports that the phantom island was a strip of land six miles long and a mile wide in the Praire Dog Creek valley in northwestern Phillips County.

Conserve Clothing, Soldiers Urged

MARBO—Recent information received from MarBo indicates that soldiers stationed at MarBo wear out uniform at a rate which costs over half a million dollars a year to replace.

Soldiers are reminded that money expended on uniforms and uniform repairs is actually their own money, and that of their families and fellow Americans, collected through taxes. The care and upkeep of every soldier's uniform should be his chief responsibility. He should uphold the reputation of being the best-dressed soldier in the world.

By choosing appropriate apparel for various types of work, exercising additional care in washing clothes, and mending tears and rips before they become enlarged, a conscientious soldier will be helping immeasurably the conservation program throughout the command.

Six Hitter by Newhouser Stops Yanks

NEW YORK, June 4 —(UP)— That little old bunt, so often disdained by baseball's mightier sluggers, gave Hal Newhouser of the Tigers one of his sweetest victories today, an 11-inning, 6 to 2 triumph over the Yankees in a cracker-jack pitching battle with another lefty, Ed Lopat.

Newhouser, pitching at his brilliant best, scattered six hits and was returned the victor when Tiger batters, schooled by their Wise Old Manager, Steve O'Neill, started bunting in the 11th.

Pat Mullin led off the inning with a single and in a daring bit of base-running got all the way to third when George Vico plunked a sacrifice bunt down third.

Up came pinch-hitter Connie Berry with instructions to work the squeeze. He bunted to pitcher Lopat and with questionable judgement Lopat threw the ball to the plate in an effort to nail Mullin who was almost home when Berry connected.

Jack Kramer topped his old team mates at Boston, pitching the Red Sox to a 3 to 2 victory over the Browns, a cut pitching rookie Ned Garver in a battle in which both gave up eight hits. But five of the blows off Garver were doubles and two of them in succession by Birdie Tebbetts and Dom DiMaggio produced the deciding run in the sixth. Whitey Platt hit a homer for the losers, scoring Paul Lehner, who had doubled.

With Rookie Richie Ashburn hitting like a demon and running the bases like a dervish, the Phils defeated the Cubs, 4 to 3 at Chicago as rookie Curt Simmons won his third game. Ashburn and Granny Hamner, also a rookie got three hits apiece and Ashburn also stole his 13th base, putting him well in front in the majors in that department.

The Pirates topped the Braves [illegible] at Pittsburgh when Elmer Singleton did some nervy relief pitching in the ninth to choke off a budding rally. He rescued Kirby Higbe with the bases loaded and none out. After fanning pinch-hitter Frank McCormick, he got Tommy Holmes and Eddie Stanky on infield outs.

The St. Louis Cards ended a six-game losing streak by beating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 1, in a night game at St. Louis. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen came off a sick bed to hold the Dodgers to four hits while Stan Musial and Country Slaughter led the Card attack with homers. Preacher Roe was the Dodgers' losing pitcher, ending his personal three-game winning streak.

Ewell Blackwell, making his first start since May 7, showed his sore arm was much improved by pitching Cincinnati to a 6 to 4 win over the New York Giants under the lights at Cincinnati.

Two night games in the American league were rained out—Cleveland at Washington and Chicago at Philadelphia.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED — Miss Ann Curtis (right) famed record-holding swimmer, announced her engagement to Gordon Cuneo (left) University of California basketball player in San Francisco recently. She said the marriage will take place after the Olympic games this summer. Here she proudly displays the ring. (AP Wirephoto)

Albuquerque Open Finds Over Forty Entries Starting First Round Today

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 4 —(UP)— More than 40 entrants were ticketed for first-round play of the $10,000 Albuquerque open this morning on the 6330-yard University Course. Rains, which prevented a scheduled PGA "parade of champions" clinic yesterday, left the greens in excellent shape, tourney officials said.

The star-studded first round list included Clayton Haefner of Charlotte, N. C., winner of last week's $15,000 Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth; Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who is defending the title he won last year; Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Cal., George Fazio of Los Angeles and Skip Alexander of Lexington, N. C.

Other attractions for the fans were Lawson Little of Chicago; Herman Keiser of Akron, O., Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kan.; and Ky Laffoon of St. Andrews, Ill.

Skee Riegal, National amateur champion, was on the indefinite list among the starters. Riegal, who yesterday adopted Albuquerque as his home port, was in California on a business trip and wasn't sure he could make it here today.

Instead of the PGA clinic which was abandoned yesterday because of the weather, the fairway kings will do specialty shots Saturday for the fans.

NEW YORK, June 4 —(UP)— Leon Kennedy, 25-year-old negro sparring partner for Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, was found dead of a heart attack today under a bridge spanning the bridle path in Brooklyn's Prospect park.

Walcott Practices Use Of Left Hook For Louis

GRENLOCH, N. J., June 4 —(UP)— Jersey Joe Walcott, razor sharp, disclosed today that he is readying an explosive left hook for Champion Joe Louis, who was floored twice on Dec. 5 by the challenger's right fist.

The stocky brown skinned challenger hit Austin Johnson on the chin so hard with a left hook this afternoon that Johnson was unconscious on the canvas for 90 seconds. The Negro sparmate from Atlantic City was still woozy a half hour later.

During seven rounds of boxing, Walcott exploded his port side dynamite many times against three of his four sparmates. He refrained from hurting Clifford Dyes of Miami, Fla., a middleweight who is used only for speed.

Another mate was less fortunate. Jersey Joe knocked Curtis Shepard, the "hatchet man" of Baltimore, half way across the ring in their second round, when Sheppard tried to nail Walcott with a right, but was smashed on the jaw with a countering left hook. Then Walcott leaped about the ring like a frolicking gorilla and belted the former heavyweight contender from post to post.

Padres Move Towards First Division; Seattle Holds Pace

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4 —(UP)— Just one week ago the San Francisco Seals had a seven-game lead in the Pacific Coast league battle for the bunting. Today there isn't that much room between first and fifth place!

San Diego, having taken a definite liking for the right field bleachers at Emeryville, moved to within a game of the first division last night by downing Oakland for the second time running, 6 to 4, on two homers and a three-run triple by Jackie Graham.

Graham, who says he is "one of those guys who just goes along doing a fair job," brought his runs batted in total to 70, well on the way to a new league record. His triple off the right-center fence was just too far left to miss the bleachers.

When Lee (Jeep) Handley homered with none on in the third frame, all fifteen of the runs scored in the series up to then, had come in via the home run route. Dain Clay hit the other Padre round-tripper in the first.

Meanwhile, the slumped San Francisco Seals dropped one to their fly-in-the-ointment, Seattle, 2 to 1, in the second game of a series that could cost them the lead.

George (Pinky) Woods pitched a three-hitter for Hollywood, but the Scaramento Solons triumphed, 3 to 1.

Portland took the lead in the first game of a series with Los Angeles, blanking the Angels 6 to 0 on the five-hit hurling of Jake Mooty and three homers by Andy Silvera, Herm Reich and Harv Storey.

Johnny Gorsica, winning his sixth game against six losses, held San Francisco to seven hits, while the Rainers were collecting eight off Willie Werle. Big Ed Mayokowicz scored the winning tally when he tripped and went home on Tony's grounder.

Alvin Jurisich won his fifth game for San Diego, but was yanked in the ninth when the Oaks threatened to tie it up. The Acrois scored twice in the last frame and had the tying two runs on base when the side was retired. Aldon Wilkie was the loser. Les Scarsella homered for the other two Oakland tallies in the second frame.

Of Sacramento's three hits, one was a homer by Babe Dahlgren and another a double by Joe Gray. Cecil won his own ball game with a single, the third Solon hit that drove in Grace.

Red Reams was the losing pitcher as Los Angeles granting the supposedly easy-to-take Beavers a safe blowout.

Tennis Eliminations For WesPac Squad Begin -- 10 Entries

Play to determine the Western Pacific delegation to the All Navy tennis tournament at Annapolis next month will begin tomorrow on the Naval Government courts at 1400 with five matches lined up.

Jones of Saipan and representing Commander Marianas in the no. 5 spot meets Clark from WesPac; and Keller, also of Saipan, faces H.M. Bishop, Chief Chris Meyer of NavComSta tackles J.S. Englund, and at 1600 Dr. William Seidel plays J.R. Burgoon.

ChPayClk Davis Warfield, open singles champion of the Guam News tennis tournament and surprise entry in the All Navy, tackles Ltjg. William Plescher in the day's feature match.

Play will continue tomorrow and Monday on the Naval Government courts.

David Kui Kong Young and Tom Ladrazo, who will meet next Friday night in a 10 round battle at the Paseo De Susana, will work out at the Paseo today. Young will work at 1400 and Ladrazo at 1530.

Connie Mack Honored; 48 Years as A's Mgr.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4 —(UP) Connie Mack, grand old man of baseball, was honored by the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce tonight for his 48 years as Athletics' manager and his 65 in organized baseball.

The occasion was a diner under the left field stands of Shibe Park, away from the rain that caused postponement of the A's night game with the Chicago White Sox.

Some 200 of the city's leading citizens donned A's caps and received souvenir bats as they paid homage to Mack, builder of nine pennant winners and five world champions.

Highlight of the festivities was the presentation of a plaque to Mack by Arthur C. Kaufmann, president of the Chamber of Commerce. He praised the 85-year-old Connie as a "living symbol of good sportsmanship."

Lewis Must Bargain With Coal Producers

WASHINGTON, June 5 —(UP)— Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough today ordered John L. Lewis to bargain immediately with the Southern Soft Coal Producers Association.

As court convened this morning, Goldsborough announced that he would sign the order requested by Robert N. Denham, general counsel for the National Labor Relations Board, at the end of a 28-minute information opinion. Then he called a five minute recess.

Soft coal operators expected that the Judge's action would break the two week deadlock in soft coal negotiations and lead to a resumption of talks with Lewis next week on a new contract to replace the one which expires June 30.

In his informal opinion, Goldsborough dismissed all of the union's reasons for the Southern Coal Producers Association and its president Joseph E. Moody, as "not significantly sufficient."

Labor Organizations

Neither, he said, is there sufficient reason to delay granting the injunction until after the National Labor Relation Board is pledged regarding next Tuesday's judgement of unfair labor practices.

"Mr. Lewis' attitude is a tactical attitude, he wants to destroy the Southern Coal Producers Association," Goldsborough said.

The United Mine Workers chief maintained that he would bargain with 14 separate locals on the present wage contract.

"This is a situation," Goldsborough said, "that affects our entire social fabric. Anyone who has any idea of the condition industry was in before it was unionized would agree that labor not only has a right, but should consolidate its strength to carry out its interests."

"But when the time comes when labor or any organization undertakes to carry out its interests to the point that it will disintegrate society, then at that point it must stop. You cannot advance interests to that point."

SEATTLE, June 5 —(UP)— James Farley said here Friday that President Truman will be nominated on the first Democratic ballot and that Harold E. Stassen was out of the Republican race.

The former chairman of the Democratic National Committee made these two predictions while on a short business visit here.

Farley said some of the southern states may boost Dwight D. Eisenhower, but Truman will be nominated on the first roll call.

"I look for the troubles with the southern states to be resolved before the election in November," he said.

Draft Bill Pushed

WASHINGTON, June 5 —(UP)— The Senate opened a drive to pass the 19-through-25 draft bill today and appeared headed into a bitter fight over efforts to tack on a "racial" rider.

Debate started after Republican and Democratic leaders failed in their first effort to sidetrack the civil rights issue, which has raised fears of a southern filibuster that would block action before the June 19 adjournment of Congress.

Headline Highlights

NANKING, June 5 —(UP)— Government reports today admitted the Communists have made substantial progress in their Shantung Province offensive.

Spilling over into steadily wider areas, the Reds have advanced north from Taian toward Tsinan and south toward Hsuchow in Kiangsu Province.

CHICAGO, June 5 —(UP)— The executive board of the CIO United Farm Equipment Workers Union voted today to comply with the non-Communist provision of the Taft-Hartley Law.

The union had been one of the strongest holdouts against signing non-Communist affidavits.

VIENNA, June 5 —(UP)— Italy's left wing Socialist party headed by Pietro Nenni was ousted from the Socialist Internationale today until such time as the party may break its ties with the Communists.

West Coast Strike Deemed 'Certainty'

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5 (UP) The CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union warned today that a strike June 15 is a "clear certainty" despite the fact that President Truman has created a fact-finding board to investigate West Coast maritime disputes.

The union said the strike most probably will be called because shipowners "have refused to consider any of the union demands, but instead have raised demands of their own which would wreck the union."

In an effort to stem the dispute, the President chose a five-man board headed by Harry Shulman of Yale University Law School.

Mission Plane Attacked

ATHENS, June 5 —(UP)— Dispatches from north Greece today said a plane carrying several members of the United Nations Balkans Committee was fired upon by guerrillas in the area of Belles Mountain near the Bulgarian frontier.

Several bullet holes were found in the wings of the plane, but no one aboard was injured, the dispatches, said. The plane made an emergency landing at Saloniko.

Weather Forecast

Generally cloudy with occasional moderate showers. Winds moderate easterly with fresh gusts in showers.

Yesterday's temperatures: Max. 86.5; Min. 78.0.

Yesterday's rainfall: 0.01.

Rainfall for month: 0.07.

Thirteen Listed as Missing in Vanport City Tragedy

PORTLAND, Ore., June 5 —(UP)— More troops and volunteers were thrown into the battle today to save the water-soaked Columbia River dikes which were threatened by a new crest sweeping down from the Rocky Mountains.

As emergency crews fought against the new danger, the Red Cross reported that 13 persons, including 11 children, were listed tentatively as "unaccounted for" in the Vanport City tradegy last Sunday.

But, the Red Cross said, there was no definite proof that the 13 persons were dead.

River forecasters broadcast alarms that the new crest will hit this area some time Monday and will have almost the same volume as last week's destructive flood.

Elmer Fisher, weather bureau forecaster, said the Columbia will climb to 29.5 feet at Vancouver and 29.3 at Portland, barely six inches below the level reached Tuesday night and Wednesday morning at the peak of the Columbia's first rampage.

Fisher said exceptionally hot weather in mountain regions had caused a new melting of snow, adding more water to the already swollen streams.

The fresh troops and volunteers joined hundreds of weary workers fighting to save levees near the river's outlet to the Pacific Ocean at Astoria.

Engineers reported that dikes were in "critical condition" at Willowgrove and Clatskanie, Ore., and at Cathlamet and Puget Island, Wash., because of seepage and sand "boils."

Thirty planes, including several C-47 transports, were poised to ferry hundreds of thousands of sand bags to Portland from Sacramento and Stockton, Cal., to replenish a dwindling supply, Army engineers said.

At Clatskanie, nine dikes were considered "critical" from softening due to excessive seepage. A series of high tides rolling up from the mouth of the Columbia against the flood crest aggravated the situation.

Engineers said there was "extensive seepage" along the Blue Lake dike, only major outer embankment still intact along the flooded north Portland lowlands.

Authorities, meanwhile, took extraordinary measures to combat widely-circulated rumors that bodies had been recovered from the Vanport City ruins and that news of the discoveries had been suppressed.

Tommy Thorne Earl Smith, Chief of Police James Fleming of Portland, Major Gen. Thomas E. Rilea, commander of the Oregon National Guard, and Capt. V. M. Gurdane, commander of Oregon State Police in Portland, all issued emphatic denials that any bodies had been found.

Leon Guerrero Urges Civil Government

WASHINGTON, June 5 —(UP)— Francisco B. Leon Guerrero, member of the Guam Legislative Council, today urged the House subcommittee on territories to press for civil government in Guam.

He appeared informally before the subcommittee to discuss some of Guam's problems and to answer questions of members about the political and economic situation there.

Guerrero has been a leader in the campaign for more self-government in Guam for over a decade.

He told the subcommittee today that "what we want is a definite determination of our civil rights and political status as has been made in the case of the Philippines." He did not say, however, that Guamanians wanted any special status such as independence, statehood or anything else.

For the present, he said, the chief aim is civil government.

He said, also, that the people of Guam are completely loya to the United States, despite the fact that they have not enjoyed a full measure of economic and political rights.

Guamanians do not want the Navy, Army or Air Force to leave Guam, Guerrero, said in answer to questions. But, he added, their use of more than half of the Islands 200 square miles has greatly increased the problem of making 24,000 native inhabitants economically self-sufficient.

Roval Birth Expected

LONDON, June 5 —(UP)— Princess Elizabeth is going to have a baby this autumn. Confirmation of long standing reports that Elizabeth will become a mother came in a formal announcement from Buckingham Palace tonight.

WASHINGTON, June 5 —(UP) Legislation to permit the enlistment and commissioning of women in the regular Armed Forces is waiting the approval of President Truman.

The Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps each would be permitted to put women in the regular services up to two per cent of their authorized strength. Under present law, women are in reserve branches. The shift must be made gradually over a two-year period.

NAVY COMMEMORATES SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF MIDWAY OF JUNE 3 TO 6, 1942 —— This battle has been described as "perhaps the most decisive battle of the war" against Japan, and marked the emergence of Naval aviation as a dominant force in warfare. In this engagement, the Japanese lost four aircraft carriers and a cruiser destroyed by carrier-based planes, and 250 aircraft. The U. S. forces lost the carrier USS Yorktown, the destroyer USS Hammann and 113 carrier-based planes. Shown above, escort ships flank the illfated USS York'own, sunk during the battle. After being heavily damaged by Japanese bombers and torpedo planes. The Yorktown was torpedoed twice by an enemy submarine on June 6, 1942 and sank the following day. This picture, taken from almost dead ahead, shows the heavy list of the 19,900-ton Yorktown to port and her barren flight deck, capable of holding about 90 planes. (U. S. Navy Photo)

TRAPPED BETWEEN WALLS, 'BLACKIE' IS RESCUED — With the aid of a rope fashioned into a noose, Allan Glisch (at left), of the Animal Welfare League, pulls "Blackie," a collie pup, from between the walls of a kitchen at the Edington family home, after the dog fell through an opening in the attic. The winning entries in the MarBo contest have been forwarded on to Tokyo for FEC finals.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Robert P. McConnell, Miss Lenelle Radford and Mr. Alfred S. Diggs.

WASHINGTON — The commandant of the Marine Corps has been notified by the Chief of Naval Operations that Naval and Marine personnel serving ashore in Japan, Korea, the Bonin Islands and the Ryukyu Islands between September 2, 1945, and a future date not yet determined are eligible to wear the Navy Occupation Service Medal.

This includes personnel who have served in both a permanent and temporary duty status, the announcement said.

The ribbon is of silk, one and three eighths inches wide consisting of a three-sixteenths inch stripe of white, and one-half inch band of black, a one-half inch band of red, and a final three-sixteenths inch strip of white.

Shown are new chevrons and insignia approved by the Air Force to be worn by Air Force personnel when present supplies are exhausted.

AF Approves New Insignia Chevrons

MARAMA—The United States Air Force has approved new types of chevrons and cap, collar, and lapel insignia for enlisted men and new metal buttons for all personnel.

Although routine procurement of chevrons and insignias will start immediately out of current funds, existing old-style Army chevrons and insignia will be used until USAF inventories are exhausted. The Air Force plans to begin gradual replacement of worn-out, old-style chevrons and insignia in approximately six months.

The various grades of enlisted men will wear the same number of stripes as on the old-style chevrons, but the top of the "V" will always be open. The fourth, fifth, and sixth stripes will curve around the bottom of the chevron, roughly parallel to the first three stripes. For example, a second-grade enlisted man (technical sergeant), who now has three V-shaped stripes pointed upward and two downward, hereafter will have five V-shaped stripes all pointed downward, but the bottom rounded.

The cap insignia for both enlisted men and officers will be the American eagle military shield used now, but for enlisted men's wear it will be enclosed in a circle, one and five-eighths inches in diameter. The size and design of the lapel propeller insignia and the coat "U.S." insignia will remain unchanged, but they also will be encircled for enlisted men's wear.

Gold-colored metal buttons used on the blouse and overcoat will be changed to incorporate the Air Force seal which was adopted when the USAF assumed co-equal status with the Navy and the Army under the National Security Act of 1947.

Waited Long Enough

SPOKANE, Wash. —(UP)— The war interrupted things but when one swain appeared at the marriage license bureau, he found the license he had taken out in 1943 still awaiting him. The clerk explained it would not be necessary to go through the customary three-day waiting period. "Five years is long enough," the clerk said.

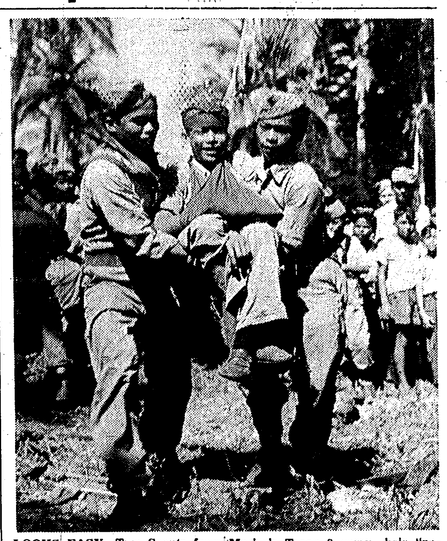
Scouts Hold First Annual Camp-O-Ree at Tai

ROPE WORK—Scouts from Santa Rita, Piti and Agana get ready to pull their brother Scouts across the finish line in the knot-tying contest. This was one of the hottest contests of the day, with six troops being declared tied for top honors. Photos appearing on this page are by H. M. Carey.



LOOKS EASY—Two Scouts from Merizo's Troop 9 carry their "patient" in a "chair carry" across the finish line after attending to simulated injuries on his head, his hand, and arm. Troop 7's Fox Patrol won this event, but Merizo Scouts were happy too.

CHOW TIME—Deano Harris of Troop 4, Santa Rita, and two of his buddies prepare to observe the "13th Scout law—'A Scout is hungry.'"

SONG SIESTA—Troop 8 of umatac, one of the singingest outfits on Guam, takes time out to sing a few new songs before taps.

THE WHOLE FAMILY HELPS TIRED JUNIOR BREAK CAMP—At least it looks that way, as the home folks pitched in and helped pack up for the trip home.

Boy Scouts Give Exhibition of Woodmanship

The annual spring Camp-O-Ree of the Guam Council, Boy Scouts of America, which took place at the Father Duenas Memorial school grounds May 30-31, was a spectacular demonstration of campfires, singing, Scoutcrafts, and camping skill on the part of the 21 troops comprising the council area.

Each troop, under the direction of its own leaders, camped, cooked, played and worked from Sunday noon to late Monday afternoon. As the smoke of the last campfire cleared away, Troop 7 of Inarajan, Jesus Paulino, scoutmaster, emerged the winner with the highest point total; Troop 12 of Sinajana, Carlos Laguana, scoutmaster, was second and Troop 4 of Santa Rita, Stanley Limlaco, scoutmaster, and Troop 18 of Piti, D.C. Zamora, scoutmaster, were tied for third and fourth place, while Troop 9 of Merizo, Jesus Quenene, scoutmaster, was fifth.

Since all contests were on a patrol basis, the individual winning patrols in the contests were as follows: signaling, Crow Patrol, Troop 5, Agat; first aid, Fox Patrol, Troop 7, Inarajan; string burning, Flaming Arrow Patrol, Troop 12, Sinajana; Water boiling, Indian Patrol, Troop 12, Sinajana, and whittling, Flying Eagle Patrol, Troop 13, Piti.

Hottest Contest

In knot-tying, there was a six-way tie between the Deer Patrol, Troop 4 of Santa Rita; Bat Patrol, Troop 7 of Inarajan; Buffalo Patrol, Troop 9 of Merizo; Flying Eagle Patrol, Troop 13 of Piti; Beaver Patrol, Troop 16 of Sinajana; and the Eagle Patrol, Troop 18 of Mongmong. Troop 4 of Santa Rita, Troop 5 of Agat, Troop 13 of Piti, and Troop 18 of Mongmong were awarded top ratings in camp inspection.

Highlight of the Camp-O-Ree, in addition to the contests, was the huge campfires on Sunday night in which nearly all units were given an opportunity to entertain the audience of perhaps seven or eight hundred Scouts and Scouters. A field Mass was celebrated Monday morning for Scouts of the Catholic faith by the Very Rev. Msgr. O. L. Calvo

The Camp-O-Ree was under the general direction of the Council Camping and Activities Committee headed by Jose Guzman of Sinajana, and under the technical direction of Eugene C. Krapf, Scout executive.

Another Planned

Immediately after the Camp-O-Ree, plans began to be laid for a similar event which will take place probably during the Christmas vacation in December. All commissioned Scout leaders (Scoutmasters and Assistant Scoutmasters) will meet shortly to discuss the good points of the Camp-O-Ree and lay plans for the next one.

PUP HUT—Three Scouts from Agat's Troop 5 demonstrate how to weave a palm leaf hut to be used by their patrol at the Camporee. Agat won one of the four campsite inspection awards.

THE END—Scout Pedro Manibusan of Troop 16, Sinajana, son of Judge Manibusan, signals the letter N, as the Camporee came to a close. The signaling relay was won by the Fox Patrol of Troop 5, Agat, but the photographer caught Pedro in an interesting pose.

Society . . . .

Every women should apply the new look to herself as an inlividual. It should be kept in mind that she should wear only clothes that improve the appearance or make her look lovelier. For example, the shorter women should watch very closely that extra inch in the skirt length. Her kirt should come to mid-calf or one inch below no longer. If it gets toward the ankle, it begins to look as if the skirt were taking her along. These swirling skirts with the fullness gathered around the hips are not for her, either. For street wear the best type of skirt is the kind that is gored and slopes off the hips.

Buying New Suits

When you go in to buy that new suit the taller woman can carry the new length, and the long great coats. If the shorter girl wears one of these enveloping swing-back coats, it looks as if there is a lot of coat walking around with the girl inside. However, the fitted strip box jacket, with straight lines, is much better for her. It is particularly good with a straight skirt underneath because it gives the illusion of height.

Another bit of advice—don't wear ballet slippers unless you are tall and have lovely-looking legs. Even then, however, flat heels don't give a good body line that most women need.

It is rather evident, that shoulder pads will never be discarded completely. Therefore, they have a tendency to be very much softer and certainly do not extend out quite as far. The new contour is rounded, soft and elegant.

Few girls have the dream proportions for these new clothes, which is particularly true of the shorter gal. However, if she hasn't gone to width, she can create the illusion by following these do's and don'ts:

Dont's and Do's

Don't make jumps in the overall-picture like combining red hat and shoes with a black dress. Don't wear fancy footgear such as slippers with ankle straps and open toes. Don't wear swing skirts with detail in trimming. However, do, keep the entire costume picture in one expanse of color, adding color highlights and with gloves and at approximately 14 inches from the floor and no longer. Choose pencil type skirts, and lift the waistline slightly. Most important, give yourself an up hairdo, if you have the face for it. This will tend to give the shorties the illusion of possessing the stylish builds they haven't got, until the fashion pendulum swings around and the builds they do possess become high-style again.

Women should also pay as much attention to fashion neckline in relation to types of faces as they do to coiffures. For example, women with long, thin necks and long faces should avoid the V-neck in dress. These faces need a higher neckline—the slit type: the soft, close fitting little round collar crisp jabots, close-to-the-throat roll collars. Adhering to these neckline fashions will tend to minimize length and thinness of the face and throat—to create an illusion of fullness.

Face Dressing

On the other hand, the woman with an angular jaw should avoid square necklines. The face over this type of neckline simply becomes a continuation of a square pattern and it's particular fault is emphasized. In opposition to the thin neck the fat, short neck should be completed with V-necklines and away-from-the-throat treatments.

Kissing Science Warns Psychologist; Clinch, Analyze; Start Rationing

BOSTON —(UP)— Kissing is—and always has been—a science as well as an art, a phychologist came out with recently.

"The kiss is a loaded gun and should be handled with respect and care," warned Dr. Leo Lieberman, psychology professor at Suffolk University.

"It quickens the pulse. Stimulates the heart. Makes the nerves jitterbug. It's not something to be done carelessly."

"I don't want to go on record as opposing kissing. It's great stuff when done by the right people under the right circumstances. But there are a few simple rules to follow."

For one thing, he said, people should discover their kissing-ceiling.

"Sweethearts should know when to stop kissing," he said. "If they don't they become emotionally punchy, like boxers.

Analyze—Rationing

"They should analyze the effect of another's kiss on them. If it's restful, soothing— that's splendid. If it starts a four-alarm fire, look out. Start rationing.

"Remember that surroundings contribute to the emotional impact of a kiss. Ordinarily, a peck on the cheek never hurt anyone. But if it's spring and the romantic setting is isolated and soft breezes are rustling the trees—well, a kiss has more punch.

"Under those circumstances sweethearts will find their kisses are getting longer like the days and they should readjust their kiss ceiling rates accordingly."

This is a good point to remember in goodnight kisses, he said.

"These simple rules would be of greatest benefit to that wink-and-whistle group known as—pardon the expression—wolves," he said. "They flit from kiss to kiss and absorb a terrible emotional beating."

Sloppy Girls Accept Boys' Hint, Spruce Up

LAKIN, Kan. —(UP)— Lakin boys think Lakin girls are the prettiest in the Southwest.

The boys thus got tired of seeing the girls come to school in blue jeans and with their shirttails hanging out.

The boys of the local high school organized a "Blue Nose Club" with 100 per cent membership to outlaw sloppy attire. Then they went to school in their Sunday best.

The girls looked worse than ever. They took the hint.

That's One Way to do it!

ATHOL, Mass. —(UP)— Father of three sons age two, five, and seven, the Rev. Truman L. Hoyes appealed to his congregation for return of a borrowed book by saying:

"Please let us have it back. We can't keep house without it."

A few days later an apologetic parishioner returned the volume titled "The Child From Five to Ten."

PUEBLO, Colo. —(AP)— Female "mashers" have become so aggressive here that police have issued a warning to young men who must walk the streets alone at night.

The situation came to light when Albert Garillo reported to officers that two women emerged from an alley and tried to "force their affections" on him.

Garillo said that when he resisted both women attacked him. During the resulting confusion he lost $3 and the women fled, he said.

Hollywood Highlights

by Patricia Clary
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD —(UP)— Ann Sheridan envies the girl who just can't get her hair to curl. Miss Sheridan just can't get her hair to do anything else.

"If you've ever wished for naturally curly hair," says Miss Sheridan, "stop right now. Just march out and get yourself a permanent. I wish I could solve my troubles that easily."

When you have straight hair, you're uncomfortable for an hour twice a year while you get a permanent. But Miss Sheridan says curly hair is uncomfortable every day.

"When I comb my hair, removing one tangle just makes for about a dozen more tangles," she explained. "One of my earliest and strongest memories is my mother painstakingly working the snarls out of my hair while I begged for braids.

"The trouble with curly hair is that it is so determined to curl. It curls when the wind blows; it curls at the slightest dampness in the air; and the rest of the time it just curls out of sheer perversity."

Just One Difference

Scientifically, the only difference, except in color, between Miss Sheridan's hair and that of her straight-haired sisters is that her hair follicles are oval while theirs are round.

But that scientific difference, Miss Sheridan says, affects her in such ways as limiting her hair style. No matter how bored she gets with looking at it, she has to dress it just about the same way.

For a slight change she mixed it in Warner Bros. "The Unfaithful" with a modified chignon in back.

"It looks straight and trim after it is set," she said, "but when I looked in the mirror I would find at least one stubborn curl popping up some place."

Miss Sheridan thinks having red hair is okay. But she's betting mighty tired, too, of hearing the same old wisecrack:

"Who spilled the catsup on your head?"

Some day, she hopes, she'll think of the perfect reply.

High Button Shoes Coming Back

ST. LOUIS —(UP)— Shoe designers in this footwear manufacturing center are out to put the ladies back into spats and buttoned shoes by fall.

The St. Louis Manufacturing Association says it is turning back the fashion pages to fine beading, high button spats, scalloped pinking and jeweled net ornaments for the new fall lines of women's footwear.

The stylists won't go all the way back, though. Just enough to keep in step with present feminine fashions.

For instance, the new spat shoes won't be much like the ones grandma wore when she stepped out. They're scheduled to be light and airy in appearance. One style, in particular, will have cutwork all around the quarter.

And about buttons. Don't go digging in the attic trunk where Aunt Mamie put away the old buttonhook. The pearl buttons on next fall's shoes will be mostly for decorative purposes, although they still might be a handy gadget to latch a shoestring onto in an emergency.

The heels will be covered with a pearl-finished celluloid to match the buttons.

THE ROCK . . . . . by Tom Richards

"THE TIME HAS COME", the Walrus said, "to speak of other things. . . ."Yes, the time has come and in fact it is long past due when a topic must be discussed in print which should have been mentioned and remedied long ago.

There are quite a few drivers of large new automobiles here on Guam who apparently feel it is their duty to senselessly hammer on their horns at the least, and sometimes no provocation. This apparently gives them a feeling of importance and no doubt stems from a badly enlarged inferiority complex. Discussing this subject is an embarrassing one to me as these pests are making a real nuisance of themselves.

Driving automobiles and the use of automotive equipment today is as much a part of the American way life as are movies, the Bob Hope show, or the Red Cross. Automobiles didn't come quickly to the people of the U.S.A. They cae slowly over a period of nearly half a hundred years as new mechanical improvements were made and the car became more and more a part of our daily life. Gradually, as cars became increasingly popular, a code of ethics was developed by and for motorists that is or should be observed by every lady or gentleman who drives a vehicle. Different cities and states have different rules and regulations but fundamentally all the rules are based on good manners, courtesy, and safety. The Code of a true lady or gentleman forbids he or she to do things which are ungracious or apt to offend their fellow human beings. This holds true not only in our social and business contacts but also when operating a motor vehicle. Ignorance, stupidity, selfishness, or boorishness should have no place on our roads today. Accidents on the roads of Guam are increasing in an alarming rate. Many of these accidents can be traced directly to lack of courtesy. If we observe the smaller courtesies in traffic, larger ones will take care of themselves. The modern driver must not only be able to operate his vehicle in a safe and sane manner but he or she must also do it in such a fashion that other motorists will not be offended. It is interesting to note that most of the "Horn Tooters" are driving expensive cars. The natural assumption is that they haven't learned that well bred people just don't do certain things.

Let's have a little more courtesy in our driving, friends. By the way, look for "The Rock" next Sunday; it should be interesting, if it is still here.

Miners Trim All Stars

The NOB Industrial Miners kept themselves atop the Navy Inter-Command baseball race yesterday as they trimmed the NAS Agana All Stars 8 to 1 at Miner Stadium.

Jumping on losing pitcher Phil Boyd, "Matty" Mathurin, Miner outfielder, took advantage of a high inside pitch and belted it over the outfield for his first home run of the season with a mate on board in the first inning to gain the necessary margin for the triumph.

"Tex" Dulaney, suffering from an eye infection, started for the Miners and after allowing one run in the first inning, settled down until the fifth inning. Bothered by his infected eye, he chose to leave the ball game and was replaced by Ace "Rog" Kroul. Kroul gave up three hits and no runs from there on in.

European Fighters Lead Boxing Tourney

CHICAGO, June 5 —(UP)— Fighters from the European Command were marked as the ones to beat today as the world wide Army and Air Force Boxing Tournament entered its third day of elimination bouts.

In the best bout last night, Balgar Lowenstein of the European Command decisioned Jose Cardenas of the Pacific Theater. Liwenstein and Cardenas both are 175-pounders.

Another European slugger, Ross Virgo, advanced into the semi-finals with a clean decision over Dave Pruitt of the First Army in a welterweight bout.

Hawaii's welterweight, Joe Lopez of Chicago, also qualified for the semi-finals when Joe Murphy, First Army, defaulted.

Boston Reds Win Twin-Bill

NEW YORK, June 5 —(UP)— Those anemic Boston Red Sox, whose corpuscles haven't matched the color of their hosiery, finally had a profitable afternoon today, winning their first double header since last Labor Day, 10 to 4 and 7 to 2 over the St. Louis Browns.

In the opener Joe Dobson scored his six victory, coasting in with nine scattered hits as the Bostonians made all their runs in two big innings. Bill Goodman's two-run double was the big blow in the four-run fourth. In the eighth, the Red Sox tallied six times, Vernon Stephens and Dom DiMaggio each delivering with two-run singles.

Whitey Platt and Les Moss hit homers for the Brownies in the first game. In the nightcap, the Red Sox sewed it up with four runs in the first inning, then went on to collect a total of 12 hits off three St. Louis Pitchers. Every player in the lineup except Pitcher Denny Galehouse got at least one hit. For Galehouse got at least one hit went enough in winning his first game after three straight defeats.

In the National league the Giants topped the Reds, 5 to 4 at Cincinnati when pinch-hitter Buddy Kerr drove in two runs in the eighth with a single that broke a 3 to 3 tie. Dave Kosolo held the Reds hitless for five innings to gain the victory. Hank Sauer of the Reds hit two homers, giving him the major league lead with 15 for the season.

The Phils won their second straight from the Cubs at Chicago, getting 13 hits in a 7 to 2 decision which found Rookie Richie Ashburn hitting safely in his 21st game with a pair of singles. Walt (Hot Dog) Dubiel went the route for his third victory although he yeilded eight hits.

One of the finest pitching duels of the season was broken up in the 15th inning in a night game at Washington when the Cleveland Indians scored five runs to beat the Senators, 5 to 0. The Senators got only four hits off Bob Feller, who went 12 innings, and Bob Muncrief, who finished up. Mickey Haefner went 13 innings, giving up five hits for the Senators, but the Indians bombarded Tom Ferdick and Dick Welteroth in the 15th.

In another American League night game, the Athletics scored three runs in the seventh inning to beat the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 3, at Philadelphia.

Riflin' Ralph Branca of the Brooklyn Dodgers spread nine hits and shut out the Cardinals, 1 to 0 at St. Louis.

The Boston Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 7, under the lights at Pittsburgh.

The Yanks downed Detroit, 7-4.

Tennis Finalists To Represent WesPac in Tourney

CPayClk David Warfield won out in a tough 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 battle yesterday afternoon over Dr. William Plescher of Tsingtao in the last match of the first afternoon's eliminations to determine the team to represent the Western Pacific in the All Navy tennis tournament.

Warfield, rated as the top tennis player on the Island, dropped his first set in competition this year and had a battle all the way as the smooth-stroking Plescher fought back each time Warfield went ahead. In the first set Warfield led 5-1, but Plescher came back and brought the count to 5-4 before Warfield fired a baseline lob to cop tht first set. In the second set the doctor's form and accuracy came through to dump Warfield, but the third set was too much and Warfield's better condition showed up. The climate here has effected all the Tsingtao squad after the winter months in China.

In other matches, Dr. William Seidel of Guam had too much experience for J. L. Burgoon and won ont, 6-0, 6-2; Chris Meyer of NavComSta defeated J. S. Englund, 6-1, 6-2; Lt. Frank Kris of NATS Asia on Guam dumped Clark, 6-1, 6-1; and Bruce Keller from Saipan moved by H. M. Bishop, 7-5, 6-4.

Matches today will include: Englund vs Keller and Bishop vs Kirz at 1500; and Seidel vs Plescher and Burgoon vs Meyer at 1600.

HOLLYWOOD, June 5 —(UP)— Favored Bob Castro, 160 ½, Los Angeles, who could have kept an advantage if he had opened up, loafed through a 10-round Legion Stadium fight tonight and lost the decision to aggressive Milo Savage, 158 ¼, Seattle, Wash.

Ties Two Records, Breaks One

COMPTON, Cal., June 5 —(UP) Panama-born Lloyd La Beach tied two world's records and blasted a third from the books tonight in sweeping the stirints at the Compton Invitational.

La Beach won the 220-yard dash in 20.8 seconds, equaling Jesse Owens' record set in 1935, and was timed at 20.2 for the 200-meters in the same race. Tzens, of Ohio state, is the recognized 200-meter world's record holder at 20.3, also set in 1935.

La Beach also tied the 100-meter record at 10.2 seconds held jointly by Owens and Harold Davis, Compton. The dark-skinned La Beach won both sprints with little difficulty, Charlie Peters, Indiana's big nine champion finishing second in both, and Barney Ewell, Penn. A. C., third.

Top PCL Teams Have Their Bad Days

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5 —(UP)— Some days a guy can't make a nickel and that's just the root three of the Pacific Coast League's erstwnile top teams found themselves in today.

San Francisco, self-toutel to win the bunting by 25 games, held a two-gamt margin over the upstart Seattle Rainiers. Los Angeles still had failed to squeak past the downtrodden Portland Beavers. Oakland, rated pennant calibre, by many, had dropped into the second division.

The Seals lost their second straight to Seattle last night, 6 to 4, with Earl Rapp providing the Rainiers scoring punch and Herman Besse turning in his tighth pitching victory.

Jackie Jensen was the big power at Oakland, where he punched the San Diego Padres into fourth place with their third win in a row over the Acorns, 4 to 3.

Portland came from behind with six runs in the seventh and eighth frames to down the Angels 7 to 5. That gave the Beavers a 2-0 series edge.

At Sacramento, the Solons split a doubleheader with Hollywood, winning the first game 3 to 1 on the six-hit hurling of Marv Grissom, but losing the nightcap, 3 to 2, when Lou Stringer homered for the Twinks in the ninth.

Miners Trim All Stars

The NOB Industrial Miners kept themselves atop the Navy Inter-Command baseball race yesterday as they trimmed the NAS Agana All Stars 8 to 1 at Miner Stadium.

Jumping on losing pitcher Phil Boyd, "Matty" Mathurin, Miner outfielder, took advantage of a high inside pitch and belted it over the outfield for his first home run of the season with a mate on board in the first inning to gain the necessary margin for the triumph.

"Tex" Dulaney, suffering from an eye infection, started for the Miners and after allowing one run in the first inning, settled down until the fifth inning. Bothered by his infected eye, he chose to leave the ball game and was replaced by Ace "Rog" Kroul. Kroul gave up three hits and no runs from there on in.

European Fighters Lead Boxing Tourney

CHICAGO, June 5 —(UP)— Fighters from the European Command were marked as the ones to beat today as the world wide Army and Air Force Boxing Tournament entered its third day of elimination bouts.

In the best bout last night, Balgar Lowenstein of the European Command decisioned Jose Cardenas of the Pacific Theater. Liwenstein and Cardenas both are 175-pounders.

Another European slugger, Ross Virgo, advanced into the semi-finals with a clean decision over Dave Pruitt of the First Army in a welterweight bout.

Hawaii's welterweight, Joe Lopez of Chicago, also qualified for the semi-finals when Joe Murphy, First Army, defaulted.

Boston Reds Win Twin-Bill

NEW YORK, June 5 —(UP)— Those anemic Boston Red Sox, whose corpuscles haven't matched the color of their hosiery, finally had a profitable afternoon today, winning their first double header since last Labor Day, 10 to 4 and 7 to 2 over the St. Louis Browns.

In the opener Joe Dobson scored his six victory, coasting in with nine scattered hits as the Bostonians made all their runs in two big innings. Bill Goodman's two-run double was the big blow in the four-run fourth. In the eighth, the Red Sox tallied six times, Vernon Stephens and Dom DiMaggio each delivering with two-run singles.

Whitey Platt and Les Moss hit homers for the Brownies in the first game. In the nightcap, the Red Sox sewed it up with four runs in the first inning, then went on to collect a total of 12 hits off three St. Louis Pitchers. Every player in the lineup except Pitcher Denny Galehouse got at least one hit. For Galehouse got at least one hit went enough in winning his first game after three straight defeats.

In the National league the Giants topped the Reds, 5 to 4 at Cincinnati when pinch-hitter Buddy Kerr drove in two runs in the eighth with a single that broke a 3 to 3 tie. Dave Kosolo held the Reds hitless for five innings to gain the victory. Hank Sauer of the Reds hit two homers, giving him the major league lead with 15 for the season.

The Phils won their second straight from the Cubs at Chicago, getting 13 hits in a 7 to 2 decision which found Rookie Richie Ashburn hitting safely in his 21st game with a pair of singles. Walt (Hot Dog) Dubiel went the route for his third victory although he yeilded eight hits.

One of the finest pitching duels of the season was broken up in the 15th inning in a night game at Washington when the Cleveland Indians scored five runs to beat the Senators, 5 to 0. The Senators got only four hits off Bob Feller, who went 12 innings, and Bob Muncrief, who finished up. Mickey Haefner went 13 innings, giving up five hits for the Senators, but the Indians bombarded Tom Ferrick and Dick Welteroth in the 15th.

In another American League night game, the Athletics scored three runs in the seventh inning to beat the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 3, at Philadelphia.

Riflin' Ralph Branca of the Brooklyn Dodgers spread nine hits and shut out the Cardinals, 1 to 0 at St. Louis.

The Boston Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10 to 7, under the lights at Pittsburgh.

The Yanks downed Detroit, 7-4.

Tennis Finalists To Represent WesPac in Tourney

CPayClk David Warfield won out in a tough 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 battle yesterday afternoon over Dr. William Plescher of Tsingtao in the last match of the first afternoon's eliminations to determine the team to represent the Western Pacific in the All Navy tennis tournament.

Warfield, rated as the top tennis player on the Island, dropped his first set in competition this year and had a battle all the way as the smooth-stroking Plescher fought back each time Warfield went ahead. In the first set Warfield led 5-1, but Plescher came back and brought the count to 5-4 before Warfield fired a baseline lob to cop tht first set. In the second set the doctor's form and accuracy came through to dump Warfield, but the third set was too much and Warfield's better condition showed up. The climate here has effected all the Tsingtao squad after the winter months in China.

In other matches, Dr. William Seidel of Guam had too much experience for J. R. Burgoon and won ont, 6-0, 6-2; Chris Meyer of NavComSta defeated J. S. Englund, 6-1, 6-2; Lt. Frank Krls of NATS Asia on Guam dumped Clark, 6-1, 6-1; and Bruce Keller from Saipan moved by H. M. Bishop, 7-5, 6-4.

Matches today will include: Englund vs Keller and Bishop vs Kerz at 1500; and Seidel vs Plescher and Burgoon vs Meyer at 1600.

HOLLYWOOD, June 5 —(UP) Favored Bob Castro, 160 ½, Los Angeles, who could have kept an advantage if he had opened up, loafed through a 10-round Legion Stadium fight tonight and lost the decision to aggressive Milo Savage, 158 ¼, Seattle, Wash.

NATS, ATC Merge Into One Unit

Completing more than six years of service without a passenger fatality in the Pacific, the Naval Air Transport Service recently merged with the Air Transport Command to form the new military Air Transport Service.

The Asiatic Wing of NATS, with headquarters on Guam, began operations immediately after the invasion of the Island by establishing evacuation flights of casualities to Pearl Harbor and the States. It has grown steadily in size and volume until today NATS Asia is composed of 88 officers, 2 nurses and 485 enlisted men.

Asiatic Wing

The Asiatic Wing is composed of a staff, Air Transport Squadron Six, which is the flying squadron, and Air Transport Squadron Seven, which is the maintenance and ground support for the entire wing. All three have headquarters located on Guam. Commander NATS Asia is Capt. Gerald R. Dyson, USN.

During the first three months of this year, NATS Asia carried an average of 99 passengers per day in an average of 8 daily departures. A total of 11,684,162 passenger miles were flown during the first quarter of 1948, and 2,445,243 ton miles of cargo were handled by NATS during that time.

To The Orient

The frequency of flights out of Guam for the Asiatic stations vary each month, but the average number of flights each week to different destinations are: 5 to Shanghai and Tsingtao, 5 to Manila, 4 to Tokyo, 3 to Saipan, and 2 to Okinawa and Shanghai.

There are normally 2 flights daily from Guam to Kwajalein, Johnson Island and Honolulu for connection to the United States. These flights are operated by Air Transport Squadron Eight, stationed in Honolulu.

NATS Asia uses the R5D, 4-engined transport plane, manufactured by Douglas Aircraft Corporation. It is called the DC-4 by commecial aviation and is used currently by the majority of all airlines.

It is powered by four Pratt-Whitney R 2000-9 engines (1450 horsepower each). The R5D cruises at an air speed of 210 miles per hour. The takeoff weight, completely loaded is 68,200 pounds and the gas load is 3,500 gallons.

The R5D (plush) type aircraft normally carries passengers and mail only. The cargo type aircraft with the infamous bucket seat carries all types of traffic, including cargo, mail and passengers. Every NATS plane is figured on a slip stick (aircraft version of the slide rule) and it is not accepted for flight until it is balanced correctly for takeoff, inflight and landing.

Talkdown System

All inbound NATS flights to Guam are landed by the ground controlled approach unit four, known as "Agana GCA." GCA is a radar "talkdown system" of aiding a pilot to a landing under conditions of reduced ceiling and visibility. While it is not the only system used for landing under instrument conditions it is one which has in practice demonstrated ability to bring in safely under adverse conditions any reasonable competent pilot capable of controlling any type of aircraft on instruments, equipped with a two-way communications.

During the 18 months period "Agana GCA" has been in operation at NAS Agana, a total of 5,357 satisfactory approaches have been made. Of this total, 2,115 approaches were made by scheduled inbound NATS aircraft, and a total of 95 satisfactory approaches by both NATS and other aircraft stationed on Guam, under conditions of reduced ceiling and visibility. Lcdr C. L. Kullbert, USN, is the officer in charge of "Agana GCA."

Maxon "Sky Plates" are served on all NATS Asia flights departing from Guam. These meals are flash frozen and maintained in that state until heated in a special oven just prior to serving. The Maxson meals insure the service of hot, high quality and very palatable food. For example, menus include: Swiss steak, gravy, lima beans and potato Boulangere; roast turkey and dressing; and these "Sky Plates" are supplemented by relishes, fruit bread, butter, jams and coffee. These meals are welcomed by all NATS passengers.

The Asiatic Wing of the Naval Air Transport Service has maintained an enviable record of service, economy and safety and has helped establish air transport as an integral part of the Navy logistics.

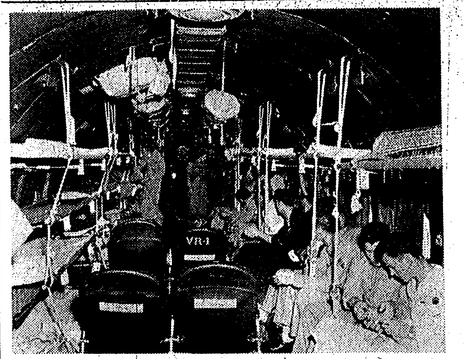
STEWARDS — J. T. Pritchard, AN, USN, Cincinnati, Ohio, (right) and J. A. Nauarro, AN, USN, Bronx, N. Y., are two of the many stewards on Naval Air Transports. Shown here getting coffee for a passenger, they perform one of the many services for making travelling by NATS more comfortable.

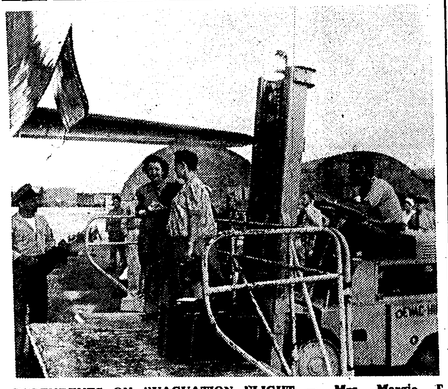
NATS ASIA TERMINAL — The Naval Air Transport Service terminal on Guam is shown above. NATS Asia in the first three months of this year carried 9,040 passengers. Quarters, messing and ground transportation are provided for passengers travelling by NATS.



EVACUATION FLIGHT — Shown above in the interior of the Naval Air Transport Service evacuation plane. After hospital patients are loaded, regular NATS passenges fill up the remainder of the plane.

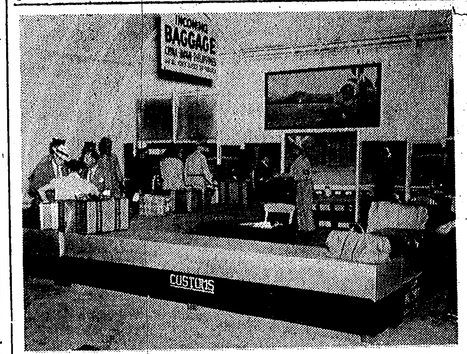
HOSPITAL PATIENTS — Loading hospital patients on NATS evacuation flights is a weekly routine for the evacuation crew at NATS Asia. Shown being readied to be hoisted aboard are Sgt. E. W. Schoeck, USMC, and G. V. Senuk, SN(PI), Bristol Conn.

DEPENDENTS — Chief and Mrs. C. H. King, from San Francisco, are shown just after Mrs. King arrived on Guam via the Naval Air Transport Service. Transporting dependents is one of the many services NATS performs.



DEPENDENTS ON EVACUATION FLIGHT — Mrs. Margie F. Brooks, wife of Marvin T. Brooks, MEC, USN, and flight nurse Lt. V. Giddens are shown on the lift to the evacuation plane. Mrs. Brooks was transferred from the USS Gen. Anderson due to motion sickness.

CARGO — A NATS enlisted man is shown tying down mail sacks on a NATS plane. During the first three months of this year NATS Asia handled an average of 26,871 ton miles of cargo per day.



BAGGAGE COUNTER — A group of NATS passengers are shown receiving their baggage after arriving on Guam from Pearl Harbor. Persons travelling by NATS are allowed to carry 165 pounds of baggage.

RESERVATIONS — Courteous, efficient service is always foremost with all functions of NATS. Shown at the reservation window at NATS Asia on Guam are, L to R, B. C. Fried, BTC, San Francisco, Calif.; F. G. Sannicolas, SD3, Guam; G. V. Naines, QMC, Bellflower, Calif.; F. B. Welch, CMach, Butler, Pa.; and E. T. Silva, RD2, Everette, Massachusetts.

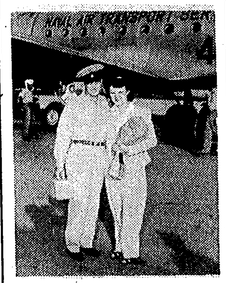
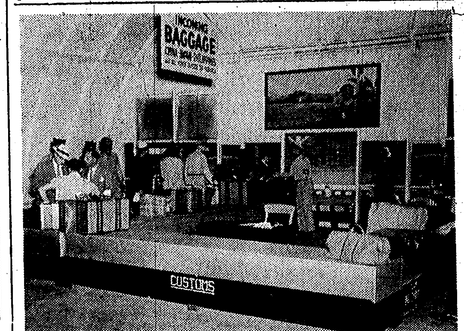
STEWARDS — J. T. Pritchard, AN, USN, Cincinnati, Ohio, (right) and J. A. Nauarro, AN, USN, Bronx, N. Y., are two of the many stewards on Naval Air Transports. Shown here getting coffee for a passenger, they perform one of the many services for making travelling by NATS more comfortable.

EVACUATION FLIGHT — Shown above in the interior of the Naval Air Transport Service evacuation plane. After hospital patients are loaded, regular NATS passenges fill up the remainder of the plane.

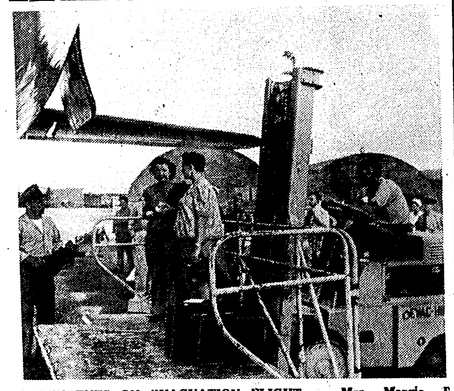
HOSPITAL PATIENTS — Loading hospital patients on NATS evacuation flights is a weekly routine for the evacuation crew at NATS Asia. Shown being readied to be hoisted aboard are Sgt. E. W. Schoeck, USMC, and G. V. Senuk, SN(PI), Bristol Conn.



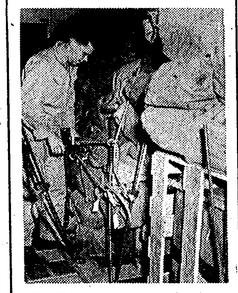
DEPENDENTS — Chief and Mrs. C. H. King, from San Francisco, are shown just after Mrs. King arrived on Guam via the Naval Air Transport Service. Transporting dependents is one of the many services NATS performs.



BAGGAGE COUNTER — A group of NATS passengers are shown receiving their baggage after arriving on Guam from Pearl Harbor. Persons travelling by NATS are allowed to carry 165 pounds of baggage.



DEPENDENTS ON EVACUATION FLIGHT — Mrs. Margie F. Brooks, wife of Marvin T. Brooks, MEC, USN, and flight nurse Lt. V. Giddens are shown on the lift to the evacuation plane. Mrs. Brooks was transferred from the USS Gen. Anderson due to motion sickness.



CARGO — A NATS enlisted man is shown tying down mail sacks on a NATS plane. During the first three months of this year NATS Asia handled an average of 26,871 ton miles of cargo per day.

President Truman Says World's Peace Hope Must Center on United Nation Constitution

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14 —(UP) President Truman steered away from controversial political subjects today and predicted that world peace would eventually be achieved through the United Nations Charter which he hailed as "The Constitution of the World."

Speaking extemporaneously before a Flag Day audience of 40,000 under a shady grove of linden trees in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, the President discoursed briefly on the history of the Flag before switching to his favorite subject—world peace.

"If we want peace in the world we must make the United Nations Constitution work as ours does," he declared.

"I am an optimist," he said. "I am just as sure as I stand here that the United Nations Constitution will settle the differences of countries."

"It is working now. It is working in the East Indies. It is working in Palestine and in the European Recovery Program. I am certain it will be successful. There will be peace in the world."

Mr. Truman began his remarks by telling how he joined the National Guard in Missouri on Flag Day of 1905. That has since made the day more significant to him, he said.

"Our flag has a significance now that no other flag ever had," he said "and it always will have."

"It stands for everything sacred in this country and everything the world is striving for as a whole. We have been forced into two wars fighting for the same liberty our forefathers fought for in 1776. Right now we are still fighting for those rights."

Woman Spy Shot

PARIS, June 14 —(UP)— Genevieve Danielle, who aided for the Gestapo during the war, was executed with her lover by a firing squad today. She was the first woman to be shot by official order in Paris since World War I.

With her lover, Roger Dalama, Mlle. Danielle was blamed for causing the torture, death or deportation to Germany of more than 100 French patriots during the days of the Nazi occupation.

France Wants Fleet

PARIS, June 14 —(UP)— The French Navy, down to one-fourth its Pre-World War II strength, has started to put the needle on Italy to get what is coming from the 1947 peace treaty in order to regain the French position as a leading European power in the Western Mediterranean.

Italy has never fulfilled the stipulations of the 1947 peace treaty, a French Navy spokesman said today. She has neither delivered to France the fighting tonnage alloted nor reduced her own seagoing battle power, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said France, which during the war lost approximately 400,000 tons, roughly equivalent to the 1938 Italian fleet, feels it has number one priority, on Italian units to rebuild the French fleet.

The Italian power now afloat includes the 35,000 ton battleships Vittorio Veneto, which is supposed to be scrapped by June 15, and the Italia. Of 40 ships totalling 20,000 tons which Italy was to turn over to France, the spokesman said, only the 2,172 ton sloop Eritrea and a tanker have been transferred.

Hughes Jeers Senator

HOLLYWOOD, June 14 —(UP) Movie-maker Howard Hughes, who just bought control of RKO studios, offered Sen. Owen Brewster, (R—Me.) a $300 a week screen job today because, he said the solon has showed he is a good actor.

The offer was made in a letter Hughes released to the press, marking a renewal in their cross-country war of words that began when Brewster's Senate War Investigation Committee began digging into Hughes' airplane contracts back in 1946.

Navy Plans Arctic Test

SEATTLE, June 14 —(UP)— A Naval amphibious task force will simulate wartime beachhead landings next month using shifting Arctic ice floes on Alaska's northern most rim as enemy blockades.

Using improved war-developed techniques the eight-vessel task force will attempt to land more than 35,000 tons of supplies at various Army and Naval installations on the Northern Alaska coast, 13th Naval District headquarters said.

Expedition Planned

The expedition will be planned and executed as a wartime amphibious operation. It will be coordinated with aerial reconnaissance, scouting for shifting ice floes instead of enemy surface craft or planes.

The ships will discharge cargo over the beaches during a seven-day period depending on underwater demolition depth charges to keep the sea lanes free from drifting ice while beachhead operations progress.

The task force will load at Port Hueneme, San Francisco and Seattle.

Disabled Vets Aided

WASHINGTON, June 14 —(UP) The Senate today approved a bill to boost benefits for dependents of disabled veterans. It now goes to the House.

The estimated cost of the bill for the first year was $32,561,000.

Only veterans with service-connected disabilities of 60 per cent or more would be affected. There would be different rates between wartime and peacetime benefits and between payments for total and partial disability.

Those totally disabled and eligible for wartime rates would receive from $10 a month for one child to $40 for a wife and three children in addition to present benefits. Totally disabled veterans eligible for peacetime rates would receive additional benefits ranging from $10 to $32.

The Senate also approved and sent to the House a measure to increase payments to widows, children and dependent parents of veterans who died as a result of war or peacetime service.

Mystery Circles Death

HOLLYWOOD, June 14 —(UP)— Actress Loretta Young said today a man who died June 6 in a charity ward at Los Angeles County General Hospital "may have been my father," who disappeared 31 years ago when she was a child of three.

The man died under the name of John W. Earle. His body was claimed by Mrs. Laura Lund, Hermosa Beach, Cal., sister of his late wife.

Miss Young's sisters, actress Sally Blane and Polly Ann Young, both attended the Christian Science burial service.

The actress was notified of the 58-year-old man's death in a letter from her grandmother, and she pointed out that even that letter failed to identify him positively as her father.

Republicans Sure Of Victory on Eve Of Convention

WASHINGTON, June 14 —(UP) Republicans are dead certain today that the nominee at next week's National Convention in Philadelphia will become President in January.

Their hopes are at their highest pitch since Herbert Hoover won the White House 20 years ago. With New Deal forces broken into fighting factions, they don't see how they can miss, no matter which candidate is chosen.

The convention will be called to order on June 21 and is expected to get down to the job of picking the White House standard bearer on the third day. The agenda calls for deciding the question in one day, but easily could take longer if a deadlock develops.

It is still a wide open race as of now.

The Convention will have 1054 delegates and 548, a bare majority, is required to win the nomination. None of the leading candidates can show that much strength and they admit it.

The most elaborate first-ballot claims are being made on behalf of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota.

They are: Stassen, 340; Taft 312; Dewey 300 or more.

Each has hopes of picking up more votes as the balloting proceeds and the various "Favorite Sons" drop out. The campaign for second choice among the "Favorite Son" delegations is a hot one. There will be more than 300 votes in that category.

If a deadlock develops, Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, are most frequently mentioned as the most likely compromises.

$25,000,000 Included in Defense Project For Huge Guam Hospital

WASHINGTON, June 14 —(UP)— Included in the Navy's $84,600,000 defense works program for Guam for the next year is $25,000,000 for a huge hospital project.

This is part of the $200 million dollar Navy Public Works bill passed last week by Congress and sent to the White House, where it is awaiting the signature of President Truman.

Plans for the hospital on Guam call for it to be a joint installation, used by all the services.

Reds Give Plans For Third Party

WASHINGTON, June 14 —(UP) Henry A. Wallace announced today that he wants the "ordinary people" of the United States to help write the platform on which he will be a Third Party candidate for President.

Wallace made the announcement through Rexford G. Tugwell, provisional chairman of the Third Party platform committee which will function when the Wallace convention meets in Philadelphia. Tugwell is a former New Deal brain truster.

Major Issues

In the mail with Tugwell's statement the United Press Bureau here received the June issue of a monthly publication of the Communist party. It contained a long statement on Wallace's Third Party and listed the major issues to be dealt with in the platform.

Labor and civil rights: repeal the Taft-Hartley Bill; defeat the Mundt-Nixon Bill; stop all efforts to challenge the loyalty of American Communists or to determine whether government workers have Communist connections; enact far-reaching civil rights legislation including provision for punishment of "all Fascist, anti-Semitic and anti-Negro acts" or movements."

Gottwald to be Czech President

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, June 14 —(UP)— Communist Premier Klement Gottwald, friend of Josef Stalin, will be elected President of Czechoslovakia tomorrow.

Gottwald, who spent the years before and during World War II in Moscow, will become the nation's third chief of staff, succeeding Thomas G. Masaryk and Edvard Benes, co-founders of Czechoslovakia.

Dr. Benes' resignation June 7, political observers said, definitely ended the Masaryk-Benes Era in which the small new state of Czechoslovakia was known as Europe's most truly liberal democracy.

Gottwald, like Stalin, stocky and pipe-smoking, became premier June 19, 1946, after his Communist party won 38 percent of the vote in the first postwar election to become the largest political group in the country.

Planes, Ships Vie For Pacific Travel

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—The Wall Street Journal said the airplane has "floored the ship for a count of nine" in the battle for Pacific passenger traffic.

The Pacific Coast edition of the authoritative economic daily published a survey of steamship and airplane traffic to Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia and the Orient.

It said that "Surface lines already are reeling on their sea legs on two of the three principal routes—the Honolulu and Australia runs. They're getting ready for heavier punishment on the service to the Orient."

The paper said that losses of passenger traffic will "hurt but not break ship lines." It pointed out that their principal revenue still was from carrying cargo.

Noting the tremendous growth of plane traffic during and since the war, the journal said 58,000 passengers traveled between Hawaii and the mainland by plane last year. Ships carried 26,000. In 1940 ships carried 56,447 and planes 639.

It was noted that Pan American World Airways and United Air Lines have the capacity to carry 110,000 passengers a year between Hawaii and the mainland, on present schedules.

Defendant Describes Cannibal Feast

YOKOHAMA —(UP)— The guest of honor at a wartime cannibal banquet told in grisly detail Saturday of a feast in a Japanese army officers club where wine was plentiful and the piece de resistance was the liver of a captured American flier.

Shichiro Matake, whose return to Fukuoka City was being celebrated at the banquet, took the witness stand at the trial of 30 defendants for cannibalism and vivisection.

The remains of a U.S. prisoner, he said, were "roasted in soya bean sauce on a charcoal burner." Head Nurse Shiokawa poured the wine and the sake "and I believe she also passed around the human liver," Matake said.

He added that the guests were informed what the meat on the table consisted of but "all continued to eat it."

Another defendant at the session described an "operation" on a captured B-29 flier, in which the victim's lung was removed.

GIRL DOOMED TO DIE — Doctors at Denver Children's Hospital said death is a matter of only a few months at the most for three-year-old Jeannette Mary MacDonald, of Sidney, Nebr. She is suffering from acute leukemia, a blood disease, for which there is no known cure. With her is Nurse Jean Sweeney. The girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Quentin MacDonald. (AP Wirephoto)

Blind Man Loses Chance For Sight as Prisoner's Life Spared

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. —(UP)— A condemned convict's life was spared last week by a dramatic confession by a fellow prisoner and as a result a blind man lost a chance for sight.

Joseph Lee Saulter, 34, was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Thelma Leslie in a Galveston tavern. He had offered his eyes to Alfred Johnson of Dalhart, a brilliant young student at Hardin-Simmons University.

A 30-day stay of execution was granted by Gov. Beauford H. Jester after Cecil E. Barker, 33, made a written statement confessing the crime for which Saulter was convicted.

Barker, serving a life term as a habitual criminal, stated in an affidavit that he cut the throat of Mrs. Leslie in a Galveston bar February 24, 1947, while she stood drinking with Saulter.

Saulter, on being informed of the stay, said:

"I was resigned to dying and I figured my number was up because the time was getting closer and closer. I'm grateful. I don't know Barker. I was dead drunk at the time of the stabbing and I didn't see anything and I don't know what happened."

It was an aged mother's faith and devotion that helped save her son from death tonight.

Barker made his confession after he was questioned at the request of Saulter's mother, Mrs. Ernest Wheat of Huntsville. She wrote Warden I. K. Kelley that Barker knew something about the murder.

Church Leaders Question Judge's Sex Decision

CINCINNATI, O. —(UP)— The "Sex is the why and wherefore of life and living" ruling of an elderly judge seriously hamper attempts to solve the juvenile delinquency problem, greater Cincinnati church leaders charged last week.

The clergymen promised to challenge the decision by Judge Stanley Struble of Criminal Court, who freed a Cincinnati newsstand operator of a charge of possessing obscene literature by declaring "There is no law to define 'obscenity.'"

"This decision won't go unchallenged by Methodists," warned Dr Otis J. Young, district Methodist superintendent. "It pertains to the whole question of morality, and particularly as it relates to youth, it (the decision) makes the whole question of juvenile delinquency more difficult to solve."

The 82-year-old jurist's 39-page decision was handed down in the case of Newsstand Owner Oscar Lerner, who was charged with possessing pictures of young women doing a "strip tease act." Judge Struble held that the pictures were not obscene.

"There is nothing unchaste or sinful in a woman disrobing—they do disrobe," the Judge wrote.

"Pure, normal sex ideas are all right," he continued. "Nature is aflame with sex ideas—the hoot of an owl, the coo of the dove, the blossoms of the flowers, plants and trees, the spawning of the fish—sex is the why and wherefore of life and living.

"All of mankind have sexual ideas, that cannot be helped anymore than ideas of food can be helped. Man has got to go on living and reproducing his kind and if he does not have ideas of food and sex he can do neither.

SAILBOAT JOURNEY OVER

SAN FRANCISCO —(UP)— The 46-foot ketch Cynjo was tied up here today, completing a voyage from Hong Kong which took eight years ago.

The Cynjo was sailed here from Honolulu in 18 days and 23 hours by her owner, Hayden Phillips of Hong Kong and crew composed of Archer C. Crane, Roy Coe and George Sexton.

Phillips said her original owners were Cynthia and Joseph Sever, who built the ketch in Hong Kong and started for San Francisco on their honeymoon.

Guam Farmers Urged To Exploit Dormant Agriculture, Grazing

By Lorenzos L. Guerrero, a member of the junior class at George Washington High School and an employee of GUAM NEWS.

The people of Guam undoubtedly know the value and the benefits of agriculture. They well realize the necessity for the advancement and development of agricultural facilities, and the role which such facilities will play in insuring a stable economy for the Island. Why then, have these people been so reluctant to lay aside their present occupations and enter the field of agriculture?

One reason for this reluctance is the instability of the agricultural zone; many know of no definite place where they can plant and concentrate on farming.

Another reason is that working for government or in private enterprises requires less effort than farming.

The people further contend that crops may be destroyed at any time by an overabundance of rainfall or by other natural means.

Nevertheless, the unfavorable effects of climate on agriculture can be overcome through irrigation and drainage, and regardless of climate and other obstacles, Guam can be very productive in farm products if proper conservation of land is undertaken. Such products as yams, bananas, pineapples, and the like grow satisfactorily and are influenced very little by the climate.

Exceedingly lucrative profits can be made through the raising of cattle, hogs, and poultry. Before the war farmers were supplying the hospitals and their own tables with meat and eggs and still had sufficient products remaining to sell to the town people, and the prices were most reasonable.

Cattle raising has been particularly progressive and profitable. Never has there been any kind of cattle epidemic here on Guam. Hog raising, however, has not met with equal success. Some believe that the recent epidemic was caused by unhealthy feed, while others maintain that the climate was to blame. If the fault lies with the feed, the agricultural experimental station will surely remedy the difficulty. If the climate, on the other hand, was the cause of the epidemic, a breed of sturdy, lean hogs could be brought from the United States to replace the Guam "porky pigs."

Copra, the only before-the-war export, is now in a dormant condition, which fact is due partially to the scarcity of men interested in participating in this project. Previously, copra agents and copra owners, with practically no competition whatsoever, realized intensive profits from this product. Since copra is the major product of the Island, no plans of economy can be developed without due consideration for exploiting the coconut tree.

After the rehabilitation of the Island, Guamanians will be more progressive in agriculture than any other field of endeavor. More and more people will turn to farming because it will be the most profitable means of earning a living for themselves and improving the overall welfare of the Island.

Russ Plane Said To Outfly Sound

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Aviation Week said today that a Russian DFS 346 jet fighter, based on German designs, had flown faster than the speed of sound.

The trade publication, which originally disclosed that the American XS-1 had exceeded sonic speed, quoted reports from Russia to London as the source of its information.

It said the Russian plane had reached a speed of 745 miles an hour. The speed of sound is 760 MPH at sea level, dropping off to 660 at 40,000 feet.

The magazine published with its story on this and other Soviet jet developments what it described as "authentic illustrations of four of the latest Soviet jet aircraft which make it clear Russian designers are not lagging behind current practice of the U. S. aircraft industry—at least in the experimental field."

One of the planes pictured, was of the DFS 346. It had a sweptback wing, a sweptback fin and sweptback tail surfaces mounted on top of the fin, rather than the bottom as is customary.

Another showed a four-jet bomber. It somewhat resembled a Boeing B-47 but does not have the American bomber's sweptback wing.

The Blue, or sulphur - bottomed whale, is the largest living animal. It attains a length of more than 100 feet and a weight of 150 tons.

HATCHECK GIRL STILL LOOKING FOR HUSBAND

DATONA BEACH, Fla. —(UP)— Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, the hatcheck girl who wants a $10,000 husband, said today that she is still open for bids.

Danny Wicker, the tavern owner she flew down here to meet, might not have anything but a sense of humor.

"Who is this guy, anyway?" she sighed today. "I don't even know where he is. Maybe he's out with some blonde or redhead."

Mrs. Lawlor said that so far all she's received from Danny is a plane ticket, and he's paying the bill at her oceanside hotel.

"My proposition was cash on the dotted line," said the 28-year-old divorcee. "Where are all the boys around Daytona who're supposed to have so much dough?"

Then Mrs. Lawlor revealed she is still open for an offer from any other man willing to pay her $10,000 right now and support her and her two children.

NAS AGANA — At a formal ceremony held Wednesday, June 9, at NAS Agana, Cdr. Walter S. Reid, USN, relieved Lcdr. Albert G. Neal, USN, as commander, Utility Squadron Nine.

Commander Reid comes to Guam from duty at the Naval Proving Grounds, Dalghren, Va. After graduation from the Naval Academy in 1937, he served aboard various ships of the fleet until designated a Naval aviator in 1941. He particularly distinguished himself as one of the pilots of the famous "Truculent Turtle," which still holds the world's long distance record of 1237 miles in 55 hours from Perth, Western Australia, to Columbus, Ohio.

Lcdr. Neal is leaving aboard the USS President Hayes for duty at NATTC, Memphis, Tenn.

Planes, Ships Vie For Pacific Travel

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—The Wall Street Journal said the airplane has "floored the ship for a count of nine" in the battle for Pacific passenger traffic.

The Pacific Coast edition of the authoritative economic daily published a survey of steamship and airplane traffic to Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia and the Orient.

It said that "Surface lines already are reeling on their sea legs on two of the three principal routes—the Honolulu and Australia runs. They're getting ready for heavier punishment on the service to the Orient."

The paper said that losses of passenger traffic will "hurt but not break ship lines." It pointed out that their principal revenue still was from carrying cargo.

Noting the tremendous growth of plane traffic during and since the war, the journal said 58,000 passengers traveled between Hawaii and the mainland by plane last year. Ships carried 26,000. In 1940 ships carried 56,447 and planes 639.

It was noted that Pan American World Airways and United Air Lines have the capacity to carry 110,000 passengers a year between Hawaii and the mainland, on present schedules.

Defendant Describes Cannibal Feast

YOKOHAMA —(UP)— The guest of honor at a wartime cannibal banquet told in grisly detail Saturday of a feast in a Japanese army officers club where wine was plentiful and the piece d'resistance was the liver of a captured American flier.

Shichiro Matake, whose return to Fukuoka City was being celebrated at the banquet, took the witness stand at the trial of 30 defendants for cannibalism and vivisection.

The remains of a U. S. prisoner, he said, were "roasted in soya bean sauce on a charcoal burner." Head Nurse Shiokawa poured the wine and the sake "and I believe she also passed around the human liver," Matake said.

He added that the guests were informed what the meat on the table consisted of but "all continued to eat it."

Another defendant at the session described an "operation" on a captured B-29 flier, in which the victim's lung was removed.

Blind Man Loses Chance For Sight as Prisoner's Life Spared

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. —(UP)— A condemned convict's life was spared last week by a dramatic confession by a fellow prisoner and as a result a blind man lost a chance for sight.

Joseph Lee Saulter, 34, was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Thelma Leslie in a Galveston tavern. He had offered his eyes to Alfred Johnson of Dalhart, a brilliant young student at Hardin-Simmons University.

A 30-day stay of execution was granted by Gov. Beauford H. Jester after Cecil E. Barker, 33, made a written statement confessing the crime for which Saulter was convicted.

Barker, serving a life term as a habitual criminal, stated in an affidavit that he cut the throat of Mrs. Leslie in a Galveston bar February 24, 1947, while she stood drinking with Saulter.

Saulter, on being informed of the stay, said:

"I was resigned to dying and I figured my number was up because the time was getting closer and closer. I'm grateful. I don't know Barker. I was dead drunk at the time of the stabbing and I didn't see anything and I don't know what happened."

It was an aged mother's faith and devotion that helped save her son from death tonight.

Barker made his confession after he was questioned at the request of Saulter's mother, Mrs. Ernest Wheat of Huntsville. She wrote Warden I. K. Kelley that Barker knew something about the murder

Church Leaders Question Judge's Sex Decision

CINCINNATI, O. —(UP)— The "Sex is the why and wherefore of life and living" ruling of an elderly judge seriously hamper attempts to solve the juvenile delinquency problem, greater Cincinnati church leaders charged last week.

The clergymen promised to challenge the decision by Judge Stanley Struble of Criminal Court, who freed a Cincinnati newsstand operator of a charge of possessing obscene literature by declaring "There is no law to define 'obscenity.'"

"This decision won't go unchallenged by Methodists," warned Dr Otis J. Young, district Methodist superintendent. "It pertains to the whole question of morality, and particularly as it relates to youth, it (the decision) makes the whole question of juvenile delinquency more difficult to solve."

The 82-year-old jurist's 39-page decision was handed down in the case of Newsstand Owner Oscar Lerner, who was charged with possessing pictures of young women doing a "strip tease act." Judge Struble held that the pictures were not obscene.

"There is nothing unchaste or sinful in a woman disrobing—they do disrobe," the Judge wrote.

"Pure, normal sex ideas are all right," he continued. "Nature is aflame with sex ideas—the hoot of an owl, the coo of the dove, the blossoms of the flowers, plants and trees, the spawning of the fish—sex is the why and wherefore of life and living.

"All of mankind have sexual ideas, that cannot be helped anymore than ideas of food can be helped. Man has got to go on living and reproducing his kind and if he does not have ideas of food and sex he can do neither.

SAILBOAT JOURNEY OVER

SAN FRANCISCO —(UP)— The 46-foot ketch Cynjo was tied up here today, completing a voyage from Hong Kong which began eight years ago.

The Cynjo was sailed here from Honolulu in 18 days and 23 hours by her owner, Hayden Phillips of Honolulu and a crew composed of Archer C. Crane, Roy Coe and George Sexton.

Phillips said her original owners were Cynthia and Joseph Sever, who built the ketch in Hong Kong and started for San Francisco on their honeymoon.

Guam Farmers Urged To Exploit Dormant Agriculture, Grazing

By Lorenzos L. Guerrero, a member of the junior class at George Washington High School and an employee of GUAM NEWS.

The people of Guam undoubtedly know the value and the benefits of agriculture. They well realize the necessity for the advancement and development of agricultural facilities, and the role which such facilities will play in insuring a stable economy for the Island. Why then, have these people been so reluctant to lay aside their present occupations and enter the field of agriculture?

One reason for this reluctance is the instability of the agricultural zone; many know of no definite place where they can plant and concentrate on farming.

Another reason is that working for government or in private enterprises requires less effort than farming.

The people further contend that crops may be destroyed at any time by an overabundance of rainfall or by other natural means.

Nevertheless, the unfavorable effects of climate on agriculture can be overcome through irrigation and drainage, and regardless of climate and other obstacles, Guam can be very productive in farm products if proper conservation of land is undertaken. Such products as yams, bananas, pineapples, and the like grow satisfactorily and are influenced very little by the climate.

Exceedingly lucrative profits can be made through the raising of cattle, hogs, and poultry. Before the war farmers were supplying the hospitals and their own tables with meat and eggs and still had sufficient products remaining to sell to the town people, and the prices were most reasonable.

Cattle raising has been particularly progressive and profitable. Never has there been any kind of cattle epidemic here on Guam. Hog raising, however, has not met with equal success. Some believe that the recent epidemic was caused by unhealthy feed, while others maintain that the climate was to blame. If the fault lies with the feed, the agricultural experimental station will surely remedy the difficulty. If the climate, on the other hand, was the cause of the epidemic, a breed of sturdy, lean hogs could be brought from the United States to replace the Guam "porky pigs."

Copra, the only before-the-war export, is now in a dormant condition, which fact is due partially to the scarcity of men interested in participating in this project. Previously copra agents and copra owners, with practically no competition whatsoever, realized intensive profits from this product. Since copra is the major product of the Island, no plans for a stable economy can be developed without due consideration for exploiting the coconut tree.

After the rehabilitation of the Island, Guamanians will be more progressive in agriculture than any other field of endeavor. More and more people will turn to farming because it will be the most profitable means of earning a living for themselves and improving the overall welfare of the Island.

Russ Plane Said To Outfly Sound

WASHINGTON —(UP)— Aviation Week said today that a Russian DFS 346 jet fighter, based on German designs, had flown faster than the speed of sound.

The trade publication, which originally disclosed that the American XS-1 had exceeded sonic speed, quoted reports from Russia to London as the source of its information.

It said the Russian plane had reached a speed of 745 miles an hour. The speed of sound is 760 MPH at sea level, dropping off to 660 at 40,000 feet.

The magazine published with its story on this and other Soviet jet developments what it described as "authentic illustrations of four of the latest Soviet jet aircraft which make it clear Russian designers are not lagging behind current practice of the U. S. aircraft industry—at least in the experimental field."

One of the pictures purportedly was of the DFS 346. It had a sweptback wing, a sweptback fin and sweptback tail surfaces mounted on top of the fin, rather than the bottom as is customary.

Another showed a four-jet bomber. It somewhat resembled a Boeing B-47 but does not have the American bomber's sweptback wing.

The Blue, or sulphur - bottomed whale, is the largest living animal. It attains a length of more than 100 feet and a weight of 150 tons.

NAS AGANA — At a formal ceremony held Wednesday, June 9, at NAS Agana, Cdr. Walter S. Reid, USN, relieved Lcdr. Albert G. Neal, USN, as commander, Utility Squadron Nine

Commander Reid comes to Guam from duty at the Naval Proving Grounds, Dalghren, Va. After graduation from the Naval Academy in 1937, he served aboard various ships of the fleet until designated a Naval aviator in 1941. He particularly distinguished himself as one of the pilots of the famous "Truculent Turtle," which still holds the world's long distance record of 11,237 miles in 55 hours from Perth, Western Australia, to columbus, Ohio.

Lcdr. Neal is leaving aboard the USS President Hayes for duty at NATTC, Memphis, Tenn.

Ann Curtis Takes Freestyle Events In Western AAU Olympic Prevue Final

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14 —(UP)— Beauteous Ann Curtis swept all three women's freestyle events in the Far Western AAU champion ships, but none of the looked-for record-breaking performances were turned in during the final day of the Pacific Coast Olympics prevue.

The shapely Miss Curtis won the 100 and 200 meter freestyle events today, beating out her Crystal Plunge teammate, Marilyn (Sugar) Saliner, by a surprisingly narrow margin. In the century, Miss Saliner lost by only three strokes.

Miss Curtis, who was expected to break the 400-meter national freestyle record yesterday, failed in her assault on the national marks in both events today too. Her time in 100-meter was 1:06;4, and in the 200-meter, 2:28;9.

Vickie Draves, national platform diving champion, pulled the upset of the day when she beat out Joanne Olsen, national springboard champ, in the 3-meter dives.

Patsey Elsener of the Crystal Plunge team finished second in the event and Miss Olsen, diving for the Athens Club of Oakland, wound up in third place. Only two points separated the three.

Suzanne Zimmerman, Multnomah A. C., national backstroke champion, won a special invitational 200-meter backstroke event in which she was to have set a new national mark, but didn't. The time was 3:50.2. second was Barbara Jensen of the Athens Club, the present holder of the national record.

In the women's 200-meter breaststroke, Jeanie Gratzmacher of Crystal Plunge finished first ahead of Joelyn Wood of the Athens A. C., the time was 3:20.6.

Teams scores were not kept in the women's division.

Pasadena Athletic Club won the team championship in the men's division with 87 points to the 85 amassed by the San Francisco Olympic Club.

Ralph Sahn of the Olympic club won both the 100 and 400-meter men's freestyle, nosing out his teammate Fred Taoli, by a narrow margin in the latter event. Don Hester of Pasadena won the men's 200-meter breaststroke.

Dr. Sammy Lee of Pasadena, who won the springboard diving yesterday, came back today to take the platform event.

Most of the women who competed in the meet will appear in San Diego in two weeks for the National Women's Outdoor AAU championships, the final meet before the Olympic trials in Detroit.

Teen-Agers Will Have Own National Golf Tournament

NEW YORK —(UP)— The nation's teen-a golfers were invited today to compete in a national championship all their own at Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 11-14.

The rules are mighty liberal and just about every youngster who won't reach his 18th birthday before midnight on the final day of the tournament is eligile to play.

It'll be real big time stuff for the kid golfers, run by the U.S. Golf Association in exactly the same style as the U. S. Open, Amateur and Public Links with sectional qualifying trails in 41 centers over the nation. The sections will send a total of 128 players to Ann Arbor for the all-match play tournament proper.

"Entries are open to all youngsters except those who might be precocious professionals," said secretary Joe Dey of the U. S. G. A. "and I don't think there are many boys 17 giving lessons or playing for prizes worth more than $100."

Caddies and caddie masters who can meet the age requirement are eligible.

"They aren't considered non-amateurs until they pass their 21st birthday," Dey said.

This First National Junior Amateur is a product of more than 20 years of debate within the U. S. G. A.

Tigers, Braves Win Twice

NEW YORK, June 14 —(UP)— The Detroit Tiger pitching staff, belatedly living up to its reputation, produced another pair of victories today at Washington, 9 to 3 and 9 to 2, as the club headed home with a successful Eastern road trip record of seven victories and fived efeats.

The two victories over the Nationals, achieved by Dizzy Trout and Virgil Trucks, gave the Tigers a clean sweep of the four game series.

Trout gained his sixth victory of the season with a six-hit job in the opener and Trucks gave up seven safe blows to win his fourth game in the second contest. Eddie Lipon, with two triples and a single paced Detroit's 14-hit first game attack and in the second Dick Wakefield and Pat Mullin hit homers. Wakefield, who was benched early in the year for weak hitting, got eight hits in the four game series.

The Yankees, treading in the spike-prin's of the stars of yesteryear, topped the Indians at New York, 5 to 3 as Bobby Feller went down to his sixth defeat, making him the seven'h-ranking hurler on the Cleveland staff in percentage.

Before the world champs took the field, the 25th anniversary of the opening of Yankee Stadium was observed in a two-inning exhibition game in which the team of 1923, played an assemblage of stars of other great Yankee teams. The 23' champs, managed by former Yankee General Manager Edward G. Barrow, defeated the all-stars directed by Babe Ruth. Ruth's number "3" uniform was officially retired by American League President Will Harridge and will be placed in the baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y.

It was New York's only victory in the four-game set with the league-leading Indians and it was achieved on the margin of Yogi Berra's two-run homer off Feller. Phil Rizzuto also hit a two-run homer and Catcher Jan Hegan got a two-run clout for Cleveland.

The Browns cashed in on a six-run eighth inning to defeat the Athletics, 7 to 5 at Philadelphia, but lost 3 to 1 in the second game.

The Boston Braves, go'ting even with the Cincinnati Reds for dumping them twice yesterday, were on the winning end both times today and moved into a first place tie with the Giants with 8 to 7 and 13 to 5 decisions.

The Giants handed the Cardinals their fifth straight defeat, 8 to 7, but St. Louis came back to take the second game, 3 to 2, with a three-run first inning rally against Dave Roslo. Harry Brecheen, knocked out in the opener, suffered his second defeat against six wins.

Pittsburgh rebounded for a 9 to 2 victory over the Phils in which Ralph Kiner hit his 16th and 17th homers after an 8 to 7 Philadelphia victory in the marathon opener.

Johnny Schmitz topped his favorite opponents, the Dodgers, 3 to 1 at Chicago for his third victory against them this year. He gave up only four hits in wining his sixth game.

Chicago at Boston in the American League was rained out.

Citation Latest Member to Triple Crown Circle

NEW YORK, June 14 —(UP)— They were getting ready to set 'em up in the other alley for Citation, now ranking as one of the truly great horses of the American Turf.

The newest member of the select triple crown circle, crowned Saturday by his runaway victory in the $100,000 added Belmont Stakes, had every money winning record in the books just ahead of him to shoot at. And there still doesn't seem to be another horse good enough to halt his victory parade.

All doubts about Citation's greatness were wiped out when he wheeled home under wraps, eight lengths in front of the field at Belmont. The only arguments left were whether the stately, deep-chested son of Bull Lea is not quite as good, equally as good, or a little bit better than the likes of Whirlaway, War Admiral, Count Fleet, and there was even some comparison to Man O'War.

As triple crown champion, he ranked even with the seven previous winners — Count Fleet, Sir Barton, Omaha, Whirlaway, War Admiral, Gallant Fox, and Assault.

The money-winning record of Whirlaway now become Citation's immediate target. The Belmont's first-place money of $77,700 raised Citation's over-all earnings to $544,700 only $16,461 behind Whirlaway, who ranks as the fourth greatest money winner of all time.

Farm Teams Outdo Bums

NEW YORK —(UP)— Only three of the Brooklyn Dodgers' 27 farm teams were lower in their respective league standing on June 6 than Manager Leo Durocher's club, which was in sixth place in the National League. Only Lancaster, Pa., in the Inter-State League, Abilene, Tex. of the West Texas-New Mexico League, and Cambridge, Mass., of the Eastern Shore Loop were farther down the scale than the Dodgers. Eight of the farm teams were in first place.

GRENLOCK, N. J., —(UP)— Joe Walcott, who fights a return heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis on June 23, has a good record in re-matches. Since starting his comeback three years ago, Walcott has turned the tables on Johnny Allen, Joe Maxim and Elmer Ray, all of whom outpointed him in earlier fights.

Names Series Teams

EAST LANSING, Mich., June 14 —(UP)— John Kobs, Michigan State College Baseball Coach and chairman of the NCAA Baseball Committee, announced tonight the eight college teams who will play for the championship of the "collegiate" world series.

The four teams who have been named to play in the Eastern zone playoffs at Winston-Salem, N. C., June 15 to 18 are Lafayette University, Yale, University of North Carolina and the University of Illinois.

Nominated to play in the Western zone playoffs at Denver June 16 to 19 are Oklahoma A and M, Baylor, Colorado State and Southern California.

The winners of the two playoffs will battle for the NCAA championship in a best two out of three series at Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo June 25 and 26.

Funds OK'd For Army Building in Marianas

WASHINGTON, June 15—(UP)—President Truman today signed legislation authorizing Army and Air Force construction in the Marianas Islands in an amount exceeding $9,000,000.

In addition the legislation authorizes construction in Hawaii and the Philippines. In Hawaii more than $6,000,000 was authorized, including more than three millions for quarters and facilities at Tripler hospital and more than two millions for Hickman Field quarters.

In the Marianas Island Army Ground Forces housing and facilities to cost $3,803,000 were authorized, and Air Force Base barracks and facilities to cost $5,376,000 were approved.

In the Philippines the Clark-Stotsenberg area barracks construction was authorized in the amount of $669,000.

Senate Committee Approves Navy Funds For New Year

WASHINGTON, June 15 --(UP)— The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved Navy funds totaling $3,812,170,250 for the next fiscal year. The sum was $125,437,000 more than voted by the House.

The amount is still $124,568,450 under that originally requested by the administration.

The measure was reported immediately to the Senate, which may act on it later today.

In its bill the Senate restored $116,437,000 of the funds slashed from the original requests by the House and added $9,000,000 requested since then for exploring the Elk Hills oil field in California.

The measure as reported to the Senate includes about $6,000,000 to enable the Navy to start work on its proposed 65,000-ton super carrier.

The Navy originally requested $3,927,738,700. The House voted $3,686,735,250—a cut of $241,005,150.

Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan then asked the Senate group to raise the total to include the $9,000,000 for exploring Elk Hills.

Major increases approved by the Senate committee over the house bill included another $20,000,000 for ship maintenance, $38 000,000 for buying ordnance material and maintaining depots, $18,000,000, for the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, and $30,000,000 for maintaining the Navy's air arm, and $4,700,000 for general Marine Corps expenses.

President Truman Speaks Before New Press Club

LOS ANGELES, June 15 —(UP)— President Truman today defended his western tour by saying that he considered it his "privileges as President" to tell the people what Congress should do before it adjourns.

The president spoke before a crowd of 1,000 at a luncheon in the Coconaut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel, where the Greater Los Angeles Press Club was celebrating its first birthday.

Huge Crowds

Assistant Police Chief Joe Reed estimated the crowd between 750,000 and a million along the line of the parade, through downtown Los Angeles, when President Truman was welcomed by the city.

Every inch of Mr. Truman's line of march was stacked as much as 12 deep with people, all kinds of people. In the Mexican district, part of a Baptist Church congregation turned out in fiesta costume, and a stringed band serenaded the chief executive as he drove by.

From Guam to U.S. To Enlist in Army

BROOKLYN, N.Y. June 15 —(Special to the GUAM NEWS)— All the way from Guam, in the Marianas Islands of the Pacific came Tomah Gogue Meno to enlist in the U.S. Army Engineers at the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting station here.

Private Meno, who attended George Washington High School on Guam and was a resident of Sinajana where he was employed by the Naval Government as an electrician, speaks Spanish, Japanese and English.

Editorial and business offices of the GUAM NEWS were moved Tuesday from ComMar Hill to the new quonset hut at the printing plant on the highway leading past Marine Barracks.

Telephones at the new office will be AT 8220 for Lt. J.H. Kerrell, publisher, and Lt. (jg) E.B. Twiss, executive editor; AT 3156 for the sports department, and AT 7197 for the editorial department.

The Army recruiting office reports that Private Meno did his part during the war when he helped destroy Japanese fuel dumps and smuggled food to Americans hiding on the Island during the occupation.

Young Meno, 22, had one brother, Vincent Meno, stewards mate, 3-c, USN, killed in action at Pearl Harbor. His father, Quentin Meno, also of the Navy, retired recently after 32 years of service.

ROOFING BEE—A scene rivaling that of the early American house-raising parties was displayed in Agana when the farmers of Guam united and put the roof on the old post office for their Farmer's Public Market. The market, which will be a benefit to the farmers as well as the public, will be open Saturday 19 June. Plans now are that the market will be open for about two days a week and more often as the demand increases. All kinds of fresh vegtables and fish will be available. (Guam News Photo)

Famous Novelist Gertrude Atherton Dies at Age of 90

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15—(UP)—Gertrude Atherton, the "Dowager Duchess of American Literature," died today at the age of 90.

Mrs. Atherton, author of more than 60 novels, passed away at Stanford Hospital from what physicians said were "ailments connected with her advanced age." She had been hospitalized for almost a month.

1,000 Words a Day

Up to a short time before her death, the noted novelist continued to write 1,000 words a day, adhering to a schedule of working on a book for four hours each day, writing her prose in longhand and re-typing each page twice. Only three years ago, she completed work on a 100,000 word book on the history of Northern California.

Her most successful novel was "Black Oxen," published in 1923, which created a sensation because it described the then indelicate theme of rejuvenation by X-ray treatments and gland operations.

Rejuvenation Experiments

Mrs. Atherton herself submitted to two rejuvenation experiments, one at the age of 77, because she said "my fiction tract felt itself entitled to a fertilizer." The first treatments were a series of X-ray exposures which, she said, resulted in "the lead in my veins turned to quicksilver, the heavy masses of cloud in my brain rolled away—and 'Black Oxen' raced out."

Mrs. Atherton was extremely proud of her youthful appearance and showed off her figure to visitors who came to see her on her 87th birthday by wearing an off-the-shoulder gown and exhibiting her high-arched foot and still-blonde hair.

Until a few months before her death, she smoked seven cigarettes a day and liked to drink an occasional glass of champagne.

UMW Lose Wage Boost; Grandson Born to Lewis

WASHINGTON, June 15—(UP)—John L. Lewis today set coal operators today they have already "lost" the 1948 contract fight to avoid a third-round wage increase for his 400,000 United Mine Workers.

The UMW president began talking about a new contract at the start of today's negotiating session with the operators. His action broke the week-long stalemate caused by his refusal to talk new contract terms until the dispute over the 1947 Welfare Fund is settled to his satisfaction.

Lewis' new contract arguments were interrupted by news that a grandson—his first—had been born at Baltimore to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Louis, Jr. A messenger from union headquarters handed Lewis the message during the negotiations. Operators said Lewis looked up, smiled and said:

"Well, gentlemen, there's another Lewis."

He broke the news and the conference adjourned shortly afterwards.

Man Dead Over 50 Years, Funeral Soon

NEW YORK, June 15 —(UP)— Over a half century ago Edward E. Cadwell was pronounced dead. He will be buried tomorrow.

Fifty-one years ago the train on which Cadwell was an engineer crashed into a river and skull fractured, he lay in a coma for ten days. On the eleventh day, the doctor pronounced him dead.

Twelve hours later his wife went into the parlor to take a last look at her husband, stretched out in a coffin. She though he was still breathing. He was.

Friends who had gathered to mourn his death rushed him back to the hospital where he later recovered.

Small Child Drops Six Floors With no Injury

NEW YORK, June 5 —(UP)— Two-year-old Kenneth Liebmann fell six floors today, picked himself up and scampered away without a whimper.

Horrified neighbors ran after the child and others called an ambulance. Doctors at Fordham Hospital said Kenneth apparently was not injured.

Kenneth's mother, Mrs. Jeanett Leibmann, said she left him in a bedroom while she answered the telephone. He slipped through a sliding panel in the window screen and fell on a grassy plot six stories below.

Store Clerk Held by Police in Murder, Assult Mystery Case

ST. LOUIS, June 15 —(UP)— A 21-year-old hardware store clerk who, detectives said, admitted he was with Gladys Taylor Crossley, 42 the night she was raped and murdered in a southside park, was held today for questioning.

Detective Chief Leonard Murphy said the suspect, Leonard Bayless, has denied any knowledge of the murder. Murphy said, however, Bayless admitted being with Mrs. Crossley last Friday night but did not remember what time he left her.

Bayless, employed at a hardware store near the cafe in which the twice-divorced Mrs. Crossley worked as a waiuress, is married and the father of two children.

He was taken into custody at 8:30 a.m. after Mrs. Lillie Kapper, a cook at the cafe, told officers the "woman in black" had left the cafe with Bayless a few hours before she was beaten and kicked to death in Tower Grove Park.

Meanwhile, officers read the poetry and short stories of Mrs. Crossley for further clues into the mystery of her death.

Neighbors said that the victim was an amateur writer and artist. She was a twice-divorced mother and a native of Columbia, Mo.

In one poem found in Mrs. Crossley's trunk the first letter of each line spelled out the name "Alcholics Anonymous" The last line read, "sanity, with God's help, through AA."

The victim's second husband, Thomas, was released by police after questioning yesterday. He said he had not seen her since they were divorced last Sept. 24 after three years of marriage.

The newest member of the select triple crown circle, crowned Saturday by his runaway victory in the $100,000 added Belmont Stakes, had every money winning record in the books just ahead of him to shoot at. And there still doesn't seem to be another horse good enough to halt his victory parade.

All doubts about Citation's greatness were wiped out when he wheeled home under wraps, eight lengths in front of the field at Belmont. The only arguments left were whether the stately, deep-chested son of Bull Lea is not quite as good, equally as good, or a little bit better than the likes of Whirlaway, War Admiral, Count Fleet, and there was even some comparison to Man O'War.

As triple crown champion, he ranked even with the seven previous winners — Count Fleet, Sir Barton, Omaha, Whirlaway, War Admiral, Gallant Fox, and Assault.

The money-winning record of Whirlaway now become Citation's immediate target. The Belmont's first-place money of $77,700 raised Citation's over-all earnings to $544,-700 only $16,461 behind Whirlaway, who ranks as the fourth greatest money winner of all time.

Farm Teams Outdo Bums

NEW YORK —(UP)— Only three of the Brooklyn Dodgers' 27 farm teams were lower in their respective league standing on June 6 than Manager Leo Durocher's club, which was in sixth place in the National League. Only Lancaster, Pa., in the Inter-State League, Abilene, Tex. of the West Texas-New Mexico League, and Cambridge, Mass., of the Eastern Shore Loop were farther down the scale than the Dodgers. Eight of the farm teams were in first place.

GRENLOCK, N. J., —(UP)— Joe Walcott, who fights a return heavyweight title bout with Joe Louis on June 23, has a good record in re-matches. Since starting his comeback three years ago, Walcott has turned the tables on Johnny Allen, Joe Maxim and Elmer Ray, all of whom outpointed him in earlier fights.

Names Series Teams

EAST LANSING, Mich., June 14 —(UP)— John Kobs, Michigan State College Baseball Coach and chairman of the NCAA Baseball Committee, announced tonight the eight college teams who will play for the championship of the "collegiate" world series.

The four teams who have been named to play in the Eastern zone playoffs at Winston-Salem, N. C. June 15 to 18 are Lafayette University, Yale, University of North Carolina and the University of Illinois.

Nominated to play in the Western zone playoffs at Denver June 16 to 19 are Oaklahoma A and M, Baylor, Colorado State and Southern California.

The winners of the two playoffs will battle for the NCAA championship in a best two out of three series at Western Michigan College at Kalamazoo June 25 and 26.

Funds OK'd For Army Building in Marianas

WASHINGTON, June 15—(UP)—President Truman today signed legislation authorizing Army and Air Force construction in the Marianas Islands in an amount exceeding $9,000,000.

In addition the legislation authorizes construction in Hawaii and the Philippines. In Hawaii more than $6,000,000 was authorized, including more than three millions for quarters and facilities at Tripler hospital and more than two millions for Hickman Field quarters.

In the Marianas Islands Army Ground Forces housing and facilities to cost $3,803,000 were authorized, and Air Force Base barracks and facilities to cost $5,376,000 were approved.

In the Philippines the Clark-Stotsenberg area barracks construction was authorized in the amount of $669,000.

Senate Committee Approves Navy Funds For New Year

WASHINGTON, June 15 —(UP)— The Senate Appropriations Committee today approved Navy funds totaling $3,812,170,250 for the next fiscal year. The sum was $125,437,000 more than voted by the House.

The amount is still $124,568,450 under that originally requested by the administration.

The measure was reported immediately to the Senate, which may act on it later today.

In its bill the Senate restored $116,437,000 of the funds slashed from the original requests by the House and added $9,000,000 requested since then for exploring the Elk Hills oil field in California.

The measure as reported to the Senate includes about $6,000,000 to enable the Navy to start work on its proposed 65,000-ton super carrier.

The Navy originally requested $3,927,738,700. The House voted $3,-686,733,250—a cut of $241,005,450.

Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan then asked the Senate group to raise the total to include the $9,-000,000 for exploring Elk Hills.

Major increases approved by the Senate committee over the house bill included another $20,000,000 for ship maintenance, $38 000,000 for buying ordnance material and maintaining depots, $18,000,000, for the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, and $30,000,000 for maintaining the Navy's air arm, and $4,700,000 for general Marine Corps expenses.

From Guam to U.S. To Enlist in Army

BROOKLYN, N.Y. June 15 —(Special to the GUAM NEWS)— All the way from Guam in the Marianas Islands of the Pacific came Tomah Gogue Mano to enlist in the U.S. Army Engineers at the U.S. Army and U.S. Air Force Recruiting station here.

Every inch of Mr. Truman's line of march was stacked as much as 12 deep with people, all kinds of people. In the Mexican district, part of a Baptist Church congregation turned out in fiesta costume, and a stringed band serenaded the chief executive as he drove by.

Editorial and business offices of the GUAM NEWS were moved Tuesday from ComMar Hill to the new quonset hut at the printing plant on the highway leading past Marine Barracks.

Telephones at the new office will be AT 8220 for Lt. J.H. Kerrell, publisher, and Lt. (jg) E.B. Twiss, executive editor; AT 3156 for the sports department, and AT 7197 for the editorial department.

President Truman Speaks Before New Press Club

LOS ANGELES, June 15 —(UP)— President Truman today defended his western tour by saying that he considered it his "privileges as President" to tell the people what Congress should do before it adjourns.

The president spoke before a crowd of 1,000 at a luncheon in the Cocoanut Grove of the Ambassador Hotel, where the Greater Los Angeles Press Club was celebrating its first birthday.

Huge Crowds

Assistant Police Chief Joe Reed estimated the crowd between 200,000 and a million, along the line of the parade, through downtown Los Angeles, when President Truman was welcomed by the city.

Pvt. Tomah Meno, who attended George Washington High School on Guam and was a resident of Sinajana where he was employed by the Naval Government as an electrician, speaks Spanish, Japanese and English.

The Army recruiting office reports that Private Meno did his part during the war when he helped destroy Japanese fuel dumps and smuggled food to Americans hiding on the Island during the occupation.

Young Meno, 22, had one brother, Vincent Meno, stewards mate, 3-c, USN, killed in action at Pearl Harbor. His father, Quentin Meno, also of the Navy, retired recently after 32 years of service.

ROOFING BEE—A scene rivaling that of the early American house-raising parties was displayed in Agana when the farmers of Guam united and put the roof on the old post office for their Farmer's Public Market. The market, which will be a benefit to the farmers as well as the public, will be open Saturday 19 June. Plans now are that the market will be open for about two days a week and more often as the demand increases. All kinds of fresh vegtables and fish will be available. (Guam News Photo)

Famous Novelist Gertrude Atherton Dies at Age of 90

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15—(UP) —Gertrude Atherton, the "Dowager Duchess of American Literature," died today at the age of 90.

Mrs. Atherton, author of more than 60 novels, passed away at Stanford Hospital from what physicians said were "ailments connected with her advanced age." She had been hospitalized for almost a month.

1,000 Words a Day

Up to a short time before her death, the noted novelist continued to write 1,000 words a day, adhering to a schedule of working on a book for four hours each day, writing her prose in longhand and re-typing each page twice. Only three years ago, she completed work on a 100,000 word book on the history of Northern California.

Her most successful novel was "Black Oxen," published in 1923, which created a sensation because it described the then indelicate theme of rejuvenation by X-ray treatments and gland operations.

Rejuvenation Experiments

Mrs. Atherton herself submitted to two rejuvenation experiments, one at the age of 77, because she said "my fiction tract felt itself entitled to a fertilizer." The first treatments were a series of X-ray exposures which, she said, resulted in "the lead in my veins turned to quicksilver, the heavy masses of cloud in my brain rolled away—and 'Black Oxen' raced out."

Mrs. Atherton was extremely proud of her youthful appearance and showed off her figure to visitors who came to see her on her 87th birthday by wearing an off-the-shoulder gown and exhibiting her high-arched foot and still-blonde hair.

Until a few months before her death, she smoked seven cigarettes a day and liked to drink an occasional glass of champagne.

PORTLAND, Ore., June 15 —(UP)— A fourth Columbia River flood wave surged toward Portland today and Army Engineers were working relentlessly around the clock to save the $43,000,000 Reynolds aluminum plant.

UMW Lose Wage Boost; Grandson Born to Lewis

WASHINGTON, June 15—(UP)— John L. Lewis told soft coal operators today they have already lost the 1948 contract fight to avoid a third round wage increase for his 400,000 United Mine Workers.

The UMW president began talking about a new contract at the start of today's negotiating session with the operators. His action broke the week-long stalemate caused by his refusal to talk new contract terms until the dispute over the 1947 Welfare Fund is settled to his satisfaction.

Lewis' new contract arguments were interrupted by news that a grandson—his first—had been born at Baltimore to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Lewis, Jr. A messenger from union headquarters handed Lewis the message during the negotiations. Operators said Lewis looked up, smiled and said:

"Well, gentlemen, there's another Lewis."

He broke the news and the conference adjourned shortly afterwards.

Man Dead Over 50 Years, Funeral Soon

NEW YORK, June 15 —(UP)— Over a half century ago Richard E. Cadwell was pronounced dead. He will be buried tomorrow.

Fifty-one years ago the train on which Cadwell was an engineer crashed into a ravine. He was fatally fractured, he lay in a coma for ten days. On the eleventh day, the doctor pronounced him dead.

Twelve hours later his wife went into the parlor to take a last look at her husband, stretched out in a coffin. She thought he was still breathing. He was.

Friends who had gathered to mourn his death rushed him back to the hospital where he later recovered.

Small Child Drops Six Floors With no Injury

NEW YORK, June 5 —(UP)— Two-year-old Kenneth Liebmann fell six floors today, picked himself up and scampered away without a whimper.

Horrified neighbors ran after the child and others called an ambulance. Doctors at Fordham Hospital said Kenneth apparently was not injured.

Kenneth's mother, Mrs. Jeanett Leibmann, said she left him in a bedroom while she answered the telephone. He slipped through a sliding panel in the window screen and fell on a grassy plot six stories below.

Store Clerk Held by Police in Murder, Assult Mystery Case

ST. LOUIS, June 15 —(UP)— A 21-year-old hardware store clerk who, detectives said, admitted he was with Gladys Taylor Crossley, 42 the night she was raped and murdered in a southside park, was held today for questioning.

Detective Chief Leonard Murphy said the suspect, Leonard Bayless, has denied any knowledge of the murder. Murphy said, however, Bayless admitted being with Mrs. Crossley last Friday night but did not remember what time he left her.

Bayless, employed at a hardware store near the cafe in which the twice-divorced Mrs. Crossley worked as a waiuress, is married and the father of two children.

He was taken into custody at 8:30 a.m. after Mrs. Lillie Kapper, a cook at the cafe, told officers the "woman in black" had left the cafe with Bayless a few hours before she was beaten and kicked to death in Tower Grove Park.

Meanwhile, officers read the poetry and short stories of Mrs. Crossley for further clues into the mystery of her death.

Neighbors said that the victim was an amateur writer and artist. She was a twice-divorced mother and a native of Columbia, Mo.

In one poem found in Mrs. Crossley's trunk the first letter of each line spelled out the name "Alchelics Anonymous" The last line read, "sanity, with God's help, through AA."

The victim's second husband, Thomas, was released by police after questioning yesterday. He said he had not seen her since they were divorced last Sept. 24 after three years of marriage.

North Field Picnic at Tarague

ON GUAM?? — Who says it's all work and no play for men stationed on this tiny bastion of our nation's outer defense perimeter? Take a gander at the savory looking pieces of sizzling chicken and ribs being cooked by M-Sgt. M. M. Bennet and M-Sgt. C. H. Bennet at the barbeque beach party held at Tarague Beach last Saturday by the 30th Bombardment Squadron of North Field. The party was part of the squadron's high priority program to keep the morale of the organization at the peak level it has attained. The party was attended by all enlisted members of the outfit with officers and their guests also invited. Major Charles Boise, newly appointed commander of the unit, was well pleased with the proceedings and expressed his desire to see other parties of its kind in the near future. (USAF Photo)

FIT FOR A KING — Acting as official sampler is Major Charles J. Boise, newly appointed Squadron Commander of the 30th Bomb Squadron. The photo was taken during a barbeque held Saturday at Tarague Beach. On each side of the major are chefs extraordinary, M-Sgt. M. M. Bennet and M-Sgt. C. H. Bennet. Shown in swimming trunks awaiting their turn to sample the spare ribs and chicken are Tl. J.P. Borden and T-Sgt. C. D. Taylor. (USAF Photo)

Marine T-Sgt. Hawes Breaks Pistol Records

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Marine T-Sgt. Percy W. Hawes shattered all existing Marine Corps pistol records with his new high of 562 in winning top place pistol honors during the Southeastern Division Rifle and Pistol Competitions just completed at Camp Lejune, North Carolina.

A distinguished pistol shot since 1939, and also distinguished with the rifle, he added new laurels to his brilliant firing career by adding six points to the previous record set in 1947 by T-Sgt. Walter L. Devine.

A newcomer to rifle competition, M-Sgt. Aaron C. Ivey, stationed at Marine Barracks, Camp Lejune, took the first gold medal and copped the rifle match with a score of 568. He fired two points short of the competition record of 570 set by M-Sgt. William J. Dynes, Jr., in the Pacific Division matches at Pearl Harbor last March.

Scientists Say Guided Missiles To Excel Planes

WASHINGTON, June 13 —(UP) A growing group of Defense Department scientists believe today that guided missiles will outrank the airplane as the supreme war weapon within 10 or 20 years.

A cloak of secrecy covers the discoveries of modern electronic experts who are at work on the problem of building controls that will make rockets hits the target. But a fact classified "top secret" slipped out in recent congressional hearings.

The Navy has developed a guided missile that can knock down enemy planes at least seven miles away.

The control operator aims a radio beam at an approaching bomber. Then the rocket-propeled missile rides that beam to the target, as much as 15,000 yards from its firing point.

The Navy said the weapon will be ready for use by the fleet by 1950.

Strategists are beginning to speculate on the impact of such weapons on warfare. Lt. Col. William R. Kintner, Army Infantry officer, comments in the latest issue of the Coast Artillery Journal that air power is subject to the old military adage: "every weapon has its counter weapon."

"Every new weapon is introduced in an experimental fashion," he writes. "If it makes good, it is developed into a decisive weapon. Eventually the weapon is checked."

Other military experts quote this as a basic rule of warfare that applies to the airplane as well as other weapons.

IMPROVED AUTO REPAIR SERVICE DUE AT HARMON

HARMON AFB — The Harmon automotive services today announced that a number of new services will soon be available to Air Force, Army, Navy, Marine and civilian owners of private vehicles.

Within a month, the garage will offer its patrons steam washing, under-seal coating, painting, and body repair work. At that time the present area will be enlarged or the garage will be moved to a new location.

According to Mr. Anthony J. Detro, manager, necessary repairs for private vehicles should be made now, since prices of automobile parts are increasing with each shipment. At present, the garage has in stock a number of parts formerly unobtainable on Guam.

The automotive services garage is on Harmon Field and is open from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

AND IT'S STILL GROWING — Pretty Jo McConnell has a head of hair that sets something of a record in Cedar Rapids, Ia. The six-year-old girl has tresses that measure 37 inches from the crown of her head to the end of the longest strands. Her hair didn't really start growing until she was one year old. Since then it has averaged better than five inches a year. (AP Wirephoto)

Parachute Repairs Done at Harmon

HARMON AFB — One of the air safety agencies at Harmon Air Force Base is the parachute shop. Personnel of the shop are responsible for the inspection and minor repair of all parachute equipment used at MarAma, 20th Air Force, 1537th AFBU (ATS), North Air Base, and Northwest Air Base.

Drying is one of the important processes that parachutes must go through before being inspected and packed. They are dried in a 50-foot tower which is kept at a constant temperature of 95 to 100 degrees farenheit. The tower which is ventilated by large fans, will hold approximately 100 parachutes. In addition to the fans, the air is still further dried by the use of nathlene, a moisture absorbent chemical.

After drying for 24 hours, the parachutes are inspected for holes harness defects, rust, corrosion and various other discrepancies. The inspection work is done on specially constructed smooth-top 40-foot tables. All parachutes must be inspected every 30 days and upon completion of the process they are returned to their proper organizations. An average of 1500 parachutes are inspected and processed at this shop each month.

In addition, the shop is also responsible for the repair and maintenance of water and aircraft rescue equipment here at Harmon Field.

The plant, under the direct supervision of the MarAma maintenance division, is supervised by Mr. W. L. Crane, branch foreman. The non-commissioned officer in charge is T-Sgt. B. P. Sammons, who is assisted by T-Sgt. W. Gilstrap. Personnel working in the plant include 15 riggers, 7 canvas and leather men, and 5 rubber men

FIVE MEDICS WILL VISIT GUAM THIS MONTH

MARBO — Colonel Joseph Weaver, MarBo surgeon announced today that five medical consultants from the United States would be on Guam during the month of June. The first to arrive in this command is Dr. W. A. Blankenhorn, specialist in internal medicine. He visited the 22nd General Hospital where he held conferences with the medical staff and the 103 Navy Medical Center. The visits of these specialists is part of the program of the surgeon general of the Army to provide the best medical service possible in this command. Other doctors scheduled to come during the month are: Dr. L. B. Barnard, Dr. E. G. Bannick, Dr. W. D. Currier and Dr. Webster.

THE ROCK . . . . . by Tom Richards

Grieve not for pain and heartbreak.
Grieve not for friends untrue.
But grieve if you are false
To that which dwells in you.
Evelyn Wooster Viner

A HYSTERICAL POLIWOG (a Pollwog is an individual who has been on the Island for less than three months) with his ears flapping and his manly voice shaking with emotion tottered into our office the other day and draped his limp form over a chair. "My boy," he whispered hoarsely, "I'm a dying man. I've come to love this especial useless hunk of human flotsam on the sea of life."

His words shook me to the core. In one swift panther-like leap I was off my swivel chair and was waddling around the desk to grasp his shoulder and peer deeply into his haunted pain-stricken eyes. "You can tell me all, Bl'l," I said, as I made a quick mental inventory to see whether he owed me any dinero or not.

"Son," the poor man gasped, "I've got some horrible tropical disease. At first I thought it was smallpox but now I fear it...." At this point I turned a couple of snappy back flips and made a dive for the nearest window. Here the shattered hulk went on "Take a look at my chest and back. They are all covered with little red dots. I am suffering horribly. Feels like somebody is pricking me with little pins, etc. etc. etc."

I crawled back through the window again and hit him with a blunt instrument. When he showed signs of consciousness (i.e., as conscious as he'll ever be, poor guy) I told him about heat rash, salt pills, the birds and the bees, and some basic facts that every growing boy should know.

Seems Like Only Yesterday

Wonder if the little kids still believe the sky is a big blue cap that fits down over the world. I remember when my brother and I trudged up a big hill near our house in Moscow, Idaho, to find the end of the world, with our pockets crammed with nuts. We figured the cap was loose and kept banging up and down constantly. The idea was to put the nuts between the edge of the world and the sky and get them cracked sans work. I don't recall whether we got our fingers pinched or not.

Talk It Over Department

Q. "My boy is 19 years old. He is interested in automobiles but little else. He seems quite shy and reluctant to meet people, especially girls...." Mrs. L. V.

A. Your son's interest in cars is a commendable one and quite normal for a boy of his age. It is important that he overcome his shyness so that he may hold his own in the adult world. I suggest his studying dramatics, boxing, dancing, and joining a public speaking class. The Guam Theatre Guild meets at Camp Edusa every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The public is welcome.

Q. "I wish to go to Hollywood and become an actress. I have starred in several amateur theatricals. Will it be difficult for me to work there?" E. R.

A. Crashing the movies, even as an extra, is no cinch. Getting a big pay movie job usually is a long pull. Most girls and fellows who go to Hollywood wind up working behind a desk, counter, jerking sodas, or the like. If after all this you still feel the urge, go ahead but make sure you have at least three hundred bucks or so on hand when you get to Hollywood. You might try to get a part-time evening job and a reasonably-priced room in the neighborhood of the studio that gives you the most encouragement.

Q. "Why do reporters have knots on their heads?" Pat Self.

A. Because that's where people hit them with hammers.

Joe Jerk Radio Show Planned

Joe Jerk, original bollckhead and wrecker of supplies and equipment has just signed an indefinite contract with AFRS WVTG here on the Island of Guam. Joe will be featured over the popular Island station, Private Jerk, Joe that is, has been appearing regularly on the walls of the buildings and on the bulletin boards of MarAMA at Harmon Air Force Base. Joe plans to continue his appearances there as well as on the radio feature at WVTG. Joe Jerk is the world's outstanding authority on waste and destruction and has done much to increase the heartache and frustration of the proponent of good supply discipline the world over.

Joe Jerk arrived at Harmon Air Force Base approximately two months ago. He was recruited from the imagination of S-Sgt. R. F. Rouw of MarAMA Supply Division to assist in a command wide conservation discipline program. In his regular and numbered appearances here at Harmon, Pvt. Jerk has been giving instruction in techniques of "what not to do" in the conservation of supplies, equipment, materials, time, energy and taxes.

The Public Information Office of MarAMA at Harmon Air Force Base is sponsoring a $50.00 cash award contest for the best suggestion for the radio portrayal of the master waster, Joseph J. Jerk, (better known to the men of MarAMA as Joe Jerk). All military personnel of MarAMA are eligible to enter the contest which is to run through July 15, 1948.

There is no limit to the number of suggestions submitted by an individual. However, each suggestion must be written legibly on a piece of paper bearing the author's name, rank, serial number, and organization. The ideas are to be sent or delivered to the MarAMA Public Information Office prior to 16 July 1948. The entries will be judged by the MarAMA Headquarters Fund Council. The winner of the contest will be announced as soon after the contest as is possible.

Colonel J. J. Donovan, post exchange officer, announced today that a dividend of $34,569.24 had been declared by the post exchange council.

This is the second dividend to have been declared in the last two months, the last one being for $131,946.60. An earlier dividend for $63,000 was paid last August. The money will be used by the various welfare funds.

Girl Loses $18,000 With Wrong Word

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 13 (UP) Miss Margaret E. Hes'en missed $18,000 by a word tonight.

Miss Heslen, a clerk at the federal arsenal here, was called by the "Stop the Music" radio program which has built a jackpot up to $18,000 for the first person to identify a mystery melody.

"I said 'Come Out of the Wilderness,'" Miss Heslen reported, "but the announcer, Bert Parks, said I was wrong on the first word.

"A lot of people have been calling me ever since the call went through, from all over the country. Some of them wanted to know what I said, and some of them wanted to tell me what they thought the answer was."

"I supposed it must be 'Come Out of the Wilderness,'" she said. "But one of the callers, I don't know who, said—should I tell this?" It ought to be g-e-t, instead of come."

NEW AIR REGULATIONS

HARMON AFB — A recent Air Force regulation 35-21, establishes a standard system for computing and recording foreign service credits for all Air Force personnel.

Air Force policy governing foreign service tours provides that where Air Force personnel are serving in an area with Army personnel, the tour will be the same as that prescribed for Army personnel; so that where Air Force personnel are serving in an area where there are no Army personnel, the tour will be established by the Department of the Air Force.

OL' KING FOOTBALL IS BEGINNING TO SMILE AGAIN — and it won't be too long until footballs around the Is and will be as numerous as coconut groves.

MarBo has officially granted nine franchises in the 2nd annual Sweat Bowl football league, scheduled to begin 1430 Wednesday, the first of September. All scheduled games will be played, rain or shine.

The following Air Forces organizations have been authorized to requisition football gear immediately: Headquarters 20th Air Force, MarAMA (Harmon Fie'd Flyers) Northwest Field, North Field and the 811 Engineering Aviation Battalion. Army representatives, include special troops, engineers, and a combine team between the Signal Service Battalion and Ordnance. Army officials decided to minimize the number of Army franchises in order to afford a greater opportunity for stronger teams. Last season, several Army football teams field a squad which had been selected from a total personnel strength of less than 250, which made things easy for the poiwerhouse teams from the 1st Marine Brigade and the 5th Service Depot. However, the situation this season will be equalized to some extent, since the three Army entries will select their respective squads from prsonnel numbering upward of one thousand. Mathmetically, Army teams will be four times better than they were last year.

The 5th Service Depot indicated last month that they definitely would play in the Sweat Bowl league, and if the turn-out for the squad warranted two strong teams, then a double entry would be made.

As yet, the 1st Marine Brigade has not made an official announcement regarding their intention of playing in the league, but it is geerally believed, that there will be too much keen competition for the ikeable Marines to turn a cold shoulder.

Although definite arrangements have not been made regarding playing fields, the schedule of games will be pretty much the same as the past season, at which time the majority of the games were played at Geiger Field and the 5th Service Depot Field.

The Army desires to schedule games on any adequate military field, with the assurance that scheduled games can be arranged without interference with other activities being planned by the un't having the adequate football field.

NOB will probably have one of the best footoall fields on the Island, but with the heavy athletic schedule which will be conducted in that area, there's ony a slight possibility of Sweat Bowl games being played on that field. NOB has not made any declaration regarding entry into the Army league.

North Field, at the opposite end of the Is'and will have a playing field in it's area, and it should be a relief to morale builders at North Field, since several thousand fans have always had to travel 15 and 20 miles in order to s, ctate a football game.

Golf Bookmakers Busy

LONDON, June 15 —(UP)— British bookmakers today reported a flood of money on Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., to duplicate Bobby Jones' 1930 unique double and add the British Open golf title to the British amateur crown he captured at Sandwich late last month.

The muscular millionaire's son was quoted at 9 to 1 by Ronald Apex, leading golf bookmaker, who said he had handled bets of thousands of pounds that Stranahan would pull off the blue ribbon double.

Actually, Stranahan isn't the favorite, that coveted spot being held by Tiny Norm Von Nida of Australia at 7 to 1. And outside of Stranahan and Von Nida, golfing enthusiasts apparently weren't backing up their favorites with very much cold cash.

Stranahan and 11 other Americans were listed today in the draw for the Open which starts on the Muirfield and Gullane courses in Scotland June 28 and winds up in a 36-ho'e final July 2.

Robinson Will Risk Title at Chicago Thursday Evening

NEW YORK, June 15 —(UP)— Ray Robinson's welterweight championship goes on the line in Chicago Thursday night when Bernard Docusen of New Orleans seeks the title in the week's boxing headliner.

Docusen is a cutey in the ring, and lacks only a punch. His successes have been many on the West Coast, but he fai'ed to be much of a crowd pleaser in two jaunts to the East.

However, Thursday he gets a long-awaited crack at Sugar Ray's crown, basing his hopes on giving the champ a boxing lesson.

Willie Pep, the featherweight champ, meets Miquel Acevedo at Minneapo'is the same night. However, the title is not at stake in the over-the-weight match.

Richards Decisions Ashley In Thrilling NSC Smoker

It was fight night at the Palm Beach Theater last night and the NSC fans really turned out to witness a furious four-round main event in which "Cisco" Richards of Camp Piti won a unanimous four-round decision over W.E. Ashley of Camp Asan. Not only were the fans treated to an exciting main event but they a so watched little 8 year-old Larry Stedman of NOB Industrial win a close decision over his twin brother, Jerry, in the mosquito weight class.

Richards opened the main event by driving Ashley into the ropes with lightning rights. Punching hard during the whole first round, Richards finally dropped his opponent for a count of nine.

Still continuing to lead the fight, the victor drove his opponent from one side of the ring to the other in the second and third rounds with rights and lefts that kept he fans on the edge of their seats wondering how much more the game little Ashley could take. Ashley found himself on the deck twice more for the count of nine before th third round bell saved him.

The most amazing round in the main event, however, was the fourth as scores of cheering fans watched Ashley come back to baffle his opponent and take to the offensive. It was Ashley giving most everything he had as Richards hung on in the one-line rounds. Richards finally found he had no to play around until the final gong.

The fans went wild in the opening bout of the smoker as they watched the two twin Stedman boys sons of Mr. C.R. Stedman, a civilian worker at NOB Industrial, batter each other for three rounds, slugging like champions. In the opening round, the two mosquito weights banged each other with rights and lefts that amazed, not only the fans, but the Stedman family too. Little Larry, the victo by one point, found several openings for his tight fisted upper-cut but Jerry would come back most every time with a straight right to the victor's head.

After the proud twins heard the decision, Larry ran into the center of the ring with both fists deadlocked above his head while Jerry walked away a little disgusted, muttering, "I wuz robb'd."

Hoisch, Star Halfback Of UCLA, Ineligible

LOS ANGELES, June 15 —(UP) Tiny Al Hoisch, star UCLA halfback, will be ineligible to play for the Bruins this year, Director of Athetics Wilbur Jones announced today.

Johns said Hoisch was declared ineligible at the regent Pacific Coast conference meeting at Missoula, Mont., because of his decision to play varsity rather than frosh ball at Stanford in 1942, using up a year's eligibility.

Hoisch, a two-year letterman at UCLA, is credited with the longest run in the Rose Bowl—a 103-yard jaunt against Illinois in 1947.

One-year letterman Hank Ennen, a reserve center, also was declared ineligible by confrnce officials, Johns said.

Navy Plans $800,000,000 Guam Project

U.S. 34 Billion Budget Gives Guam Funds

WASHINGTON, June 16 (U.P) The House Appropriations Committee completed hearings on governmental expenses for the coming fiscal year totalling more than 34 billion dollars. The Senate has restored some House cuts, however, and final figures will not be available until they meet in conference.

Flat to Gibraltar

Included in the measure just proposed and approved by the House committee was $83,839,559 in cash and a new contract authority as a down-payment on an $800,000,000 Navy construction program aimed at making Guam a "flat top Gibraltar of the Pacific."

Vice-Admiral R. B. Carney said that when the program is completed within the next five years, Guam will be able to fuel and arm the forces "we are contemplating using in the western Pacific in event of hostilities."

First Target

He said the Navy's first target will be to en'arge and develop Guam's harbor facilities, which were desperately inadequate in the recent war. A new $10,000,000 ammunition depot also is on the program.

The committee also granted $300,000,000 in cash and $300,000,000 in contract authority to the Bureau of Strategic Supply to stockpile critical war materials.

Summing it All up

WINSLOW, Ariz., June 16 (U.P) President Truman, stopping here enroute east, today selected his favorite epitaph from an old cemetery in Tombstone, Ariz.

The epitaph: "Here lies Jack Williams—he done his damndest."

That the president said was the greatest epitaph of all times and it summed up what "I've been trying to do for three years as president."

The chief executive then told a railroad station crowd, estimated by police at 3,000, that when the political conventions meet he hopes the people would decide in his favor at the polls.

Gen. Craig Asks $40,000,000 For Guam, Alaska, Okinawa

WASHINGTON, June 16 (U.P) Lt. Gen. H. A. Craig, Air Force deputy chief of staff, requested $40,000,000 for work in Alaska Guam and Okinawa, with 90 percent of the money for Alaska, in hearings before the House Appropriations Committee today.

Most of the money would go for housing and utilities.

Maj. Gen. R. C. Crawford, deputy chief of Army Engineers, said the funds were necessary to finish up partially completed projects in the three areas.

He said $1,477,000 of the money is needed to complete construction projects on Okinawa and Guam. The bulk of the materials already has been obtained and now is at the site, he said.

"All of these facilities are required by the Army and the Air Force in the fulfillment of their immediate and future missions in these overseas theaters," he said.

Gen. Craig stated that Alaska's airfield facilities would be "inadequate" in case of a major emergency. He requested among other funds $4,000,000 to construct new civil airports at Anchorage and Fairbanks, Alaska.

Gen. Craig testified that at the "Mile 26 Airfield," the only one in Alaska large enough to land B-29 planes, that there was no lighting system installed, and planes were unable to land.

Motor stables and the subsequent inspection of the motor pool facilities of the 2996th Transportation Truck Battalion is being made on Wednesday and Thursday of this week by officers of the MarBo Command.

Special busses will carry the officers from the MarBo Headquarters to the motor pool. The busses are scheduled to leave the headquarters at 5:30 in the morning. After the motor pool is inspected the officers will be taken on a tour of the Guam Army Port.

Russians Tighten Control Over Road And Rail Traffic in Germany

BERLIN, June 16 (U.P) Russia tightened controls on road and rail traffic between Berlin and Western Germany today in what seemed to be a new effort to squeeze the western allies out of this four-power capital.

Guards at the Soviet rail check point in Marienborn halted 140 rail cars carrying coal to the western sectors of Berlin, claiming they were "defective," British officials said that identical cars headed for the Russian sector were passed without question.

Simultaneously, Soviet officials closed the Elbe River bridge on the international highway to the west for "extensive repairs" expected to last six weeks. Cars were diverted ten miles westward to a ferry line, causing delays of an hour or more for all highway traffic.

'Flat-Top Gibraltar of Pacific' To be Built in Next Five Years

WASHINGTON, June 16 (U.P) A five year p'an with contemplated expenditures of $800,000,000 to make Guam a "flat top Gibraltar" of the Pacific was disclosed in House Appropriations Committee hearings.

The plan was revealed through Navy department estimates of the first leg of an overall program at a proposed cost of about $84,000,000.

Navy requests for the first year's construction totalled $35,884,559.

Vice Admiral R. B. Carney testified in closed hearings, details of which were released with the appropriations bill today, that "we are undertaking to make Guam a base which will supply forces which we contemplate using in the Western Pacific in the event of hostilities."

He said expenditures of $800,000,000 "is predicated on the idea that the only developments which will be undertaken at Guam immediately are the harbor and development of the waterfront so that if we have to expand the base in wartime we will have a place to put ships, which we did not have the last time."

The Appropriations Committee cut overall Navy construction outside the continental limits of the United States by about $5,500,000, but the only specific reduction made in Guam works was $2,045,000 in first year estimates for a new hospital. The committee reported it believed the hospital plans were "too elaborate."

The program described by the Navy department in committee hearings included the following projects:

Hospital and medical center, $25,000,000 total cost, with $7,045,000 requested for 1949.

Barracks, mess hall and galley, $3,850,000 total cost, $1,732,059 in 1949.

Utility system, $10,190,000 total cost, $6,000,000 in the first year.

Harbor dredging, $6,960,000, $4,000,000 in 1949.

Mobile ground control approach air station, $16,000, full amount requested for 1949.

Ammunition depot storage facilities, total $10,000,000, with $1,000,000 for 1949.

Permanent communication facilities radio station, $5,750,000 total, with $4,500,000 for the first year.

Supply facilities and supply center, $14,045,000 total, with $7,930,000 for 1949.

Marine base facilities, $5,832,000 total, and $5,000,000 asked.

Submarine base, $1,670,000 total, all to be used in 1949.

Liberation Stamp Asked of Congress In Guam Petition

In commemoration of the liberation of Guam, on July 21, 1944, the President and Congress of the United States have been petitioned by the Guam Congress to authorize and effect the printing and issuance of Liberation Day Memorial Stamps on July 21, 1948.

The petition recalled the horrors, indignities, suffering and murders inflicted during the enemy occupation and that the first pitched battle between American and enemy forces was fought by a handful of Guam boys, in the Navy Insular Guard, with one Captain and a Sergeant of the United States Marines.

Remembering this and then the immeasurance joy when the American forces recaptured Guam from the enemy, it was requested by Guam Congress that the Memorial Stamp be issued for the day when freedom came.

K.C.K. Organization Re-Activation Foreseen

Knights of Christ the King are about to be re-activated on Guam. Two meetings have been held during the month of May and it was the unanimous opinion of all members present to call a general meeting on Tuesday, June 22 at 5 p.m. in the new Catholic activities hall in Agana, according to an announcement by F. D. Perez, president.

All K.C.K. and all young boys who are interested in this organization are informed by club officials that Feliberto C. Flores will arrive on the island the early part of July, when the ceremony of ordination to the sub-deaconate of the brother K. C. K. by His Excellency, the Bishop of Guam, will be held.

Members present at the June 22 meeting is earnestly requested. All former members and all young Guamanians (16 up) interested in joining the K. C. K. are urged to be present by Mr. Perez.

ST. LOUIS, June 16 (U.P) Police technicians tonight tried to analyze small bloodstains found on the clothes of Leonard M. Bayless, 21-year-old hardware clerk, in an effort to connect him with the rape-murder of Mrs. Gladys Crossley, 42-year-old divorcee.

Bayless was ordered held pending a coroner' inquest tomorrow and police said statements of witnesses who saw him with the victim shortly before she was killed will be turned over to the circuit attorney's office.

Owners of Stolen Dog Warn He's Poor Speller

LONDON, June 16 (U.P) A Mr. and Mrs. James Hill asked for police help today in finding "Cyum" a shaggy sheep dog, whose talents include: dancing in a clown's costume, playing the piano accompaniment to his own singing, and typing.

Pictures of the dog seated at a typewriter wearing a felt hat have been put in shops in the Adelaide road section of London with a plea for information on "Cyum's" whereabouts.

The Hills fear he has been stolen by someone who wants to capitalize on the dog's talents and they have warned that the dog is a poor speller.

Average Husband Okay, Housewives Told as Writer Defends 'Nice People'

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.) Did you know the average husband kisses his wife five times a day—counting pecks and near misses; 62 percent of 'em get a night out with the boys once a week; and 49 percent bawl at sad movies?

Or... for every hatchet killer running loose there are 12 nice guys who dry dishes for the little woman every night? That every businessman in the U. S. is an easy mark if you're collecting dough for sick babies?

Digging up stuff like this is how a Hollywood gent named Art Baker makes a living. He rattles it off to the housewives every afternoon while they peel potatoes in front of their radio. And the ladies lap it up.

Baker's kind of an antidote for all the gossip columnists. They print the dirt and scandal. He's carrying on a one-man campaign to publicize nice people. Call him a "pollyanna" and he'll shake a sheaf of statistics in your face to prove his point.

Good Husbands, Too ....

He maintains the average Joe will listen to a story about a good deed as quick as he'll drool over inside facts on Hollywood sin. And he has nine years of broadcasting behind him to prove it.

"In fact he'll listen quicker," Baker contends. "The gossips keep shoving sex down his throat, but a survey has proved that he's more interested in four other things: Doctors, babies, dogs, and Abraham Lincoln.

"I have a 'nice-people' department on my 'notebook' show," Baker explains. "And I get thousands of letters every week telling me about some anecdote that proves the golden rule."

Vesuvius Tarzan Lands in Asylum

NAPLES (U.P.) Alessandro Acampa, self-styled "Tarzan of Vesuvius," no longer roams the slopes of the volcano garbed in fox furs with a wooden dagger.

Police put the Tarzan in a local asylum after a series of mysterious kidnapings of young boys from villages around Vesuvius. Six boys between the ages of 9 and 14 disappeared in recent months. Police found them caged in a cave near the Vesuvius crater, prisoners of the "Jungle King," as Alessandro proudly described himself.

Acampa, son of a rich farmer of Castellammare di Stabia, took to the hills after seeing an American film depicting the story of Tarzan. The 25-year-old Acampa saw the film three times in succession and then left Castellammare, telling friends he was through with modern life.

Japs Welfare Foremost

TOKYO, June 15—(UP)—Japanese government "bureaucrats" more interested in their own political positions than in Japan's welfare are blocking the Allied Agriculture Reform Program, an allied headquarters official charged today.

R. W. Davis, chief of headquarters' agriculture division, delivered a final blast at "obstructionists" before giving up his post and returning to the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

He said he often doubted the Japanese governments 'sincerity' in work.

Shun Cold Showers Bath Expert Says

NEW YORK (U.P.) This country may lead the world in the number of bathtubs but many Americans don't know how to take a bath properly, according to Harold J. Reilly, for 30 years head of a health service here.

"They seem to think that sitting in a hot tub, using a lot of perfumed soap, shivering under a cold shower and drying by the brisk rubbing of a rough towel are essential parts of being clean and healthy," Reilly said. "Actually, some of these things can hurt their health."

Tub bathers should finish off with a cooling—not cold shower and pat—not rub—themselves dry with a towel.

"Cold showers are never advisable except as a treatment by a physiotherapist for poor circulation," Reilly added. "Brisk drying overheats the body to the point where, if you go near a draft or dress immediately and go outdoors, you are likely to get some kind of muscular ache or a cold."

Eminent Scientist Proclaims Belief In Divine Rule Over Universe

WASHINGTON (U.P.) A lifetime of scientific research has convinced Dr. Robert A. Millikan that there is a Divinity that guides man's destiny.

Many men of science have been agnostic. They believed that life and the universe could be explained without recourse to God.

But the 80-year-old Nobel Prize winner, retired now as president of the California Institute of Technology, holds that "a purely materialistic philosophy is....the height of unintelligence."

Millikan proclaimed his views at a meeting of the American Physical Society. No scientist has delved more deeply into the mechanisms of matter. It was Millikan who first determined the charge and mass of the election, the tiniest known particle in the universe.

Quote: Einstein

He told the country's leading physicists that "wise men in all ages have been seen enough to at least make them reverent." He quoted Dr. Albert Einstein as saying:

"It is enough for me to contemplate the mystery of conscious life perpetuating itself through all eternity; to reflect upon the marvelous structure of the universe, which we can dimly preceive, and to try humbly to comprehend even an infinitesimal part of the intelligence manifested in nature."

"That," Millikan said, "is as good a definition of God as I need."

But belief in God is not to belittle man, Millikan believes.

Sees Man Godlike

"For while the Great Architect had to direct alone the earlier stages of the evolutionary process," Millikan said, "That part of Him that became us—for we are certainly inside, not outside, creation's plan—has been stepping up amazingly the pace of vegetable, animal and human evolution since we began to become conscious of the part we had to play.

"It is our sense of responsibility for playing our part to the best of our ability that makes us Godlike."

"Just how we fit into the plans of the Great Architect and how much He has assigned us to do, we do not know, but if we fail in our assignment it is pretty certain that part of the job will be left undone.

"But fit in we certainly do somehow, else we would not have a sense of our own responsibility. A purely materialistic philosophy is to me the height of unintelligence."

SHANGHAI, June 15 (U.P.) Shanghai's English language newspapers today were unanimously skeptical of President Truman's declaration that Josef Stalin is a "good fellow" but a prisoner of Russia's politics.

The concensus of their editorials was that Stalin is still running the politico as well as the rest of Russia.

NANKING, June 14 (U.P.) Legislative Yaun member Liu Pu Ting today predicted early passage for his "soak the rich" bill which provides for taxing of foreign-owned property and U. S. dollar assets of both Chinese and foreign-owned business.

He said he was confident the bill would become law mainly as it stands now—despite the opposition of Shanghai businessmen. The measure has passed first reading and is now in the hands of the financial committee of which Liu is a member.

Liu conceded some minor changes might be made in the bill, but said its main provisions, including taxation of foreign-owned property, would be maintained. He said he believed the minimum taxable amount of property may be raised from $300,000,000 to $5,000,000,000

Budapest Catholic Worshippers Stage Demonstration Against Nationalization of Church Schools

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 15 (U.P.) Police reported today that 100 persons were arrested last night during a demonstration by thousands of Catholic worshippers, most of them defiant women, against nationalization of church schools.

All of those arrested were released with the exception of 14 "known Fascists," authorities said.

The demonstration began when Catholics streamed from their churches last night to Gellert Hill Shrine where Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty, Catholic primate of Hungary, usually preaches on the 13th day of each month. Yesterday, however, he was in Baja in southern Hungary.

Rumors that the Cardinal had been forced to flee to Rome spread through the crowd. Ignoring a heavy downpour of rain the worshippers, mostly women, overflowed the Hillside Shrine into Gellert Square and pushed across Freedom Bridge almost to the otherside of the Danube River.

Police, who had been watching the demonstration, began to break it up after the women became defiant, eyewitnesses said.

"Wait for September. Then they will see what we mean. The schools will stay shut. Our children will be taught at home," the women shouted.

Miss Manibusan, Francisco Rivera Selected For Teachers Scholarship

Miss Juita Manibusan, teacher in Barrigada School and Francisco A. Rivera, teacher in Inarajan School, have been chosen as recipients of the Western Pacific Teachers' Scholorship for the year 1948-1949 at the University of Hawaii, according to a leter recently received by George V. Hall, Director of education, from Dr. M. Roseamonde Porter, chairman of the Zonta Club Scholorship committe.

The two selected students will leave for Hawaii in August to be in time for the opening of the fall semester at the University of Hawaii.

Miss Manibusan will live at the St. Francis Convent where Miss Consolacion San Nicolas, Zonta Club Scholorship student from Guam (1947-1948) has lived. Mr. Rivera will live at Atherton House YMCA where Pedro Leon Guerrero, also a 1947-48 Guamanian Zonta Club Scholarship student, has been living. Leon Guerrero is expected to return to Guam on or about August 1st.

Both Miss San Nicolas and Leon Guerrero are doing a successful piece of work in their practice teaching. This year here at the University of Hawaii will be an asset to them and a contribution to the educational program in Guam," wrote Dr. Porter.

P-47 Fighters Collide

MANILA, June 16—(U.P.)—Two pilots attached to the U. S. 13th Air Force at Clark Field parachuted to safety when their P-47 Thunderbolt fighters collided in midair, it was announced today.

The pilots are Capt. James J. Butler, New York City, and Capt. Robert E. Good, South Gate, Calif. The announcement said they were in good condition in the hospital at Santo Domingo.

The crash was witnessed by other pilots on a routine training flight. The two fliers later were found by Filipino rescuers.

PARIS, June 15 (U.P.) The French Assembly will approve the six-power agreement on Western Germany tomorrow night, political quarters predicted today.

It was forecast that the Assembly would give the agreement, backed by Premier Robert Schuman, a favorable majority of 25 to 30 votes.

Schuman was assured tonight of the support of the popular Republicans, most of the Socialists and Radicals and some Independents. The Communists, the extreme Rightists and followers of Gen. Charles De Gaulle will vote against the six-power agreement.

Army Jet Plane Flies Over Speed of Sound, No Ill Effects Suffered by Pilot

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Captain Charles E. Yeager, 25-year-old pilot of XS-1 supersonic rocket plane said today flying faster than the speed of sound is "pretty nice."

Yeager was the first human to fly faster than the speed of sound. His statement appeared to contradict the belief of aeronautical engineers that an invisible barrier of shock waves could shake a plane as it approached the speed of sound.

Yeager told of his historic experience at a news conference.

Air Secretary W. Stuart Symington presented Yeager with the MacKay trophy, awarded annually to the air force pilot making the most meritorious flight of the year.

Yeager revealed for the first time that the historic first supersonic flight was made on Oct. 14, 1947 over the air force test center at Murco, Cal.

A reporter asked Yeager how it felt to fly faster than sound and whether he ran into much turbulence.

"It was pretty nice, I thogunt," Yeager said. "You can look at me." "I'm normal."

He said the XS-1 is a very sturdy airplane.

"I fly in it with my knees level with my shoulders," he said. "My arms are straight out on the control columns."

"You feel like you can take a lot of shock that way."

PASSENGER TRAIN WRECKS

PHEONIX, Ariz., June 16 —(U.P.)— A Santa Fe passenger train was derailed today north of Peoria, 12 miles northwest of here, slightly injuring eight persons. Six other persons were injured seriously when an automobile failed to observe traffic blockades and crashed into the large crowd which gathered quickly at the scene.

LISBON, June 16 —(U.P.)— Three American Flying Fortresses have been unreported since they left the Azores yesterday morning, Lisbon airport operators said today.

American and Portugese planes have been searching the Atlantic in vain for the missing fortresses since yesterday, airport attaches reported.

Braves Lead National Race

NEW YORK, June 16 (U.P.) Boston's bustling Braves celebrated the opening of a long and important home stand tonight by going into undisputed possession of first place by a full game in a six-hit, 6 to 3 victory by Johnny Sain over the Chicago Cubs.

Sain, scoring his fourth straight victory and his seventh of the season, gave up only one walk and struck out four as the Braves continued their special beg over the Cubs. It was their seventh straight victory over the Cubs, who have not beaten them this year.

Eddie Stanky led the Braves with three singles, the Braves also cashed in on 11 walks, starter Russ Meyer yielding nine of them as he suffered his sixth defeat.

Lefty Fritz Ostermueller, who is particularly effective at nights, pitched the Pirates into a second place tie with the Giants at New York, knocking their rivals out of the lead with a three-hit 2 to 0 victory.

Ostermueller, keeping the hitters off balance with his sweeping motion in which his knuckles almost scrape the dust on every pitch, gave up singles in the fourth, fifth and eighth innings and walked batters in three other innings. No Giant base runner got beyond the first sack. It marked only the second time this year that the Giants had been defeated by a lefty, so Ostermueller's feat was all the more notable.

Andy Seminick threw wildly in an attempt to nip the stealing Enos Slaughter and the error permitted Stan Musial to score from third with the winning run in the eighth as the Cardinals edged the Phils at Philadelphia, 2-1. Relief Pitcher Ted Wilks was the victor, nicking up his third triumph by pitching hitless ball for three innings after Del Ennis tripled and Eddie Miller doubled off Al Brazle for Philly's run with none out in the seventh.

The Red Sox won their ninth victory in their last 11 games and a mighty significant one, cutting down the Indians 7 to 3 at Cleveland as the number one winning pitcher in the majors, Bob Lemon went down to his fourth defeat against nine victories. The Red Sox sewed it up for Sophomore Mel Parnell with three runs in the seventh, two of them on Johnny Peskys single with the bases loaded.

The lights went on for the first time as Detroit and the Tigers shone under them, winning a 4 to 1 decision over the Athletics in the dedication of their $400,000 night baseball layout.

Hal Newhouser, continuing to pitch with all of his old time brilliance, scored his seventh straight victory, holding the A's to two hits, doubles by Eddie Joost and Hank Majeski. Loser Joe Coleman, who suffered his first defeat at the hands of Detroit after beating them three times this season, gave up eighth inning homers to Dick Wakefield and Pat Mullin. Barney McCosky crashed into the left field barrier chasing Wakefield's smash and was carried off the field. He suffered a back injury.

The last place White Sox topped the Yankees, 9 to 8, in Chicago as Yogi Berra played first the role of hero then became the game's goat. The Yankee catcher tied the score with his three-run homer in the eighth then set up the winning run with a two-base wild throw by the 11th as Taft Wright, who had singled tried to steal second. He went on to third and scored the winning run on a fly ball.

The Washington at St. Louis game was rained out.

The Brooklyn Dodgers roared back in the ninth inning today to push over the winning tally in a 5 to 4 victory over Cincinnati after the Reds had gotten to a weakening Harry Taylor for two tallies in their half of the inning.

USC Trojans Enter 14 Men In NCAA Track, Field Meet

MINNEAPOLIS, June 16 —(UP)— The University of Southern California invested heavily today in a bid for Collegiate track supremacy.

The school's athletic strategists apparently figure that now is the time to regain the national crown which USC lost in 1944 after nearly a decade of dominance.

The Trojans entered 14 men—more than any other of the 97 schools participating—in the NCAA track and field meet at the University of Minnesota's Memorial Stadium Friday and Saturday.

Their roster included the names of some of the nations top Olympic prospects, among them Melvin (Mel) Patton, who has run 100 yards in an unofficial 9.3 seconds to become the "world's fastest human."

The Trojans would like particularly to win this year's NCAA as a going away present for their 68-year-old coach, Dean Cromwell, retiring after as brilliant a career as has been chalked up in track annals.

In 40 years at the Southern Cal helm, the wily Cromwell has coached 12 NCAA and nine ICAA championship teams; and 34 NCAA, 40 ICAA and 39 national senior AAU individual champs. He has tutored at least one Olympic champion in every Olympiad since 1912.

Under Cromwell the Trojans captured the NCAA title in 1926, 1930, and 1931 and then hogged it for nine straight years from 1935 through 1943. They lost out to Illinois in 1944, to Navy in 1945 and the Illini again in 1946 and 1947. They finished second to Illinois both last year and in 1946.

No other school in the NCAA's 26-year history can come close to matching USC's record of 12 team victories. Illinois with four is a poor second.

Russians Threaten Arrest of Austrian Supply Minister, Crisis Growing Nearer

VIENNA, June 17 —(UP)— The growing crisis in Austrian-Soviet Russia relations shaped up today, with Russia threatening the arrest of Austrian Power Supply Minister Alfred Migsch and the Austrian government demanding the release of all Austrian prisoners-of-war still held in Soviet camps.

Soviet authorities here today informed the Austrian government they plan to take action, including possible arrest of Migsch because of his anti-Soviet attitude. This is the first time since the occupation that any government official has been so openly threatened by any one of the four occupation powers.

The removal of gun-bearing Communists as guards of Soviet-controlled factories in Austria was demanded by Interior Secretary Ferdinand Graf.

Soviet representatives on the Allied Council vetoed resumption of diplomatic relations between Austria and Portugal claiming the Lisbon government is "Fascist".

The Austrian foreign minister countered the veto with a statement, "the Soviet veto does not change friendly feelings of the Austrian people toward Portugal."

In attacking the use of Soviet guards, Secretary Graf described the guards as "private Soviet armies," and asserted they were the "number one weapon in the coming struggle to dynamite the Austrian democracy, and bring about a Soviet-style peoples' democracy."

House Approves Appropriations Bill For Huge Budget

WASHINGTON, June 17—(UP)— The House today approved a $486,204,240 deficiency appropriation which included the "down payment" on a five-year, $800,000,000 program to make Guam a formidable Naval base.

The bill was approved by voice vote. It also authorizes some two dozen federal agencies to write about $300,000,000 in new contracts. A large share of these will be for Army and Navy construction in Alaska and Guam.

The money for Guam represents a down-payment on a five-year $800,000,000 program aimed at equipping the Island to support any future offensive the Navy might launch in the Pacific.

In all, the Navy would receive $47,983,200 in cash and $50,000,000 in new contract authority. The Army would get $32,700,000 in cash.

Air Force to Continue Tests on XS-1 Plane

WASHINGTON, June 17—(UP)— The Air Force said today it will continue tests with the XS-1 supersonic rocket plane aimed at eventual speeds up to 1700 miles per hour—nearly three times the speed of sound.

Capt. Charles E. Yeager of Myra, W. Va., 25-year-old Air Force pilot who first flew the plane faster than sound, will continue the tests, probably with other pilots. He has flown the XS-1 faster than sound many times since he first pierced the sonic barrier Oct. 14, 1947, over the Muroc, Cal. test center.

The Air Force said limit of the speed of the XS-1 is conjectural and dependent upon many factors. With its present power system it is expected to reach a maximum speed of 1000 miles per hour.

Just how fast the XS-1 has traveled is still a closely guarded military secret. All the Air Force will say is that the plane many times has gone far faster than the speed of sound.

Draft Opponents Ask Inductions be Held Off

WASHINGTON, June 17—(UP)— —Draft opponents in the House rallied today behind the plan to set up Selective Service now, but hold off inductions until Jan. 31.

The Army, Navy and Air Force would be ordered meanwhile to boost enlisted men's pay, lower entrance requirements, and accept short-term enlistments, in an effort to get volunteers.

Rep. Dewey Short, (R-Mo.), said the compromise plan "is gaining a lot of support." It was offered yesterday by Rep. Paul W. Shafer, (R-Mich.), as the House finished its first day of draft debate.

House leaders gave the move little chance of success.

Chairman Walter G. Andrews of the House Armed Services Committee estimated today that about 400,000 men will be drafted in the first 12 months of the impending peacetime draft.

The New York Republican made the statement as the House settled down to debate on the two-year 19-through-25 draft bill. It was the highest estimate so far of the number of men to be inducted.

Husband Hunter Gives Up Search in America

MIAMI, Fla., June 17 —(UP)— Dorothy Law'or gave up in the United States today in her hunt for a husband with $10,000. The New York hatcheck girl was ready to carry her quest to the Dominican Republic.

Dotty turned up here last night with an airlines ticket to Ciudad Trujillo, D.R., and indicated that she'd had an offer from a new suitor there.

She had a reservation on Pan American Airways 1 a.m. (EST) flight but she was forced to cancel it and spend the night here when it turned out she did not have the necessary visa.

Dotty said she would get the travel papers today and take off on tonight's flight to see if her Dominican suitor has the necessary $10,000 cash on the barrelhead.

After her sojourn with tavern-owner Danny Wicker in Daytona Beach, the New York divorcee was apparently tired of publicity. She arrived here in a "disguise"—no makeup and her hair in two six-inch pigtails. For a while she wouldn't even admit that she was the gal who had advertised for a well-heeled hubby.

Alaska no Stronger

NEW CASTLE, N.H., June 17 —(UP)— Gov. Ernest Gruening of Alaska said today his territory is no stronger militarily than it was prior to the last war.

"Alaska's need (for defense) is greater than that in any part of the union," Gruening told the final business session of the 40th Annual National Governors conference.

Gruening spoke at a round table discussion on civilian defense. He favored a proposal by Gov. Earl Warren, (R-Cal.), that the governors make a staff study of common civilian defense problems to remedy "the defects and mistakes" of the World War II setup.

"In Alaska," Gruening said, "we are within naked eye view of the continent of Asia."

Bulletin

WASHINGTON, June 17—(UP)— The Senate today passed a House-approved compromise bill authorizing the transfer of war surplus to National Guard units and other civilian components of the armed services.

New Guam Market Opens Tomorrow For General Public

AGANA—The Department of Agriculture has announced that the Farmers' Public Market will open tomorrow, June 19, at 9 a.m. The market will be open Wednesday and Saturday mornings until further notice.

The market is located at the old Post Office building in Agana, immediately north of the Bank of Guam. Offered for sale by farmers from all over the Island will be the following: Green corn, string beans, cucumbers, radishes, taro, breadfruit, bananas (cooking and eating), yams, muskmelons, pepino, watermelons, papaya, avocados, star fruit, fresh fish and other sea foods.

The opening of this public market is brought about by requests made by farmers individually and collectively throughout the Island.

It is hoped that some good will come out of this opportunity for the farmers to sell their produce at one centrally located place of business. The general public, Statesiders and Guamanians, are all invited to patronize.

Prior to the outbreak of the recent war, Island farmers managed to supply the public market with more than sufficient fresh fruits and vegetables. Many farmers then made their living by growing crops for sale. Now, with the demand many times greater, it is urged that Guamanians return to the soil.

Booths at the market are being prepared for the following municipalities: Umatac, Merizo, Inarajan, Agat, Santa Rita, Piti, Asan, Agana, Sinajana, Talofofo, Yona, Dededo, Barrigada and Yigo.

Truman Nears Missouri

ABOARD TRUMAN TRAIN, June 17 —(UP)—President Truman said today that the "brickbats" he has been tossing at Congress are forcing the legislators to take action on bills he considers vital.

Heading into his home territory of Kansas and Missouri, the president told listeners that two weeks of "pouring it on" Congress was beginning to pay off.

"I've been pouring it on them and they have got the jitters back there," he told a crowd in Albuquerque, N.M., late yesterday. "They have gone to work."

As he neared his native Missouri on the trip back to Washington, the president was mapping high strategy for the November presidential campaign confident that he will win the Democratic nomination.

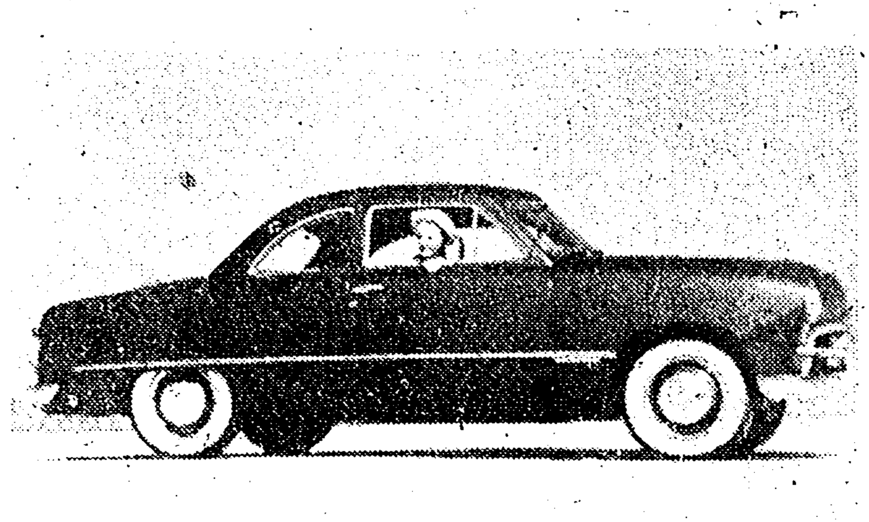
CIO Orders Strike

PITTSBURGH, June 17 —(UP)— The CIO United Steelworkers today ordered a strike of 20,000 Aluminum Company of America workers at midnight Sunday.

The union reported that its wage negotiations with Alcoa, largest aluminum producer of the nation, had been "broken off" without agreement last Friday and no further conferences scheduled.

The USW rejected a company proposal of an eight per cent wage increase, with a minimum raise of nine cents an hour, and insisted on a flat 13-cent an hour increase and other concessions.

Ford Unveils New 1949 Model



This is the Ford custom club coupe, one of Ford's new 1949 models that went on display last Thursday in New York. It has been revealed that almost $72,000,000 has been expended in re-tooling and new dies to produce the new models. Among the new features are added luggage space, individual coil suspension, greater width, increased visibility through use of panel windows, and a lower-slung chassis.

All's Well Though Residents Fail To Buy City

NORRIS, Tenn. —(UP)— Residents tried but failed to buy their city on the auction block Wednesday, but their disappointment turned to cheers when the successful bidder announced that community life would go on as usual.

David H. Epstein, representing a Philadelphia group, bought the model town of Norris for $2,107,500 in spirited bidding against another private firm, J.W. and E.V. Ferrell of Winston-Salem, N.C.

The citizens corporation was squeezed out at $1,900,000 after making financial arrangements that the residents were almost certain would enable them to buy the town from the Tennessee Valley Authority.

They were prepared to go as high as $2,000,000 but before that it became apparent the private bidders were determined to fight it out for the purchase. There were 27 offerings in all, with Auctioneer Robert J. Coker finally sounding the "gone" cry when Epstein topped the Ferrells' bid of $2,105,000.

But as the crowd on the front lawn of the picture-book Norris school-house muttered its disappointment Epstein jumped up on the auctioneer's stand and announced:

"Norris will continue as a model city for TVA folks. We intend to make Norris the biggest model community in the United States. I can't emphasize how very interested we are in maintaining Norris as a showplace of model community efficiency."

In Philadelphia, Attorney Leon Schechtman of the purchasers said that the town's homes will be offered for sale to the residents "at reasonable market prices approved by the Veterans Administration and the FHA."

Schechtman did not identify the buyers but said they were "a group of Philadelphians interested in making a sound investment and in doing a civic duty."

HUSBAND AND RUNAWAY BRIDE REUNITED—Thomas Kalinoski, New Britain, Conn., whose 17-year-old bride, the former Mary Witman, York, Pa., ran away according to police, with a married salesman, father of two children, meets his wife at the Harrisburg, Pa., airport here after her mother returned the former high school senior from Witchita Kans. Police halted the girl and the salesman in Kansas after the husband filed kidnaping and abduction charges against the man, identified as Arthur D. Deets, Jr., 23, of Kingston, Pa. Charges against Deets were dropped, however, when the girl said she left with the man voluntarily. (AP Wirephoto)

CHARLOTTE, N.C. —(UP)— A tiny, freckled mother, with more troubles than a 22-year-old girl should have, held on with dogged hope today on the third day of her daughter's bedside, refusing to believe doctors who said the baby hod only a slim chance to live.

Shabbily-dressed Mrs. Anna Harris Strickland blinked back tears and said she had faith that her two-year-old daughter, Elizabeth, would get well.

Tubercular Case

Dr. C.R. McAdams said little "Becky" was believed to be suffering from tubercular meningitis. Only in rare cases does the victim live, he said.

Mrs. Stickland had no sleep except fretful naps by the bedside since she came to the hospital Sunday when she heard that her child was dying and had called for days in vain for "mama." When she returned, Becky was in a coma.

She had no money, no place to stay. Mercy hospital gave her a cot at the bedside.

Ten Towns Flooded, No Fatalities

SAN FRANSISCO, —(UP)— Ten towns with a total population of more than 40,000 have been inundated by floods in the northern coastal district of New South Wales, radio Australia reported today in a broadcast recorded by United Press.

The flood has created a vast inland sea, stretching nearly 100 miles from the Queensland border to the town of Grafton, the broadcast said.

Despite the heavy storms which lashed the area and the fact that two rivers have broken their banks and flooded large areas, radio Australia said not a single fatality had been reported. Many persons, however, are marooned into their houses and authorities feared nigh water may undermine foundations of the buildings.

Richie Ashburn

Phils Rely on Ashburn

Ashburn starred for the Phillies in the four game-Chicago series and came through with timely hits which proved to be the margin of victory in two of the three game triumphs.

One of the leading candidates for "Rookies of The Year" honors, he has received a lot of credit for keeping the Phils in the running for the 1948 National league pennant.

The Phillies are hoped to outdo the St. Louis Cardinals in their present series in order to move into first division but according to most Philly fans—it's whether or not the star outfielder can break the jinx of the Cardinal pitching.

The Phils received Ashburn from the minor league draft las fall.

NEW YORK, June 17 —(UP)— The Pittsburgh Pirates, consisting mainly of an "old soupbone" pitching staff and a lot of guys with that old college try, moved into a tie for first place in the National league race today—not bad for a club that finished last in 1947.

The Lucky Bucs, who have a little bit of brilliance to go laong with their good breaks, took over co-leadership of the league by beating the Giants, 11 to 5 at New York for their third straight victory.

Unlike last night's great 2 to 0 three-hitter by Fritz Ostermueller, the Pirates won today's game on 12 hits including homers by Johnny Hopp and Wally Westlake, with considerable help from the Giants on a variety of errors and mental lapses.

The Braves, who had held the lead undisputedly, dropped down into a tie by losing an 8 to 5 decision to the Cubs in Boston. The Cubs, who had suffered seven sraight defeats at the hands of the Braves, won on the margin of Andy Pafko's three run homer.

Eddie Waitkus also hit a Chicago homer. Emil Kush who pitched six innings in relief was the victor, while Charley Barrett dropped his third decision in five days after relieving Boston starter Bill Voiselle.

The Red Sox, starting their Wester tour as if they intended to travel in seven league boots, scored their second straight victory over the first place Indians, 7 to 4, at Cleveland. Bobby Feller failed to complete a starting assignment for the sixth straight time and was charged with his seventh defeat against five victories. It was Boston's 11th victory in its last 15 games. Ted Williams boosted his batting average to a sensational .408 when he hit his 13th homer, two doubles, and a single for perfect day at bat.

Young Art Houtteman, who had lost eight straight games, won his second in a row today, but he had to go 11 innings to do it at Detroit as the Tigers topped the Athletics, 2 o 1. Singles by Hoot Evers, Pat Mullin and pinchhitter Paul Campbell broke up the duel between Houtteman and southpaw Rookie Lou Brissie. It was Detroit's sixth straight triumph. Houtteman missed a shutout when Ferris Fain homered in the seventh.

Allie Reynolds of the Yankees came out of a slump to score his seventh victory after losing two in a row in a to 1 triumph over the White Sox at Chicago. The Yankees sewed it up in the first inning when they made two runs on a single by George Stirnweiss, Cliff Mapes' double and Joe DiMaggio's single.

St. Louis at Philadelphia in the national was rained out.

Carl Furilo drove in three runs; one of them to break a tie in the ninth inning to give the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4 to 3 win over Cincinnati in a night game at Brooklyn. Ralph Branca pitched a two-hitter for the Dodgers, losing a no-hitter when Johnny Wyrostek homered with two outs in the eighth. Johnny Vandermeer stared for Cincinnati on the 10th niversary of his second straight no-it game but escaped being aged with the defeat, which went to relieler Kent Peterson.

In an arc-lighter in St. Louis, the Browns pushed over three runs in the eighth inning to beat Washington 6 o 5. Paul Lehner doubled home the winning run, relief pitcher Frank Biscan getting credit for the win. Rae Scarborough was the losing pitcher. Whitey platt hit a two run Brownie homer.

Russian Delegates Walk Out of Berlin Meeting

BERLIN, June 18 (UP) The Russian delegation tonight walked out of the four-power Kommandatura which governs Berlin and said there would be no more meetings.

As the Soviets suddenly left in the 13th hour of a bitter session filled with East-West exchanges, the chairman, French Gen. Jean Ganeval, called out, "but we have not set a date for the next meeting!"

Col. Alexei Jelisarov, the chief Russian delegate, replied over his shoulder, "There won't be any next meeting."

A few minutes before the Soviets abruptly departed without asking permission from the chair, Col. Frank Howley, the American representative, had left the stalemated session, but only after he had requested that his deputy, W. T. Babcock, be permitted to sit in for him.

Told of the walkout, Howley said. "I believe it is the end of the Kommandatura, but if any joker thinks the Americans, French and British are going to be dealt out of Berlin, they have got another guess coming."

Chairman Ganeval said Howley was justified in turning his chair over to Babcock and the Russians were at fault for leaving.

But a British spokesman said, "We did not get the impression there would be no future meeting of the Kommandatura. The withdrawal appeared to be impromtu."

And, the Russian-licensed German news agency, commented, "Howley left improperly, and he must apologize."

Despite all their differences, the four commanders did agree to increase the food ration for all Berliners by 150 to 200 calories per day. The ration for the average person not engaged in strenuous labor has been 1,608 calories daily.

During today's session, western representatives accused the Russians of attempting to funnel all of Berlin's economic output into the Soviet zone.

American Legion To Boost Voting

NEW CASTLE, N. H., June 18 —(UP)— National Commander James F. O'Neil of the American Legion said today the Legion will campaign to turn out the "greatest vote in the nation's history" in the November election.

O'Neil made the announcement in an address at the 40th annual national governors' conference.

"It will be a country-wide, doorbellringing campaign," O'Neil later told newsmen. "Local Legion posts will provide baby sitters and transportation to get voters to the polls."

The drive will be the first ever conducted by the Legion on such a scale. It will start within 45 days he said.

Governor Praises Students and People Of Guam in Commencement Address

In impressive ceremonies before an audience of nearly a thousand persons in the Plaza in Agana, graduation exercises for 62 seniors of George Washington High School were held last night with Radm. C. A. Pownall, USN, Governor of Guam, delivering the diplomas and Commencement address.

Stressing the importance of quality, and how accurately to differentiate good quality from bad quality, Governor Pownall told the students and audience of the importance attached to the graduation program, and of its influence upon Guam.

Stating that there is always an interesting exchange of views between the graduating class and the Governor, Admiral Pownall said.

"We older people go away from these gatherings with a profound respect, not only at witnessing the youth and spirit of Guam at its best, but are impressed with their observations, their views and recommendations on matters of policy effecting Guam and the people."

Continuing, he said, "We witness in you the future hope of Guam. Hereafter, and regardless of your youth and spirit of Guam at its best, of full-fledged, competent and intelligent men and women.

"Your keynotes, your valedictory speakers, invariably offer a well considered and appropriate theme at these exercises. Two years ago Segundo Aguon covered the inherent relationship of Guamanianism to Americanism. His words were heard and heeded all the way to Washington.

"Last year the theme of the speakers was that of natural resources—beauty of Guam—the essentials of a sound economy, the importance of agriculture. Frankly, it became the fore-runner of our current agricultural program. These themes and discourses are not only appropriate, but useful in a practical sense."

Discussing the rehabilitation of Guam, the Governor likened it to that of a man building his house. It requires a good architect to plan, and constructive advice from the prospective occupants. Opinion, recommendation and constructive criticism are desired from those vitally concerned.

"Guam is a relatively small island in size," the Governor continued, "but she commands respect and attention, nationally and internationally. Rand and McNally listed her in bold type on their maps, despite her small size. While her land area is limited, there is no limit to the mental and moral stature of her people, either individually or collectively. They are fundamentally of sound and good quality.

"It is indeed a pleasant task which I fulfill in awarding these diplomas to you young graduates, who are a very worthy exponent and sample of what we term, "good and sound quality."

(Editor's note: — Pictures and a complete story of the graduation exercises will appear in the Sunday paper.)

43 Killed In Crash Of Plane

MT. CARMEL, Pa., June 18 (U.P.) Forty-three persons, including Earl Carroll of movie and stage fame were killed here today in excellent flying weather when a United Airlines DC-6 crashed on a mountainside in northeastern Pennsylvania.

The plane on the Chicago-New York leg of a flight from San Diego, struck a transformer station and roared into explosive flames.

Charred fragments of bodies and luggage were scattered over the hillside for 600 feet on each side of the crash and an area of three city blocks was burned in the brush.

Richie Ashburn

Phils Rely on Ashburn

Ashburn starred for the Phillies in the four game-Chicago series and came through with timely hits which proved to be the margin of victory in two of the three game triumphs.

One of the leading candidates for "Rookies of The Year" honors, he has received a lot of credit for keeping the Phils in the running for the 1948 National league pennant.

The Phillies are hoped to outdo the St. Louis Cardinals in their present series in order to move into first division but according to most Philly fans—it's whether or not the star outfielder can break the jinx of the Cardinal pitching.

The Phils received Ashburn from the minor league draft las fall.

NEW YORK, June 17 —(UP)— The Pttsburgh Pirates, consisting mainly of an "o'd soupbone" pitching staff and a lot of guys with that old college try, moved into a tie for first place in the National league race today—not bad for a club that finished last in 1947.

The Lucky Bucs, who have a litt'e bit of brilliance to go laong with their good breaks, took over co-leadership of the league by beating the Giants, 11 to 5 at New York for their third straight victory.

Unlike last night's great 2 to 0 three-hitter by Fritz Ostermueller, the Pirates won today's game on 12 hits including homers by Johnny Hopp and Wal'y Westlake, with considerable help from the Giants on a variety of errors and mental lapses.

The Braves, who had held the lead undisputedly, dropped down into a tie by losing an 8 to 5 decision to the Cubs in Boston. The Cubs, who had suffered seven straight defeats at the hands of the Braves, won on the margin of Andy Pafko's three run homer.

Eddie Waitkus also hit a Chicago homer. Emil Kush who pitched six innings in relief was the victor, while Charley Barrett dropped his third decision in five days after relieving Boston starter Bill Voiselle.

The Red Sox, starting their Wester tour as if they intended to travel in seven league boots, scored their second straight victory over the first place Indians, 7 to 4, at Cleveland. Bobby Feller failed to complete a starting assignment for the sixth straight time and was charged with his seventh defeat against five victories. It was Boston's 11th victory in its last 15 games. Ted Williams boosted his batting average to a sensational .408 when he hit his 13th homer, two doubles, and a single for perfect day at bat.

Young Art Houtteman, who had lost eight straight games, won his second in a row today, but he had to go 11 innings to do it at Detroit as the Tigers topped the Athletics, 2 o 1. Singles by Hoot Evers, Ist Mullin and pinchhitter Paul Campbell broke up the duel between Houtteman and southpaw Rookie Lou Brissie. It was Detroit's sixth straight triumph. Houtteman missed a shutout when Ferris Fain homered in the seventh.

Allie Reynolds of the Yankees came out of a slump to score his seventh victory after losing two in a row in a to 1 triumph over the White Sox at Chicago. Ralph Branca pitched a two-hitter for the Dodgers, losing a no-hitter when Johnny Wyrostek homered with two outs in the eighth. Johnny Vandermeer stared for Cincinnati on the 10th niversary of his second straight no-it game but escaped being agged with the defeat, which went to reliefer Kent Peterson.

In an arc-lighter in St. Louis, the Browns pushed over three runs in the eighth inning to beat Washington 6 o 5. Paul Lehner doubled heme the winning run, relief pitcher Frank Biscan getting credit for the win. Rae Scarborough was the losing pitcher. Whitey platt hit a two run Brownie homer.

Russian Delegates Walk Out of Berlin Meeting

BERLIN, June 18 (UP) The Russian delegation tonight walked out of the four-power Kommandatura which governs Berlin and said there would be no more meetings.

As the Soviets suddenly left in the 13th hour of a bitter session filled with East-West exchanges, the chairman, French Gen. Jean Ganeval, called out, "but we have not set a date for the next meeting!"

Col. Alexei Jelisarov, the chief Russian delegate, replied over his shoulder, "There won't be any next meeting."

A few minutes before the Soviets abruptly departed without asking permission from the chair, Col. Frank Howley, the American representative, had left the stalemated session, but only after he had requested that his deputy, W. T. Babcock, be permitted to sit in for him.

Told of the walkout, Howley said. "I believe it is the end of the Kommandatura, but if any joker thinks the Americans, French and British are going to be dealt out of Berlin, they have got another guess coming."

Chairman Ganeval said Howley was justified in turning his chair over to Babcock and the Russians were at fault for leaving.

But a British spokesman said, "We did not get the impression there would be no future meeting of the Kommandatura. The withdrawal appeared to be impromtu."

And, the Russian-licensed German news agency, commented, "Howley left improperly, and he must apologize."

Despite all their differences, the four commanders did agree to increase the food ration for all Berliners by 150 to 200 calories per day. The ration for the average person not engaged in strenuous labor has been 1,608 calories daily.

During today's session, western representatives accused the Russians of attempting to funnel all of Berlin's economic output into the Soviet zone.

Stating that there is always an interesting exchange of views between the graduating class and the Governor, Admiral Pownall said.

"We older people go away from these gatherings with a profound respect, not only at witnessing the youth and spirit of Guam at its best, but are impressed with their observations, their views and recommendations on matters of policy effecting Guam and the people."

Continuing, he said, "We witness in you the future hope of Guam. Hereafter, and regardless of your youth and spirit of Guam at its best, of full-fledged, competent and intelligent men and women.

"Your keynotes, your valedictory speakers, invariably offer a well considered and appropriate theme at these exercises. Two years ago Segundo Aguon covered the inherent relationship of Gunmanism to Americanism. His words were heard and heeded all the way to Washington.

"Last year the theme of the speakers was that of natural resources—beauty of Guam—the essentials of a sound economy, the importance of agriculture. Frankly, it became the fore-runner of our current agricultural program. These themes and discourses are not only appropriate, but useful in a practical sense."

Discussing the rehabilitation of Guam, the Governor likened it to that of a man building his house. It requires a good architect to plan, and constructive advice from the prospective occupants. Opinion, recommendation and constructive criticism are desired from those vitally concerned.

"Guam is a relatively small island in size," the Governor continued, "but she commands respect and attention, nationally and internationally. Rand and McNally listed her in bold type on their maps, despite her small size. While her land area is limited, there is no limit to the mental and moral stature of her people, either individually or collectively. They are fundamentally of sound and good quality.

"It is indeed a pleasant task which I fulfill in awarding these diplomas to you young graduates, who are a very worthy exponent and sample of what we term, "good and sound quality."

(Editor's note: — Pictures and a complete story of the graduation exercises will appear in the Sunday paper.)

University Will Register Students Monday Morning

The University of Hawaii's second annual Guam Branch session registration will take place at George Washington High School in Sinajana, Monday, June 21 at 8:30 a.m.

Four members of the University faculty arrived by plane Thursday from Honolulu. Dr. Robert W. Clopton, director of the Guam Summer session, will teach a course for teachers, "Science and mathematics in the elementary curriculum." Miss Jane Holden will give courses on teaching of reading.

Mrs. Henrietta C. Krantz, assistant professor of speech at the University, will teach classes in speech and English. Professor Ernest McClain will teach two courses in public school music and also direct the chorus, which is expected to be a popular feature of the summer session.

All courses are for two credits each, except the chorus which carries one credit. Courses will meet an hour a day.

Guam Branch University summer courses correspond with those offered at the University of Hawaii campus in Honolulu. Credits earned at this session will apply toward regular degree requirements for anyone enrolling for a regular session in Honolulu.

BABY ELEPHANT SHREW — Shown is a close-up of one of the 104 elephant shrews delivered to the National Zoo. A full grown shrew of this type normally weighs a maximum of six ounces. Many of the animals are thought to be infected, or at least carriers, of the tropical scoorge—malaria. Blood specimens from the animals will be used by Navy scientists in research on the disease in an effort to develop a preventive and a cure. (U. S. Navy Photo)

New System to Count Foreign Service

NORTH GUAM AFB — Information has been received from Air Force headquarters outlining a standard system for computing and recording foreign service in order "to equalize the opportunity for all personnel to serve overseas." The new system is explained in Air Force Regulation 35-21.

In the past, months of overseas duty determined who would be selected for foreign service. The new system effective August 1, 1948 will use the new credits.

The point system will not be computed while on Guam. When a man reports to his first permanent station back in the States his credits will be determined and listed in his record.

Credits will be computed as of December 7, 1941 through September 30, 1946. One point per month will be given for each month served overseas either in a permanent status or continuous temporary duty for 60 days or more.

Community Turns To in Fixing Town Streets

ALEXANDRIA, Ind. —(UP)— Three preachers, two bankers, the mayor and nearly 500 fellow townsmen have rolled up their sleeves and put Alexandria's streets back in shape.

They answered an appeal by the Alexandria Better Business Association for volunteer labor to fill what the mayor estimated were "thousands" of chuck-holes.

Men, women and children, led by the shirt-sleeved mayor himsef, grabbed brooms, shovels and rakes. They spent the day pouring asphalt and smoothing it out.

The chuck-holes disappeared, one after another. By late afternoon, the job was almost done.

The street repair problem was the result of conferences between the association and the city administration. Townspeople found that the streets were in such bad shape that they were hardly passable.

But the town fathers said they couldn't afford to furnish the materials and all the labor to get the job done quickly. They agreed to buy the materials if the townspeople would furnish the labor.

The police department took a dim view of the idea. It said nobody had been arrested for speeding for months because of the chuck-holes.

It's "Aloha Oe" for approximately 80 men of the 296th Transportation Truck Battalion at a gala "bon voyage" party, to be held Tuesday evening at the Tropical Garden Service Club.

Guests will be well serenaded by several quartets featuring songs old and new, of the Island and from the mainland.

And that's not all. There will be plenty of delicious refreshments for everybody.

So don't forget, it's "bon voyage" to all those departing this month for the States, Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Six American Soldiers Captured by Yugoslav's

TRIESTE, June 18 —(UP)— Yugoslav's, aboard an armed vessel captured a group of United States soldiers cruising in Trieste Bay last night and took them to Capodistria, capital of the Yugoslav zone of the free territory, unofficial American sources said today.

These sources said they believed five or six American soldiers and several civilians were in the group. Italian sources said only two soldiers were taken.

America Garrison

All the soldiers were reported based at the American garrison in Trieste. They were attached to the U. S. force known as "Trust."

The Yugoslav's claimed the Americans were in Yugoslavian territorial waters, according to reports.

Many Striving For Officers School

HQ. 20TH AIR FORCE Guam — Since February 20, there have been hundreds of applications for Officer Candidate School received at Headquarters Twentieth Air Force from all points under its command. Many have been processed through the MarBo screening board and after approval left for the United States. Nearly all branches of both Air Force and Army OCS schools have had representation as to the applicant's choice. It is noted after July 1, 1948, only Department of Army OCS applications will be accepted. Lately as pertains to this command North Guam Air Force Base and Northwest Guam Air Force Base have had the greatest number of applicants accepted.

At the time of this writing many more applications are in the process of being acted upon by the MarBo Officer Candidate board and the Far East Air Force headquarters in Tokyo as pertains to personnel of the Twentieth Air Force command.

PEIPING —(UP)— Twelve American, British, and Canadian nuns and 13 Chinese sisters, who had been prisoners of the Reds for seven months in Hseinshein, were returned to Tientsin today following protracted negotiations. A Catholic mission spokesman here disclosed the information.

Guam's Johnny Kamber Wins Olympic Berth

Wins Decision Over Jim Ithia

Johnny Kamber, Guam's favorite Naval boxer and featherweight champion of the Western Pacific, gained fame for himself as well as the Island last night, by outboxing Jimmy Ithia, All-Navy featherweight champion, representing the USS Mississippi, in the All-Navy Olympic tryouts at Washington D. C

The bout opened with both dancing around the ring feeling each other out as Kamber proved his careful boxing and ability to baffle his opponet. The first round saw little punching but Kamber made his usual opening round a clever one which carried the fan's favoritism to his corner.

Kamber started the swinging in the second round by throwing a hard right that just grased the side of Ithia's face. Then both boxers went after each other which brought the 4,000 fans to their feet as rights and lefts flew freely. At this point, Ithia gained points with the judges but they were erased at the end of the round when Kamber let loose with hard rights and lefts to Ithia's head.

In the third round, Kamber came back with his great knack for baffling the opponet and danced around Ithia jabbing him with rights and lefts which had the ex-champ completely dazed. Ithia, knowing the fancy Kamber had won, tried in vain to make a comeback, but couldn't quite outpoint the clever Kamber.

Ithia was a heavy favorite before the bout began and so Kamber's victory went down in the books as an upset. However, by the action of the crowd and those that have seen him box on Guam, the triumph was a great victory.

CHICAGO, Junee 18 —(UP)—Ted Williams widened his lead over Lou Bourdreau today in balloting for the 15th annual all-star game in St. Louis, July 13.

The slugging Red Sox outfieldeer was named in 3,687 lineups sent in by fans, a margin of 272 over the Cleveland Manager's 3,415. Joe DiMaggio of the Yankees was third with 3,331.

Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals topped the National's individual vote-getters with 3,208. His teammate, Enos Slaughter, was second with 3,115.

Braves Cop Doubleheader

NEW YORK, June 18 (UP) When the Red Sox hit the skids critics said Marse Joe McCarthy couldn't take it and that he would head back for his farm near Buffalo, but they were dead wrong—he went to Cleveland instead to plow under the league-leading Indians.

The Red Sox, currently the five-alarm fire of the American league, swept the three-game series with the Indians by winning today's finale, 8 to 6 for their 10th victory in their last 12 starts.

Dom DiMaggio's homer in the sixth broke a 6-6 tie and, from the fourth inning until the finish, Earl Johnson pitched scoreless three-hit relief ball to gain his fourth triumph. Boston routed starter Don Black with a three-run rally in the first inning but Cleveland came right back with a trio of tallies in its half. In the second the Red Sox picked up three more runs, all unearned as Vern Stephens hit his 10th homer. Again Cleveland tied it up in the fourth on Ken Keltner's two-run homer, his 16th boundary blast of the year, and on Joe Gordon's ninth with the bases empty.

The Athletics zoomed back to take the finale of a three-game series with the Tigers at Detroit, 5 to 2 on Carl Scheib's six-hit pitching. The defeat ended a six-game Tiger winning streak but they had only themselves to blame because errors by Dick Wakefield and George Kell gave the A's three unearned runs. Philadelphia made 10 hits off Dizzy Trout who suffered his sixth defeat. It was Scheib's fifth triumph and he contributed to it offensively with two hits.

The Braves went back into undisputed possession of first place in the National league when they came from behind in both games of a double header to defeat the Cubs, 7 to 6 and 8 to 7, at Boston. Apparently hopelessly beaten each time, the Braves rallied like champions to wipe out Chicago's 5 to 0 lead acquired in the first game, then got off the floor to offset a 7 to 3 Cub lead in the nightcap. Willie Voiselle, doing two fine relief stints, was the winner in both games, giving him a record of seven wins and three defeats.

The Pirates who had been tied with the Braves, overturned the Giants for the third straight time at New York, 9 to 8 in a free-swinging battle in which Ed Steven's three-run homer was the big blow for the Bucs. The Giants had gone out in front with homers by Johnny Mize, Bill Rigney, Bobby Thomson, and Hillard Marshall, but the Pirates, rallying late against Starter Larry Jansen, put over two runs in the sixth, three in the seventh, and four in eighth to win.

The Reds, after losing two to the Dodgers, salvaged the finale of the series in Brooklyn, 5 to 3, Rookie Howard Fox settling down after a shaky first inning in which the losers scored all of their runs to pitch his sixth victory. Cincinnati made four runs in the fourth, knocking out starter Joe Hatton. Claude Corbitt's two run single was the game-winning blow.

Washington at St. Louis in the American was rained out, and the Yankees and White Sox had open dates.

Outfielder Stan Musial's timely triple with the bases loaded in the eighth inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals a 4 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a night game. Philadelphia had gone ahead in the fourth on singles by Johnny Blatnik and Del Rice, and a long-fly by Andy Seminick.

Musial collected two singles in addition to his triple to raise his batting average to .398. Harry (The Cat) Brecheen was the winner and young Curt Simmons the loser.

Two Killed at Races

ROCKFORD, Ill., June 18—(UP) A father and son were killed tonight by a midget auto racer which struck them after spinning through a turnrail and hurtling 160 feet through the air.

Jack Darby, 16, Rockford, a gate attendant, was in serious condition at St. Anthony's hospital with head injuries suffered when the auto ran into him.

Brow, who was employed by Doc Sonebrook, of South Bend, Ind., decapitated when the racer drove him through a window of a parked car in a near-by parking lot. His father was standing next to him near the mechanic's pit.

Truman Signs Appropriations Bill For Navy

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) President Truman today signed legislation authorizing the Navy to undertake construction projects costing $209,800,000, mostly in Guam, Hawaii and Alaska.

Funds for these projects will be provided in the deficiency appropriation bill, both of which are expected to become laws shortly.

Guam projects authorized in the bill signed today will cost about $84,000,000 and will constitute the first part of an $800,000,000 development to make Guam a major Navy operating and supply base.

Projects in Hawaii authorized by the bill will cost close to $1,000,000 those in Alaska will cost $17,000,000

Folsom Honest Man As Divorcee Drops Paternity Suit

CULLMAN, Ala., June 19 (U.P) Statuesque Mrs. Christine Putman Johnston today abruptly asked dismissal of her paternity suit against Gov. James E. Folsom because, she said, she was being used as a political tool against the big governor.

Making a rare public appearance, the red-haired divorcee strode into the quiet Cullman County courthouse with her brother, Carter Putman, and filed her brief petition. Then she retired to the seclusion of her father's home in the country near Hanceville, Ala.

Gov. Folsom has tumbled downhill politically since Mrs. Johnston filed her suit several months ago. His candidates were trounced in the Alabama primary and he himself ran last for national Democratic delegate-at-large in the runoff primary.

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) The Air Force announced today it has ordered 28 new giant transports each capable of carrying 222 troops with full field equipment.

They will be built by Douglas Aircraft Co., Santa Monica, Cal.

The new sky giants will be able to transport a payload of 50,000 pounds of military cargo 1,200 miles and return to their base without refueling.

South Europe Riots Calm as Truce Declared

PARIS, June 18 (U.P) Premier Robert Schuman's prompt retort to a Communist labor challenge brought a truce to riot torn Clermont-Ferrand today and appeared to have checked an incipient strike wave in South France.

Reports from the south indicated that about 50,000 workers were out in sympathy with the Clermont-Ferrand strikers. But the call of the Communists-led labor confederation for a sweeping stoppage had fallen short, and the general trend was back to work.

The dispatch by air of 500 security guards from Lyon to Clermont-Ferrand to reinforce the mobile and police forces already there, brought a truce at the rubber center, where bloody battling sent at least 300 to hospitals.

Army Harbors Refugees

VIENNA, June 19 (U.P) A C-47 transport of the Soviet-Romanian Airlines landed at the Salzburg Airport today with 19 passengers and four crewmen who were described as anti-Communist refugees, U. S. Army authorities reported.

Only one person aboard the plane wanted to return to Roumania, the Army said.

Military officials said the plane presumably" came from Bucharest. Salzburg is in the U. S. zone of Austria near the German border.

A number of groups of refugees from the Communist regime have flown out of Czechoslovakia. A Yugoslav transport recently landed in Italy and a number of those aboard refused to return to Yugoslavia.

Marshall Warns Debarkation From Firm Foreign Policy May Lead U.S. Into War

U.S. Fighter Plane Strength in Europe Will be Doubled

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) The Air Force today ordered 75 fighter planes to go to Germany in mid-August. This will double the U. S. fighter plane strength in Europe.

The 36th Fighter Wing will be transferred from the Panama Canal zone to Germany.

The 36th Fighter Wing is the first jet unit to be assigned to Europe since the war. A spokesman called it part of a routine rotation program.

Under this program, the Air Force has had in operation for some time a plan of rotating jet fighter wings to Alaska for Arctic training.

Western Germany Will Receive New Money

FRANKFURT, June 19 (U.P) Western Germany will get next Sunday a new currency to be called the "Deutsche Mark," the American, British and French Military Governments announced jointly today.

The announcement said that European Recovery Program aid from the United States "stands behind" the new money. Its value in terms of other currencies was not fixed definitely, but will be later.

Western Powers

The western powers, proceeding with the long awaited German currency reform without the cooperation of Russia, proclaimed a law establishing the new money.

The proclamation invalidated the old Reichsmark. Since the war it had been pegged at an artificial 10-cent military exchange rate. Since currency reform became imminent in the last few days, its value dropped to near the vanishing point.

Says 'Peace in Strength'

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) Secretary of State George C. Marshall warned the House in the midst of its draft debate today that a retreat from the firm foreign policy on which the United States has embarked might lead to war.

He made that statement at closed meeting of the House Foreign Affairs committee while testifying on a bill aimed at strengthening the peacemaking machinery of the United Nations.

Committee Chairman Charles A. Eaton, (R-N.J.), relayed it to the House this afternoon in a dramatic bid to stem a rising tide of anti-draft sentiment that threatened to kill or emasculate the Senate-approved draft bill.

Present Line of Action

He said Marshall had authorized him to pass it on as draft foes had declared in the House that the Secretary of State believed there is no danger of war.

Rep. John Rankin, (D-Miss.), told the House that Marshall made the "no war danger" remark at this morning's committee meeting. Rep. A. L. Miller, (R-Neb.), later gave out a similar version of the secretary's private testimony.

Eaton then took the floor and announced he had telephoned Marshall and obtained his permission to deny that story.

He added that Marshall had authorized him to give this quotation from the secretary's testimony:

"It is quite clear," he quoted Marshall as saying, "that recessions from our present line of action for the security of the United States would be most unfortunate and might lead to what we are trying so hard to avoid—that is, war."

House, Senate End Talk on Navy Bill

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) Congress completed action today on a $3,750,170,250 Navy appropriation bill to operate the world's most powerful fleet during the 12 months starting July 1.

The House and Senate both adopted a compromise bill. It now goes to President Truman's desk for signature.

The final figure established by House and Senate conferees was $62,000,000 less than the original Senate total and $63,000,000 more than the House figure.

The measure includes funds to start work on a 65,000-ton aircraft carrier. Air Force officials privately have criticized the carrier on grounds that the Navy is trying to usurp the Air Force's job.

The House Appropriations Committee estimated that the money will enable the Navy to maintain 277 major fighting ships and 486 auxiliary vessels on active service during the 12 months starting July 1.

This would leave 644 major combat vessels and 1,215 other ships in the reserve fleet. President Truman requested $3,927,738,700 for the Navy. Thus the actual budget reduction was $172,578,450.

House Passes Draft

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) The House passed a draft bill this morning—but that still doesn't mean that it will be a law soon. The House bill is considerably milder than the version passed by the Senate. Now both measures are headed for a conference committee to compromise the differences.

The House bill provides for one-year inductions of men 19 through 25 years old. But drafting could not start until after next January 31st. Between now and then, the armed services would have to put steam into their recruiting campaign to get the extra men they need by volunteer methods.

U.S. 'Cold War' Traitors Flayed In House Report

WASHINGTON, June 19 (U.P) The House Committee on un-American activities charged today that American Communists are engaged in "cold war treason" against the United States.

The charge was included in a new handbook on Communism drafted by the committee.

Entitled "Communism in the U. S. A." the publication lists 100 questions about the Communists, and the committee's answers.

In answer to a question as to whether the actions of American Communists are treasonable, the committee said:

Cold War Treason

"The Soviet Union has launched what has been called a "cold war" on the United States. Therefore, Communists are engaged in what might be called "cold war treason." It said some of the illegal activities of the Communists are "spying, sabotage, passport fraud, perjury, counterfeiting, rioting, disloyality in the Army, Navy and Air Force."

The committee said the Mund-Nixon Communist-Control bill is designed to fight this "cold war treason."

Next of Kin to Identify Bodies of Air Crash Victims

MT. CARMEL, Pa., June 19 (U.P) Next of kin will be brought here today to start the sad task of identifying the bodies of 43 passengers and crew members killed in the crash of a DC-6 luxury airliner.

A United Airlines spokesman said family members able to make the trip will view the remains at a funeral home in nearby Centralia.

As special investigators searched the wreckage to determine why the four-engined plane crashed yesterday, the company said "any statement as to the probable cause of the accident to flight 624 are conjecture and might prove misleading."

Crash Witness —

Company President W. A. Patterson said any possible statement later today must depend on the ability of the investigators to get the facts rather than "assumptions."

A witness who was only 100 yards from the big plane when it crashed told investigators today that he could see no sign of smoke or fire before the airliner ploughed into a transformer station and exploded.

HOLLYWOOD, June 19 (U.P) Jack Oakie, the happy comedian, wept today when he was told his ex-wife died in a Pennsylvania plane crash.

She had boarded the plane after a friendly visit with the movie comic, with whom she had had an off-and-on romance since their first marriage in 1936.

The former Venita Varden and the round-faced comedian, who married each other twice, were on the best of terms. Any time she came to Hollywood from her New York home, she stayed with Oakie.

Her mother, Mrs. Eva Kemper, also lived at Oakie's home.

HOLLYWOOD, June 19 (U.P) One of the last orders famed showman Earl Carroll gave before he boarded a plane to his death last night was:

"If anything happens to me, the show must go on."

Harry Engel, Carroll's right hand man in the 56-year-old showman's restaurant on radio row, didn't think the balding king of girl revues had a premonition about a crash, however.

Engel said the order would be obeyed and the most beautiful girls in the world would pass through the portal on schedule.

Carroll gave the word to Engel as he watched his show for the last time.

FRANKFURT, June 18 (U.P) Lana Turner failed to show up today for the scheduled start of a 12-day entertainment tour of United States Army posts in Germany.

High military sources said Miss Turner called off the visit to GI's when the Army refused to provide a private plane to fly her and her party here from Paris.

THE ROCK . . . .

by Tom Richards

Oh, the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years,
And the smile that is worth
The treasure of earth,
Is the smile that shines through tears.
Anon.

"OH, THERE'S NOT MUCH IN A NAME" you often hear, and "A rose by any other name would smell as sweet." Well, there are two names that don't follow in that category in my book and one of 'em is "Dad." My childhood was a happy one because my Mom and Dad, by love and sacrifice, made it so. Ever since I was just a little fellow the word "Dad" has always stood for something fine, good, and clean. Dad wasn't just the fellow us kids used to run down the path to meet at night or who brought a touch of something that was close to reverence to my mother's soft voice when she mentioned his name. No, the word "Dad" stood for something bigger and stronger than that. Dad was all my brother and I meant to be some day. He could do no wrong for, although his head was up among the stars of our world, his heart was always with his wife and children.

When I was four and my brother six, Dad brought home a punching bag and boxing gloves. He laced on our gloves and then got down on his knees and told us to swing at him. We were both shocked clear through. "Hit Daddy?" Why we should have just as soon committed murder or cut off our dog's tail. I can remember, almost as clear as day, seeing Dad down on his knees and begging me to hit him in the nose. I wouldn't have hit him for a circus. Finally he gave my brother a sales talk that was a hummer and had Jim thinking it was his duty, if he really loved his Pop, to sock him. Jim suddenly uncorked a haymaker that caught Dad in the temple and ended all boxing instructions very completely for the night.

Dad was away from home quite a bit. He invented one of the world's first rotary airplane engines and went back East and manufactured it. He also invented and manufactured a harvesting machine that became internationally famous, cultivators, and all kinds of farm equipment, the safety steering gear for cars, economic lead base grease, all-angle milling machines, electric motors, reamers, and a host of other things. When Dad was away we'd get a long letter from him 'most every day, and every night we'd pray for his due home from a business trip health and success. When he was you would have thought the world had stopped turning, if you had been there. Mom would be doing extra-special baking and my two sisters would bring all manner of good things with them on their way home from work. Then Dad would get there and it really would be swell. He'd always have all sorts of presents and surprises for each one of us. I'll never forget the time he brought home the water pistols and we had a battle royal. was a better shot but we outnumbered him and forced his unconditional surrender, if I remember right.

DAD ALWAYS had time to play with us. He could make the best kites in town and help us fly them the highest. Later in life his sound counsel and helping hand were always there to help us and guide us along life's road. After I left home I forgot many of Dad's teachings and I walked along various pathways. Dad's code of ethics, like that of all of our dads, was based then as it is now, on honesty, integrity and hard work.

I BELIEVE that when a man becomes a father, or a woman becomes a mother, the Lord breathes something into their souls that never leaves them. That "something" is composed of love, kindness, understanding, sacrifice, and courage. "Dad, you're a swell guy, it's mighty nice to know you and thanks for everything."

FIRST PRIZE — Top honors in the Guam Memorial Hospital Fund poster contest went to Father Adelbert Donlon, OFM, Cap., of Merizo, for his splendid portrayal of a vigilant nurse. The subject matter and artistic value of the posters submitted was exceptionally high.

Winners in Poster Contest Announced

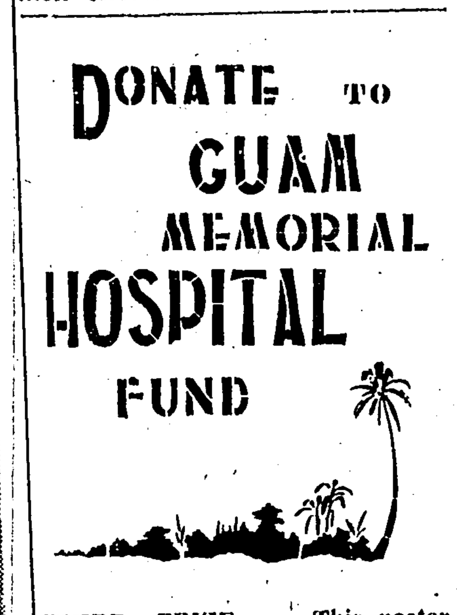
The Board of Trustees of the Guam Memorial Hospital Fund has announced the winners in the hospital poster contest, which officially closed May 20.

Following are the winners: First Prize: Father Adelbert Donlon, OFM, Cap., Merizo, Guam; Second Prize: Theophile Boone, Information Section, MarBo Headquarters, APO 246; and Third Prize; Walt E. Varney, J. H. Pomeroy, who donated his poster to the fund.

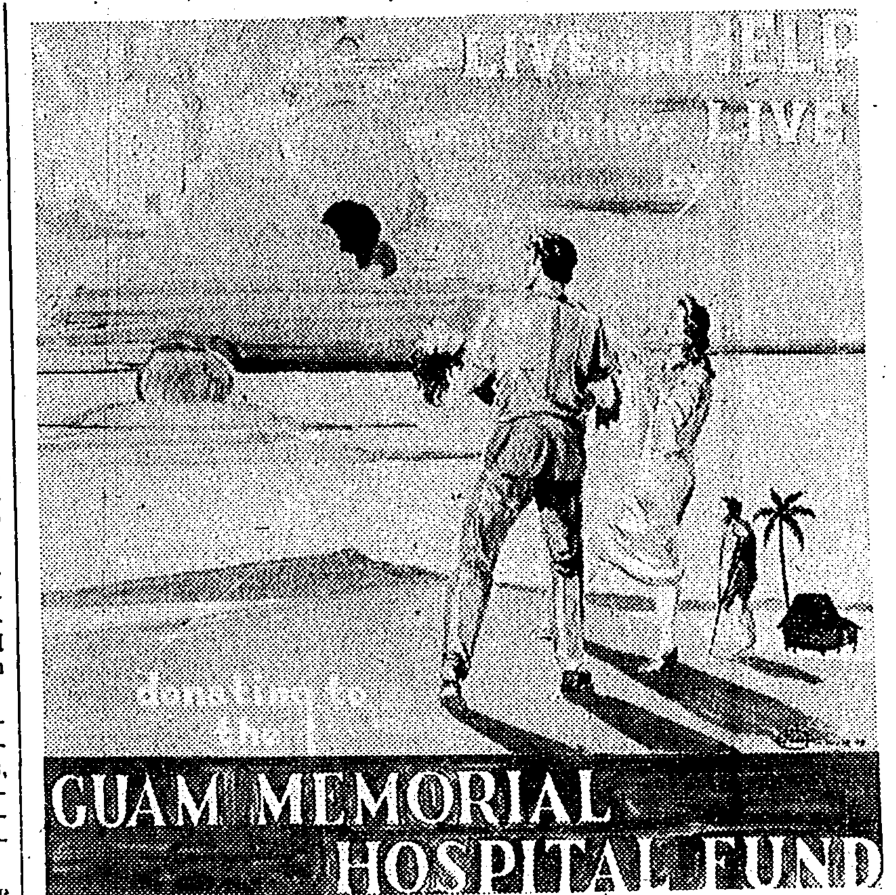
Those obtaining honorable mention were: Magampon C. Cruz, Army Engineers; Conrado Gar Augustin, MKK; P. A. Walsh, BPM and Mrs. E. Brandeberry, Guam Memorial Hospital.

The contest elicited great interest. Many entries were submitted. With so many excellent entries, the members of the board of trustees, who acted as judges, had a difficult problem in reaching a decision.

Winners and four honorable mentions were selected on the basis of suitability and usefulness of the idea and on execution and craftsmanship. The board has expressed its thanks to all contestants for their efforts and interest.



THIRD PRIZE — This poster, already appearing in past editions of GUAM NEWS, is the third prize winner. It is the work of Walt E. Varney, who contributed the poster to the Guam Memorial Hospital Fund.



SECOND PRIZE — The above poster is second prize winner in the Guam Hospital poster contest. It was submitted by Theophile Boone, Information Section, MarBo.

Belgium Waging Potato Bug Battle

BRUSSELS, Belgium —(U.P.)— The first human casualties of the battle of the potato-bug beachhead were reported today. A fire pump being used to spray poison on a horde of Colorado beetles exploded, injuring two men.

The accident occurred last night. One man suffered a fractured skull, while the other was wounded in the left arm.

The men were among thousands of Belgians who sacrificed their week-end leisure to join in the fight to save the nation's much-needed potato crop from devastation.

Colorado potato beetles, originally imported from the U.S. in potato shipments, have infested fields from Denmark to Normandy and threaten to invade Britain. Potato famines are feared in western Germany and Belgium.

Harold Edward Stassen (AP Photo)

ST. PAUL, Minn. (U.P) Harold Edward Stassen, 41, is seeking the Republican presidential nomination in 1948 with the same strategy which elected him governor of Minnesota when he was 31—taking his stand on issues and then going to the people at a grass roots level for approval.

Stassen said that given the issues, the public would make the right decisions.

A major tool in his strategy is his own physique, which he drives unsparingly while on exhaustive stumping campaigns. Big from date of his birth, April 13, 1907, Stassen's six-foot, three-inch frame was conditioned by a boyhood of farm work. His parents, truck-gardeners at West St. Paul, Minn. relied on him to carry on when his father, William, was ill for a year.

Aids Farmers

Opening his political career as Dakota County attorney in 1930, the year after he graduated from law school at the University of Minnesota, Stassen drew on his farm background in solving depression-born labor strife and succeeded.

Youth turned to Stassen when at the age of 28 he formed and headed the state Young Republican League.

In 1929, Stassen married Esther Glewwe, a West St. Paul neighbor. They now have two children, Glen, 12, and Kathleen, 6.

Stassen was only 30 when he announced a year before state elections, that he would seek the Republican nomination for governor. Astonished politicians told him: "Too early; why didn't you wait?" Others were to tell the same thing in 1946 when he announced his candidacy for the presidential nomiation.

People deserted in droves from the entrenched Democratic-Farmer-Labor party. They gave Stassen a plurality of 291,000 votes and in 1938 Minnesota found itself with a 31-year-old governor, the youngest in its history.

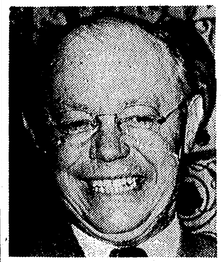
Joins Navy

At 38, after serving three terms as governor, he keynoted the party's national convention in 1940, and acted as floor manager in Wendell L. Willkie's nomination. While still governor, he joined the Navy and became a captain under Admiral William F. Halsey, serving in the Pacific.

The war over, Stassen waited only to December, 1946, to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president. It was almost two years before election time, but he ignored the cries of politicians that he was "too early."

Philadelphia Prepares For 1948 Convention

Who Will The GOP Pick to Run For President?



Robert A. Taft (AP Photo)

COLUMBUS, O. (U.P) Senator Robert A. Taft has had a difficult time trying to persuade the great bulk of Americans that he is not the cold, precise, unfeeling man pictured by his opposition.

But both his friends and opponents give him credit for forthrightness in his view. He does not often hedge on a question.

Taft's popularity rating in public opinion poll's was never high and it took probably its lowest slump during the controversial legislative measures he has whipped through the Republican-dominated 80th Congress.

Labor leaders were aroused to fighting pitch, for example, over the Taft-Hartley Act to put the brakes on union organizations. The American Federation of Labor voted $3,000,000 to campaign for the repeal of the act, which the labor leaders call a "slave law."

Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said that before he would ever reach the White House, "we'll see Taft in hell."

Undeterred by such blasts, Taft began stumping the country after the close of the 1947 congressional session. Starting his effort to capture the Repub'ican nomination for president, he tried hard to "humanize" himself and his beliefs.

He joked about the rank-and-rifle members who picketed his meetings; he posed with girl students at Linderwood College in Missouri and with politicians in informal scenes at clambake-type meetngs elsewhere throughout the country, and he wrote a pamphlet entitled "My Political Credo."

His efforts to reach into the grass roots for support were climaxed when he shook hands and orated on a precinct level during the days before the Ohio primary election. His control over his home state then was challenged by Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, whose basic political strategy is grass roots campaigning.

The 58-year-old Ohio senator was born Sept. 8, 1889, in Cincinnati, the son of the late William Howard Taft. He graduated from Yale and Harvard, and was admitted to the Ohio bar.

In 1938 he ran for senator from Ohio and the sparkle he lacked was provided by his wife, Martha Bowkers Taft, a witty, effective speaker in her own right. They won hands down over a seasoned campaigner.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (U.P) The 1948 "convention city" is getting ready to welcome an estimated 30,000 delegates and visitors to two national political conventions in three weeks this summer.

The months-long job of preparing for the Republican National Convention, scheduled to start June 21, and its Democratic counterpart on July 12, calls for the combined efforts of thousands of persons—Carpenters and congressmen, street cleaners and the nation's top political figures.

Convention officials predict the biggest crowds ever to attend a national political conclave will descend on Philadelphia the week-ends preceding the openings, bringing an estimated $10,000,000 in new money into the city. More than $2,000,000 is being spent to get everything ready.

In addition to the 15,000 persons who will be able to watch the proceedings in Convention Hall, site of both conventions, up to 20,000 visitors will be accommodated in television booths set up in the Commercial Museum adjoining the auditorium. Millions of Americans in their own homes are expected to follow the conventions on television and radio.

Political conventions are an old story to Philadelphia. Four presidents were nominated here—Zachary Taylor in 1848; Ulysses S. Grant in 1872; William McKinley in 1900, and Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936. Two unsuccessful candidates for the presidency also were nominated by the Republicans—John C. Fremont in 1856 and Wendell Willkie in 1940.

Preparations for the 1948 shows started seven months ago when a housing committee for each party began arranging sleeping accommodations for the 2,068 Republican delegates and alternates and 2,468 Democratic delegates and alternates.

In addition, space has been allocated to candidates and their parties, congressmen, senators, political bigwigs and other important visitors. The record large crowd to be provided for places a strain on the 6,000 first class and 1,500 medium class hotel rooms available for visitors.

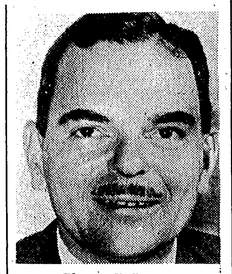
The task of providing for news coverage is the largest ever undertaken in a convention. More than 1,500 applications for space are being received from press, radio, television and motion picture people.

That is three times as extensive as in other years and is believed to mark the largest gathering of newspeople ever to assemble in one spot.

While the housing job is the biggest one facing convention officials, there are countless other details surrounding the Democratic process of nominating a presidential and vice presidential candidate.

Tickets, badges, credentials, entertainment, news coverage, decorations and programs all must be arranged for by special party committees.

In addition to overnight guests, hundreds of visitors are expected to commute from New York, Washington and other eastern cities to attend part of these sessions. Both conventions are expected to last five days, but GOP party officials believe their meeting may well run over into the second week.



Thomas E. Dewey (AP Photo)

ALBANY, N. Y. (U.P) Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who seems to thrive on political setbacks, has second chance to become President of the United States.

New York's 46-year-old governor's whole political life has been sprinkled with as many defeats as victories, but he always comes back stronger than ever.

Dewey won his first major political victory in 1935, when he was elected New York County district attorney over powerful opposition from Tammany Hall. His work in breaking-up rackets brought him Republican nomination for governor.

The popular Democratic governor, Herbert H. Lehman, who had served many years as governor and lieutenant-governor, gave Dewey his first serious licking. He trimmed the young prosecutor by 60,000 votes.

Beaten by Willkie

In 1940, Dewey's political future was staggered again when the late Wendell L. Willkie stampeded the Republican National Convention and took the party's nomination for president. Dewey had the most delegates when the Willkie boom broke loose.

Two years later Republicans meeting in Chicago almost unanimously selected him to stop the late Franklin D. Roosevelt. Roosevelt was re-elected by 3,000,000 votes and again Dewey apparently was headed for the political scrapheap.

Dewey decided to come out openly for the 1947-48 nomination. He picked three state primary elections to test his strength—New Hampshire, Wisconsin and Nebraska.

Another Defeat

Dewey took the New Hampshire primary from Harold Stassen and political experts again were giving him top place. But along came Wisconsin, and Dewey took a terrible drubbing by Stassen.

Stassen followed up with another stinging blow to Dewey's candidacy by running away with the Nebraska "popularity" primary and again the political reporters wrote "finis" to Dewey's public career.

"I have had more political life in my 46 years than most people have in a lifetime." Dewey remarked.

But that has been Dewey's whole concept of public life. One defeat is only temporary.

Earl Warren (AP Photo)

SACRAMENTO. Cal. (U.P) Earl Warren, California's big, white-haired governor, enters the Republican National Convention strictly as a "favorite son" candidate. He controls but 53 delegates, the delegation from his home state.

Warren did not seek delegates in other states and made no formal campaign. But after his election and re-election in California as governor, he had no opposition for the state's delegates.

Warren's vote-getting ability in his home state was first demonstrated when he won the governor-ship in 1942. His re-election in 1946 made state history. He won the Republican nomination easily and also captured the Democratic nomination.

In fact, Warren, has never lost an election. He started winning them in 1926 when he was elected district attorney of Alameda County, which contains the city of Oakland on the east side of San Francisco Bay. He was re-elected in 1930 and 1934 and won a reputation as a racket-buster and prosecutor of corrupt public officials.

He decided to try for state attorney general in 1938, an important and powerful office in California. He won, although Democrats were elected to nearly every other state office that year.

The California governor was born March 19, 1891, in Los Angeles, of Scandinavian immigrant parentage. He went to public schools at Bakersfield, Cal., where his father was a railroad shop foreman. He later was graduated from the University of California and from its law school.

Warren and Nina Palmquist Meyers, a widow with one son, were married in 1925. The son, James, was adopted by Warren and they have five other children.

Warren is informal and hearty in his public and private dealings with people, and doesn't stand on dignity.

A special seat was reserved for him at the noted Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena last New Year's Day. Officials were disturbed when he failed to arrive and started looking for him. They found him peacefully sitting on a curb watching the parade.

While in Washington recently, Warren attended a joint session of Congress in the House chamber called to hear a presidential message. He sat on the Democratic side of the chamber.

Reporters asked him about it, thinking it mght have something to do with his recent bi-partisan campaign for re-election, Warren's explanation was simpler.

"There were more seats over there," he said.

Joseph William Martin, Jr. (AP Photo)

BOSTON (U.P) Joseph William Martin, Jr., House Speaker in the 80th Congress, explained the secret of much of his political success when he said, "everybody calls me Joe because I'm plain as an old shoe."

Son of the village blacksmith, the chunky, raven-haired Martin was born November 3, 1884, at North Attleboro, one of seven children. He and his 85-year-old mother and widowed sister still share the old white clapboard family house there when the genial bachelor isn't at Washington.

Though a staunch Republican, Martin first ran for his home town school board as a Democrat and was defeated by 65 votes. Eight years later, in 1912, he was elected representative to the Massachusetts legislature and two years later was a state senator.

A delegate to the GOP National Convention at Chicago in 1916, Martin was secretary of the Republican State Committee from 1922 to 1925. It was in the latter year he first was elected to Congress from Massachusetts' 14th Congressional district.

Martin's election in 1948 marked his 12th House term and his first as speaker, though he had been minority leader eight years. His greatest feat, from a party standpoint, was in 1938 when he managed GOP strategy and regained 81 congressional seats for the Republicans.

Generally regarded a conservative, Martin represents an industrial area and his voting has crossed party lines. He supported increased workmen's compensation legislation, the wage-hour bill and social security.

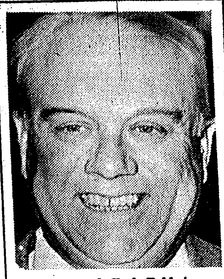
Jolly, jowled and personable, Martin has been a close friend of many political opponents. The late President Wilson welcomed him as a White House visitor. He was a crony of the longtime Democratic majority leader, Sam Rayburn.

When King George VI of England visited the United States in 1939, Martin, who habitually dressed in a casual manner, acquired a top hat for the occasion. But when he learned Sam Rayburn had no topper he swapped his finery for the Democrat's derby.

"He was more important than I," Martin explained, "I thought he ought to look right."

An avid baseball fan, Martin habitually retires at 10 p.m. and augments his rest with a regular afternoon nap. He does not drink, smoke nor dance, but is friendly with many who do.

"I just watch Joe's behavior," he once said. "I figure my friends can look out for their own."



Raymond Earl Baldwin (AP Photo)

HARTFORD, Conn. (U.P) Senator Raymond Earl Baldwin achieved national prominence in 1944 when he was re-elected governor of Connecticut, one of the few Republicans to survive the Roosevelt victory in the state.

Two years later he was elected to the Senate, confounding the Democrats, who had ascribed his 1944 triumph to "a fluke."

It was not the first time that Baldwin had dealt the Democrats a setback. Six years before, when he first ran for governor, he broke up an eight-year opposition monopoly.

The Republican Party prestige was at a new low. The old party boss, J. Henry Roraback, who ruled for a quarter of a century, was dead. Leadership was lacking, and Baldwin was persuaded to become the standard-bearer. He agreed, with no strings attached, and the first thing he told the voters was:

Demands Reform

"The day of the stuffed-shirt Republican Party is gone. If we cannot make a new party out of it, I say to hell with it. Let's throw it out of the window."

There was a striking parallel between that introduction to state politics and Baldwin's debut as freshman U.S. senator from Connecticut in 1946. Sent to Washington with the greatest plurality given a candidate for any office, he immediately resented the exclusion of the junior senators from the "inner circles" of elder statesmen.

He rallied 16 freshmen senators and demanded they be given a louder voice in party affairs. Denouncing what he called the "rock-ribbed ultra-conservatism" of the Senate leadership, Baldwin warned that "if we act in the interest only of a minority, we shall again quickly become the minority party."

Continuance of "stuffed-shirtism" in the high command, he said, would jeopardize the party's chances in the 1948 elections. The Old Guard relented.

Endorsed by State

Back home, state leaders approved. In an unprecedented move the state central committee unanimously endorsed him as a "favorite son" candidate for president. That pledged him the state's 16 delegates on the nation convention first ballot. They were prepared to hold out if his chances looked better after that gesture of confidence.

By profession, Baldwin is a lawyer. He is a graduate of Wesleyan University and Yale.

A hearty man with a ready handshake, Baldwin is adept at maintaining good public relations. He makes an impressive platform appearance.

Frankie Replaces Girlie-Girlie Stuff At Philadelphia

NEW YORK (U.P) The man who will entertain many of the delegates to the Democratic and Republican national conventions in Philadelphia is against too much frivolity.

He says that in this hour of national emergency he plans to keep everybody's mind on the job of picking a president.

"It could fill the town with beautiful chorus and showgirls, not to mention dancers with or without veils," said pleasant little Frank Palumbo. He is the inventor of the "depression proof" night club, The Click. He made it click.

"I could have had the pick of the nation's lovelies," he continued. "But I figure this isn't the time for looking. It's the time for acting. So I got plans all laid out for entertainment that will never clash with the serious business before the conventions."

Frankie Croons

And what is Palumbo's solution? In two words, Frank Sinatra.

"Yes," he said seriously, "Frankie is one of my big reliances. He's got the soothing kind of voice that won't jangle the nerves of a delegate after a hard day on the convention floor. Frankie will keep them calm and reasonable—which is what the nation needs today."

Palumbo said he also had Xavier Cugat rounded up.

"Cugat is playing ball with us. He will give out with his less violent tempos. Nice medium rhumbas and things. I wouldn't want a dislocated sacroiliac to be blamed on me. One vote either way may mean a lot."

Beats Philadelphia

Palumbo dropped into New York from Philadelphia to pick up more entertainers and, coincidentally, to see how his psychological warfare against New York night clubs is going. Smack in the Broadway white light district is his sign: "If You Wanna Have Fun Come to Philly."

"I'm putting one up on Piccadilly in London and on the Rue de la Paix in Paris," he said. "Philadelphia figures in plenty of vaudeville jokes like Flatbush and Brooklyn, but we can prove our night life is better than any of them now."

Movable Walls

Palumbo owns a string of clubs and restaurants but his "depression proof idea" is his pet. He has movable walls.

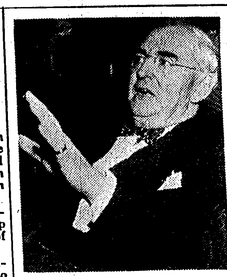
"It's like a telescope," he said. "Business is good—then we open up full. On duller nights we retract a few sections. It's hard to lose that way."

Democracy at Work

FRANKFORT, Ky. —(UP)— A husband's plea that he killed his wife because she had "been running around with Republicans" failed to sway a Franklin County jury.

The accused, Park Perkins, lives in Franklin County, where Democrats outnumber Republicans four to one. The jury was predominantly Democratic.

The verdict: Life in prison.



Arthur Hendrick Vandenberg (AP Photo)

LANSING, Mich. (U.P) Arthur Hendrick Vandenberg of Michigan has his sights trained on the nation's highest office to crown a political career that took him from an editor's chair to world statesmanship in 20 years.

He goes to the 1948 Republican convention as Michigan's "favorite son" choice and a definite dark horse threat to win the nomination for president. However, he did not seek the honor publicly.

The political rise of Michigan's senior senator to presidency of the Senate and chairmanship of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee was not a sudden one.

He might have had the GOP nomination in 1936 if he had fought for it, but he was certain he could not defeat then the late President Roosevelt. He did seek it unsuccessfully in 1940.

Friends in Both Parties

At that time, he was strongly isolationist. But by reversing his stand and whole-heartedly supporting the war effort, he gained stature and influence. Since the war, he has championed a bipartisan foreign policy. His staunch friends hich in both major parties.

The tall, dignified, flawlessly-dressed Vandenberg was a political power before going to the Senate in 1928. As editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, he wielded strong influence in domestic and foreign affairs.

His career is in the American tradition. His bearing is reserved, even toward his closest friends, but he attracts followers by his wit and dry humor. His oratory is the best in the Senate and he is a fast thinker.

Former Editor

Vandenberg's one big disapointment was in his desire to be a lawyer. Instead, he became an editor and publisher, starting as a city hall reporter of the Herald after his one year in college.

One story is that Vandenberg introduced himself and modestly informed Publisher William Smith, then publisher of the Herald "I am your next editor." He was at the age of 22.

Vandenberg virtually owned the Herald when Smith died in office in 1928. He also had other business and banking interests. He was appointed to the Senate to succeed Smith and Michigan voters have been sending him back ever since.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur (AP Photo)

MILWAUKEE (U.P) Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose boom for presidency started on a "Halt Communism" platform, is a third generation Rebublican.

Both Arthur MacArthur, Sr., the general's grandfather, and Arthur MacArthur II, his father, were active GOP workers in Milwaukee.

MacArthur's grandfather came here in 1837. He became a Republican shortly after the party was created at Ripon, Wis., in 1856.

MacArthur's grandfather, Arthur MacArthur II, also was an active Republican, although like his famed son, his political activities were limited by his military career. He became a lieutenant general in later years, but his chief fame was gained when as a young soldier he won the Congressional Medal of Honor by leading Wisconsin troops in the storming of Missionary Ridge in Tennessee in the Civil War.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, although not politically active until his entrance into the Republican presidential primary in Wisconsin, always has followed his family's political beliefs. He was named chief of staff at 49 by President Herbert Hoover. He was the youngest chief of staff on record.

He served for six years under both Hoover and the late President Roosevelt. He left that position to assume command of the Philippino army, and while in Manila, he helped to prepare the Filipinos for their stand against the Japanese in 1941.

MacArthur was injected into the national political spotlight March 8, 1948, when he announced his availability for the Republican presidential nomination. That set off a series of national movements to spur his chances.

His foes termed MacArthur's second place showing in Wisconsin, which saw him take eight delegates to 19 for Harold Stassen, who defeated a "favorite son," a blow, but his supporters said it was a normal victory, inasmuch as the general did not make a personal appearance and work only through clubs formed in his behalf.

MacArthur's favorite son label in the Wisconsin primary was devived from his family's residence here an his own residence in the city for several months before his appointment to West Point.

USC, Minnesota Lead Team Honors in NCAA Track Meet

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19 (U.P) Southern California and Minnesota took the lead today in a duel for team honors in the 27th annual NCAA track and field meet but Arkansas' Clyde Scott stole the spotlight by setting a new meet record in the 110-meter high hurdles.

The 23-year-old speedster from Smackover, Ark., ran the distance in 14 seconds flat to eclipse by a tenth of a second the previous mark set at Chicago in 1936 by Forrest Towns of Georgia.

Rain that ranged from drizzle to downpour held most other times well above record levels as a dazzling field of almost 350 athletes opened the meet in the University of Minnesota's Memorial Stadium.

Southern California and Minnesota qualified six men each for tomorrow's finals, but the Gophers took a point lead on the California when Dick Kilty raced home third in the only final event today—the wheel 10,000-meter run.

Kilty's performance was good for six points toward the team championship which the Trojans still are favored to win. Bob Black of Rohde Island State won the 10,000-meter grind to give his team 10 points and Vic Twomey got eight for Illinois by finishing second.

Behind Minnesota and Southern California among the qualifying schools were Ohio State, Illinois, Stanford and Texas with four finalists each, and New York University, Indiana, Notre Dame and California with three each.

Placing two men each were Texas A. and M., Tulane, Colorado, Michigan, Kansas City, Yale, Michigan State, Louisiana State, Fordham and Missouri.

Most of the favorites came through as expected. Pell-Mel Patton of Southern California won his heats in both the 100-meters in 10.6 and 200-meters in 21.3 for the best times of the day. However, California's Don Anderson equaled Patton's time in the 100.

Mal Whitefield of Ohio State also won two heats, taking first in both the 400 and 800-meter trial runs.

New Record Set in Olympic Tryouts

LOS ANGELES, June 19 (U.P) Sue Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., set a new American record for the women's 100-meter backstroke at tonight's Western Regional Olympic tryouts.

Miss Zimmerman chalked up a 1:16.4 for the distance to top the old mark of 1:16.8 set in 1945 by Barbara Jensen in San Francisco.

Summary:

Girls' springboard diving—Zoe Ann Olsen, Oakland, 112.98, Vicki Draves, LAAC, 108.26; Leeta Schwartz, LAAC, 100.81.

Louis Confident He'll Win Bout

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 19 (U.P) Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis told reporters today, "If Jersey Joe Walcott couldn't lick me last December when I wasn't my real self, he will never beat me."

The Champion, confident he is in top shape, enjoyed a day of rest today from his preparation for his return title bout against Walcott at Yankee Stadium next Wednesday.

"I'm not going to make the mistake of drying out this time," said Louis. "The night before the last fight I ate fish and practically nothing to keep my weight down.

"This time I will have a big steak the night before the fight and another one right after the weighin."

One of the writers told the champion that Walcott's handlers were not permitting him to read newspapers in fear that he would "freeze up."

"Maybe a fellow could get a job smuggling newspapers into the Walcott camp," chuckled the champion.

Top Seeded Teams Advance in Tennis

NEW YORK, June 19 (U.P) The first-seeded team of Bobby Riggs and Don Budge and the second-seeded team of Jack Kramer and Francisco Segura advanced today to the final round of the doubles in the National Professional Tennis Championships.

There was no play in singles competition, where semi-finals are scheduled for tomorrow.

Riggs, from Altadena, Cal., and Budge, from Hollywood, Cal., gained the last bracket by winning their semi-final match from Australian Champion Dinny Pails and Pierre Pelizza of France, 6-2, 8-6, 6-4.

Pirates Shutout Phillies 2-0; Cardinals Beat Giants 12-8

NEW YORK, June 19 (U.P) Elmer Riddle, whose comeback after three years of virtual uselessness amazed the medicos even more than it did the opposing batters, scored his third shut-out tonight and his eighth victory of the season, pitching the high-flying Pirates to a 2 to 0 decision over the Phils at Philadelphia.

It was Pittsburgh's fifth straight triumph and kept the club within a half game of the first place Boston Braves. Riddle, well rested according to Manager Bill Meyer's pitching plan which allows him at least five days between assignments, scattered five hits and struck out four batters, which becomes almost phenomenal when it is considered that Riddle's arm went dead in 1946 and he did little or no pitching thereafter even though he still remained property of the Cincinnati Reds.

The Pirates clinched the victory off Rookie Robin Roberts, making his first big league start, when they picked up a run in the third on a pair of infield hits by Ed Fitzgerald and Stan Rojek, a sacrifice and an infield out. Wally Westlake's ninth homer gave the Bucs their second run.

The Braves, with spot pitcher Clyde Shoun going all the way for his third victory, defeated the Reds, 5 to 4, at Boston, Shoun, an old timer, who goes occassionally in starting roles, outlasted Ewell Blackwell, the Redleg ace, who struck out eight batters before he was touched for three runs on three hits, two walks, a sacrifice and an error in the sixth. Eddie Stanky provided the winning run against Kent Peterson for the Braves when he walked, went to second on a wild pitch, took third on an infield out and scored on Earl Torgeson's single.

The White Sox utilized three hits to the utmost to defeat the Senators, 5 to 2 at Chicago as Tony Lupien put over three of the runs with a homer. Joe Haynes won his fifth game against six defeats, holding Washington to seven scattered hits.

The Browns, behind three-hit pitching by Cliff Fannin, upset the world champion Yankees, 2 to 1, at St. Louis. He would have had a shutout except for a homer by Tom Hendrich. Gerry Priddy's double came in the fifth when Eddie Pellagrini singled and came home on a triple by Chuck Stevens.

The Athletics, outlasting both the Indians and a rainstorm, scored a 5 to 4 victory at Cleveland and moved within a game of first place. The A's made only three hits off five Cleveland pitchers, but cashed in on 10 bases on balls. Two of Cleveland's runs were homers by Dale Mitchell and Joe Gordon. The defeat was the fifth in a row for the Indians.

The St. Louis Cardinals breezed into "home run hacienda" and outslugged the tenant New York Giants for a 12-to-8 victory in one of the wildest games of this baseball season.

The Cards rattled four home runs into the relatively close grandstand seats while the Giants, specialists in the circuit sock, hit for the route only thrice. That, plus some frantic pitching, was the ball game.

One would have gotten you 50 from any bookmaker in town if you had liked the Giants after the first inning when the Cards picked up six big tallies, three on Joe Garagiola's homer, and with Howie Pollet pitching a no-hitter for four fast innings, the odds looked even longer as the game progressed. Almost astronomical, in fact, when the Giants went to bat in the ninth, trailing 12 to 3.

Robinson Must Weigh Again For Title Bout

CHICAGO, June 19 (U.P) The Illinois Athletic Commission ruled today that Ray (Sugar) Robinson must weight in again for his rescheduled welterweight title bout with Bernard Docusen of New Orleans Monday night.

The commission said Robinson must weight in at the limit or forfeit his title. Officials said if he failed to report for a weigh-in, he also would risk suspension and loss of $11,000 he posted as a guarantee.

Robinson had sought to avoid another weigh-in after the fight, originally scheduled last night in Comiskey Park, was postponed because of threatening weather.

The welter king barely made the 147 weight on his first trip to the scales, while Docusen weighed in at 145 1-2. Robinson reportedly was nettled at the delay in the bout.

The "Sugar" reportedly asked for a month's postponement of the bout but promoters said the fight would go on as scheduled Monday.

NCAA to Crack Down on 'Sanity Code' Violators

MINNEAPOLIS, June 19 (U.P) The National Collegiate Athletic Association moved today to crack down on violations of its new "sanity code," and said it would being with an investigation of "buying of athletes on the open market."

The NCAA named a 33-man panel, representing all parts of the country, to investigate complaints of violations.

The code, adopted last Jan. 10, was designed to eliminate professionalism in College athletics and provide stiff penalties for institutions and individuals violating its provisions.

The investigation panel was announced by Prof. Clarence B. Houston, Tufts college, Medford, Mass., chairman of the NCAA's three-man compliance committee.

Houston revealed that "five or six" cases of violations already were under investigation by the compliance committee, and that one or two had been "fairly well disposed of."

NCAA President Karl E. Leib told a news conference that "We've picked as a starting point the investigation of buying of athletes in the open market."

He did not elaborate, but added, that "this condition in athletics is growing fast."

Bobby Locke Leads Chicago Victory Open

CHICAGO, June 19 (U.P) Bobby Locke, fired his second straight six under par 65 today to take a nearly unreachable lead at the midway point of the sixth annual Chicago Victory Open.

Locke's stellar score exactly duplicated the tally in which he toured the Midlothian golf course yesterday, for a 36-hole total of 130.

Bobby himself described today's round as "better than yesterday."

He never went over par today, and he had six birdies for his 65. Locke seemed well on the way toward snatching perhaps $4,000 for his week's work in the Victory Open. If he wins the possession of the 72-hole tournament he will pick up $2,000, and if he and his Amateur partner, George Dawson, come in ahead, Locke will get another $1,000. Dawson and Locke were well ahead of the field today with 278 for 36 holes and unless one of them blows completely, they'll probably capture the Pro-Amateur section.

Locke held a nine stroke lead over his nearest challenger for the pro title, Clayton Heafner, Charlotte, N. C., who came in with a 70-69-139. Errie Ball, Chicago, and Skip Alexander, Lexington, N. C., each posted tallies of 72-69-141 for a tie for third place.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 19 (U.P) The Washington and Cornell crews flashed through impressive time trials today and sent their stock soaring for next Tuesday's renewal of the Poughkepsie Intercollegiate rowing regatta.

The times posted by the two eights over the varsity three-mile course on the Hudson River were kept secret, but rival coaches admitted both showed power, endurance, and smoothness.

THE NEW ARMY ATHLETIC POLICY which permits all military personnel to participate in MarBo tournaments, regardless the branch of service, has provided added incentive to all Island athletes. The most jubilant of the competitors will be Navy, Marine and Air Forces personnel, who will be afforded the opportunity to make occasional trips around the Pacific commands as MarBo representatives.

For example, consider the MarBo track and field team, which will compete in the Army-Pacific Inter-Command meet, scheduled at Tokyo 2-4 July. The MarBo squad includes three athletes from the 5th Service Depot, six from the 1st Marine Brigade and nine from the 20th Air Force. Those eighteen athletes might not have had the chance to compete in their favorite sport, in a Pacific meet, since none of the three branches of services had included an overall command activity in track.

The new Army policy serves a two-fold purpose. It tends to strengthen the comradship between the military and it provides the opportunity for a larger group of military personnel to take part in local MarBo tournaments. Just imagine how much fun is involved in a mixed group of Navy, Marines, Air Force and Army, who probably spend hours at a time telling the other guy how wonderful the other branch of service must be, and how much of everything the other branch of service has, etc, etc. Yakity, yak, chip, and deep into nightfall.....The grass always looks greener on the other side.

It will be interesting to check the results of the mixed-service MarBo team, against the best that can be fielded by Korea, Japan, the Philippines and Okinawa.

Here's a few of the better marks made by track and field men in the Japan elimination meet and the type of competition against which MarBo must buck: Discus throw, 141 feet and 2 inches; 100 meter dash, 10.2 seconds; 200 meter dash, 20.8 sec.; 400 meter dash, 50.3; shot put, 40 feet seven and 1-2 inches and running broad jump, 22 feet 7 inches.

Over forty entries were submitted for the MarBo tennis tournament which started last Monday at the 20th Air Force Headquarters tennis courts. The entry list included personnel from all branches of the service, who will battle for a berth on the MarBo squad, and a trip to Baguio City, in the Philippines, where the Army-Pacific tourney will begin the 28th of July.

Feller Worries Veeck

CLEVELAND, June 19 (U.P) President Bill Veeck of the Cleveland Indians, deploring the first straight defeats suffered by Bob Feller, the Tribe's star pitcher, said today that it was time the fading fireballer "remodeled his training methods."

Admitting that he was "as mystified as anyone" over Feller's recent mound failures, Veeck said, "I've left him alone until now, but I think it's time to step in.

"He seems to be tiring in the late innings," Veeck said. "Maybe he's working too hard between starts. It might be the time in his career when he needs to remodel his training methods—to take it easier between starting assignments."

Veeck's remarks followed an admission by Manager Lou Boudreau that the Indians haven't a chance to win the American league pennant unless Feller comes out of his slump. He added, however, that Cleveland would "sink or swim" with the big right-hander.

Feller lost his fifth straight game and his seventh of the season against five victories when he was walloped by the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 4, Friday.

COLUMBUS, O., June 19 (U.P) Grace Lenczyk today defeated Marilyn Smith to win the fourth National Collegiate Women's golf tournament.

Portland Beats Angels, 6-0; Seals Win Third Straight

SAN FRANCISCO, June 18 (U.P) Either the Los Angeles Angels were suffering from a touch of the pip or there were rumblings in the Pacific Coast league cellar today.

Portland's Vince DiBiasi, the wintertime welder from Berkley, forged a neat set of handcuffs for the Seraphs last night, holding them to two hits as the Portland Beavers shut out the Angels, 6 to 0, for the second straight night.

In the last 28 innings the Angels have scored exactly one run. They won the opening game on a homer in the ninth.

San Francisco moved a full four games out in front, whipping the Seattle Rainers, 6 to 3 for the third time in a row. Cliff Melton chalked his seventh win as the Suds bowed for the tenth time in eleven games.

Oakland unleashed a 15-hit attack on the San Diego Padres to win, 12 to 3, mainly on a big seven-run fifth inning. It was Charlie Gassaway's seventh win, with Lefty Al Olsen tasting the defeat.

Hollywood's Pete Gebrain hurled seven-hit ball as the Twinks made it three straight over Sacramento, 4 to 2.

DiBiasi had the game well under control, granting the Seraphs only two singles, striking out six men, and walking only three. Herm Reich hit three-for-four for the Ports, including a double. Johnny Lazor homered in the third with none on. Tom Hafey, who lasted only two innings, was the loser.

Melton gave Seattle nine hits, while the Seals connected for only seven off Johnny Gorsica and his relief, Bud Beasley. Joe Brovia homered for the Seals with one on, and Bill Ramsey hit a round tripper for the Sunds, also with one aboard.

Mel Duezabou and Lloyd Christopher had the best batting averages for the Oaks. Duezabou hit three-for-four and Christopher, three-for-five, including two doubles that drove in three runs. George Metkovich homered for the Oaks. Jack Graham had a quiet night, getting only a single in four trips.

Gus Zernial hit two triples in four times at bat for Hollywood. Jim Tabor homered for the Sees.

Falkenburg Gets Berth For Finals on Default

LONDON, June 19 (U.P) Defending Champion Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Cal., and Eric Sturgess of South Africa reached the finals of the London Grass Courts tennis championships today when their respective opponents, Jack Bromwich and Gardnar Mulloy, defaulted because of foot injuries.

Mulloy, who is seeded third for the forthcoming Wimbledon championship, was forced to retire in the second set of his semi-final match against Sturgess because of an infected foot. Sturgess was leading, 6-0, 4-1, when the Miami, Fla., star, playing far below his usual form, signalled the umpire that he wished to retire.

Souder-Torres Nuptials Are Solemnized in Agana Cathedral

AGANA — At one of the most elaborate wedding ceremonies on record in Guam, which was solemnized in the beautifully decorated Agana Cathedral yesterday morning, Miss Mariquita C. Torres, Agana Heights, became the wife of Lcdr. Paul B. Souder, head of the Department of Records and Accounts.

Officiating at the wedding was Fr. Alvin, while Mr. A. T. Bordallo gave the bride away. Capt. H. C. Oard, MOinC, Guam Memorial Hospital, was the best man, with Miss Lagrimas Leon Guerrero acting as maid of honor. The remainder of the wedding group consisted of Mrs. Ana Aflague, godmother; Elaine, Chong, Mildren and Jackie Torres and Frances Cruz, flower girls; and Jerry Torres, ring bearer.

During the formal but colorful reception that immediately followed the church ceremony, the church hall used for the occasion was thronged with many of the newlyweds' friends and relatives, who arrived from various parts of the Island to offer their congratulations to the bride and groom.

Leading the list of prominent guests were Gov. and Mrs. C. A. Pownall, Capt. P. S. Tambling, Civil Administrator; Capt. H. C. Oard, Mons. Oscar Calvo; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Torres; Hon. Judges Fischer, Sanchez and Reyes; Mr and Mrs. Jeff Davis, Attorney General and Mr. Jesus Rivera, Chief Commissioner

62 Awarded Diplomas in Agana Plaza Exercises of George Washington High

COMMENCEMENT DAY

In the same Plaza of Agana — under the bright stars of Guam where but a few short years ago the Japanese were openly defied by the brave people of Guam with the singing in Chamorro of "Uncle Sam Come Back"—in this same city last night was held the hopeful, heartening graduation exercises of 62 boys and girls of George Washington High School.

As they gathered so happily in beautiful dresses and snappily-pressed whites for the formal program where a sincere and vitally interested Governor urged them to learn the value of real quality, one could only marvel at the Island's progress in the short time since war ended.

This was no ordinary high school graduation—this was a personal triumph of the indomitable spirit of people who had lived with terror and death; whose homes had been burned, whose cities had been destroyed.

But where once there had been hunger, privation, and bitter unhappiness, this week there had been days of laughter, gay parties, programs in and out of schools, luncheons and feasting—celebrating the progress of every land's greatest asset—it's young people.

As Governor Pownall so aptly said, "the words of the student speakers were heard and heeded all the way to Washington," a truly representative democracy looking after the interests of its citizens.

And under the golden moon of Guam, with its mellow light gleaming on the fleecy clouds drifting by, glistening on the gently waving palm fronds, there was a sense of well-being that filled faces with happiness and pride as they watched these boys and girls stepping forth into a greater and more important phase of life.

There was so much that was good in the air—the serene dignity and heart-warming prayer of the Bishop of Guam; the sound philosophy of the Presiding Justice of the Guam Superior Court—all created part of the dramatic atmosphere of this Commencement.

Above all the physical signs of progress there was the feeling of mental growth, of the dignity of the individual boys and girls who had seen in their short span of life greater trials and greater perils than should be the lot of anyone, and had come through to this shining hour, when they proudly stood shaking hands with the smiling Governor.

To each of you graduates these goes heartiest congratulations and respect for this completion of an important step in your education. May you face with continued courage and boundless faith in the goodness of God the life that is ahead of you.

The Plaza de Espana in Agana was the scene of impressive ceremonies on Friday evening, June 18 in which 62 members of the senior class of George Washington High School received diplomas of graduation from the hands of Radm. Charles A. Pownall, USN, Governor of Guam, while one of the largest audiences on record applauded.

The commencement exercises began with the playing of the traditional "Pomp And Circumstances" by the First Marine Brigade Band under the direction of M-Sgt. Carrole P. Mulligan, USMC. Monsignor O. L. Calvo delivered the invocation. Following the invocation, Norbert F. Tabery, principal of the high school, presented the class of 1948 to the assembled audience.

Salutatory addresses, capably handled, were given by Isabel P. Perez and Paul J. Bordallo. The selection of two salutatory speakers was unique in that the academic records of the two were so closely identical that both were chosen for the honor of salutatorian.

Edward G. Camacho, accompanied by Jesus Leon Guerrero at the piano and Lourdes F. Rosario, violin, rendered Schubert's "Serenade" as a vocal selection.

The guest speaker of the evening was the Honorable John C. Fischer, Presiding Justice of the Superior Court of Guam. Judge Fischer was introduced by George V. Hall, head of the Department of Education.

Vocal selections were given by Barbara Bordallo and Josefina Martinez, accompanied at the piano by Jesus Leon Guerrero. Simon A. Sanches, superintendent of schools, introduced Vicente R. Palomo, a member of the Board of Education, who awarded scholarships to Isabel P. Perez and Tomasa I. Santos. After the bestowing of special awards, Mr. Tabery presented the graduating seniors to Governor Pownall who granted the diplomas of graduation.

Tomasa I. Santos, the student with the highest and best academic record, delivered the valedictory address.

Following the valedictory speech, the class of 1948, under the direction of Miss Lagrimas Leon Guerrero, sang several vocal selections.

The program closed with benediction by Capt. C. A. Dittmar, USN, and the class of 1948 marched from the Plaza to the stately strains of the Coronation March, played by the First Marine Brigade Band.

Class sponsors are Mrs. Flossie Temple and Mrs. Florence Vandam.

Senate Passes Compromise Draft Bill

Destined For Quick Approval in House; Signature of President

WASHINGTON, June 20 (U.P.) In an uproarious session, the Senate today passed a compromise bill to draft the nation's youth 19 through 25 years of age.

Sen. Glen H. Taylor, (D—Ida.) cleared the way for the Senate passage by voluntarily ending his filibuster against it at 10:15 a. m. EDT.

Final passage of the compromise 21-month draft came after the Senate first approved it by voice vote and then reversed itself.

The compromise bill now goes to the House, which is expected to give it quick approval and send it to the White House for President Truman's signature.

It calls for registration of all men 18-through 25. The draft is restricted to men 19-through-25. The draft would go into effect 90 days after its enactment. Draftees would serve 21 months.

Originally, the House had voted to limit service to 12 months and to delay the draft at least until next Jan. 31. The Senate originally had voted for 24 months service. The compromise was agreed upon by Senate-House conferees. They acted unofficially since Taylor's filibuster had blocked naming of the Senate conferees. But once his filibuster ended, the conferees had the compromise bill all ready to be acted upon. The final approval by the Senate of the bill was by voice vote.

Action on the measure came after a continuous session of more than 23 hours and one of the most complicated parliamentary tangles in recent congressional history.

First, the Senate succeeded in smashing Taylor's night-long filibuster on a parliamentary tangle. Then it rammed through the bill on a voice vote with Taylor and Sen. Claude Pepper, (D—Fla.), clamoring in vain for recognition.

Republicans protested the failure of the presiding officer—Sen. Irving M. Ives, (R-N.Y.),—to recognize Taylor and Pepper. The Senate then reversed its voice vote. Taylor was recognized and voluntarily ended his filibuster a few minutes later. This cleared the way for adoption of the compromise draft bill.

The compromise provides for drafting men 19-through-25 for a period of 21 months.

The draft would become effective 90 days after the bill became a law, but the decision to order actual inductions is put up to Mr. Truman.

The bill permits 161,000 youths 18 years old to enlist for one year and thus escape a future draft.

Conscientious objectors opposing all military service would be deferred rather than placed in conscientious objector camps.

The compromise also lowered the intelligence score to 70 for entrance into the armed services. And it omitted provisions for drafting doctors or dentists.

Also knocked out of the bill was the Senate's "foreign legion" provision that would have allowed 25,000 aliens to enlist in the Army.

The compromise provides that all men 18-through-25 must register, but only those 19-through-25 would be subject to the draft.

Army officials have estimated that they will need about 225,000 men the first year. After that, it depends on enlistments.

WASHINGTON, June 20 (U.P.) The Senate today passed and sent to the White House a $107,835,974 appropriation bill to operate the Interior Department in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The bill included nearly a quarter of a billion dollars for reclamation. Although some $67,000,000 short of what President Truman had requested, the measure still was the largest in history.

British to Combat Smuggling of Old 'Reichsmarks' to Eastern Zone

BERLIN, June 20 (U.P.) The British set up an aerial shuttle between Berlin and the west today to handle the traffic cut off by the Russians to prevent the eastward flow of Reichsmarks made worthless by currency reform in the western zones.

All British passenger traffic to and from Berlin will be by air beginning late today, military government authorities announced.

Special planes were being brought to the continent from England to handle the travel pinched off the ground by the sealing of the Soviet zonal border.

American plans for coping with the problem posed by the Soviet traffic restrictions were not made public at once. Last Easter week when a similar situation was in effect, a U.S. air route was set up.

The full extent and implications of the border blockade were not apparent at once. All inter-zonal passenger train traffic was suspended. But there had been little if any passenger travel by train since the March crisis. Early reports were that motor traffic to Berlin was stopped, but could continue out of Berlin to the west.

The new tangle, the latest in a long series, was brought on by the currency reform announcement yesterday by the Americans, British and French. They will put in circulation tomorrow a new Deutschemark, replacing and invalidating the virtually worthless Reichsmark.

The western Allies forbade the import or export of Reichsmarks in the western zones. They announced no program for enforcing the ban.

British Army sources in Hamburg said British troops might be used soon alongside German police and frontier guards to strengthen the border against smuggling of the currency.

German passenger trains, which carry no personnel of the western Allies, were being stopped at the Helmstedt check post. The German passengers alighted there, were screened, and then were permitted to walk 10 miles to board the Berlin train inside the Soviet zone.

Draftee Can Look Ahead to Fine Life, New Army Says

WASHINGTON, June 20 (U.P.) The prospective draftee can look forward to a life with free board and room and $75 per month pay to start, the Army said today.

If he stays out of trouble and does a good job he will get an automatic promotion to private first class at the end of four to six months. More of the same will get him another automatic promotion to corporal and $90 per month within six months to a year.

$75 a Month

The draftee can get to be a sergeant at $100 per month at the end of 16 months. The promotion is mandatory at the end of two years, if the draftee's record is good.

Furthermore, he will get hospitalization, dependency allowances and insurance.

He will have to pay for the insurance, of course, as did the World War II soldier. But the terms are generous.

If he has a bent for learning, he can apply for any one of a number of Army schools that will prepare him for a trade.

The old top sergeant cussing out the recruits is out in the new Army. The Army said it learned from the Universal Military Training experiments at Fort Knox to treat the enlisted man with a dignity to which he is entitled.

But the Army warned that the draftee mustn't expect any special kid-gloves treatment.

The Army, a spokesman said, is still no place for sissies.

Truman Seeks New Writ Against Lewis

WASHINGTON, June 20 (U.P.) President Truman cleared the way today for the government to seek a new Taft-Hartley injunction next week to keep John L. Lewis' soft coal miners on the job until mid-September.

A soft coal walkout is imminent. The miners' present contract with the operators expires in 11 days. Negotiations are deadlocked on distribution of the $40,000,000 pension fund. There is little hope of an early settlement.

The President today named a three-man fact-finding board to look into the dispute and report back to him next Wednesday.

In appointing the board, Mr. Truman declared that a strike or lockout would "imperil the national health and safety."

The injunction could delay a walkout about 80 days at the most.

On the basis of the report, the president is expected to direct Attorney General Tom Clark to ask for a court order on Thursday. Government officials believe that legal action will be needed to head off the strike.

U.S. Gives 3 Ships to Help Palestine Mediator

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 20 (U.P.) The United States has informed the United Nations that it will supply three destroyers to help the UN's Palestine mediator, Count Folke Bernadotte, to supervise the Holy Land armistice.

France has agreed to make the corvette "Elan" available to the Swedish diplomat for similar duty during the cease-fire, which is due to run until July 9. Belgium, the third nation asked by Bernadotte to furnish coastal patrol vessels, has informed UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie that it is unable to comply with the request at present.

Names of the three United States destroyers were not made public immediately.

Russians Admit Arresting High Austrian State Police Official

VIENNA, Austria, June 20 (U.P.) Soviet authorities today admitted arresting a high Austrian police official. The Austrian government denounced the Soviet action and warned that in the future state police leaders would be protected against arbitrary Russian seizure.

Anton Marek, 60-year-old officer of the state (political) police, was arrested last night. He had been investigating the disappearance of Austrians believed to have been kidnapped by Soviet authorities.

Austrian leaders tonight described the arrest as "a new Soviet onslaught intended to force Russia's will on Austria," and charged that Soviet authorities are using "a subtle system of force and brutality—to break the democratic spirit of Austria."

Marek had not been seen since he left his office last night in response to a telephone call from a man who spoke German with a "Slavic accent." Marek's wife reportedly believed the caller was a Russian captain.

At first, it was believed that Marek might have vanished without trace, like some of the Austrians whose cases he had been investigating. However, Col. Gen. V. V. Koursaov, Soviet occupation commander, today notified the government that Marek had been arrested by them.

Kourasov informed the government in a brief, formal note, which was not immediately published. The terms of the note were reportedly severe.

Tass, the official soviet agency, reported today that Marek had been arrested for "misusing his position by organizing espionage against the Soviet occupation officials." The report said that "other high-ranking officials of the interior ministry are involved" and are being investigated.

France Declares Strike Against New Government

PARIS, June 20 (U.P.) A nationwide one-hour token strike of some 4,500,000 French workers, launching new Communist economic demands against Premier Robert Schuman's coalition government, started at 11 a.m. today.

Workers who are members of the Communist-dominated General Confederation of Labor walked off the job for one hour. Other workers represented by anti-Communist unions refused to join in the strike.

The purported reason for the strike was to protest the government's use of troops and police to eject sitdown strikers from a rubber factory at Clermont-Ferrand last Wednesday.

MacArthur to Appear

TOKYO, June 20 (U.P.) Gen. Douglas MacArthur will make one of his rare public appearances July 4 when he reviews American Army and Navy units in an Independence Day parade in the Imperial palace.

British troops have been invited and are expected to take part in the parade.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, Eighth Army commander, will head the troops as they pass in review. At the conclusion of the ground review, Far East Air Force planes will pass in an aerial display.

'LUCKY' RECEIVES THE PRESS — Salvatore Lucania, better known to the world as 'Lucky' Luciano, one-time New York City vice overlord, beams as he "sets the record straight" during a press conference he held in Rome June 11. 'Lucky' denied emphatically that he had any plans for returning to the United States. He was deported to Italy from the United States in 1946 after serving part of a 55-year term in a celebrated vice case prosecuted by the District Attorney, Thomas E. Dewey, now New York governor and presidential prospect. (AP Wirephoto)

Adm. Spruance Retires July 1

WASHINGTON (U.P) Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, 61-year old hero of the battle of Midway and other Pacific campaigns, will retire July 1.

In announcing his leavetaking, the Navy released letters of praise from Secretary of Navy John L. Sullivan and Adm. Louis Denfield, Chief of Naval Operations.

"Your brilliant record of achievement in World War II played a decisive part in our victory in the Pacific," Sullivan wrote.

He cited the "crucial" battle of Midway in June, 1942, where Spruance "established the pattern of air-sea warfare" that led to the "eventual capitulation" of the Japanese.

Sullivan and Denfield also praised Spruance's command of campaigns in the Gilberts, Marshalls, Saipan, GUAM, Tinian, Iwo Jima, Okinawa and his "brilliant victory" at the battle of the Philippine Sea.

Spruance has 45 years of Navy service behind him. He was born at Baltimore, Md., on July 3, 1886, and maintains his present home at Indianapolis, Ind.

The admiral was commanding a cruiser division in the Pacific when the Japanese struck at Pearl Harbor. He stayed in the Pacific throughout the war and in November, 1945, relieved Adm. Chester W. Nimitz as commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet. In February, 1946, he took over his present post as president of the Naval War College at Newport, R. I.

UN Peace 'Army' Issued Arms

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. —(UP)— The 50 members of the first United Nations "army" were issued revolvers prior to their departure for Palestine.

The guns were issued as a precautionary measure in case UN Mediator Count Folke decides that arms will be necessary for the force in their duties as truce observers. Ammunition will not be issued unless Bernadotte so orders, UN officials said. Knives also were issued.

The 50-man force, composed of 41 Americans, eight Europeans and one Chinese—all of them war veterans—took off for Cairo yesterday aboard two Sabena and B.O.A.C. airliners. They are scheduled to arrive in Cairo tomorrow morning.

The group was recruited from the UN guard force which patrols the buildings and grounds of the world capital and from various other secretariat sections.

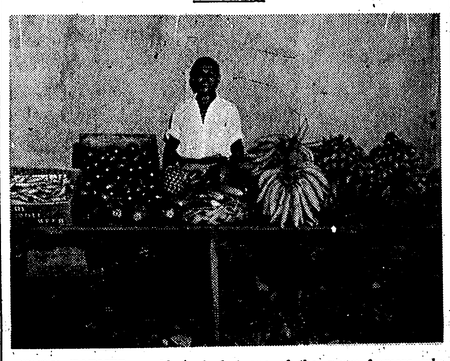
Agana Farmers' Public Market Encounters Booming Trade

ANXIOUS CUSTOMERS — Eagerly awaiting the opening of the Agana Farmers' Public Market are customers who have gathered from throughout the Island to take advantage of the produce placed on sale by local farmers. The market encountered a booming trade as military, civilians, and Guamanians, hungry for fresh fruits and vegetables, stocked up their shopping bags. (Guam News Photo)



PROUD FARMER — Above is but one of the many farmers who proudly displayed their produce at the public market Saturday morning. Judging from the size and quality of the fruits and vegetables in this pho.o, it readily can be seen why only a short time was required to empty the booths of their stocks. (Guam News Photo)

Bowery 'Queen' Gets Decent Resting Place

NEW YORK —(UP)— Loyal subjects saved "The Queen of the Bowery" from a pauper's grave.

The body of Anna Palmer Wilson, 89-year-old former opera star, who once gave a command performance before President Theodore Roosevelt, was claimed from the morgue by the men who elected her their "queen."

Saddened by news of Mrs. Wilson's death, the occupants of society's basement arranged a burial at Cypress Hills cemetery. Queens Services will be held in St. Marks church and a funeral trail of bowery habitues will follow their "queen" to her resting place.

The body of the "queen" had lain unclaimed in Kings County morgue until Sammy Fuchs, mayor of the bowery, learned of her death. Fuchs said Mrs. Wilson was the daughter of James Palmer, former fellow prospector of H.A.W. Tabor, Colorado "Silver King."

Guam Visiting Rules Clarified

NORTH GUAM AFB—Clarification of requirements for visiting Island homes and communities by all military personnel, Department of the Air Force and Army civilians, and Stateside civilians are outlined in a North Guam Air Force Base Command Regulation No. 35-30, dated June 14, 1948.

The regulation emphasizes that Guamanian homes and communities are out of bounds unless in possession of a regulation pass.

Written Invitation

In general, the following steps are necessary to obtain permission to visit a home or community. Groups or individuals desiring passes will initiate a letter of request to the Chief of Police, Guam, through their commander or supervisor, who will forward it to the base provost marshal, and it must arrive at least 72 hours in advance of the date the pass is to be effective.

A written invitation from the head of the family is required and will be good for one day only.

Bulletin

PHILADELPHIA —(UP)—Chairman O. P. Soares of the Hawaiian delegation said today the subcommittee on public works, natural resources and western affairs had recommended an "immediate statehood" plank to the full resolutions committee at the Republican National Convention.

He said "prospects look very good" for favorable action by the full committee at its session Monday morning. He and Miss Margueite Ashford, both members of the resolutions committee, will support the recommendation at the session.

Sugar Plank

Soares said the agriculture subcommittee recommended a sugar plank along the lines urged by the western states Republican conference several months ago.

Soares said this plank would relieve the sugar industry of the mainland and Hawaii from many of the stringent regulations they are laboring under.

"It will do away with the regimentation of the industry," he said.

Subcommittee reports undergo editing and coordination before full committee action. Subcommittee chairmen all are pledged by rule not to divulge recommendations, hence details are not available.

Soares remained silent on the delegation's presidential vote awaiting arrival of Joseph R. Farrington, delegate to Congress and Samuel King for a delegation conference.

West Point Goal of North Airman

NORTH GUAM AFB .... West Point is the goal of 80 men at North Field. June 15 was registration day for all those eligible to take the entrance and physical examination. The designating examination will be conducted July 12, 1948.

Trying for a chance of a lifetime, 80 airmen from the 19th Bomb Group spent the 14th, 15th, and 16th of June meeting the qualifying board and taking the required physical examination. The board consists of six officers and they will determine the eligibility of the applicants.

Knowledge Tests

The designating test will be conducted July 12, and will test the general knowledge of the men. The examination will test the man's aptitude, vocabulary, reading with a subject test in algebra. He will also be questioned on his understanding of spatial relations.

Those who make the grade will be admitted to the United States Military Academy for the class starting in 1949.

Mr. V. P. Herrero Stateside Bound

AGANA—Mr. V. P. Herrero, 65-year-old life-long resident of Guam, will soon fly to the United States for an extended vacation and to transact business matters. During his two-month stay he will visit major cities on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Mr. Herrero is a well known businessman, and an active participant among civic organizations on Guam. His wife, Mrs. Carmen Herrero, will remain here with their children.

His sister-in-law, Miss Felicidad "Dottie" Ojeda, has four sisters in the States whom she hasn't seen since 1936, and will also make the journey, spending the majority of her time visiting them.

Mr. Herrero and Miss Ojeda will be missed by their many friends on Guam, who wish them "bon voyage" and a safe return.

Tie-Swapping Business

CLEVELAND —(UP)— Two Western Reserve University students are turning a net profit by operating a tie-swapping business.

Bert Nolan and Calvin Tayerle, both 24, say a "survey of tie racks" proves that college men wear a few ties threadbrare while a dozen unloved models go unused.

Nolan and Tayerle printed handbills inviting men to send them six tired, unwanted ties in exchange for six freshly-cleaned, hand pressed "new" ties for $1.

They now have a stock of 400 ties, with new bundles arriving every day. The swappers, they say, all seem pleased.

Jeep Contest To be Feature At Guam Fair

AGANA—One of the many contest to be held during the Guam Island Carnival and Fair is the jeep contest, which should prove of particular interest to young owners whose jeeps have long since lost all semblance to what the Ford Motor and Willys—Overland Companies thought were good designs?

Jeep will be judged for their originality in design and quality of workmanship. Entries must be made by the owners accompanied by their certificate of ownership on or before July 2, at the office of Cynthia Torres on Route 4.

Entries Submitted

Several entries have been submitted by the armed forces and many more from the villages and civilian personnel are expected. A beautiful trophy will be awarded the winner.

The Guam Chamber of Commerce, meanwhile, reports that interest in the fair is steadily mounting, with farmers throughout the Island readying their crops for entry into agricultural competition, carabao owners spending long hours at local tracks with a scrutinizing eye on their stopwatch, the other on their thoroughbred racer, and the Island's femininity awaiting the judges' announcement of the winner in the "Queen Contest," which officially ended yesterday.

Braves Blank Reds 5-0; Giants Smother Cards 10-1

NEW YORK, June 20 (U.P) Big Johnny Sain the strong right arm of the Boston Braves' mound staff, kept his team a half-game ahead in the National League race tonight by six-hitting the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 0, under the lights in Boston.

The fancy victory kept Sain moving towards the goal he has hit the last two season—20 wins. This was his eighth of the year, his fifth in a row, and his third shutout.

Sain's tidy pitching job stole the show from several heated exchanges between the Reds and the umpires. The Reds lost the other contests, too, Outfielder Hank Sauer and Shortstop Virgil Stallcup being ejected from the game and Pitcher Ewell Blackwell chased off the bench for overlong protests. The Braves got all their runs in the first five innings against Cincinnati starter Tommy Hughes.

The Pittsburgh Pirates stayed hot on the heels of the Braves by trimming the Philadelphia Phils, 7 to 6, in an afternoon game.

The Pirates won the game in the ninth when Pinch-hitter Johnny Hopp opened with a single against Walt Dubiel, who relieved Schoolboy Rowe in the eighth. Frank Gustine walked and the bases were full when Dick Sisler booted Dixie Walker's grounder.

Hopp scored on Ralph Kiner's fly and Ken Heintzelman succeeded Dubiel, Heintzelman uncorked a wild pitch scoring Gustine with the tying run. Another walk and Pinch-hitter Max West's long fly accounted for the winning marker.

The New York Giants broke a five-game losing streak by humbling the third place St. Louis Cardinals, 10 to 1. Clint Hartung never was in trouble for the winners as he let down the hard-hitting Redbirds on eight hits. Sid Gordon led New York's 13-hit attack with two homers, two singles and a walk. Johnny Mize and Willard Marshall also hit home runs for the Giants. Right-hander George Munger was the losing pitcher.

Rookie Bob Rush of the Cubs posted his second victory of the season as he pitched Chicago to a 5 to 2 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers. Rush gave up only seven hits, one of them a homer by Gil Hodges, as the Dodgers dropped their third straight.

After five straight defeats, the Cleveland Indians beat the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 0, today and increased their American League lead to two full games. Philadelphia collected only three hits—all at the expense of Bob Muncrief who hurled seven innings and then gave way to Russ Christopher. Muncrief was forced to retire when he was hit on the right arm by Hank Majeski's line drive. X-ray pictures will be taken of the injury. Bill McCahan, who yielded six hits was the loser.

Third Baseman Billy Johnson of the Yankees was almost the whole show as New York battered the St. Louis Browns, 10 to 5. Johnson homered with one on in the sixth and then belted a grand-slam homer in the ninth. In all, he drove in seven runs. Southpaw Ed Lopat gained his fourth triumph of the season despite being touched for 11 hits. Ned Garver, who pitched the first five innings for St. Louis, was the Loser.

The Boston Red Sox defeated Detroit, 9 to 7, thanks to a four-run first inning and a five-run fourth. Stan Spence and Johnny Pesky hit home runs for Boston and Pat Mullin pounded a circuit wallop for the Tigers. Jack Kramer, the winning pitcher, was routed in the ninth, when Detroit rallied for four runs. Virgil (Fire) Trucks, the first of three tiger twirlers, was the loser.

Chicago mauled five Washington pitchers for 17 hits to score a 9 to 5 victory. It was the Senators seventh straight loss. Pat Seerey, Taft Wright and Cass Michaels each garnered three hits for the White sox. Pint-sized Marino Pieretti, traded by Washington to the White Sox recently, started and won for Chicago. Early Wynn was the loser.

Minnesota Wins NCAA Meet

Clyde Scott (AP Wirephoto)

MINNEAPOLIS, June 20 (U.P) Clyde (Smackover) Scott tied the world's 110-meter high hurdles record today. But the big surprise came when Minnesota rode to the team championship on the husky shoulders of Fortune Gordien in the 27th annual NCAA Track and Field meet.

Scott's 13.7 effort in the hurdles probably will not be recognized officially since there was a heavy wind pushing him along.

The 25-year-old Gordien won the Discuss and finished second in the Shotput to give his team 18 of the 46 points it needed to dethrone defending champion Illinois.

Southern California, the pre-meet favorite, wound up second with 41 ½ points while Texas was third with 40, Illinois fourth with 34 ½ and California fifth with 19 ½.

It was the first major track championship in history for Minnesota and probably one of the biggest upsets in the sport since unheralded Louisiana State beat out USC in the 1933 NCAA.

An American and two meet records were broken and the world hurdle mark tied by one of the most formidable fields in NCAA history, but runners in all the events had the help of a fairly strong wind.

Scott, of the University of Arkansas, beat his own NCAA record of 14 seconds flat in the 110-meter high hurdles when he ran the distance today in 13.7 seconds to win going away.

George Walker of Illinois set the other new meet record. The Illinois Flash whipped over the 400-meter low hurdles in 54.4 seconds to beat the nine-tenths of a second the previous mark set by Lorgen Benke of Washington State in 1936.

Mel Patton, the day's only two-event winner, didn't come near the NCAA record of 20.3 seconds for the 200-meter dash. But he did match the world mark set by Jesse Owens in the 1936 Olympics for the 200-meter distance around a curve. The present NCAA mark was recorded on the straightaway.

Patton's time also was two-tenths of a second better than the American record of 20.9 seconds for the 200-meter dash around a turn.

Scott, Gordien and Patton led the field of top NCAA competitions into formal tryouts for the 1948 U. S. Olympic Track and Field team at Evanston, Ill., three weeks hence. The top six men in each event today qualified for a trip to Evanston.

Kennedy Recalled By N Y Giants

NEW YORK, June 20 (U.P) The New York Giants announced today that they have recalled Lefty Monte Kennedy from their Minneapolis farm and unconditionally released veteran right-hander Bobo Newsom and southpaw Thornton Lee.

Kennedy, who pitched for the Giants during the 1946 and 1947 season, was sent to Minneapolis at the start of the current campaign to work on his control. He recently pitched a no-hit no-run game against Louisville.

The portly, 39-year-old Newsom, a member of last year's World Champion Yankees, hadn't won a game for the Giants this year and was charged with four defeats. Lee, 41, had won one game and lost three this year.

Williams, Musial Lead ML Batters

NEW YORK June 20 (U.P) Next to Citation and Coaltown, Ted Williams and Stan Musial rated as the most dynamic duet in sports today.

Williams, the Red Sox' one-man gang, showed a .407 batting average through day games played June 17 to lead the American league by 35 points while Musial, slender St. Louis Cardinal powerhouse, boasted a .389 percentage to pace the National league by the same margin.

Second to Williams in the junior circuit was shortstop Lou Boudreau of Cleveland at .374 followed by Bobby Brown of the Yankees, .340; Al (Zeke) Zarilla of the Browns, and Johnny Lindell of the Yankees, each with marks of .333.

Trailing Musial in the National were Wally Westlake of the Pirates, .356; Tommy Holmes of the Braves, 355; Richie Ashburn of the Phillies, .347, and Frankie Gustine of Pittsburgh, .327.

Hank Sauer of Cincinnati continued his spectacular long distance slugging to lead the majors in home runs with 19 and Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner came next with 17. Chunky Ken Keltner of Cleveland was the American league pacemaker with 16.

Yachts Begin Race

NEWPORT, R. I., June 20 (U.P) With a squall coming up from the Southwest, 37 trim Yachts from England, South America, the Great Lakes and various Atlantic ports swept past the Brenton Reef Lightship today— starting point of the 16th annual Bermuda race.

Haze but no rain beclouded the sea as the well-bunched fleet set sail for St. David's Head—the Bermuda finish line of the 635-mile blue water classic.

Two former winners of the famed race were in the field—A. Howard Fuller's Sloop Gesture from New London ,Conn. winner of the 1946 postwar renewal, in the slowest time on record, and the Baruna.

All Finalists Share London Tennis Titles

LONDON, June 20 (U.P) A heavy downpour forced the cancellation today of the singles and doubles finals in both the men's and women's divisions of the London Grass Courts championships on the Queen's Club courts.

Because the Wimbledon championships begin on Monday, tournament officials announced that it would be impossible to re-schedule the matches and all finalists will have to share the London titles.

Defending Champion Bob Falkenburg of Hollywood, Calif., and Eric Sturgess of South Africa were scheduled to meet for the men's singles crown and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Bellevue, Del., was to meet Doris Hart of Miami in an All-American match for the women's crown.

In Women's doubles, Mrs. DuPont and Louise Brough of Beverley Hills, Calif., were scheduled to play Mrs. Mary Arno'd Prentiss of San Bernardino, Calif., and Shirley Fry of Akron, O., for the title. The men's doubles crown will be shared between Sumant Misra and Sabu Sawhney of India and Enrique Morea and Alejo Russell of Argentina.

HOLLYWOOD, June 20 (U.P) Husky Willie Bean, one of the town's coming young heavyweight, belted out a unanimous decision over Francisco De La Cruz of Los Angeles tonight in Legion Stadium's 10-round main event.

WHITEHOUSE WINS HUDSON RIVER RACE — John R. Whitehouse of Springfield, Mass., is flagged across the finish line at 72nd street here recently as winner of the Albany to New York outboard motor race on the Hudson river. Whitehouse craft completed the 136-mile grind in three hours, 43 minutes, an average speed of 36.1 miles per hour. His time set a new record for the race. (AP Photo)

Chinese Fear Possible Rebirth of Japs War Strength; Question U.S. Policy

NANKING, June 21 (U.P) Japan's resilience and military potential are giving the Chinese man in the street the shivers.

For that reason, he looks suspiciously at American aid to Japan and frankly fears any Japanese revival of trade with other Far Eastern Nations.

A survey of a cross-section of Nanking residents by the United Press pointed up the following factors:

1. Most businessmen are terrified at the prospects of aggressive Japanese economic competition and believe China would suffer if again subjected to a cut-throat tussle against Japan's cheap pseudo-western exports.

2. The average anti-Communist Chinese concedts theoretically that the United States would gain in grand strategic purposes by permitting a strong Japan.

3. However, there is a universal conviction that a revenge-bent Japan would try again for Pacific mastery.

In typical reactions, Chinese businessmen said they wanted "no trade with the Japanese until we have signed a peace treaty."

Wang Wen-Shan, manager of the Kingcheng Bank, reputedly China's largest private bank, said he felt a "resurgent Tokyo might emulate Hitler's third Reich."

He joined with others that efforts to make Japan "self-supporting" and giving her a police force would tempt the Japanese to swing back into their role of a would-be "master-race."

Keh Te-Chuan, 57-year-old owner of the Hungtai Tailor Shop on Nanking's main street, said "China's cotton and piece goods industries will be Japans first victims if international trade with Japan is resumed."

Congress Adjourns for Convention

WASHINGTON, June 21 (U.P) Congress last night okayed the peacetime draft, broke a stubborn deadlock on foreign spending and adjourned shortly before dawn subject to recall by congressional leaders, or President Truman.

Sen. Robert A. Taft, (R—O.) Senate GOP policy boss, came out of a meeting of congressional leaders shortly before 11 p.m., and announced the adjournment decision.

As Taft made his announcement, two major unresolved issues faced the House and Senate—a housing bill and the farm price support program. Conferees on the farm bill, who earlier in the day threw up their hands on the whole thing, were back in night meeting trying to work out a compromise.

Foreign aid conferees, after days of deadlock, agreed on a $6,030,710,228 spending figure and left it up to the administration to decide whether $4,000,000,000 for the European Recovery Program shall be spent in 12 months or 15.

The House completed congressional action on the peacetime 19-through-25 conscription measure, passing the compromise version by a roll call vote of 259 to 136. The Senate okayed it some 11 hours earlier, but only after an all-night filibuster session.

The long and wearying final-day session brought action on:

Displaced persons—The Senate passed and sent to the White House a bill to admit 205,000 homeless Europeans to the United States during the next two years.

Appropriations—Both Houses worked on money bills appropriating nearly $20,000,000,000-about half the entire federal budget.

The largest bills carried more than $6,000,000 for the Foreign Aid Program, $5,700,000,000 in supplemental funds for government corporations, including the Veterans Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission, and $6,767,668,163 for the Army and Air Force.

A pay raise for 1,330,000 federal workers. Postal employes would get $450 a year, and classified Civil Service employes $330.

Democratic National Chairman Sen. J. Howard McGrath charged that GOP leaders threw Congress into "the most-confused last minute legislative muddle in history" in their haste to get on to the party's convention.

His statement denounced the record of the Republican-controlled Congress on housing, high prices, public power and a dozen other issues in much the same vein taken by President Truman on his recent cross-country tour.

Republicans Gather in Philadelphia For 24th Convention; Nomination Thursday

FINAL COUNTING OF VOTES — Busy taking a final count of votes in the Island Carnival and Fair "Queen Contest" is the contest committe, headed by Mr. A. T. Bordallo. The counting was held Sunday afternoon, the closing time of the contest. (Guam News Photo)

PHILADELPHIA, June 21 (U.P) The Republican National convention—24th in the history of the party—formally opens at 11 a. m. tomorrow.

Balloting on the Presidential nomination probably will not start until Thursday, however.

In the interim there will be speeches by party notables—including Herbert C. Hoover, the only living Ex-President—adoption of the party platform, and nominating speeches.

Vandenberg Group Split

Supporters of Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg spilt tonight over whether to bring out in the open his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

That he is in the race "for keeps" no one doubted. The question was: should his name be placed formally before the GOP National Convention which opens tomorrow? Or should Vandenberg maintain the 1 won't-run-unless-drafted position on which he has been standing for weeks?

Some members of the 41-vote Michigan delegation began campaigning tonight to place his name formally in nomination before the balloting starts.

Women Prominent

Women have a bigger role in the National GOP Convention this year than ever before in Republican history.

The town is swarming with them. And all of them, from the beauty contest winners passing out campaign buttons to the wives of the candidates, are working hard to put their role over.

For the first time a woman, Mrs Dudley C. Hay of Michigan, is convention secretary. She also is the first woman secretary of the Republican National Committee.

Of the 1,094, 113 are women, a 12 per cent gain over the feminine total in 1944.

Candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination arrived here today with appraisals of their chances in this week's national convention ranging from fair to certain.

It appeared that Dewey, Taft and Stassen would run in that order on the first ballot, with none able to come close to a majority.

Delegate Is King

The delegate is king of convention city tonight.

After the speechmaking starts, the keynoters, the candidates and the "boys in the smoke-filled rooms" will be the stars of this biggest Republican jamboree since the GOP staged its first convention right here in Philadelphia 94 years ago.

ROME, Italy, June 21 (U.P) Two hundred American sailors shouted "hip, hip, hurrah" today for Pope Pius XII who received them in a special audience at Clementine Hall in The Vatican.

Dressed in gleaming whites, the 200 sailors from the cruisers Fargo, Huntington and Juneau greeted the Pontiff with a rousing cheer as he entered the audience hall. The sailors belong to the American Sixth Task Force which has just completed tactical exercises.

Adm. Ramsey Plans Trust Territory Inspection Tour

Admiral D. C. Ramsey, USN, High Commissioner of the Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands plans to leave Honolulu Airport, Wednesday, June 23, to inspect certain islands of the Trust Territory, and to confer with native leaders and Island Government administrators.

Included in the itinerary are Majuro, Jaluit, Kwajalein, Likiep, Ujelang, Ponape, Ngatik, Kapingamarangi, Satawan, Truk, Tinian, Saipan, Yap, Nkulu, and Koror. Admiral Ramsey also will visit Guam, headquarters of the Deputy High Commissioner of the Trust Territory, Rear Admiral Carlton H. Wright, USN.

The cruise will be Admiral Ramsey's first visit to the islands of the Trust Territory since his assumption of the duties of High Commissioner. He will be accompanied by Capt. F. C. Greaves (MC) USN, Fleet Medical Officer; Comdr. W. C. Chambliss USN, Public Information Officer; Lieut. Comdr. P. L. Hathaway USNR, Island Government Officers; Lieut. Comdr. R. N. Niles USN, Flag Lieutenant; and Lieut. (jg) B. A. McLawhorn USN, Photographic Officer.

Admiral Ramsey expects to return to his Pearl Harbor headquarters July 12th.

SHANGHAI, June 21 (U.P) Government reports declared today the Nationalist Kalfeng garrison was "desperately resisting" Communist units which rammed into the strategic Lunghai Railway City as government reinforcements battled desperately to rescue the beseiged city.

The reports said the city's ancient wall had been breached at two points allowing the Communists to pour into the city before the gaps could be plugged.

Greek Rebels Hit

ATHENS, Greece, June 21 (U.P) Government troops attacking under a bright moon tonight seized a key position in the Guerrillas' northern mountain stronghold, the government anounced.

A communique said the spearhead of the government "summer offensive" in the Grammos mountains had seized 4,000-foot Alevisa ridge, little more than a mile from the Albanian border.

Alaska Defenseless Against Attack, Governor States

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 21 (U.P) Alaska, the American Territory closest to Russia, is "absolutely defenseless at this moment," Gov. Ernest Gruening told the United Press today.

"Alaska could be taken from the United States by one parachute division," the governor said.

He placed the blame upon Congressional apathy and not upon the military.

"There are visible in Alaska today skeleton buildings that were part of the Army's 1946 defense program," Gruening said.

"Over that period of time Congress has failed to vote measures the Army and Navy requested, so the construction workers had to be returned to the 'outside' at government expense, a questionable economy."

Gruening, on his way back to Alaska after conferences in Washington, said there were four major defense measures concerning his territory still pending before Congress and he "hoped they would pass."

The governor was vigorous in his support of statehood for Alaska.

"Public sentiment is overwhelmingly in support of statehood," he asserted. "Every poll shows it. The people want it. Both national labor organizations are on record favoring statehood. The recent conference of governors in Portsmouth, N. H., favored extension of statehood to Alaska. It has been approved by two Congressional committees, but we have been unable to bring the matter up before the Congress for final determination.

"As a result, the territory is a stepchild. There is no villain in the piece except public inertia."

U.N. May Leave U.S.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 21 (U.P) The United Nation's plan for establishing a permanent home in the United States was jeopardized today by failure of Congress to approve the $65,000,000 loan for construction of the World Capital.

It might lead to a decision by the UN General Assembly to move the UN to Europe.

UN officials were plainly discouraged by Congress' omission, but they were hopeful that the lawmakers would be back in session soon and would approve the headquarters loan legislation.

Many UN officials believed that if the bill is not passed by the time the UN General Assembly meets in Paris next September, a strong movement for transferring the UN to another country would develop.

Storm Hits Foochow

NANKING, China, June 21 (U.P) The Central Daily News reported today that thousands of persons were drowned and entire blocks of houses washed away when violent winds swept high seas over the city of Foochow on the Fukien coast.

The newspaper estimated property damage at 50 trillion Chinese dollars. (The latest quotation on the Chinese dollar was one million to one U. S. dollar.)

The Central Daily News dispatch said the entire city of Foochow was under water, in some places to a depth of 20 feet. It said the windstorm was the second major gale to hit Foochow during the past century.

Weather Forecast

Neighborliness Saves Wheat Crop

MANTER, Kan. (U.P) The spirit of neighborliness was exhibited in a big way for the Farmers Millsap, farming family on the prairie wheatlands of western Kansas and eastern Colorado.

Garrelt Millsap took his father Carl to a hospital in Wichita and while there had to undergo an emergency operation himself. An uncle and brother of the men, John Millsap, was worried about the problem of plowing the 640 acres of land straddling the Kansas-Colorado line.

Neighbors fixed it. Forty-seven men and 16 women of wheat farm families arrived. With them were 38 big tractors and one-way plows

With the women furnishing the food, the men climbed aboard their equipment and turned under the wheat stubble for summer fallowing in just five hours.

Ten Million Germans Line-up For New Allied Issue of "Hard" Money

FRANKFURT, Germany (U.P) Ten million Germans, at once hopeful and suspicious, lined up today in the three western zones to receive the new money which is supposed to cure their economic ills.

Police armed with carbines guarded the food ration offices where heads of german families were trading a limited number of old Reichsmarks for new Deutschemarks. Authorities were alert for disorders, but the exchange was generally peaceful Armed soldiers faced each other across the border dividing Western Germany from Soviet-controlled eastern Germany as the one-sided currency reform deepened the gulf between the two worlds.

In isolated Berlin, an offical Soviet newspaper marked the day by appealing for better understanding between Russia and the Western Allies. Simultaneously, a Russian-licensed German organ threatened a new break in four-power government.

Most of Western Germany's millions hoped that the issue of new, "hard" money would bring a flood of hoarded food, clothing and other vital goods into the legal market. They hoped that the Deutsche-mark would end the black-market which has dominated the German business.

No one knew whether the plan would work, but there were hopeful signs.

A pack of American cigarettes worth 1,000 Reichsmarks on the black market last night, sold today for 10 Deutschemarks or 100 one-Reichsmark notes, which are still legal tender at one-tenth their face value.

The crucial test will come during the next few weeks. If cigarettes, the key to German barter trade, remained low in price, and could be obtained in the legal market, it would be a sign that the battle was won.

U.S. Education Heading for Disaster

NEW YORK (U.P) Edward Alvey, Jr., dean of Mary Washington College, says the nation's education system is heading for disaster.

Alvey, in an article written for the new encyclopedia Americana Annual, said the current crisis in U. S. schools, caused by the shortage of teachers and lack of facilities, is going to get progressively worse.

Alvey finds that an increase of more than 30 per cent in children of elementary school ages is expected for the 10-year period of 1942 to 1952.

Alvey estimated that there will be nearly 3,000,000 six-year-olds by 1952, an increase of about 1,000,000 in 10 years.

"This will only serve to aggravate an already dangerous shortage of qualified teachers," Alvey said. He estimated that at least 350,000 trained teachers left the profession during the last five years.

"At present," Alvey said, "there are more than 100,000 teachers working with 'emergency certificates' because they lack the minimum teacher qualifications."

Alvey added that since 1942 the average collegiate prepraration of teachers had dropped approximately one year.

Italian Red Boss Heads for Moscow

ROME (U.P) Communist Boss Palmiro Tagliatti left here Thursday for Prague, Bucharest and, reliable sources said, Moscow.

There were reports Tagliatti, leader of 2,225,000 Communists here, will confer with the Soviet Union's A. A. Sdhanov, organizer for the Communist information bureau.

Anthony Eden Says Ignore Red Vetoes

LONDON (U.P) Anthony Eden, minority leader in Commons, said today the six western powers should go ahead with their program for western Germany regardless of Soviet objections.

The former British Foreign Secretary told a conservative party rally the six power agreement gives the nations involved a chance to make the western European Union work.

"They recognized what is unhappily an indisputable fact, that Germany is today divided...." Eden said. "Time and again, the western allies have tried to secure the cooperation of the Soviet Union in this work.

"Unhappily there has been no response to any of these efforts, and so we must go ahead now with those who will work with us and seek to establish a democratic form of government in western Germany and enable that country to play a constructive part in the economic recovery of western Europe.

GUEST SPEAKER at the regular weekly meeting of the Guam Rotary Club at Coconut Grove Restuarant last week was Maj. Gen. Francis H. Griswold, USA. In his speech the General reviewed the remarkable progress which has been made on the Island in the last two years. Particularly with regard to the construction of roads and the high standards of the Island schools, but he emphasized the need for expanding the military installations here and for alleviating the housing shortage for dependents. Time Change in Guam Schools

By Manuel T. Perez
GUAM NEWS Staff

The closing of schools on Guam for the summer vacation, with exercises being held during the past week throughout the Island, recalls the history of the Department of Education here.

The Department of Education established schools on Guam in the year 1905, planning for all the future generations of Guam to have education as part of their standard of living. During that year not many students were enrolled because of the lack of teachers. Not all of the children were attending school. They lived on farms, and the school was situated three to four miles away.

Time marches on! The Department of Education now has 21 schools for the Guamanians and American civilians.

The school year on Guam consists of nine and a half months training with two and half months of vacation.

The vacation period begins at the different schools during June, after the last semester.

All of the schools have different exercises, such as graduation of the eight and twelfth grades. All of the elementary schools put on entertainment so that students will enjoy themselves at the closing of the school year. School reopens in September.

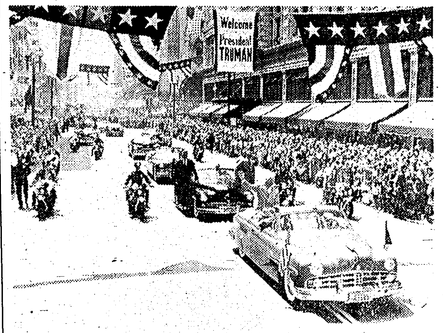
SEEMS IT TAKES MORE THAN A COURT ORDER

HOUSTON, Tex. (U.P) Judge John Snell, Jr., listened to a couple air their domestic troubles for a half hour, then ordered the husband to kiss his wife in the courtroom and make up. The husband was willing but not the wife.

"I don't want to," she said, walking from the courtroom.

She was followed by her husband, who said he couldn't understand how she could get away with not obeying court orders.



IN PRESIDENT TRUMAN'S greatest welcome on his western tour, it was estimated between 750,000 and 1,000,000 persons cheered him in Los Angeles, where he is shown above.

Nebraska Makes Bid For More Doctors

LINCOLN, Neb. (U.P) A group of Nebraskans is soliciting $1,000,000 to help relieve the state's shortage of doctors.

The Nebraska Medical Foundation, Inc. is receiving contributions to provide money for research, public education, and loans to potential physcians and surgeons.

Under a plan outlined by M. C. Smith, secretary of the state Medical association, a loan of up to $10,000 could be made to a young man scientifically-bent but unable to pay for his own education.

The debt could be repaid outright or eliminated by the young doctor's service for a specified number of years in a community designated by the foundation. Only areas in need of doctors would be selected.

STARS SHALL NOT SHINE ON THE PASEO DE SUSANA — Fight Promoter Bill Lujan dropped in for a visit with the Scope last week and gave forth with the announcement that the local ring will feature another boxing card come July 5th. A major change has been made in order to continue the boxing programs without endangering the lives of you fight fans.

It will no longer be, "hurry with the dinner dishes mom, or we'll be late," but instead you're more likely to hear, "bring the umbrella pop, the sun is really hot today"!!!

The gates to the Paseo ring will swing open around 3:30 P. M. the 5th and the first bout, of the highly talented card, will begin promptly at 5:00 P. M. The golden sun will furnish the light and the main event should end prior to 6:30 P. M. which will give the fans plenty of time to clear the area before shadows fall.

The July 5th bout will feature Tirso Del Rosario, featerweight champion of the Orient and greatest living Filipino fighter, in the main event against an unknown opponet—that is—to a certain extent Lujan has promised to present a worthy opponet by the first of next week which should draw the largest crowd ever to witness a Paseo boxing card.

You can judge for yourself just how good this flashy Filipino is if you've seen the last two Paseos in which David Kui Kong Young scored two victories. Rosario won a ten round decision from Young in Manila last February. It could be that Lujan is planning a rematch of the two pros but anyway he wants to keep us in suspence.

Ted Lewin, Manila millionaire and manager of Rosario, arrived on Guam a week ago and completed the final arrangements with Lutan for the bout. It took only two days to add the finishing touches which is probably one of the fastest bouts Lujan has ever planned.

If the change in time isn't enough protection for you fans, you might like to know also that Major Copeland, chief of police, has promised Lujan all the protection necessary.

So with police by your side and no dark corners, you can be assured the Paseo de Susana is as safe as Yankee Stadium where Joe Louis and Joe Walcott plan to battle for the heavyweight championship of the world.

NCAA Will Furnish Half of Nation's Track Team For Tryouts at Chicago

MINNEAPOLIS, June 21 (U.P) Half of the nation's Olympic track and field qualifiers emerged today from the 27th annual National Collegiate Athletic Association meet.

The first six finishers in the NCAA events here yesterday automatically qualify for the Olympic finals at Chicago July 9-10. The rest of the field will come from the National AAU meet at Milwaukee July 2-3.

But whether the collegians will dominate the Olympic finals was not certain. Two NCAA meet records and an American record were broken by one of the most formidable NCAA fields in history, but a substantial wind aided the runners and the marks may not stand.

Minnesota was the upset victor of the meet, topping heavily-favored Southern California by 46 points at 41 ½. Fortune Gordien, the husky muscle-man, won the discus and placed second in the shot put to pace the Gophers to their first major track title in history.

Texas came in third with 40 points, while Defending Champion Illinois was fourth with 34 ¼ and California fifth with 19 ¼.

Clyde (Smackover) Scott, the Arkansas traveler, topped his own meet record of 14 seconds flat in the 110-meter high hurdles when he ran the distance in 13.7 Aided by the wind he also beat the Olympic mark of 14.1 held by Forrest Townes.

WOMEN'S GOLF OPEN BEGINS

CHICAGO, June 21, (U.P) A star studded field of women golfers, headed by Defending Champion Louise Suggs and Challenger Babe Zaharias, begins play tomorrow at Skycrest Country Club in the 19th annual Women's Western Open tourney.

Buffalo Bisons Blast 10 Homers For Record

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 21, (U.P) The Buffalo Bisons set a new International league record for home runs in a single game today when they hit 10 in the first game of a double-header against the Syracuse chiefs.

The former record of seven, held by four clubs, was broken when third baseman Andy Moore hit his third homer of the contest in the sixth inning.

The Bisons defeated the chiefs, 28 to 11., getting 26 hits. They hammered out another 16 hits in the second game—a neat days total of 42—to win 16 to 12.

Tribe Wins Double-Header; Braves Gain Ground in NL

NEW YORK, June 21, (U.P) Led by Cleveland's major league record-breaking crowd of 82,781, a total of 294,645 fans watched 16 big league teams perform today which represented an increase of 39,957 fan over the corresponding Sunday in 1947.

BRAVES GET POTTER — Nelson Potter, veteran screwball pitcher fired from the Philadelphia A'letics by enraged Connie Mack when he blew up in a game, today signed with the Boston Braves and will report to the club Tuesday.

Locke Wins

CHICAGO, June 21 (U.P) Booming Bobby locke, South Africa's top golf star, shot sub-par golf again today. And won the sixth annual Chicago Victory Open, in two divisions, winning $3,700.

Locke tallied a 5-under-par 66 today on the Midlothian Country Club course for a 72 hole total of 266, 18 under par. That left him 16 strokes under Ellsworth Vines, Chicago, the runner-up with 282. It gave Locke $2,000 as the top pro.

In addition, Locke's total combined with the 301 total of his amateur partner, George Dawson, Chicago, for another $1,000 for winning the pro-amateur event.

Locke picked up another $100 today for his 66 which tied Vines for the low score of the day. Thursday, and Friday, he had fired 65,s to make $200 each day.

His take of $3,700 for the week put him into second place among the nation's top professional money winners of 1948 with a total of $16,918,33. Ben Hogan the National PGA and open champion, still held first, even though he did not play in the Victory Open, with 17,597,50.

Vines won $1,500 in the tournament, $1,400 for finishing second and $100 for tying Locke for low score today. Skip Alexander, a young star from Lexington, N. C., hit 70 today for a 283 total and $1,000 in prize money.

Record Crowd Sees A's, Cleveland

NEW YORK, June 21 (U.P) Before the largest crowd in the history of baseball, 82,781 paying customers, the Cleveland Indians were properly inspired today to sweep a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3 and 10 to 0, and increase their first place lead to 3 ½ games.

The fans, who poured onto the field and peered in at the distant home plate from behind the chicken-wire home run fence that President Bill Veeck installed in the outfield at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium, watched Bobby Feller and Bob Lemon both go the distance in well-pitched games.

In the opener, Feller broke his personnal losing streak of five games, winning his sixth triumph of the season as the Indians came from behind to score all of their runs in the seventh against Joe Coleman.

San Chapman and Eddie Joost both connected for homers off Feller before the big seventh. The second game found the Indians clubbing Phil Marchildon for seven runs in three innings as Lemon coasted to his 10th victory, making him the number one winner in the majors. He struck out 10 batters and walked only two and pitched hitless ball for five innings. Lemon, gaining his fourth shutout, also contributed a home run to the victorious attack.

The Yankees took over second place in the American by topping the Browns at St. Louis, 4 to 2 and 6 to 2, on timely hitting by Joe DiMaggio and adequate, if not brilliant pitching by Vic Raschi and Red Embree. DiMaggio hit his 12, 13, and 14, homers of the year.

The Roaring Red Sox took over fourth place in the American with an 8 to 4 victory at Detroit which snapped Hal Newhouser's string of victories at seven. Vern Stephens' three-run homer in the ninth was the blow which clinched Boston's fifth straight triumph, all gained on a tough Western road trip. Mel Parnell scored his third win against four defeats, yielding but four hits.

Washington ended an eight-game losing streak at Chicago by winning the second game, 4 to 1 after losing the opener, 8 to 5. Luke Appling, 42-year-old third baseman for the Chi-Sox, established an American league record for assists in the opener, handling 10, which is tops for his position.

The Braves took a game and a half lead in the National league race by wining 5 to 4 and 4 to 1 decisions from Cincinnati at Boston as Charley Barrett and Rookie Vern Bickford each won their fourth victory.

The Giants equalled a major league record with three consecutive homers in the eighth by Johnny Mize, Willard Marshall and Sid Gordon which gave them a 6 to 4 victory over the Cardinals at New York after St. Louis took the opener, 7 to 2.

The Pirates topped the Phillies, 7 to 5, on the magin of two homers by Ralph Kiner after dropping the opener 9 to 0 at Philadelphia on Dutch Leonard's four-hitter. Richie Ashburn got four hits and s'ole his 17th base to pace Philly in the opener.

Chicago came from behind to top the Dodgers, 6 to 3 at Brooklyn, sweeping a three game series as Russ Meyer scored his sixth victory. Preacher Roe was the loser Bob Scheffing and Andy Pafko paced the Cubs with three hits apiece.

Large Gate Expected

NEW YORK, June 21, (U.P) Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott, 34-year-old negroes will clash for the world heavyweight championship Wednesday night in the ring's richest bout since the Louis-Billy Conn fight two years ago.

Under lights in the Yankee Stadium, they will settle the dispute caused by their first title fight at Madison Square Garden on Dec. 5, when Louis retained the crown on a split decision that most fans and experts deemed underscored.

A crowd of 50,000 was expected. The gate should range between $900,000 and $1, 000,000 . Receipts from radio and television plus profits from the movies, may swell the total "take" to $1,500,000.

Republicans See Victory This Year

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 22 (U.P) Victory-scenting Republicans opened their 24th National Convention today with Dewey, Taft, and Stassen touted to lead the field on the first ballot for a presidential nominee.

In a we can't-lose mood, the 1094 delegates began the business of setting up the campaign machinery they believe will give them their first presidential victory since 1928.

Walter S. Hallanan, chairman of the arrangements committee, gaveled the convention to order at 11:27 a.m. He shouted that "we are here to name the next president and vice-president of the United States." Delegates and spectators cheered, camera lights flashed, and the convention was on.

Alabama, despite its alphabetical priority, won't nominate a GOP presidential candidate and won't yield its privilege to any other state.

Alabama's 14 convention delegates, deadlocked today in a Taft-Dewey contest, voted 7 to 7 to "pass" rather than offer a candidate or yield to another state.

The delegation's split highlighted a general Dixie division that appeared today to give Dewey a first ballot edge over Taft.

Many delegates however still were not committed.

Rival delegations from Georgia and Mississippi were locked in controversy. Mississippi's case was in Federal Court. Georgia's was to go before the credentials committee this afternoon.

National Chairman Carroll Reece kicked off the GOP convention today with a declaration that the nation must choose between the Republicans and the Communists.

He told the assembled delegates that there is no doubt in his mind that the country will go Republican this year.

Officers Uniform Changed by Navy

Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan has announced that the cocked hat, frock coat, epaulets, full dress trousers, dress sword belt, dress white trousers and boat cloak will not be included as part of the postwar dress uniform for naval officers.

No definite decision has yet been made relative to the dress uniforms which will be established for officers in the future.

Secretary Sullivan's directive states that the announcement is made "in view of the considerable interest which exists concerning this question and particularly as to whether or not certain items of uniform previously required will again be worn."

Draft-Age Youths Seek Escape; Joining Guard

WASHINGTON, June 22 (U.P) Draft-age youths who want to take advantage of the new draft law's "escape hatch" apparently will have to act fast.

Congressional sources said today that President Truman's approval of the 19-through-25 peacetime conscription act is expected within a day or two.

The draft bill exempts members of the National Guard or other active reserves—but they have to join before Mr. Truman signs the bill into law. He has 10 days to act.

National Guard Recruiting offices across the country were answering hundreds of phone calls today. Some reported a speed-up in enlistments from men eager to take advantage of the "escape hatch."

Miami, Fla., reported between 10 and 15 applications this morning, compared with a normal daily total of one or two. Cleveland, Ohio, Guard headquarters got 100 applications in an hour.

B. J. Bordallo, Rotary Club entertainment committee chairman, has announced the committee's plans for a picnic at Tarague Beach on June 27. All Rotarians, their families, and their guests are invited.

Problem of Cooking Snails Airs New Jersey Housewive's Recipe Book

WASHINGTON, June, 22. (U.P) Congress and the Navy have something in common. They don't know the first thing about cooking a snail.

Mrs. Josephine Bargiela of Newark, N.J., wrote in and said she'd like to take those big shots in Congress and the Navy apart. She did.

She saw a Washington piece in the paper about snails. It said the Navy was about to be chased off Guam by the pests.

Capt. W. J. Jennings, who has a sharp eye on the problems of our territories, Navywise, let the snail out of his shell when he appeared before the House Appropriations Committee not long ago. He revealed that the Japs are, among other things, snail-eaters. They fetched their lunch along when they over-ran Guam. They left the lunch-basket (including snails) when our boys out-scored 'em.

The snails began to multiply and our Navy began to view with wide-eyed alarm. The slithery things were eating everything in sight. They (the Navy guys) sent some snail experts flying to Guam, but to no avail.

They also dispatched a scientist to darkest Africa, from whence came the Guam snail originally. This poor soul was told not to come home until he had found a snail eater. An awful hungry one.

The scientists should have called on Mrs. Bargiela. She loves snails.

"I could eat 'em by the thousands," she wrote. "There are several ways to cook 'em. All according to your snail taste."

You take a flock of snails, depending on how many are coming to dinner, and bake them with their hides on. (Snails, not guests). Then serve them with butter sauce.

"Yum, yum, yum!" Mrs. B's own quotes.

Ford Volunteers Increased Wages

DETROIT, June 22 (U.P) The Ford Motor Company today offered its 108,000 production workers a wage increase of 11 cents for those making less than $1.50 an hour and 14 cents for those earning $1.50 or more an hour.

John S. Bugas, vice president and director of industrial relations, made the third-round wage proposal to the negotiations committee of the CIO United Auto Workers Union "to come to an agreement as promptly as possible."

Bugas said in a letter that "the situation was changed since I wrote you on May 15th," when he proposed that the UAW forego a raise and work with the company to batter down high costs and prices.

"Since that time, however, our principal competitors have granted wage increases," he said.

Navy to Sink Two Old Battleships

Two aged Veterans of the Navy, freighted with memories of two wars, will perform their final duty some fifty miles south of Pearl Harbor during the month of July.

The 34-year-old USS New York and the 32-year-old USS Nevada will be used as targets to test the tactics and weapons of the Fleet in a series of air, surface and subsurface target practices. The two old battleships are now at anchor in Pearl Harbor, where they were towed last year after being among the closely anchored array of target ships for the Bikini tests.

Destruction of the two warships will provide the Navy with the first opportunity since the early 1920's to test its weapons against heavily armored vessels.

$10,000 Bride Back

NEW YORK, June 22 (U.P) Dorothy Lawlor, divorcee who advertised for a husband who would give her $10,000 in cash, was back home today opening fan mail after a fruitless trip south. She still had not found "the right man."

The blonde hatcheck girl arrived at La Guardia Field yesterday from the Dominican Republic.

Heat Waves Wilt GOP Delegates

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 22 (U.P) It's a shirt-sleeve convention already.

A combination of Philadelphia summer weather and klieg lights turned this massive hall into an oven.

One sweating delegate peered through the haze generated by cigaret and cigar smokers and remarked:

"Biggest smoke-filled room in the world."

Part of the heat was generated by the delegates and convention officials themselves. They expend billions of ergs of energy pumping each others' hands.

The coolest place was the gallery. The big lights missed the people up there.

Arrangements Committee Chairman Walter S. Hallanan had it the roughest. It was a hard convention to get going. He pounded with his gavel 28 times by actual count before he could make his voice heard above the tumult of chattering delegates.

The delegates had the look of a hungry bear by a honey tree. They have no doubt whatever that this is the GOP's big year.

Powder Plants in N.J. And California Rocked by Blasts

HERCULES, Cal., June 22 (U.P) A terrific explosion at the Hercules Powder Plant today rocked homes as far as 20 miles away. It was reported that one of the plants nitro-glycerine lines blew up.

KENVIL, N. J., June 22 (U.P) An explosion which was felt 50 miles away ripped through three buildings of the huge Hercules Powder Company plant today, killing three persons.

Company officials in New York said three of the 12 plant buildings were completely wrecked. The Kenvil Branch of the sprawling plant manufactures high explosives.

Four blasts, beginning shortly after 1 p.m. rocked communities in a wide area of northern New Jersey. In New York City, 50 miles away, skyscraper office workers said they felt the shock waves.

State police said the explosions occurred in a nitro-glycerine neutralizer.

Amnesty Granted Filipino Rebels

MANILA, June 22 (U.P) President Elpidio Quirino today granted unconditional amnesty to agrarian dissidents in a move expected to end violent unrest which has continued in the Philippines since the end of the war.

In a brief ceremony, Quirino signed in the presence of Louis Taruc, Hukbalahap leader, a document giving full pardon to all Hukbalap members, and to members of the peasants' union.

The proclamation will go to Congress for concurrence, which is expected tomorrow. The agrarian dissidents then will down their arms within 20 days.

The president's brother, Judge Antonio Quirino, had been negotiating with Taruc and other peasant leaders since May 5.

Today Taruc came by plane to Manila from his hideout in Pampanga province, rested for a few hours at the home of Judge Quirino, and then drove to Malacanan Palace, where President Quirino has his offices.

Taruc was accompanied by seven other Hukbalahap leaders. A friendly but curious crowd of several hundred persons swarmed around Taruc as he reached the palace.

The President greeted Taruc and asked him if he represented the peasants union as well as the Hukbalahaps. Quirino warmly shook hands with Taruc who said in a statement that he favored a democratic peace for rich and poor alike.

CABLES DAMAGED

Attention has been called by the safety officer at MayBa that hunters in the wire allowing of Potts Junction and the J.C.A. have caused considerable damage to the overhead cable. The hunters usually wait until the birds have alighted on the wire then they shoot. The type of shell used causes small penetration in the wire allowing water to seep in. In a short time the effectiveness of the cable has been ruined. Signs are being posted in this area and all of the services are cooperating to end this type of destruction.

Tidal Change Due

Inquiries have been coming into the GUAM NEWS office as to the why and wherefore of the tides around Guam. It seems that whenever you go swimming on Sunday afternoon you always have a low tide.

At the present time that is true, but not for long. At the present the high tides are at 0650 and 2259 whereas the low tides are at 0221 and 1451. But about June 30 the tides will change and you will be able to swim all of Sunday afternoon in high water as low tide won't be until approximately 1900, according to the Port Director's office, where tides are recorded.

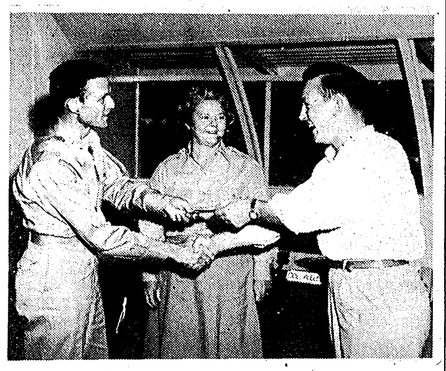
Weather Forecast

Partly cloudy with occasionally moderate showers. Winds moderate easterly.

Yesterday's temperatures: Max. 86. Min. 77.

Yesterday's rainfall 0.26.

Corrective rainfall for month 4.40.



LAST WAC OFFICER GOING HOME: Shown above in the center is Major Fannie Reynolds, director of MarBo Civilian Personnel, who will leave this week for the States and a new assignment. She is the last member of the Women's Army Corps still on duty in this command. The Major has been overseas three years, serving in China, Japan, and Guam. She has the distinction of being the first WAC officer to be promoted personally by Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Major Reynolds is a native of North Carolina. One of her last pleasant duties on Guam is that pictured above, when Colonel R. W. Puryear, commanding officer of the 46th Fighter Wing, Northwest Air Force Base, presents a $50.00 check to Richard A. Mullins, civilian employe of the Air Installations office. Mr. Mullins won this award for a suggestion for "Time-keeping procedure," which he dropped in the Suggestion Box. This event pictured above was the first time such an award had been presented for a suggestion in the Mariana-Bonins Command.

Retire Army Chiefs

WASHINGTON, (U.P.) The next five years will see an almost complete turnover in the high command of the Army and Air Force.

A law passed last year requires a turnover not only in the top jobs but down through the rank of colonel and lieutenant colonel. It was designed to keep young, vigorous officers in control of the nation's defenses.

The turnover will have less effect on the Air Force than on the Army because most fliers are comparatively young. The Air Force has 101 officers wearing general's stars but only three are over 60.

The Army has 326 generals, permanent and temporary, of whom 22 are over 60 years old. Seventy-seven Air Force generals and 271 Army generals are past 50.

The Air Force has 184 generals past 40, the Army 323. The Air Force has seven generals under 40 and the Army three.

Under the law, Brigadier Generals or below must retire when they reach 60. Major Generals must step out at 62.

The new peacetime promotion system of the Army passed last year is aimed at making sure bright young officers get advanced rapidly. It also is aimed at getting rid of incompetents.

SCREEN CAREER LOOMS FOR HER — Christine Cooper, 23, is living with fingers crossed these days. She underwent wardrobe and makeup tests recently in preparation for her first screen test for a role in a RKO-Radio Picture. The daughter of the late A. J. Cooper, middle west theater chain owner, she has been a frequent performer on eastern television stations. (AP Wirephoto)

Barbershop Quartets Organized

HARMON AFB — The echoes of "Aura Lee," "Heart of My Hearts," and "Cony Island Baby" issuing every Monday evening at 7:30, are a sure sign that the newest chapter of the Society for the Preservation from the Harmon Field Chapel and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Incorporated, is at it again.

Sixteen charter members, making up four old-time barber shop quartets, belong to the only overseas chapter now in existence. Previous overseas chapters, including the one formerly here on Guam, disintegrated and died after the war. Last month, under the impetus of Capt. Robert L. Beers, who is a member of two State side chapters, a new Guam chapter was organized.

The new Guam chapter is enthusiastically laying plans for an increased membership and eventual public performances. Capt. Robert L. Beers is president and director; Cpl. Walter C. Wychor, vice-president; Lt. Richard Thomas, secretary; Cpl. Werner Danforth, treasurer; and Bob Scanlon is accompanist for the practice sessions.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the society is cordially invited to attend the next Monday meeting, at 7: 30 p. m., at the Harmon Field Chapel in the Garden.

At a happy dance and entertainment at the Coral Castle Club in Camp Edusa last Saturday night $250.00 was collected at the door for the Guam Memorial Hospital fund. At the close of the evening, Eddie Mitchell and His Sons of Hawaii orchestra, delighted everyone as they gave their fee, $135.00 to the fund. Pictured above is the orchestra with its singers in the top row, while seated in front are their five entertainers, who won applause with Hawaiian dances. The girls are Eleanor Kaima, Feodor Eldredge, Kulei Johnson, Sweetie Riley, and Hilda Keaweehu. (Photo by W. A. Clinkscales)

Bing Crosby's eldest son had been studying the subject of famous personages in old Greece and Rome. He was asked to write a short essay on Socrates. Brevity was the keynote. He wrote, "Socrates was a great man. He was a Greek. He went around telling people what to do. They poisoned him."

Men Like French Bathing Suits, But Not on Wives, Sweethearts

CHICAGO (U.P.) Patricia Stevens, on authority on beauty, said recently that men like French bathing suits, but not on their sweethearts or wives.

Miss Stevens, who runs a school for models, said she doubted that the diaper-type raiment ever would become commonplace.

"Men are conservative," she said. "They don't really want bathing suits too skimpy."

She said a man might steal an admiring peek at the new look in beach garb, but "just imagine the fuss he'd make if his wife tried to wear one of those things."

"Some are so small, I understand you can buy them in little packages about the size of an envelope," she said.

Miss Stevens a beautiful blonde, said that the scanty French swimming attire is "too frank."

"For one thing, there are very few girls who can wear the new suits, because they bring out all the figure faults," Miss Stevens said.

"It's like a strip tease without stripping," she said.

There are technical objections too.

"And nobody could wear one for swimming. They just won't stay on. "I'm told."

Anyway, she said, the average girl looks better in a dress than in a bathing suit.

But with some, she acknowledged, it's just the other way around.

She helped judge a beauty contest recently in which the contestants first appeared in evening gowns and then skinned down to their bathing suits.

"It's very interesting," she said. "Some of them you would hardly recognize."

A lot of girls who look good in French bathing suits wouldn't get a second glance in street attire, Miss Stevens said.

"They just don't seem to know how to wear clothes," she added.

"Maybe it's because they do it so seldom."

Beaten Girl Shows Police Where Mother Killed

EVERETT, Wash. (U.P.) A seriously injured four-year-old girl who kept a night-long vigil beside the brutally-beaten body of her mother led sheriff's deputies to the spot where the father said he had killed them both with a "fist-size rock."

Bernice Williams, suffering a broken shoulder and deep cuts about the face and head, had been rolled down a steep embankment and left dead alongside her mother, Lucille, 27, the father told Skohomish County Sheriff Tom Warnock.

Wayne Williams, 31, told Warnock he killed his wife and child on a side road off the main highway near Mukilteo, Wash., because "Lucille wanted to go back to Oklahoma and I didn't."

Sheriff deputies found the child in a tangled maze of blackberry vines at the bottom of a 50-foot cliff 200 yards from Puget Sound after a night-long search over 180 miles of Snohomish County roads.

The baby girl, bloody, but dry-eyed, quietly led searchers to the body of her mother nearby.

The girl was rushed to Providence Hospital here where attendants reported her to be in "fair" condition. Nurses said the child "was a very fine little girl and never made a sound while being treated."

MERE "COINCIDENCE"

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.) Former Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley barged into Republican National Convention headquarters and just about stole the show.

Even Republican delgates swarmed around the big smiling fellow who piloted the late Franklin D. Roosevelt into the White House in 1932.

But Farley denied a reporter's suggestion that he was here to tell the Republicans how to pick a candidate. He came to speak at a communion breakfast of the Pennsylvania Railroad Holy Name Society. And it was just a "coincidence" that the Republicans happened to be in town, he said.

Bangs Corners Bug Barometer Speaks

BANGS CORNERS, O. (U.P) The 17-year locusts are due soon in the northeastern states. According to a local nurserywoman, they will foretell whether we will have peace or war, which of us will die within the year and will usher in the greatest year for chicken raisers since 1931.

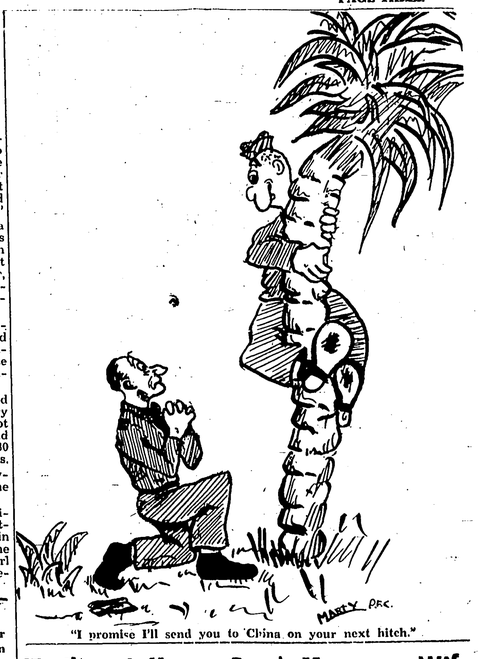
Miss Eunice Merton, Richfield Township nurserywoman, has a wide reputation as the Bangs Corners Bug Barometer.

"If the marking on their green laced wings make a big black W, the superstition says we will have war," she said.

Old-timers locally remember the W as being big and black in 1897 for the war with Spain, and again in 1914 for World War I. It was faint and small, to be sure, in 1931, Miss Merton said, for the war in Manchuria which heralded the last great war.

The superstition that a person stung by a locust will die within the year is just that, Miss Merton said, since locusts "can't sting or bite but just look ferocious."

On the subject of chickens, Miss Merton cited 1931, when grain lay untouched in feeders while the fowl would knock each other down to get at the "lovely fat locusts."



"I promise I'll send you to China on your next hitch."

'Twiliters' Honor Band Manager, Wife

HQ. 46TH FIGHTER WING — On Thursday evening the "Twiliters," an orchestra composed of 46th Fighter Wing personnel, celebrated the third anniversary of the wedding of Lt. Vernon Van Fleet, the band's manager, and his wife. The party celebrated the occasion at the Steak House Club at Camp Ethridge, spending one of their most pleasant evenings on Guam.

S-Sgt. James W. Smith eptomized the dinner when, viewing his steak with an admiring eye, he commenced the work of destruction and inquired, "Now ain't this capital?"

The Twiliters have already made their reputation as one of the finest orchestras on Guam.

'Glyptic'-'Iceblink' Identified as Navy Explains Wartime Code

WASHINGTON (U.P.) The Honolulu Chamber of Commerce won't like this, but Hawaii used to be known as a "manhole."

It may help them to hear that Pearl Harbor was called "dream" although it was later changed to "fireside."

And, to the wartime Navy, President Truman was simply "kiltin," Soviet Premier Josef Stalin was "glyptic," and Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was "dunker." "Colleen" didn't mean a pretty girl to a Navy man—it meant Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King.

These were recalled as the Navy made public its wartime code list. The Navy insisted that its key code words for people and places were simply picked out of a dictionary with "no reason." But still it managed to come up with "hypocrite" for Japan, "meetinghouse" for Tokyo, and "parasite" for Italy.

As a sample of gobbledgook that a communications man might have had to grapple with: It turned out the inferno, wildflower and alibaba licked the rainbow. In other words, the United States, Great Britain and Russia whipped the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Axis.

Among other fancy names hung in high places were "iceblink" for then-Secretary of State James Byrnes, "fourfold" for Gen. George C. Marshall, "coffeetree" for Adm. William D. Leahy, and "kneepiece" for the late Harry Hopkins.

Gen. H.H. (Hap) Arnold was "colter." Webster says that's a knife on the front of a plowshare. Britain's Anthony Eden was "compost" which, according to the dictionary, is a kind of fertilizer.

When the late President Roosevelt met with Stalin and British Prime Minister Winston Churchhill at Teheran in 1943, that was "eureka."

An "electric eye" for control of smoke nuisance is in use in Australia. It controls fuel supply and regulates smoke volume automatically.

SOIL CONSERVATIONISTS TO GATHER IN OHIO

HIO GRANDE, O., (U.P.) Little Rio Grande College in southern Ohio will become the scene this fall of the greatest soil conservation demonstration ever staged.

The conservationist will make over the college's 300-acre farm in Gallia County hill coutry, Sept. 23-24. The program is sponsored by Rio Grande College, with Louis Bromfield, author and conservation enthusiast, heading the advisory board.

Rio Grande is making preparations for 100,000 visitors. More than 100 tractors will be used in the program.

That's Guam All Over Mable

Possibly one of Guam's chief attractions is the absence of billboards. We were breezing blithely down the new Piti-ComMar road the other day and stopped to enjoy the glorious view. The smooth broad highway wends gracefully down through the rolling green carpeted hills. The beautiful azure sky studded with cumulus clouds and the cobalt sea, stretching off to the end of the world, affords a view that is truly an artist's dream. Don Blanding might well build his "Vagabond House" here and settle down for a week or three. We suppose, though, in due time sign boards advertising "McGripple's Girdles," "Soopersuds for Sooper Stoops," etc. will eventually efficiently shut off the view. When that day comes we'll catch the first boat to Elsimisle.

News at B-P-M

Bob Hill, Chief Safety Engineer, has just had the pleasure of welcoming his wife and three children, Billie Jo, age 14, Nancy Marie, age 12, and Howard Roland, age 10, to the Isle of Guam. Dr. John Marsh, who served twenty odd years on Guam as a surgeon in the U. S. Navy and more recently was associated with B-P-M as Doctor in Charge of that organization's dispensary, has returned to the States, and Dr. T. A. Darling has assumed Dr. Marsh's position and duties. Miss Tillie Cruz, Barrigada contestant for Beauty Queen in the Guam Memorial Fund drive, and a group of talented Guamanian entertainers recently performed at the B-P-M theatre. They gave such an interesting and enjoyable performance that a repeat show was requested for last Saturday night. We understand that the boys contributed some $250 to the hospital fund at the first performance but the figures on the second show are not available as this goes to press.

ACCIDENTS WILL HAPPEN

A man who was near a building under construction was reported to have been hospitalized recently in the States after he stubbed his toe. The man, Harold Gusterson, was carrying a surveyor's transit under his arms with the sharp points of the three legs pointing forward. He stubbed his toe on a marking stick and as he stumbled the three points were driven into the stern end of one of two men who were hauling on a line that ran over a pulley that was fastened to a wheelbarrow containing cement that was being hauled to the top of the building. The man who was struck by the sharp points of the transit stand promptly dropped the line, in his agony, and grabbed his wounds. The line was jerked from the hands of his assistant and the falling wheelbarrow landed on the short end of a 12 in. plank that was lying across a sack of cement. The other end of the plank flew up and caught a laborer, who was carrying a bucket of hot tar, under his chin, breaking his teeth. The laborer flung the bucket of hot tar and it came to rest—yes, you guessed it, on the recumbent form of Mr. Gusterson. The toe stubber was taken to the hospital where he was treated for first, second, and third degree burns. Our unofficial guess is that they probably put the lad's toe in a sling, too. It's a great life.

Army Volunteers Prove Worth of Test Rations

NEW YORK (U.P.) Ten Army volunteers, from 25 to 35 pounds skinnier, have ended their five week survival-ration test under "life raft conditions."

Weakened but healthy, they ate their first "rescue meal" of canned powdered ham and eggs, bread, jam and coffee.

An Army spokesman said the men "have proved beyond a doubt that this new special ration, still a military secret, can properly sustain a person through an emergency."

The men were divided into five diet groups. The group that fared best ate about six ounces of a special protein ration a day, three and one-third eight-ounce glasses of water, a multi-vitamin tablet and a fixed unit of salt.

The men survived the test in good physical condition but their morale took a beating, the Army noted. When the test began, the men's rooms were decorated with pictures of pin-up girls.

Finish First Round In NCAA Tennis

LOS ANGELES, June 22 (U.P.) Two seeded players were eliminated in the first two rounds of the NCAA Intercollegiate Tennis championships today, and the large field was cut to 32 players.

In the top 16, the first 14 came through as expected with No. 15, Enrique Buse of Rollins College, losing by default, and Marvin Beskin of Northwestern going down to Wade Spilman of Texas, 6-1, 6-3.

Top match of the day saw Herb Flam, UCLA Ace, eliminate Dick Mouledous of Tulane, 6-3, 6-1. Flam is rated number four in the tournament while Mouledous ranks second in National junior standing.

Top seeded Victor Seixas of North Carolina had an easy time eliminating Morton Dewhirst of Santa Barbara, 6-0, 6-0.

The most rugged match of second round play was the fight eight-seeded Bobby Perez of USC made to down Henry Peister of College of Pacific, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4.

Larned Wins Crown

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 22 (U.P) Gardner Larned, Chicago, National Intercollegiate champion, today added the heart of America crown to his laurels with a straight set victory over Buddy Behrens, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Larned, a student at Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., was never in trouble with the National junior net king. He won as much on Behrens' errors as by his own steady play.

Yanks Down Cleveland Cards Defeat Braves

NEW YORK June 22 (U.P) The challengers inched up in both major leagues tonight.

The St. Louis Cardinals gained a game in their fight to overtake Boston and Pittsburgh in the National league race while downing the Braves, 1 to 0, at Boston. The Pirates lost to Brooklyn, 5 to 2, leaving St. Louis just two and a half games off the top.

In the American league, the New York Yankees jumped off to a favorable start in their crucial series with the Cleveland Indians. Playing in the Tribe ballwick, they clubbed out a 13 to 2 triumph.

Alpha Brazle hurled the Cards to victory over southpaw Warren Spahn, snapping Boston's victory streak at six games. Brazle gave up seven hits, never more than one in an inning. Del Rice's single scored Ed Moore in the seventh for the game's lone run.

The Yanks used the old technique of hit 'em hard and hit 'em often in racking up 18 hits off Gene Bearden and Steve Gromek. Joe DiMaggio's 15th homer of the year was included in the assault.

Ralph Branca finally ended Brooklyn's losing streak at four games. The win gave him number six in a row. The Dodgers got only five hits off ex-teammate Vic Lombardi, but used them to the hilt--scoring three runs in the first and two in the sixth.

Hank Sauer's 20th homer of the season was the difference as Cincinnati downed Philadelphia, 4 to 3, at Philadelphia.

The St. Louis Browns turned on the heat to score four runs in the ninth inning and down the Athletics, 9 to 8, at St. Louis.

LONG BEACH, Cal., June 22 (U.P) Champion Elphinstone Maestro, a Greyhound owned by Robert Duden, Tulsa, Okla., was picked as the best of show among 3300 dogs at the Harbor Cities Kennel club show.

Six Americans Advance

WIMBLEDON, Eng., 22 (U.P) Six Americans, led by top-seeded Frankie Parker of Los Angeles, swept into the second round of the 62nd Wimbledon Tennis Championships today, although fourth-seeded Tom Brown of San Francisco, 1947 runnerup, came within a hair of defeat.

The opening day of this historic tournament proceeded without a major upset, however, with all eight seeded players—five of whom are Americans—moving up as the men's singles field was reduced to 64 players.

Brown, who arrived here by plane last Friday and had only two days to practice, was far off his game and came within two points of being eliminated by Donald Butler, a 35-year-old former British Davis Cupper, in the opening match on the famed Center court at Wimbledon.

Oarsmen Ready for Annual Poughkeepsie Regatta

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 22 (U.P) Street-corner and river-bank experts tonight predicted the most wide open race in years as trim, keg-chested Oarsmen from 11 colleges went through their final places for tomorrow's 46th running of the Poughkeepsie Regatta—a sort of an acquatic Kentucky Derby.

Most of the support went for the swift sweepswingers from the Far West, the Washington Huskies and the California Bears, but last year's defending champions from Navy and the always highly-regarded big red she'l from Cornell were given plenty of consideration. And on the basis of time trials for practice runs to date down the three-mile varsity course, the Princeton Tigers also had considerable support.

This historic but sleepy little river-bank town was a-bulge as will line both sides of the Hudson tomorrow afternoon for the three tradition races.

The Varsity finale at 6:44 P. M. (EDT) will find 11 crews competing over the three-mile stretch of the river. In the draw for positions, Cornell and Pennsylvania drew the favored inside lanes nearest the river bank. Although racing experts often are at odds over which lanes are the best for speed, it is generally conceded the inside lanes are smoother in the event of heavy winds or rainfall.

In the number one lane was Cornell and Pennsylvania's dark-horse crew was in the second lane. Navy's veteran champs drew the number three spot and Syracuse, given only an outside chance in most quarters, was in the fourth lane.

Rutgers in the number six spot, Wisconsin seven, Massachusetts Institute of Technology eighth, California ninth, Columbia tenth, and Washington 11, completed the varsity field. The lanes are numbered from the west shore of the Hudson.

Margeret Gunther Wins Honors in Western Women's

CHICAGO, June 22 (U.P) Husky Margaret Gunther breezed around the Skycrest Golf course in a two-over-par 76 today to take Medalist Honors in the 19th annual Western Women's topping several more notable competitors, including Babe Didrikson Zaharias.

The "Babe," who became the standout favorite to win the championship for the fourth time after defending champion Louise Suggs withdrew, could do no better than 77 today.

It was not the first time that Miss Gunther, several times Tennessee State champion, had come through to take Medalist honors at a women's Western event, but it was the first time she wore single-handed. Last year the Memphis girl poured out a 77 at Evanston Golf Club to tie Miss Hanson and Carol Diringer for low score.

Patty Berg, twice winner of the tourney from Minneapolis, was fourth with a 78 while Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., Peggy Kirk, Pindlay, O., and Mrs. Gordon S. Parks, Glen Ridge, N.J., tied for fifth with 79's.

The 3 low qualifiers open match play tomorrow and winners will continue at 18 holes daily until the 36 hole final Saturday.

PITTSBURGH, June 22 (U.P) Rusty Payne, Pittsburgh, moved up in the ranks of the leading heavyweight challengers tonight by knocking out Sid Peaks, of Louisville, Ky., in :53 of the second round at Civic Arena.

Outweighed 33 pounds by his opponent, Payne, 184, floored Peaks three times in the first round before putting him away in the second.

Big Nine Seeded to Win Track Meet

CHICAGO, June 22 (U.P) The 33-man Big Nine team hoped today to defeat the 43-stars from the Pacific Coast Conference, perhaps by the largest margin in history, at the 9th renewal of their Inter-Conference rivalry at Northwestern.

Based on the performances of the athletes from the two leagues who competed in the National Collegiate Athletic Association meet, the Coast should win only four of the 13 individual events, while Big Nine competitors should finish first in nine.

The meet will be scored at five points for the winner of each event, three points for second and one point for third. Thus, on first places alone the Big Nine could collect 45 points and the coast 20.

While the better balanced squad could pile points by taking the majority of second and third place, there was no indication of that happening.

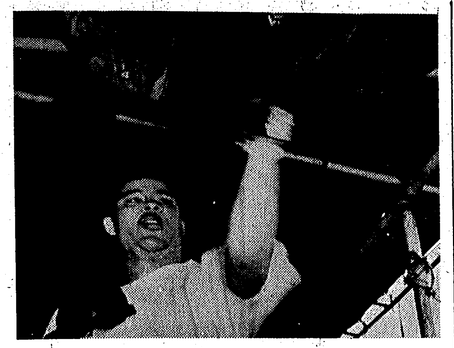
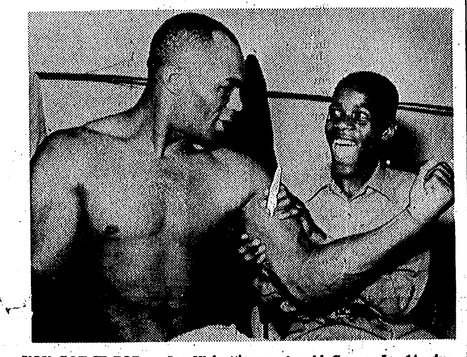
Joe Louis Meets Jersey Joe Walcott Tonight



REALLY IN SHAPE — Joe Louis, heavyweight champion, punches bag in training at Pompton Lakes, N. J., recently. Still claiming he has never felt any better or in greater shape, the odds are dropping fast. Promoter Sol Strauss states that, "Joe looks and acts the best he has since last December" Could it be because he wants to prove his statements about his last fight. (AP Wirephoto)



YOU GOT IT POP — Joe Walcott's son, Arnold Cream, Jr., 14, gives with a big smile as he feels his father's right arm at the challenger's training camp recently. Walcott will meet Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis in Yankee Stadium, New York, tomorrow night. (AP Wirephoto)

Walcott Passes Exam

GRENLOCH, N. J., June 22 (U.P) Through rest and relaxation, Jersey Joe Walcott had regained today much of the sharpness needed for tomorrow night's title fight.

Gone were the tell-tales of staleness that alarmed observers last week as the 34-year-old Negro passed, successfully, three tests in A-1 condition:

1. Dr. Vincent Nardiello of the New York Boxing Commission's Staff declared Walcott in better physical condition than for his December bout.

2. The stocky, muscular scrapper in the purple tights was far more buoyant and alert during five rounds of light sparring than during last week's drill.

3. He took confident command of his final press conference and he surprised about 40 sports writers with his mental agility.

NO MORE INTERVIEWS—Walcott's adviser, Felix Bocchicchio announced Sunday that the iron curtain had descended upon "Jersey Joe" Walcott and that there would be no more interviews until after the fight. Feeling quite confident of a victory, Bocchicchio smiled when reporters asked him if he thought Walcott would be able to talk after the coming battle.

Robinson, Docusen Match Postponed Second Time

CHICAGO, June 21 (U.P) The welterweight title match between Champion Ray Robinson and challenger Bernard Docusen of New Orleans was postponed by weather today for the second time, and an Illinois Athletic Commission official said it is rescheduled for Monday, June 28.

Commission Secretary Jack Elder said that the managers for Robinson and Docusen had signed a new contract for next Monday's show, with a stipulation that if the bout is postponed again because of weather, it will be held on Tuesday, June 29.

The reaching of the new agreement followed a dispute over Robinson's ability to make weights for his fight with Docusen which had been scheduled for tonight.

Agreement for next Monday's fight carried a stipulation that Robinson must post a total of $5,000 as weight guarantee. He was required to post only $1,000 forfeit at the original date for the fight, which was last Thursday night.

He also has posted a $10,000 appearance bond.

Robinson had hoped for tonight's postponement, associates said. He made the weight limit—147 pounds—last Thursday but refused to weigh in publicly today. Later he said his weight was around 151 or 152 pounds. Docusen weighed 147 pounds today, two more than he weighed last Thursday.

After announcement that the fight tonight was postponed, Docusen's managers, Otis Guichet and Benny Geigerman, at first balked at signing a new contract.

They urged the commission to declare the title vacant because of Robinson's failure to make weight, and asked that the fight next Monday might be made a battle for the vacant title.

CHICAGO, June 22 (U.P) Margaret Gunther, a 25-year-old Memphis Miss who was co-medalist at the Women's Amateur last year, took the low honors singlehanded today at the 19th annual Women's Western Open with a two-over par 76 on the Skycrest Golf Course.

Miss Gunther powered the best mark despite a disastrous double bogie seven on the 17th hole. She edged out Beverly Hanson, Fargo, N. D., and the great Babe Didrickssen Zaharias, Denver, by one stroke in the qualifying chase.

Louise Suggs, 1946 and 1947 champion, announced that she would not compete in defense of her title.

Bookies Announce Big Change in Odds

NEW YORK, June 22 (U.P) Bookies predicted today that the betting price favoring Joe Louis to beat Jersey Joe Walcott tomorrow night would be pared from its present 12-5 down to 2-1 or less by ring time.

So much money is showing for the challenger that one bookmaker said, "seems like everybody wanted to bet on Walcott over the week-end. Yeah, there's plenty of action."

If the price does shorten to 2-1, it will be the tightest quotation for a Louis fight since he and Maxie Baer tangled at practically even money 13 years ago. That was before Louis became champion.

Both principals sparred at their training camps yesterday, as the 20th Century staff of box office men at Madison Square Garden continued to sell tickets to Tuesday purchasers. Acting-Promoter Sol Strauss estimated the gate would approximate $900,000 tomorrow night.

The challenger from Camden, N. J., planned to motor into New York this afternoon and remain at a downtown hotel until the weigh-in at the Garden lobby tomorrow noon. He expected to scale about 194-½ pounds, the same as for the December bout in which he nearly wrested the crown from Louis.

The champion was scheduled for another light boxing drill at Pomton Lakes, N. J., this morning, Louis and his entourge will motor into New York, tomorrow afternoon. The champ will scale 215, four pounds more than in December when he "dried out"—refrained from taking liquids for 48 hours before the fight, Louis claimed the drying out weakened him.

Large bands of newspaper men and photographers went to both camps today. Additional sports writers from various cities seemed to be arriving at 20th Century Headquarters every hour.

Harry Markson, director of publicity, declared the working press layout for writers, photographers, telegraphers and radio men would be larger than for the Louis-Billy Conn extravaganza two years ago. More than 700 will be accommodated in three working press sections—at the ringside, in the baseball press box, and in special mezzanine section. Writers have come from many European countries, Latin America and Hawaii to cover the bout.

Announcement was expected tomorrow that the bout will be broadcast over the ABC network and be televised by NBC.

All Teams in PCL Close to League Leader

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22 (U.P) It's usually a tough life for any league leading team when another club is yapping at its heels.

But consider the case of the San Francisco Seals—five teams closing in on the trail! And one mis-step against any of them and the club that has headed the pack since opening day could slip all the way into the second division.

That's how close the Pacific Coast league race lined up today. It was only five and one-half games from first to fifth place which means that one disastrous series could ruin a team's social standing.

The tightening-up process worked to perfection yesterday as the loop leading Seals bowed twice to Seattle, 8-3, and 5-4. Fourth-place Oakland replaced third-place San Diego with a pair of wins, 4-3, and 5-4; and second place Los Angeles was rained out at Portland. The Twinks managed to down Sacramento, twice, 11-5 and 5-4, to win the series six games to one.

The Oaks made the big climb, as they won the 12-inning opener on Brooks Holder's home run.

This week, San Francisco plays host to Oakland; Portland invades Sacramento; San Diego visits Hollywood and Los Angeles goes to Seattle.

Jack Kramer Captures Tennis Championships

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., June 22 (U.P) Jack Kramer battered Bobby Riggs down to size in an hour-long first set and then kept the pressure going full blast the rest of the way to win the National Professional Tennis championship yesterday, 14-12, 6-2, 3-6, 1-3.

Riggs Weak

Riggs blew a 5-3 lead in that all-telling opening set, and after that he was licked, showing obvious fatigue even though he did r... to rally to win the third set.

The victory for Kramer, dethroning Riggs from the title won by downing Don Budge last year, came as no great surprise, for the big, booming belter from Montebelle, Cal., had taught the cocky little Bobby many a tennis lesson on their nation-wide tour.

LONDON, June 22 (U.P) The British today placed their hopes in John Bromwich of Australia to break the American stranglehold on the famed Wimbledon Tennis tournament which gets under way tomorrow.

The Yanks have won seven out of the last eight men's singles titles, the last five men's doubles, and the last four women's singles and doubles. What's more, with Frankie Parker and Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont top-seeded, they were favored to make another sweep this year.

Truman Signs Bill for Most Powerful Navy

WASHINGTON, June 25 (U.P) President Truman signed into law today a bill giving the Navy $3,750,179,250 to operate the world's most powerful fleet in the new fiscal year starting July 1.

Although the total in the bill is $172,563,450 less than Mr. Truman asked in his budget, it will enable the Navy to build up its strength to 527,014 officers and men as compared with 518,092 this year.

Funds also are included to start construction on a new 65,000-ton "super" aircraft carrier. Air Force officials privately have opposed the carrier. They said the Navy is trying to take over the Air Force's job.

Fleet Enlarged

It has been estimated that the money will permit the Navy to maintain an active fleet of 277 major fighting ships and 486 auxiliary vessels, and a reserve fleet of 644 major warships and 1,215 other vessels.

The House originally had voted the Navy $3,687,170,250. The Senate raised this to $3,812,170,250. It was agreed to split the difference in a conference between the House and Senate.

Taft-Hartley Law Violated by CIO Maritime Union

WASHINGTON, June 25, (U.P) A National Labor Relations board trial examiner ruled today the National Maritime Union (CIO) violated the Taft-Hartley act by insisting on a union hiring hall in its dealings with four Great Lakes shipping companies.

It was the first ruling by a board agent on the legality of the union hiring hall-the chief issue in the current coast-wise maritime dispute.

The trial examiner, Howard Myers, said the hiring hall clause demanded by the union on the Great Lakes "is clearly repugnant to the (Taft-Hartley) act."

Myers said the maritime union wanted a hiring hall system which would in effect give union members the first crack at any job openings.

He said this would be a clear violation of the law since employers would be forced to discriminate against non-union seamen in filling the job vacancies.

'Cold War' Grows Hot in Berlin

Russians Attacked U.S. Will Not Move New State Planned

WASHINGTON, June 25, (U.P) A State Department spokesman said today Russia has taken "unilateral and provocative steps" against the Western Powers in Berlin which "flagrantly" violate existing agreements.

Michael J. McDermott, special assistant to Secretary of State George C. Marshall, told reporters:

"I think you all fully understand where responsibility for this situation rests, and the motivation behind those unilateral acts."

McDermott did not specify the particular Russian acts he was talking about, but he reaffirmed the right of the British, French and American Governments to share occupational control of Berlin.

It was regarded as certain that McDermott reflected the opinion of this government that the Russians are embarked on efforts to force the three western powers out of Berlin.

1 Killed; Another Wounded by Mad Soviet Soldier

VIENNA, June 25 (U.P) U. S. Army authorities reported today that a French member of the international patrol was killed and a Russian member injured seriously last night by a Soviet soldier who allegedly went berserk with a machine pistol.

An Army spokesman said the Russian commander already had expressed his regrets and had apologized for the incident.

Cpl. Robert Perryman, Clinton, Ia., an American member of the patrol, escaped with minor injuries when the windshield of his patrol car was shattered by a bullet from the Russian soldier's pistol.

Japan's 'Warships' on Display to Newsmen

TOKYO, June 25 (U.P) American occupation officials today took Allied newsmen to see one of the "warships" which make up Japan's alleged "embryo Navy."

On display was a battered old former auxiliary sub-chaser 87 feet long and weighing 78 tons. Its wooden hull bore signs of patching. It was as large and as seaworthy as any ship in the Japanese Coast Guard.

The tour was conducted in answer to Soviet charges that Japan was being allowed to build a new naval force.

Bulletin

LONDON, June 25 (U.P) British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin suddenly cut short his seashore vacation today to return to London for emergency conferences on the Berlin crisis. He was expected to meet with the United States and French ambassadors as soon as he arrives.

Bevin, whose vacation was to have lasted until Monday, announced he would return as the struggle for Germany, which has smouldered for months, appeared to be on with full force.

All of Europe braced itself for the final, formal collapse of four-power rule over Germany and early creation of two German states. A climax in the east-west fight for control of Germany was expected in the question of whether the Russians can force the Westerners from Berlin.

BERLIN, June 25, (U.P) Nothing "short of war" will drive American forces from Berlin, Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today in defying Russia's most determined effort to force Western Allies from the German Capital.

While U.S. tanks and jeeps patroled the American Sector of Berlin on the lookout for trouble, the American Military Governor for Germany hastened to Heidelberg for conferences with his Army commanders.

"They can't drive us out of Berlin by anything short of war as far as we are concerned."

Clay said he believed present Russian tactics in the Berlin area were perhaps trying to put on the final pressure to force the Allies from Berlin.

"It's unfortunate," he added drily, "that the pressure makes Germans suffer too."

Russian moves have stopped all freight trains to the German Capital. Thus cutting off the supply routes which feed not only the 30,000 western allied troops and civilians in the city but also about 2,000,000 Germans in the western-controlled sectors.

Strike Causes Worst London Meat Shortage

LONDON, June 25 (U.P) Supplies of fresh meat today dwindled even below those of the worst war days as the London dock strike went into its eleventh day, with no sign of settlement.

No one in London this week will go without the usual ration of one shilling's worth of meat. A shilling is about 20 cents, and it buys perhaps a half pound of meat. But the shortage of fresh meat resulting from the wharf lieup will force Londoners to take more than the usual two-pence worth (a little more than three cents) of the ration in canned corned beef.

About 3,000 of the 20,000 striking dockers, lightermen and cold storage workers have returned to work following appeals from the government and their union leaders. The others appeared determined to continue the walkout which began when 11 longshoremen were refused special "dirty cargo" pay for unloading a shipment of zinc oxide.

Norwegian Ship Burns

BOSTON, June 25 (U.P) The Norwegian steamship Fenris is afire 450 miles west of Spain and its crew has taken to lifeboats, the Coast Guard reported here today.

An SOS intercepted by the Coast Guard here said the American steamer Bents Fort was within 55 miles of the blazing craft and was proceeding to her assistance. The Dents Fort was expected at the scene about 2 p. m.

All Rotarians, their families, and guests, are invited to the Taraguo Beach picnic, Sunday, June 27, according to the announcement of B. F. Bordallo, chairman of the entertainment committee.

WARSAW, June 25, (U.P) Soviet Russia and her seven satellite states have completed plans for conversion of the Soviet occupation zone of Germany into a separate state with its own government, well informed sources here believed today.

Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who directed the biggest conference yet held on the east side of the so-called Iron Curtain, will return to Moscow tomorrow, it was learned authoritatively.

His plans for departure were taken as indicating that his work here is finished, and that he will return to the Russian Capital to direct Russian tactics in the battle of Germany. Announcement of plans for the new east German state was expected to come from Moscow, probably within a week. Molotov presided at today's session, which brought foreign ministers and staffs of all Russian satellites here, it was said.

Draft Takes Only Single Men With No Dependents

WASHINGTON, June 25, (U.P) The first draft call will take in only single men without dependents in non-essential jobs, administration officials said today.

These officials indicated that President Truman will exercise his authority under the new draft act to defer men in the 19-through-25 age group who are supporting a wife, children or other relatives.

They said the President also will grant deferments to "Necessary" workers in agriculture, industry and government.

The selective service bill, which is now awaiting Mr. Truman's signature, does not provide and blanket deferments for these groups. It does, however, exempt most veterans, ministers and divinity students, and the sole surviving son of a "Gold Star" family.

These administration officials emphasized that in the event of an emergency, fathers and others deferred by special provisions might be liable for induction.

Dewey Named Republicans Candidate

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 25 (U.P) Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York was nominated tonight by the Republican 24th National Convention as its candidate for President of the United States.

The nomination came on the third ballot, which was taken after a three-hour recess, to allow Dewey forces and those of the Stop Dewey movement to try to get their strength together. As the Convention re-opened there was a wild and whooping rush to get on the band-wagon for Dewey, following the action of Gov. Earl Warren of California, who tossed Dewey his fifty-three Golden State votes.

Dewey Tearful

The 46-year-old former district attorney first learned of his victory at his downtown hotel headquarters.

"I am humbly grateful for the confidence of the elected representatives of my party, and hope God gives me strength to merit it," he said.

Dewey was on the verge of tears as he stepped into the hotel corridor. His aides arranged to bring him and Mrs. Dewey to Convention Hall for a brief victory appearance although his formal acceptance will not be made until tomorrow night after a vice-presidential candidate is nominated tomorrow.

Halleck Boomed

At the moment, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, leader of the Republican House of Representatives, was regarded as a likely choice for second spot on the Dewey ticket.

Halleck helped get the Dewey bandwagon moving yesterday by dropping out as a favored son presidential candidate and throwing his state's 29 votes to Dewey.

After the no-decision second ballot today, Republicans in league against Dewey moved for a recess. The motion was adopted by voice vote after Dewey's New York delegation said it had no objections. Convention Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., then ordered a recess at 4:56 p.m. until 7:30 p.m.

Futility of King's 600 Teen-Age Wives Debated by UN

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 24 (U.P) The United Nations Trusteeship Council left unanswered today the question of what to do about the 80-year-old Fon of Bikom who had been reported to have 600 wives, mostly teen-age girls, in his African stronghold in British Cameroon.

Iraqi Delegate Awni Khalidi, only bachelor member of the Council, objected to considering the Fon's polygamous activities by Christian standards. The council, he said, shou'd leave it to the Fon himself to discover the futility of his actions.

"If the Fon cannot discover the futility of his actions in God's good time," Khalidi said, "perhaps he will do so later. If he does not, then he doesn't need our help."

The council studied an excerpt from the Catholic Citizen, quoting the Franciscan Missionary Herald, which said the Fon had 600 wives, all of whom disdained clothes. It to'd of a 13-year-old girl who was seized for the Fon and taken before the king as a "piece of cargo."

Only 110 Wives

The United Kindom, administering authority for the African territory, replied that the Fon of Bikom actually had only 110 wives living in his compound, 44 of whom had been inherited from previous rulers.

U.S. Delegate Francis B. Sayre proposed a resolution which would "take note" but not condemn the practice and call it to the attention of a UN commission which will visit African Trust Territories next year. He also asked that the Human Rights Commission be informed of the Fon's polygamous activities.

A spirited debate broke out in the Council as to whether the matter should even be referred to the Human Rights Commission, which would be expected to determine whether the Fon was violating any fundamental rights of woman.

Human Rights

Khalidi, who asked that the Council inquire only as to why the Fon liked the institution of marriage so much, warned that the Council might lose its case if it sent it to the Human Rights Commission.

"The commission might find out that it is a human right of a man to have as many wives as he wants," Khalidi said. "They might find it was like a man here in New York who decided to take a lot of women out to dinner."

46 More Candidates in Guam Election

Forty-six additional candidates for the important Guam election of July 10 had been nominated by Thursday, according to information received today from Naval Government headquarters. A list of all candidates seeking office who have been nominated through Friday will be published in Monday's paper.

Nominations for all offices are closed on Monday, June 28, at 4 p.m. At the opening of nominations Friday, there still had been no school board members named to run for office.

Costa Rica Color Film to Show Here

The Twentieth Century-Fox film "Carnival in Costa Rica" opens Sunday at the Gaiety Theater, starring Dick Haymes, Vera-Ellen, Cesar Romero and Celeste Holm. The movie is in technicolor.

It seems that technicolor photographers have a slang language of their own, as when a "filly" is called for, it is not that they want a flower but a test run of the color film to make sure the negative used is unscratched and that the light was right for the color.

In this film much of it filmed in the beautiful highlands of Costa Rica, technicolor shows up at its very best.

Guam Youth and Ex-Governor Of Colorado Visit in Denver

DENVER, Colo.—A Guamanian youth and a former Colorado governor were sight-seeing in Denver recently according to the Rocky Mountain News—a far cry from the still battle-scarred Pacific Island where they were teamed together in ridding it of Japanese after the American invasion.

Domingo M. Gutierrez, 21, one of the Guamanians invaluable to the Marines in routing out die-hard snipers, came to Denver to study civil engineering.

Another resident of Guam, wounded as a United States sailor and hospitalized here, told him how to reach his friend of the war days, former Gov. Teller Ammons. Ammons was a Marine lieutenant colonel on the Island during World War II.

The other Guamanian, Silvino Quenga, a patient at Fort Logan veterans hospital, suffered an eye injury while serving with the Navy and ultimately lost the sight of both eyes. He underwent surgery at the hospital, where VA physicians are seeking to restore his sight.

Ammons who was presiding justice of the court of appeals and trial judge advocate for the military court of Guam, worked with Gutierrez and his family for 16 months on the Island.

He credits the people of the little Island with being staunch defenders of democracy. Not one was tried for treason or collaboration with the enemy during his stay there, Ammon said.

When the U.S. Fleet lay off Guam and continually threw a barrage of shells to flatten the Island's villages, the Guamanians watched from the hills and "cheered each time a direct hit was made on their own homes," Ammons said.

Gutierrez is attending Opportunity School. He plans to become an American citizen, but will go back to Guam and help his people when he finishes his education.

His job with the Marines was scouting, leading scouting parties into the "bush" and helping his friends, Lt. Gen. Henry L. Larsen, the commander of the Island, and Ammons in their investigation of war criminals.

'Whiskerino' Contest Another Fair Feature

Hoping for success in the Guam Island Carnival and Fair, the Guam Chamber of Commerce is striving to provide contests of interest to everyone on Guam.

The latest event, directed at the Island's bearded population, promises to provide interesting and amusing entertainment, both for the participants and on lookers. It is the "Whiskerino" contest. This event will provide Island beard wearers with an opportunity to display their growths, and at the same time try for one of the valuable prizes being offered.

Winning beards will be judged according to their length, their heaviness and style. Originality of style will be a weighty factor in choosing a winner.

In order not to give wearers of long beards too much of a margin toward winning a prize, the age limits have been set at 16, the minimum, and 80, the maximum. Application blanks will be made available for contestants at the fair grounds, July 4, the date of the event.

NINE HURT IN INTERURBAN WRECK—Bales of hay lie scattered near the scene of a collision near Artesia, Cal., between a Pacific Electric interurban car and a hay truck. Youth Killer Poses Social Problem

CHICAGO (U.P) Howard Lang, at 13 the youngest convicted murderer in Chicago history, sits in Cook County jail wondering if he is to escape a 22-year sentence for killing a playmate.

The case of Lang, slight, blonhaired youngster reared in the industrial environment of Chicago's west side has bagled policemen, criminologists, psychiatrists, clergymen, and social workers, all of whom have seen a grim parade of Chicago's criminal history.

On Oct. 18, 1947, Lang killed a seven-year-old companion, Loonie Fellick, in a forest preserve west of Chicago. He struck Fellick with a big rock and stabbed him several times with a knife. They had quarreled over Lang's theft of $10.

The youngster hid Lonnie's body in a clump of bushes. Not until 11 days later was the body found.

The boy came to trial on Feb. 16 before Judge Daniel A. Roberts in Chicago's criminal court.

He pleaded innocent.

But defense strategy soon switched. In a surprise action Feb. 21 Lang changed his plea to guilty. It was a maneuver designed to accept the state's co-operation in providing psychiatric care for the young defendant.

On April 20, Judge Roberts sentenced the juvenile killer to 12 years in prison, with the observation that his crime was "abhorrent, gruesome and hideous—a deed for which an adult would pay with at least a 'life sentence.'"

"It is fair to assume that he can be made into a good citizen of the state by seeking out his latent qualities," Judge Roberts said.

Nine days later Lang's defense attorney, Samuel Andalman, expressed dissatisfaction with the judge's sentence. His client, Andelman charged, was "coerced" into pleading guilty.

Andalman asked for a new trial and sought a writ of habeas corpus. Action on that latest legal maneuver is pending.

AF Has New Program Of Self-Improvement

HP. 20TH AIR FORCE—A new program of self-improvement, apprentice and school training, designed to provide a peacetime Air Force of highly trained personnel to be the nucleus of rapid expansion in time of emergency was announced by the U.S. Air Force recently.

"Airman Program"

To be known as the "Airman Program," the new plan contemplates a systematic schedule of assignment, training, and the orderly advancement of qualified enlisted personnel to positions of responsibility and specialization based on ability, integrity and initiative. The "Airman Program" is in the tentative stage for informational purposes and is subject to improvement and revision.

Briefly the plan calls for conversion of grade titles currently in use for warrant officers and enlisted men, and the grouping of related military occupational specialties into occupational fields and jobs.

Uniform System

The plan further calls for an increase in authorized strength of warrant officers distributed over four pay grades equivalent to the first four pay periods of commissioned officers to which an enlisted man may advance. A uniform system of personnel procedures will assure each individual an equitable opportunity for advancement, and there is provision for proper assignment of personnel based on skills, aptitudes and needs of the USAF.

NEW YORK June 25 (U.P.) The Brooklyn Dodgers. given a mental lift with good news on their cripple situation, swept a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 6 to 2 and 8 to 6, to open what they hope will be a drive to first place.

Jackie Robinson, an early-season disappointment, won the opening game in Frank Merriwell fashion when he hammered a grand-slam home run into the left field seats with two out in the ninth inning. The wallop off Mel Queen fol'ow d three walks and snapped a 2-2 tie. Willard Ramsdell. third Dodger pitched hitless ball for six innings.

In the nightcap, Rex Barney p.tchtd hitless ball for six innings while his mates rushed off to a 6-0 lead. The Pirates got three runs in the seventh off Barney and three more in the eighth off Re'iefer Hank Behrman, but they were too late because the Dodgers had scored the two winning runs in the seventh. The game was called on account of darkness and rain after seven-and-a-half innings with Barney the winning pitcher and Elmer Riddle the loser. The Pirates got only three hits in the nightcap.

With the sore-legged Pete Reiser reportedly ready to get back into action on Sunday, the Dodgers were extremely hopeful that today's sweep marked the beginning of their "comeback from the grave."

The New York Giants split a doubleheader with the last-place Chicago Cubs, wining the first game 3 to 2. as the Cubs battered four pitchers for a total of 12 hits. Hansen lost a shutout in the opener when Clarence Maddern homered for Chicago with one on in the ninth and Sheldon Jones came in to get the side out. Rookie Ralph Hamner pitched a four-hitter for the Cubs in the second game, getting support from a homer of his own and another by Bill Nicholson.

In the American league, the New York Yankees went on a homer spree to beat Bob Feller and the Cleve'anl Indians, 4 to 0, behind Vic Raschi's six-hit twirling. It was Raschi's ninth win. George McQuinn, Johnny Lindell, and Joe DiMaggio homered for the Yanks with DiMaggio's homer tying him with Ken Keltner of the Indians for the American league lead at 17.

Bill Wright pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 3 to 1 victory over the Boston Red Sox in the first game of a twin bill at Chicago before the Red Sox came back to slug out an 8 to 5 win in the second. Each side made only six hits in the opener as. Wight outdueled Ellis Kinder and Earl Johnson. Ted Williams slammed two homers and Dom DiMaggio one to pace the Red Sox in the nightcap. Jack Kramer was the wining pitcher and Earl Caldwell the lo er.

Rain washed out a day game between Washington and Detroit and a night game between Cincinnati and Philadelphia.

The St. Louis Cards took over second place in the National by wa loping the leading Boston Braves. 11 to 2. in a night game at Boston. The Redbirds made 11 hits and profited by five Brave errors as they climbed to within a half-game of the pacemakers.

The Philadelph'a A's rammed across four runs in the eighth inning to beat the Browns, 6 to 5, in a night game at St. Louis.

Wins Bycycle Race

MILWAUKEE, June 25 (U.P.) Ted Smith, Buffalo, N. Y., National Bicycle champion today won a 135-mile road race to earn a berth on the O'ympic team.

Smith rode the 135-mile race on a 12 ½ mile course in six hours, 55 30 minutes. Also named to the Olympic bike team were second and thrid place finishers Ed Lynch of Berkeley, Calif., and Wendell Rodins of Salt Lake City.

Fritz Masanek of Chicago finished fifth. Other finishers from the starting field of 50 were Roy Florman, one-handed rider from St. Louis, Gene Lechner of Mi'waukee, Ed Littiv of Belleville, N. J., Fred Pesch of Chicago and Robert Ward of Flemington, N. J.

A second 135-mile race Friday will determine two other Olympic team members. Another five contestants will be chosen from track events to be staged this weekend.

Zaharias Leads Women

CHICAGO, June 25 (U.P.) Babe Didrickson Zaharias' booming drives and cold, sure putting crushed Polly Riley today, 3 and 2, and moved the top star of feminine golf a step closer to her fourth women's Western Open crown.

Playing in the quarter-finals on the Skycrest Country Club's par 71 layout, Babe kept Miss Riley behind from the first hole. She consisten'ly slashed her drives more than 250 yards, and when she hit the greens with her approaches, there was never a doubt she would be down in two putts.

The Babe did it time after time, sending her first putt within 12 inchts of the cup to assure a safe second try. The mov' .rced Miss Riley to attempt to ...ock in her first putt, but the Fort Worth, Tex. star succeeded only once.

Beverly Hanson, Fargo, N. D., won the most one-sided match of the day, a 9 and 7 decision over Women's Collegiate Champion Grace Lenczyk, Newington, Conn. Miss Lenczyk ran into trouble on nearly every hole, hooking her drives in the rough and out of bounds, and she conceded three holes.

Helen Dettweiler, 1939 open winner from Indio, Cal., rallied on the back nine to defeat Mary Agnes Wall, Menominee. Mich., one up.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., June 25 (U.P.) Coaches of the Southern California and Yale baseball squads pronounced their teams ready after workouts today for the NCAA "college world series" which opens here tomorrow.

Each mentor said his top hurler will take the mound for the opener. Sam Barry of California assigned the post to prize Junior Wally Hood. who has won 21 and lost 2 this year.

Hood reportedly turned down a $30,000 contract with a major league baseball league club last week.

Americans Lead Tennis

WIMBLEDON. Eng., June 25 (U.P.) America's five seeded men's stars, headed by favored Frank Parker, swept into the fourth round of the Wimbledon Tennis Championships today, although Gardner Mulloy and Bob Falkenburg were carried to five sets before winning.

While top-seeded Parker of Los Angeles was hardly extended in trouncing Cyril Kemp, Eire Davis Cupper, 6-0,6-1, 6-0, Mulloy had a difficult time in subduing Sumant Misra of India's Davis Cup team. and the youthful Falkenburg was forced to come from behind to beat Draja Mitic of Yugoslavia.

Mulloy, third-seeded in the tournament, eliminated Misra, 2-6, C-4, 6-1, 3-6, 6-4, and Falkenburg, seeded no. 7, edged Mitic, star of the Yugoslav Davis Cup squad, 5-7, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Two seeded U.S. women stars also advanced with victories over unseeded American entries. Second-ranked Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., U. S. Amateur queen, downed Mrs. Mary Arnold Prentiss of San Bernardino, Calif., 6-1, 4-6, 6-1, and fourth-seeded Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., ousted Mrs. Helen Pedersen Rihbany of Boston, 6-0, 6-1. in second round matches.

Two other unseeded U. S. women, Gloria Butler of New York and Mrs. Rita Andtrson of Los Angeles, were eliminated in the second round by Europeans.

Russians Yield to Allies; Open Road To German Capital

BERLIN, June 26 (U.P.) Russia made another of her turn-abouts in cold war strategy today.

Allied officials in Helmstedt, on the border between the British and Soviet zones of Germany, announced that the Soviet commander at Marienborn, Russian boundary control point, had said that freight shipments to Berlin from the west could be resumed Monday.

The Russian action reopening the Allied route to Berlin came after a series of Soviet blows apparently designed to force the Western powers clear out of the German capital.

General Clay, American military governor, had replied to Russian moves by stating only armed force could dislodge the French, British and Americans from Berlin.

Earlier heavily armed American patrols dashed through mid-town Berlin in search of two Russian trucks reported scattering propaganda leaflets thumping the tubs of Communist hatred of American democracy.

American tanks, jeeps mounting machine guns and armored scout cars sped into the Tempelhof distiict near the outer edge of the city with orders to find the trucks and arrest the men in them. The Soviet trucks fled back into the Soviet sector.

The regular meeting of the Governor of Guam with the Executive Council of the Guam Congress will be held in the office of the Governor at ComMarianas Headquarters at 2:15 p.m. Monday, June 28.

In addition to the chairman of the House of Council and House of Assembly, together with their respective secretaries, the executive secretary and the heads and assistant heads of the executive branch of the local government, it is requested that the committee chairman of the Guam Congress together with such other members as may desire attend.

Warren Named as Running Mate of Governor Dewey

CONVENTION HALL, Philadelphia, June 26 (U.P.) The Republicans by acclamation today named Gov. Earl Warren of California to run for vice-president on the ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

The choice was made with surprising suddenness after Arizona delegates decided to give up their plan to nominate Harold E. Stassen.

The 1,094 delegates of this 24th GOP National Convention whooped the strapping, 57-year-old Californian into the party's No. 2 post and wound up their major business for another four years.

The vice-presidential nomination actually was offered to Warren at 4 a.m. He did not immediately accept, and Dewey was reported leaning to Harold E. Stassen, one of his hardest-hitting competitors for the Presidential nomination.

Four years ago in Chicago Warren turned down a chance to serve as Dewey's running-mate. Dewey ran with John W. Bricker and lost to the ticket headed by the late President Roosevelt.

A reporter asked Dewey what he thought about the failure of Congress to pass a 65-million-dollar loan for building the United Nations a permanent home in New York City. Dewey answered the question by calling the record of the 80th Congress "one of the most remarkable jobs in history."

Unified Draft Plan For All Services

WASHINGTON, June 26 (U.P.) Defense Secretary James Forrestal today took steps to unify the draft program for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Forrestal appointed a seven-man committee to work out a set of rules for uniform action on the draft by the three service branches.

Local draft boards will begin registering men within six weeks and the first draftees may be in uniform by late September, government officials said today.

Selective Service machinery meshed into gear in the wake of President Truman's signing late yesterday of the 19-through-25 draft law. The President is expected to issue a registration proclamation shortly.

Democrat Chairman Hits Dewey and Platform

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 26 (U.P.) J. Howard McGrath, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said tonight that the Republican party admitted the "enormity of the failure" of its Congress by nominating Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as its Presidential candidate.

He said that Dewey would be playing an "encore of his unsuccessful 'me too' campaign in 1944" and that the "American people also will play an encore in November."

The first action of the GOP convention, McGrath said, was to draft a "double talk platform which says they will do the things the 80th Congress refused to do........now they elect a voice not heard in the Congress to echo the platitudes throughout the country."

BUDAPEST, Hungary, June 26 (U.P.) Joseph Cardinal Mindszentys secretary said today that all Hungarian Catholic deputies who supported the nationalization of church schools have been excommunicated.

Egyptian Planes Shoot UN Craft

RHODES, June 26 (U.P.) Egyptian spitfires fired on a United Nations plane—apparently one of the planes provided by the United States for truce observation—over Palestine at dawn today, and hit it 15 times. The American pilot was not injured.

The incident was revealed in an official protest sent by headquarters of Count Folke Bernadotte, UN Palestine truce mediator, to the Egyptian government.

It was presumed here that Egypt, if she admitted the incident at all, would assert that the Egyptian pilots believed the plane was bringing arms into Palestine for Israel in violation of the truce agreement.

Truman Signs Bill To Admit Homeless

WASHINGTON, June 26 (U.P.) President Truman today reluctantly signed legislation to admit 205,000 homeless Europeans to this country within the next two years. He said the measure is "flagrantly discriminatory."

The President said that, for practical purposes, the law will have the effect of excluding, rather than admitting, Jewish displaced persons in proper proportion to other faiths.

He also said that the measure will exclude many displaced persons of the Catholic faith.

Although Mr. Truman called the bill "seriously objectionable," he said he had to sign it to avoid further delay in the start of a resettlement program.

Imposters Seeking Facts of Life Get Confiding Women to Tell All

NEW YORK, June 26, (U.P.) Imposters, posing as interviewers for the Kinsey report, have been questioning women about their intimate sex life out o[redacted] were not scientific, an article in the magazine, "Today's Woman," said today.

The article was written by an anonymous woman who had been interviewed by Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey for his second forthcoming book, "Sexual Behavior of the Human Female."

The writer urged women to use "extreme caution" before submitting to an interview about their love life which might be conducted by a man who was simply curious.

"One such unidentified man made his way through an entire New York office building, where everybody fell for his sales talk, including a'l the models of the famous agency housed there," she wrote.

"And recently several young men making similar false claims have been approaching students on the campus of Columbia University."

Women who believe they have encountered such imposters shou'd contact Dr. Kinsey at the University of Indiana and he will prosecute, the article said.

The writer said her interview with Dr. Kinsey helped her to face squarely the facts of her sex life although after three hours of questions, she felt "utterly drained of emotion."

Bishop Warns Bathing Beauty Out of Contest

WHEELING, W. Va., June 26 (U.P.) A shapely, 22-year-old Wheeling brunette beauty said today she withdrew from a pre-Atlantic City beauty contest here because Bishop John J. Swint threatened to excommunicate her from the Roman Catholic Church.

Gertrude Bedway, a graduate last week from the New England Conservatory of Music at Boston, said the Bishop advised her, through a spokesman-priest, that he considered beauty contests "immoral, indecent exposure," and "totally pagan."

Miss Bedway said the Bishop warned that he would excommunicate any Catholic girl from his diocese who entered a contest based on "nakedness."

Bishop Swint later confirmed the girl's story, and he said he could not "understand how any girl could want to enter such an ordeal.

"If they were to eliminate nakedness from them, the wh... thing would fall apart," he said.

Miss Bedway's family entered her name in the local contest to name the city's representative to the state beauty pageant in Moundsville, W. Va., where a "Miss West Virginia" will be chosen to go to Atlantic City.

Surgeon Massages Heart; Restores Life

CHICAGO, June 26 (U.P.) A woman who doctors believed had died on an operating table was revived today by a surgeon who made a quick incision and massaged her heart with his fingers.

A spokesman for Dr. Max Thorek, chief surgeon at American hospital, said Mrs. Julia Brittan's heart stopped beating while she was being given an anesthetic for an appendicitis operation.

Thorek not only revived the woman but a few minutes later performed a successful appendectomy on the 23-year-old woman, the spokesman said.

Thorek was summoned immediately when the woman's heart stopped. He made an incision over the heart. He made two other incisions in swift succession—one which pierced the diaphram and another to cut through the pericardium which surrounds the heart, Slowly, he began massaging the heart with the rhythm of a normal pulse. Seconds later the heart was beating feebly. He continued. The heart beat gradually became stronger.

Thorek injected adrenalin into the heart to complete the task. He then sewed the incisions and, right after the life-and-death drama began, performed the appendectomy.

Afternoon swimmers and fishermen will have a little more water to swim and fish in this week-end, according to the Port Directors office. Sunday afternoon there will be about three hours more of high water than last Sunday. Tides for Sunday are; high tides, 0123 and 0945; low tides, 0745 and 1745.

A peculiarity of tides at this time of year is the low tide at 0745, followed two hours later by high tide at 0945.

Soft Coal Peace Pact Agreed on

WASHINGTON, June 26 (U.P.) John L. Lewis and all the soft coal industry except the steel companies today signed a new wage agreement.

The new agreement will become effective July 1. It provides:

1. A $1 a day wage increase for each union employe.

2. An increase of .10 cents a ton in operator contributions to the union welfare and retirement fund, increasing the total payment to 20 cents a ton.

3. All other terms and conditions of the 1947 wage agreement to continue in the 1948 contract, including the union shop provision.

U.S. Steel Corp. refused to sign the new agreement because of the union shop provision. The union shop is regulated by the Taft-Hartley law and prohibited or strictly regulated by state laws in Virginia, Tennessee and Alabama.

Seamen Threaten Strike Despite U.S. Injunction

NEW YORK, June 26 (U.P.) The National Maritime Union (CIO) National Council announced today that if the hiring hall system of employing seamen is declared illegal it will set up a strike date despite a federal court injunction.

The council said it voted to comply "grudgingly" with the injunction issued yesterday restraining the union from striking for 80 days, but had decided to carry on "guerrilla warfare" against the injunction. It listed seven steps to be taken immediately by local unions in conducting the "warfare."

If, however, the National Labor Relations board voids the hiring hall, a date for a strike will be set, the council said.

Howard McKenzie, chairman of the program and policy committee, who released the council's statement, said emergency committees would be set up on ships to "guarantee that every seaman coming aboard comes from the union hiring hall."

Chicago Publisher Against Dewey

PHILADELPHIA, June 26 (U.P.) Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, said early in the day before the nomination of Governor Thomas E. Dewey that Dewey would NOT win the Republican Presidential nomination, "because the delegates realize that he will be hard to elect."

"The tactics engineered from a Wall Street back office that nominated Wilkie in 1940 and Dewey in 1944 will not work now," he said in a statement.

7 Children Given Away

MIAMI, Fla., June 24 (U.P.) A 36-year-old radio announcer gave away his seven children to seven different Florida families through a want ad today. He said he couldn't make enough money to support them.

William W. Harvey offered his family for adoption in a classified advertisement in a Miami newspaper June 15. It took only six days to find takers among the 21 answers, he said.

Harvey earns $75 a week as an announcer for a Miami radio station. He said that wasn't enough to take care of his children, ranging in age from eight years to nine months, and his sick wife.

"I got tired of ducking bill collectors," he explained. "Besides, my wife and I felt it wasn't good for the children to have to move around and not know where their home was."

GOP Platform Passes Committee

PHILADELPHIA, (U.P.) The Republican Convention's resolutions committee adopted a platform with an internationalist foreign policy plank advocating continued aid to "peace-loving" nations and a curb on the United Nations veto.

It was adopted by the 104-member committee following many hours of debate—some of it heated, particularly on the civil rights and foreign policy planks.

The foreign policy plank was along the line advocated by Senate President Arthur H. Vandenberg, R., Mich., in his bi-partisan cooperation with the administration.

Some party elements opposed it as going too far along the internationalist road.

Domestic planks in the platform included pledges to support:

1. Maintenance of adequate armed forces for national security, with the draft, if necessary.

2. Anti-lynching and anti-poll tax measures, and proposals to set up a fair employment practice commission and to prohibit segregation in the armed forces.

3. Federal aid for education and public housing.

4. "Progressive development with adequate appropriations, of the nation's water power resources for navigation, flood control and power, with immediate action in critical areas."

Some opposition was expected to the foreign policy plank but its backers were confident of putting it through "substantially" as is. It included an attack on the administration's conduct of the present bi-partisan foreign policy, but promised to continue on a bi-partisan basis if a Republican president is elected.

The GOP civil rights plank favored prompt enactment of legislation to end the "infamy" of lynching; abolition of poll taxes; elimination of racial segregation.

Housing—federal aid for slum clearance and low-rent housing programs "only where there is a need that cannot be met either by private enterprise or by the states and localities."

Labor—Continuation of the Taft-Hartley law with a "continuing study to improve labor-management legislation in the light of experience and changing conditions."

Communism—"Vigorous enforcement of existing laws against Communists and enactment of such new legislation as may be necessary to expose the unreasonable activities of Communists and defeat their objective of establishing here, a Godless dictatorship controlled from abroad."

NEW YORK, (U.P.) Aurel Aulth, acting Hungarian consul general in New York and a veteran of 10 years in his country's diplomatic service, resigned today in protest against Communist squelching of freedom in Hungary.

He said he would try to make a new life for himself and his family in the United States because he could not continue in his post with a "clear conscience." Recently, he said, there have been "attempts to influence even consular duties through political considerations."

LOS ANGELES, (U.P.) Men conscripted in the first peacetime draft must be kept aware of critical international problems so they will understand why they are in uniform, Gen Omar N. Bradley said today.

31 Killed in Cairo

CAIRO, Egypt, (U.P.) Thirty-one persons were killed and 43 injured in the two explosions that jolted Cairo's Jewish quarter early yesterday, reliable unofficial sources said tonight.

Authorities investigated the blasts which came ten minutes apart. A government bomb expert said dynamite had been set off, apparently with time bomb apparatus.

Trip All Planned To New Zealand For British Royalty

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21 (U.P.) The man who has arranged the program for the first visit of an English King and Queen to New Zealand next year, is on his way to England to get royal approval of the proposed itinerary.

Joseph Heenan, under secretary for internal affairs of New Zealand, stopped here today en route to England to arrange for the Feb. 28 to March 31 visit of the King and Queen and Princess Margaret.

Heenan, who is on his first trip outside New Zealand and on his first air trip, said the program for the royal visit would be "quite extensive." He said the King, Queen and Princess would visit every town in New Zealand during their stay.

Navy Names Destroyers Detailed to UN

WASHINGTON (U.P.) The Navy named the three destroyers of the U. S. Mediterranean Fleet that are being detailed to Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator for Palestine, for use in supervising the truce.

The ships are from Destroyer Squadron Two, commanded by Capt. John F. Walsh. They are the Putman, commanded by Cmdr. D. M. Swift, North Arlington, Va., the Henley, commanded by Cmdr. D. L. Moody, Los Angeles, and the J. C. Owens, commanded by Cmdr. R. H. Weeks, Alexandria, Va.

Assured of Senate Seat

PORTLAND, Me., June 23 (U.P.) Rep. Margaret Chase Smith apparently assured herself tonight of becoming the first Republican woman in the U. S. Senate as she piled up a commanding primary lead over three men opponents.

Returns from 394 of the state's 620 precincts gave Mrs. Smith 30,988 votes to 17,963 for her closest rival, Gov. Horace A. Hildreth. Former Gov. Sumner Sewall had 11,841 and Rev. Albion Beverage trailed with 3,924.

Mrs. Smith took an early lead and constantly widened it in her quest for the Republican nomination which is virtually tantamount to election in this traditionally Republican state.

Money War Started by Russians in Berlin

BERLIN, (U.P.) Russian Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky precipitated a major crisis in allied relations today by proclaiming a new currency for the Soviet zone and all four allied sectors of Berlin.

Col. Frank L. Howley, American Army Commandant in Berlin, said at once that the Soviet currency would be rejected.

"The only orders we accept in the United States are the orders of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, our commander in chief," Howley said. "Sokolovsky has the same rights as we have and no more. Berlin is under four-power government and must remain so."

Sokolovsky, apparently determined to force a showdown to his mounting long disputes with the western allies, said his currency order would go into effect tomorrow.

Sokolovsky's action came immediately after the big four powers failed in a 5-½ hour meeting to get an agreement on a united German currency for either Berlin or all Germany.

High city officials of Berlin were ordered peremptorily to Russian headquarters shortly before midnight.

American, British and French finance experts were called into urgent conference to consider the situation.

The Russian-controlled Central Berlin Bank, situated in the German zone, was ordered to cease all banking business. Western allied authorities countered by ordering all banks in their sector to continue business.

The Russians also ordered employes of Berlin tax, post, telephone and telegraph offices, which they control, to cease all collections, the Soviet-licensed news service reported.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P.) Sidney Moore, student, gave the court two reasons why he dozed behind the wheel. He had been up late celebrating a friend's graduation, and then got up early to study for final examinations. The doze cost him a $21 fine.

Count Bernadotte Wants UN to Run Palestine Camps

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., (U.P.) Count Folke Bernadotte reported today that he had negotiated an agreement with British military authorities to hand over to him all installations and camps in Palestine which, in his opinion, would give the Jews military advantage should they acquire them upon evacuation by the British.

The United Nations mediator informed the UN that his deputies had been forced to intervene to prevent a clash last week between British and Israeli troops over the decision of Haifa camps being evacuated by the British.

Bernadotte said he had decided the only way to dispel the continuing friction was to have the UN take over responsibility for the camps durings the current armistice.

Highest Auto Road Over Sierras Open to Cars

SAN FRANCISCO, (U.P.) Tioga Pass Road, highest motor route across the Sierras, has been opened to traffic, the California State Automobile Association announced today.

The association said the winter snow barrier over the pass finally has been cleared.

The Tioga Pass Road is that section of state route 120 leading from Crane Flat across Yosemite National Park to U. S. Highway 395 and Mono Lake.

Russian Holds up Police

VIENNA, (U.P.) The Russian member of a four-power international police patrol used a gun today to force members of his squad to halt by Soviet headquarters, where an Austrian prisoner was taken from them and released, the United States Army announced.

The Army statement said the patrol was taking Austrian Fritz Nansech, an Army interpreter, to International Police Headquarters when the incident occurred.

The Russians probably mistook him for a Russian and "went the limit to secure his release from the patrol," it said.

Business Booming Says Department of Commerce

WASHINGTON (U.P.) Business is booming again and prices are on the upgrade, the Department of Commerce reported today.

The department's monthly publication, Survey of Current Business, said the "general strength of demand" in May and early June ended the "temporary hesitation" in business that occurred earlier in the year.

Among chief factors cited by the department for the upswing in business activity:

1. The lower withholding taxes that went into effect May 1.

2. The extension of wage increases to major labor groups.

3. Increased purchasing under the European Recovery Program.

"These and other developments," it said, "have been reflected in a renewal of the price advance and in a firming of production schedules for the period ahead."

Guam Tourists Discussed at Rotary Meet

An open panel discussion on the proposed development of tourist accomodations on Guam and the establishment of a historical society, was held at the Rotary Club meeting at the Coconut Grove Restaurant in Taumuning village Thursday.

New officers installed were Charlie Elliot, president, B. P. Carbullido, vice president Felix Carbullido, secretary, Ed Perez, treasurer, and Commander F. L. Sheffield, member board of directors.

Manila Club Greets

Guest speaker was the Honorable Judge Fischer, who has recently returned from a trip to the Philippines. Judge Fischer brought greetings to the local club from his brother Rotarians in Manila.

While enjoying a delicious lunch club members were also delighted by songs and music furnished by Miss Barbara Bordallo, Miss Josephine Martinez, Miss Ana Sablan, and Mrs. Rosalie Lankford.

7-Minute Kiss too Much for Crooner

The gals all swoon over Dick Haymes as being a big strong red-blooded man; but some have doubts. Not long ago while on the set making "Carnival in Costa Rica," which is now playing at the Gaiety Theatre, Dick and Vera-Ellen were forced to hold a kiss for seven consecutive minutes while the director chatted with the cameraman. Now for the question at hand as to Mr. Haymes, whether he got tired or was just immune to the charms of Vera-Ellen's kisses isn't known, but after seven minutes he yelled "help!" Now just how many men on Guam would react in the same way?

"Carnival in Costa Rica," which plays through Tuesday, also includes Cesar Romero and Céleste Holm in the cast.

Memorial services are conducted at Nathaniel Savory's grave by Chaplain Schenk of the USS Randall, attended by all the members of the Governor's party.

NEW YORK, June 26 (U.P.) A gasoline truck, fuelling an American Airlines DC-6, broke into flames as passengers were boarding the plane at La Guardia field today, but the fire was extinguished within 30 seconds and no one was injured.

The company said there was no damage to the plane.

Mrs. Pownall joins in passing out toys to the Island children.

Governor Pownall talks with one of the descendants of the first Nathaniel Savory, who first settled Chichi Jima in 1830.

Descendants of Early Settlers Still on Chichi

The recent visit of Radm. C. A. Pownall, USN, Governor of Guam, and Mrs. Pownall to Chichi Jima, on their tour of the western Pacific area, recalled the history of one of America's lost colonies at Yankeetown, on Chichi Jima.

Nathaniel Savory of Bradford, Massachusetts, led a little group of two Americans, one Genoese, an Englishman, Dane and several dozen Hawaiians to the island in 1830. Today his great grandson, Nathaniel Savory, still lives on the island with other relatives decended from the first settlers.

Ferry Visited

The first settlement was named Yankeetown, and for long was an important sailing point in the early years. Commodore Perry stopped at Chichi Jima on his historic mission to open Japan to western civilization in 1853.

Pictures on this page show some of the descendants of the early settlers, who cling to their homes, despite the efforts of the Japanese for the past 75 years to dislodge them, as the Japs took over the islands. Governor and Mrs. Pownall with their party visited many parts of the island joined in the distribution of gifts to the children there, and attended a memorial service to the first settler, Mr. Savory.

Mt. Liberty Landslide Buries Road

FRANCONIA, N. H., (U.P.) A giant landslide roared down the slopes of Mt. Liberty tonight, burying the vacation highway through the White Mountains under 12 feet of debris and possibly trapping one or more motorists.

Torrential rains started gravel, trees and logs rolling down the mountainside just opposite the Old Men of the Mountains, a famed tourist attraction.

It came with a deafening roar and piled up rubble to a depth of 12 feet along a 100-foot stretch of highway. The landslide stopped only a short distance from a gift shop serving visitors to the Old Man and the Cannon Mountain Aerial Tramway.

Bulldozers, working on a nearby highway, were summoned immediately but they were handicapped by tons of water pouring down through the huge gaps the landslide had cut into the mountain.

Pacific Fleet Has New Competition

First year of the new battle efficiency competitions for ships and aircraft squadrons of the Pacific Fleet will end Wednesday, June 30. The new, streamlined competitions are the first to be held since the beginning of World War II.

The new competitions differ from those in effect prior to the war, in which each department within a ship was treated as a unit for competition purposes. The new rules place emphasis upon the battle efficiency of the ship as a whole. Instead of being awarded the traditional Navy "E" for proficiency in some particular phase, such as gunnery, engineering or damage control, each ship will compete for a battle efficiency pennant.

New Policy Announced For EM Transfers

HARMON, AFB — Headquarters, Far East Air Force, has announced a new policy in regard to the transfer of enlisted men from the Department of the Air Force to the Department of the Army, it was learned here yesterday.

In line with current policy, requests for transfer to the Department of the Army by enlisted men who enlisted specifically for the Air Force will not be approved. However, in the case of enlisted men who did not enlist for the Air Force, the request will normally be approved by Headquarters FEAF and forwarded to Headquarters USAF.

Harmon Alters Menu Planning System

HARMON AFB—A more stable menu for Army and Air Force messes will result from the new schedule of menu board meetings based on a 7-day ration cycle, it was announced yesterday by the MarAMA food supervisor's office.

Under the new plan, the board will meet once each week instead of once a month to plan the menus for all Army and Air Force messes on Guam. Instead of planning for a month in advance, stocks on hand, thus avoiding the possibility of food shortages and the necessity of substitutions before the end of the month.

It was also announced that increased shipments of frozen fresh vegetables have arrived on Guam. Intended for troop issue, the stocks include fresh frozen broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, string beans, and peas.

THE ROCK . . . .

by Tom Richards

Hear then the sayings of Hassen Ben Eatenwel. "A politician is the only animal that can sit on the fence and keep both ears to the ground."

NO MATTER HOW THIN YOU SLICE IT, bologne is still bologne. The hot air tradeblours back in the States are again whooping it up as election day trickles around the corner. Year in and year out it is the same old line of guff. These big wheels get in the office and then they forget all about the solid citizens whom they are supposed to help. It certainly is a good thing we live in a democracy and can boot out the bad actors at regular intervals. It surely would be tough to live in a country where dishonest or inefficient public officials could seize the government and then couldn't be booted out. The man I would like to see run for President of the United States would be just an everyday business man. I would prefer one with a good service record, that is really honest and courageous and one who loves his fellow man but has a good understanding of double entry bookkeeping.

THAT'S A LOT OF BUG — We were down in the Great Talofofo Swamp Area the other day where B-P-M has done considerably work on the Seepage Basin, and it seemed to us that the mosquitoes (Mosquito: Offspring of a P-38 and a vampire) weren't quite as thick as they used to be. When the B-P-M boys were first excavating the Seepage Basin the skeeters were so thick that the boys had to carry submachine guns to help clear the way for the bulldozers. Certainly was a sight to see Perry C. Dykes and L.W. Mauk riding bucking, charging bull dozers, leaning back in their seats and blasting away at the mosquitoes as the bugs would dive down from 5,000 feet for pursuit formation. I saw six of the devils get hold of a 60-ton Northwest crane one day and carry it 40 feet before the combined fire power of six Reising maching guns, in the hands of the catskinners, blasted the varmits loose. A mosquito was over-heard telling a Forheck bird, "We had better start rationing these B-P-M lads or we'll have to fall back on a full-time diet of Camp Witek boys and Forheck birds." The bird spread its wings and replied, "For heck's sake, what am I doing in a hole like this?"

OUR CLOAK AND DAGGER department has found that the roaring sea chanty "Fifteen Men on the Dead Man's Chest" was the brain child of R.L. Stevenson and not taken from an actual song as generally supposed. Another author added some 10 verses, though, which later became quite popular in the many ports and parts of the world.

Today s Sports Parade

by Oscar Fraley

NEW YORK, June 25 (U.P.) The famed old 'dead pan" varnished tonight as Joe Louis, still heavyweight champion of the world, fondled his big right fist. "Ah had four good shots" Louis laughed in his dressing room after knocking out Jersey Joe Walcott.

"So ah'am 'old man'—but ah knew he wouldn't get up."

There have been a lot of dressing room mob scenes in the 11 years and three days that Louis has held the title. But this—his last—was the greatest of them all.

And the smiling Louis, a bright red "mouse" on his left cheek, soaked it up, answering a pressing circle of sports writers and waving at cameramen screaming over his head.

"Are you glad it's over?" he was asked.

By "over' they meant the long days of training and the succession of challengers he had faced.

He grinned "ah'll say."

He put his fingers to his lips and blew a little goodbye kiss. He went out with the crown still on his kinky black head—and he loved it.

It took four pushing policemen to pull Louis out of that questioning mob and get him to the showers. As he stood there in the warm water he talked about this last fight he had made.

"It was a lousy fight up until the 11th round, ah know," he said. "Ah don't know whether ah was losin' or not. But Mannie Seamon tol' me ah'd better go after him....so ah did.

"And when ah hit him with that first right hand ah knew that was the end of Mister Walcott. Ah got three more in there and ah knew he'd never get up.

"Ah just got tired of it all in the ninth round and really started after him. That was all there was to it. Ah slowed him up with my left and finally got the opening ah was lookin' for."

Louis denied that Walcott ever had hurt him during the fight. Even in the third round when Jersey Joe's flicking right hand sent Louis to the canvas for a one count.

And he insisted that he would not change his mind and fight again.

"Ah's through," he laughed, drinking water out of a large paper container and mopping his sweating head with a white towel.

"That's the end—and "old man Joe' is done'"

Toledo, O., June 25 (U.P.) Giant Clayton Haefner and Herman Keiser downed the Dick Metz-Lloyd Mangrum team 5-up in the first round of the Inverness Invitational Best-Ball tournament here today to take a surprising two-point lead in the unique competition.

Ben Hogan and Jim Demaret, who were prime favorites to take their fourth Inverness crown before play started today, carded a 3-up win over Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Big Jim Ferrier for second place with three points.

In the other two matches, beKnickered Bobby Locke and Ed Furgol stayed in the running with a 2-up victory over Chick Harbert and Vic Ghezzi.

GLEN EAGLES, Scoutland, June 26 (U.P.) Fred Daly, the British Open champion who defends his title at Muirfield next week, won the Penfold 1,000—guineas ($4,200) Professional Golf tournament today with a 72-hole total of 273.

Seixas Leads NCAA Singles Tennis Championships

LOS ANGELES, June 26 (U.P.) Top-seeded Victor Seixas of North Carolina today led three other contenders into the semi-final round of the NCAA singles Tennis championships.

Seixas was not forced to his best game in defeating sixth-seeded Fred Kovaleski of William and Mary, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. Only once, in the third set, was Seixas' service broken.

James Brink of Washington, seeded No. 2, had more trouble downing Jim Evert of Notre Dame, 6-2, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1. After Evert took the third set, Brink came back with a smashing service to win as he pleased.

A mild upset was scored by Harry Likas of University of San Francisco who defeated Tulan's Jack Tuero, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. Likas, seeded fifth, took an early lead with his strong net game and won easily from his third-seeded opponent.

Herb Flam of UCLA completed the semi-final bracket by defeating Bernard Bartzen of William and Mary, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6. The match lasted more than two hours.

Seixas metts Flam in one semifinal match tomorrow while Brink tangles with Likas in the other.

One upset was recorded in quarter-final doubles play when Notre Dame's Evert brothers, Jim and Gerry, seeded sixth, eliminated the third-seeded team of Seixas and Clark Taylor of North Carolina, 6-3, 6-8, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

William and Mary and UCLA led the team standings at the end of the quarter-final round with four points each, followed by USC, Notre Dame, San Francisco and North Carolina, three each, and Tulane, two.

Robinson to Give up Welterweight Crown

CHICAGO, June 26 (U.P.) Ray "Sugar" Robinson, Welterweight Champion, announced tonight that he will give up his title after a last bout Monday night.

Robinson said that whatever the outcome of the twice-postponed match with Bernard Docusen of New Orleans he would yield the crown because the division's weight limits are "too tough" to make.

Robinson said that he would do his boxing in the middleweight division in the hopes of meeting Tony Zale, who recently re-acquired the middleweight crown by knocking out Rocky Graziano.

The welterweight limit is 147 pounds. Robinson made the limit for the fight before it was postponed for the first time. Before the second scheduled meeting, he didn't bother to weigh in.

Louis Downed in Third Round

NEW YORK, June 26 (U.P.) Although floored in the third round, Joe Louis kept his heavyweight championship for the 25th time tonight by coming back to knock out Jersey Joe Walcott at 2:56 of the 11th round before a crowd estimated at 45,000 in Yankee Stadium.

This knockout victory, avenged Walcott's surprisingly strong showing against the champion in their first bout last December 5 at Madison Square Garden, where Louis was floored twice and forced to be content with a split decision over the father of six children.

Louis was on the deck again tonight. In the third round Walcott landed a hard, looping right to the chin that dropped the champion for a count of one. Louis dropped to his hands and knees, but was up almost immediately.

Louis did not appear hurt by the knockdown, because he began pressing the challenger at once.

The knockout and the knockdown were the only highlights of a fight so dull and uninteresting the fans clamored for action in nearly every round, and Referee Fullam constantly urged Louis and Walcott to fight.

In the early going. Louis refused to stalk after his opponent with the same persistence that featured his victories of former years. Now and then the champion would stand motionless in mid-ring and sneer at his back-pedalling, side-stepping opponet as if daring him to make a fight of it.

Until the knockout they had loitered about the ring on fairly even terms. The United Press score sheet had voted four rounds for each and two even.

Despite perfect fight weather, the crowd came slowly into Yankee Stadium tonight for the title bout between Louis and Walcott.

Apparently the fans, disappointed by two postponements, were waiting until the last minute to make certain that the scheduled 15-round fight would go on.

Most of them seemingly had not heard the late forecast of clear weather.

When Louis arrived at the Stadium at 8 p.m., the bleachers were less than half filled, and there were fewer than 15,000 in the huge green horseshoe of stands and in the vast spread of field seats.

Walcott entered his dressing room at 8:05 P.M.

There was a smirk on Walcott's face as he came out for the third round. Louis was short with a left to the stomach and Walcott was off with a left to the head Walcott missed another left by inches. Louis was trying to get Walcott to lead but Jersey Joe would have none of it and kept waltzing away weaving and bobbing. Louis missed a hard right to Walcott's chin, the first real hard punch thrown in the fight. A Louis right grazed Walcott's chin as Jersey Joe was backing away. Walcott took another Louis right on his gloves. There had not been a single clinch up to this. A terrific right to the jaw floored Louis but he was up before there was a count.

Bergelin Beats Parker In Wimbledon Tourney

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 6 (U.P.) Lennart Bergelin, 23-year-old Swedish Davis cupper, scored a smashing upset to eliminate top-seeded Frankie Parker of Los Angeles today in the fourth round of the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament.

Parker went into the Tourney a heavy favorite to walk off with the championship, but he was battered down by the unseeded Bergelin, 5-7, 7-5, 9-7, 10-8.

Bergelin, who was eliminated in the second round of the Wimbledon tourney last year, did something in the hotly contested match that few fans thought he could do—he out-steadied and out-lasted Parker in an extended duel.

Tom Brown, 25-year-old from San Francisco moved into the quarterfinals today. He defeated Dilip Rose, an Indian Davis cupper, 4-6, 8-6, -4, 6-4.

Mrs. Margaget Osborne DuPont of Bellevue, Del., top seeded and the defending champion, kept the Stars and Stripes flying high in the women's singles when she scored a third round victory over Mrs. G. Blaisse-Terwindt of the Netherlands, 6-2, 6-2.

However, a fellow Yank, Barbara Scofield of San Francisco, was eliminated in the same round. She lost to Jean Curry of Britain, 7-5, 6-4.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 (U.P.) Nine Hawaiian swimming stars arrived here by Pan-American Clipper this morning from Honolulu and will head tonight for Detroit where they will prepare for the U.S. Olympic tryouts July 8-11.

In charge of the group was famed swimming Coach Soichi Sakomoto, who predicted that at least one of his stars—Bill Smith, former Ohio State sensation—should make the American squad.

"I won't make any other predictions about how many members of my team will make the grade, but I'm counting on Bill Smith," he said.

Come September, and local football season, Island sport fans will be amazed at the amount of that activity to be promoted among all branches of the service. Tentative plans call for a total of 14 teams in the MarBo 2nd annual Sweat Bowl football league. That will necessitate a schedule of 91 games, at the rate of seven games each week....That's a lot of morale in any league!

Upon completion of league play, all teams will compete in the 2nd annual jamboree early in December. Upward of 400 fully equipped players will flood the sidelines, awaiting their turn to play a fifteen minute period. The last game of the local football season will be played New Year's Day, between the champion military team representing Okinawa, and the champion team in the MarBo Sweat Bowl league.

Army officials were as jubilant as the Navy men when they heard the news of Johnny Kamber's boxing victories in the Navy tournament conducted stateside. The likeable Kamber, a modest and rugged featherweight, will compete in the Boston tournament for the purpose of battling for a berth on Uncle Sam's Olympic team. The Boston tourney will have amateur boxers from all branches of the military service—from all parts of the world where U. S. personnel are stationed, and those representatives will be the survivors of thousands of other boxers who were eliminated in hundreds of local, sectional and area tournaments. Also, amateur civilian representatives, who survived the hundreds of local and major area Golden Gloves tournaments will be in the thick of the battle for U. S. Olympic team honors. Should Kamber make the grade in the Bean Town slugfest, he'll have the opportunity to travel to London for the International competition.

Eddie Johnston, an Army featherweight from the Philippines who lost a unanimous decision to George Crump last January in Honolulu, turned the tables on Crump in Japan several months ago by taking a split decision. Johnston won the championship in the Air Force and Army tournament which was held earlier this month, and Johnston, like Kamber, will compete in Boston.

Baseball War Brewing

NEW YORK, (U.P.) An odd baseball "war' was brewing today featuring pretty girls and the gay white lights of old Broadway.

The pretty girls, as it happens, are ball players. None of Commissioner Happy Chandler's charges is involved, for this is a threatened war between two girl's baseball leagues.

It seems there is a highly successful powder-puff league operating around Chicago which has a corner on beauty as well as talent. There aren't many girls who have mastered "hard ball" and players are scarce.

A New York promoter, starting a rival league to open next year, hopes to use the bright lights of the big town to lure some of the lassies away from the Chicago outfit run by Max Carey, former major league manager.

"Carey's circuit is a major league but most of the towns in it are fairly small." said President Lou Haneles of the new national girls baseball league. "Quite a few of them out there have said they'd like to come to New York.

"What pretty girl wouldn't?"

Haneles added, however, he wouldn't let their interests in New York lead to any contract jumping.

"We won't try to sign any player who has a contract," he said. "Someday we'll be having a regular world series with Carey's league and we hope to keep relations as friendly as possible."

Four New York teams, in four different boroughs, already are entered and applications, he said, have been received from Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, Newark, Baltimore and as far away as Montreal.

The Bronx entry will be managed by Dick Rudolph, one time pitcher for the Boston Braves, who won a pair of 1914 world series victories over the Athletics.

"A television station already is interested in putting our games on the air," Haneles said. "It, srould be ideal for television. The gals are pretty and they really can play ball. Futhermore, they get the game over within an hour and a half or better.

"None of that three hour stuff like they have in Brooklyn."

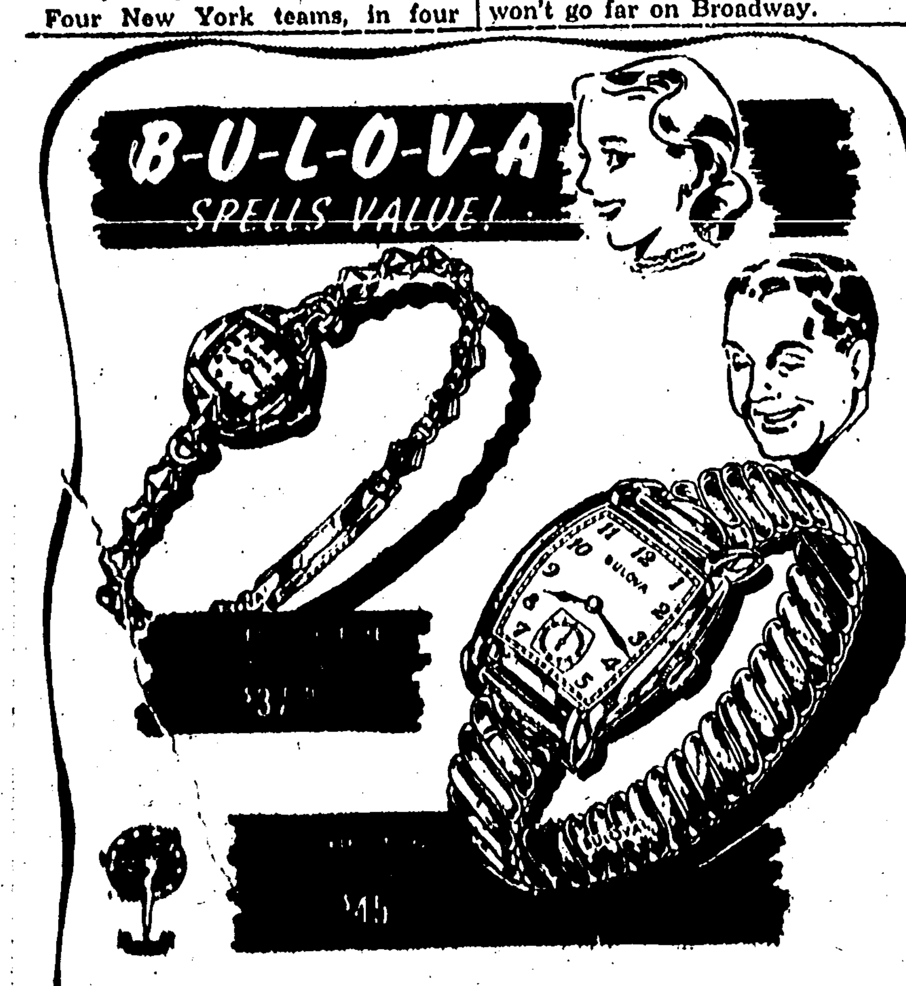
The uniform includes an abbreviated satin dress, something like a tennis or skating costume, with regular baseball gloves masks, shinguards and chest protectors employed as the position demands.

"We're sending out a call for players to attend a school," Haneles said. "Only good softball players will be considered. We will have them ready to open our first season on May 1, next year."

The plan is a 130 game schedule, all night games with the exception of Sunday.

The gals will get "$55 to $100 a week' unless Haneles and his club owners are forced to up the ante to get players.

A hundred bucks, incidentally, won't go far on Broadway.



For Sale at Better Stores on Guam

LONDON, June 26 (U.P.) Lord Burghley, chairman of the Olympic committee, announced today that the total of nations competing in the summer games has risen to 61 with the receipt of a late entry from British Guiana.

NEW YORK (U.P.) Only three of the Brooklyn Dodgers' 27 farm teams were lower in their respective league standings on June 6 than Manager Leo Durocher's club, which was in sixth place in the National league. Only Lancaster, Pa., in the Inter-State league, Abilene, Tex., of the West Texas-New Mexico league, and Cambridge, Mass., of the Eastern Shore loop were farther down the scale than the Dodgers. Eight of the farm teams were in first place.

OCEANPORT, N. J. (U.P.) Lloyd Murray has moved 12 of his race horses, including Balanced, and A. J. East has shipped nine thoroughbreds, headed by High Trend, to Monmouth Park for the June 21-Aug. 7 meeting at the Seaside track.

ATLANTA (U.P.) Wilfred Crossley will defend his U. S. Golf Association Public Links title this year as a resident of New York rather than Atlanta which he represented when he won the event last year. The 1948 championship will be played at Atlanta's North Fulton Park course the week of July 19 with the team competition scheduled July 17.

CHICAGO, (U.P.) Jimmy Fox, the Philadelphia Athletics' great long ball hitter of the late 20's and early 30's is the only right-handed batter ever to hit home runs completely over the left field stands at Comiskey Park. He accomplished the feat at least four times. Fox also is credited with the longest ball ever hit at Comiskey—a drive which cleared the left field stands and landed in a playground north of the park.

NEW YORK (U.P.) Dick Wagner, the Portland, Ore., boxer who helped Rocky Graziano taper off for his middleweight title bout with Tony Zale, will fight Tom McKeagney of Boston in a return bout at Fort Hamilton Thursday night. The two battled to a draw in the Brooklyn ring on May 15. Graziano's trainer, Whitey Bimstein, also conditions Wagner.

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 (U.P.) Jim Goodwin, 21-year-old southpaw pitcher, was returned to the Chicago White Sox today by the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league.

The American league team said he will be sent to the Memphis Chicks in the Southern Association.

Yankees, Tigers Keeping Close Tab on Two Rookies

NEW YORK, (U.P.) The New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers were keeping a close watch today on a pair of "can't miss kids" who are learning the ropes in the minor leagues.

Bucky Harris of the Yankees is all hepped up about young Bob Porterfield, a right-handed pitcher who won his first game on the Yankees farm at Newark.

Steve O'Neil of the Tigers is charting the progress of Johnny Groth, 21-year-old outfielder at Buffalo. He likes what it says on the chart.

Both youngsters seem destined for major league stardom but both managers hope they won't be forced to rush them prematurely this season. The kids need the experience they can get in the International leagne.

In the early afternoon. before the ball park's begin to fill, most managers in the majors like to talk about the future—or past—as they relax in the dugout before the urgent business of winning the game of the day.

They're all intriged by tales of colorful players long departed from the scene and of the ki dswho'll be the stars of tomorrow.

Several Newark writers make the Yankee Stadium their regular beat and Harris has a typical greeting for each:

"How's that Porterfield? Still hot?"

The answer is always. "Yes."

Porterfield, 24 and a former paratrooper, pitched a few gamesin service overseas but was put to work as a catcher when he came out and joined his home town club at Radford Va. He asked to pitch one day when the club ran short of flingers and promptly turned in a pair of no-hitters which led to his purchase by Norfolk that same season ('46.) He won 19 and lost 9 at Norfolk the following year. Jumping to Newark this spring.

They knew about Porterfield in the Tiger dugout, too. Manager Paul Richards of Buffalo, a Tiger farm was there on a pregame visit.

"Porterfield? He's got plenty of savvy. He comes in there in the clutch throwing balls with plenty of big time stuff."

O'Neil checked Richards closely on the progress of Groth.

"I hope we don't bring him up this year," O'Neil said later. "When he does get here he'll be up a long time."

Groth, he said, has tremendous speed, a fine arm and can lace a fast pitch "out of sight."

But Richards countered with an anecdote or two indicating young Johnny has a bit to go before he can belt a curve ball or change of pace.

"Sometimes," says Richards, "I believe he thinks there's a law against pitchers throwing anything but fast balls."

"Don't worry" O'Neil coun[illegible] "He'll learn. He'll be a great s'ar."

NEW YORK, June 26 (U.P.) Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today called off a planned fishing trip and visited Peck Memorial hospital, near Ebbets Field, for a physical check-up when he ran a slight fever.

Rickey is 64 years old.

Seixas Leads NCAA Singles Tennis Championships

LOS ANGELES, June 26 (U.P) Top-seeded Victor Seixas of North Carolina today led three other contenders into the semi-final round of the NCAA singles Tennis championships.

Seixas was not forced to his best game in defeating sixth-seeded Fred Kovaleski of William and Mary, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. Only once, in the third set, was Seixas' service broken.

James Brink of Washington, seeded No. 2, had more trouble downing Jim Evert of Notre Dame, 6-2, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1. After Evert took the third set, Brink came back with a smashing service to win as he pleased.

A mild upset was scored by Harry Likas of University of San Francisco who defeated Tulan's Jack Tuero, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. Likas, seeded fifth, took an early lead with his strong net game and won easily from his third-seeded opponent.

Herb Flam of UCLA completed the semi-final bracket by defeating Bernard Bartzen of William and Mary, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6. The match lasted more than two hours.

Seixas metts Flam in one semi-final match tomorrow while Brink tangles with Likas in the other.

One upset was recorded in quarter-final doubles play when Notre Dame's Evert brothers, Jim and Gerry, seeded sixth, eliminated the third-seeded team of Seixas and Clark Taylor of North Carolina, 6-3, 6-8, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

William and Mary and UCLA led the team standings at the end of the quarter-final round with four points each, followed by USC, Notre Dame, San Francisco and North Carolina, three each, and Tulane, two.

Robinson to Give up Welterweight Crown

CHICAGO, June 26 (U.P) Ray "Sugar" Robinson, Welterweight Champion, announced tonight that he will give up his title after a last bout Monday night.

Robinson said that whatever the outcome of the twice-postponed match with Bernard Docusen of New Orleans he would yield the crown because the division's weight limits are "too tough" to make.

Robinson said that he would do his boxing in the middleweight division in the hopes of meeting Tony Zale, who recently re-acquired the middleweight crown by knocking out Rocky Graziano.

The welterweight limit is 147 pounds. Robinson made the limit for the fight before it was postponed for the first time. Before the second scheduled meeting, he didn't bother to weigh in.

Louis Downed in Third Round

NEW YORK, June 26 (U.P) Although floored in the third round, Joe Louis kept his heavyweight championship for the 25th time tonight by coming back to knock out Jersey Joe Walcott at 2:58 of the 11th round before a crowd estimated at 45,000 in Yankee Stadium.

This knockout victory, avenged Walcott's surprisingly strong showing against the champion in their first bout last December 5 at Madison Square Garden, where Louis was floored twice and forced to be content with a split decision over the father of six children.

Louis was on the deck again tonight. In the third round Walcott landed a hard, looping right to the chin that dropped the champion for a count of one. Louis dropped to his hands and knees, but was up almost immediately.

Louis did not appear hurt by the knockdown, because he began pressing the challenger at once.

The knockout and the knockdown were the only highlights of a fight so dull and uninteresting the fans clamored for action in nearly every round, and Referee Fullam constantly urged Louis and Walcott to fight.

In the early going, Louis refused to stalk after his opponent with the same persistence that featured his victories of former years. Now and then the champion would stand motionless in mid-ring and sneer at his back-pedalling, side-stepping opponent as if daring him to make a fight of it.

Until the knockout they had loitered about the ring on fairly even terms. The United Press score sheet had voted four rounds for each and two even.

Despite perfect fight weather, the crowd came slowly into Yankee Stadium tonight for the title bout between Louis and Walcott.

Apparently the fans, disappointed by two postponements, were waiting until the last minute to make certain that the scheduled 15-round fight would go on.

Most of them seemingly had not heard the late forecast of clear weather.

When Louis arrived at the Stadium at 8 p.m., the bleachers were less than half filled, and there were fewer than 15,000 in the huge green horseshoe of stands and in the vast spread of field seats.

Walcott entered his dressing room at 8:05 P.M.

There was a smirk on Walcott's face as he came out for the third round. Louis was short with a left to the stomach and Walcott was off with a 'eft to the head Walcott missed another left by inches. Louis was trying to get Walcott to lead but Jersey Joe would have none of it and kept waltzing away weaving and bobbing. Louis missed a hard right to Walcott's chin, the first real hard punch thrown in the fight. As Louis' right grazed Walcott's chin as Jersey Joe was backing away. Walcott took another Louis right on his gloves. There had not been a single clinch up to this. A terrific right to the jaw floored Louis but he was up before there was a count.

Bergelin Beats Parker In Wimbledon Tourney

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 6 (U.P) Lennart Bergelin, 23-year-old Swedish Davis cupper, scored a smashing upset to eliminate top-seeded Frankie Parker of Los Angeles today in the fourth round of the Wimbledon Tennis Tournament.

Parker went into the Tourney a heavy favorite to walk off with the championship, but he was battered down by the unseeded Bergelin, 5-7, 7-5, 9-7, 10-8.

Bergelin, who was eliminated in the second round of the Wimbledon tourney last year, did something in the hotly contested match that few fans thought he could do—he out-steadied and out-lasted Parker in an extended duel.

Tom Brown, 25-year-old from San Francisco moved into the quarterfinals today. He defeated Dilip Rose, an Indian Davis cupper, 4-6, 8-6, -4, 6-4.

Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont of Bellevue, Del., top seeded and the defending champion, kept the Stars and Stripes flying high in the women's singles when she scored a third round victory over Mrs. G. Blaisse-Terwindt of the Netherlands, 6-2, 6-2.

However, a fellow Yank, Barbara Scofield of San Francisco, was eliminated in the same round. She lost to Jean Curry of Britain, 7-5, 6-4.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 (U.P) Nine Hawaiian swimming stars arrived here by Pan-American Clipper this morning from Honolulu and will head tonight for Detroit where they will prepare for the U.S. Olympic tryouts July 8-11.

In charge of the group was famed swimming Coach Soichi Sakomoto, who predicted that at least one of his stars—Bill Smith, former Ohio State sensation—should make the American squad.

"I won't make any other predictions about how many members of my team will make the grade, but I'm counting on Bill Smith," he said.

Come September, and local football season, Island sport fans will be amazed at the amount of that activity to be promoted among all branches of the service. Tentative plans call for a total of 14 teams in the MarBo 2nd annual Sweat Bowl football league. That will necessitate a schedule of 91 games, at the rate of seven games each week....That is a lot of morale in any league!

Upon completion of league play, all teams will compete in the 2nd annual jamboree early in December. Upward of 400 fully equipped players will flood the sidelines, awaiting their turn to play a fifteen minute period. The last game of the local football season will be played New Year's Day, between the champion military team representing Okinawa, and the champion team in the MarBo Sweat Bowl league.

Army officials were as jubilant as the Navy men when they heard the news of Johnny Kamber's boxing victories in the Navy tournament conducted stateside. The likeable Kamber, a modest and rugged featherweight, will compete in the Boston tournament for the purpose of battling for a berth on Unc'e Sam's Olympic team. The Boston tourney will have amateur boxers from all branches of the military service—from all parts of the world where U. S. personnel are stationed, and those representatives will be the survivors of thousands of other boxers who were eliminated in hundreds of local, sectional and area tournaments. Also, amateur civilian representatives, who survived the hundreds of local and major area Golden Gloves tournaments will be in the thick of the battle for U. S. Olympic team honors. Should Kamber make the grade in the Bean Town slugfest, he'll have the opportunity to travel to London for the International competition.

Eddie Johnston, an Army featherweight from the Philippines who lost a unanimous decision to George Crump last January in Honolulu, turned the tables on Crump in Japan several months ago by taking a split decision. Johnston won the championship in the Air Force and Army tournament which was held earlier this month, and Johnston, like Kamber, will compete in Boston.

Baseball War Brewing

NEW YORK, (U.P) An odd baseball "war' was brewing today featuring pretty girls and the gay white lights of old Broadway.

The pretty girls, as it happens, are ball players. None of Commissioner Happy Chandler's charges is involved, for this is a threatened war between two girl's baseball leagues.

It seems there is a highly successful powder-puff league operating around Chicago which has a corner on beauty as well as talent. There aren't many girls who have mastered "hard ball" and players are scarce.

A New York promoter, starting a rival league to open next year, hopes to use the bright lights of the big town to lure some of the lassies away from the Chicago outfit run by Max Carey, former major league manager.

"Carey's circuit is a major league but most of the towns in it are fairly small," said President Lou Haneles of the new national girls baseball league. "Quite a few of them out there have said they'd like to come to New York.

"What pretty girl wouldn't?"

Haneles added, however, he wouldn't let their interests in New York lead to any contract jumping.

"We won't try to sign any player who has a contract," he said. "Someday we'll be having a regular world series with Carey's league and we hope to keep relations as friendly as possible."

Four New York teams, in four different boroughs, already are entered and applications, he said, have been received from Philadelphia, Boston, Washington, Newark, Baltimore and as far away as Montreal.

The Bronx entry will be managed by Dick Rudolph, one time pitcher for the Boston Braves, who won a pair of 1914 world series victories over the Athletics.

"A television station already is interested in putting our games on the air," Haneles said. "It would be ideal for television. The gals are pretty and they really can play ball. Futhermore, they get the game over within an hour and a half or better.

"None of that three hour stuff like they have in Brooklyn."

The uniform includes an abbreviated satin dress, something like a tennis or skating costume, with regular baseball gloves masks, shinguards and chest protectors employed as the position demands.

"We're sending out a call for players to attend a school," Haneles said. "Only good softball players will be considered. We will have them ready to open our first season on May 1, next year."

The plan is a 130 game schedule, all night games with the exception of Sunday.

The gals will get "$55 to $100 a week' unless Haneles and his club owners are forced to up the ante to get players.

A hundred bucks, incidentally, won't go far on Broadway.

NEW YORK (U.P) Only three of the Brooklyn Dodgers' 27 farm teams were lower in their respective league standings on June 6 than Manager Leo Durocher's club, which was in sixth place in the National league. Only Lancaster, Pa., in the Inter-State league, Abilene, Tex., of the West Texas-New Mexico league, and Cambridge, Mass., of the Eastern Shore loop were farther down the scale than the Dodgers. Eight of the farm teams were in first place.

OCEANPORT, N. J. (U.P) Lloyd Murray has moved 12 of his race horses, including Balanced, and A. J. East has shipped nine thoroughbreds, headed by High Trend, to Monmouth Park for the June 21-Aug. 7 meeting at the Seaside track.

ATLANTA (U.P) Wilfred Crossley will defend his U. S. Golf Association Public Links title this year as a resident of New York rather than Atlanta which he represented when he won the event last year. The 1948 championship will be played at Atlanta's North Fulton Park course the week of July 19 with the team competition scheduled July 17.

CHICAGO, (U.P) Jimmy Fox, the Philadelphia Athletics' great long ball hitter of the late 20's and early 30's is the only right-handed batter ever to hit home runs completely over the left field stands at Comiskey Park. He accomplished the feat at least four times. Fox also is credited with the longest ball ever hit at Comiskey—a drive which cleared the left field stands and landed in a playground north of the park.

NEW YORK (U.P) Dick Wagner, the Portland, Ore., boxer who helped Rocky Graziano taper off for his middleweight title bout with Tony Zale, will fight Tom McKeagney of Boston in a return bout at Fort Hamilton Thursday night. The two battled to a draw in the Brooklyn ring on May 15. Graziano's trainer, Whitey Bimstein, also conditions Wagner.

HOLLYWOOD, June 26 (U.P) Jim Goodwin, 21-year-old southpaw pitcher, was returned to the Chicago White Sox today by the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league.

The American league team said he will be sent to the Memphis Chicks in the Southern Association.

Yankees, Tigers Keeping Close Tab on Two Rookies

NEW YORK, (U.P) The New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers were keeping a close watch today on a pair of "can't miss kids" who are learning the ropes in the minor leagues.

Bucky Harris of the Yankees is all hepped up about young Bob Porterfield, a right-handed pitcher who won his first game on the Yankees farm at Newark.

Steve O'Neil of the Tigers is charting the progress of Johnny Groth, 21-year-old outfielder at Buffalo. He likes what it says on the chart.

Both youngsters seem destined for major league stardom but both managers hope they won't be forced to rush them prematurely this season. The kids need the experience they can get in the International league.

In the early afternoon, before the ball park's begin to fill, most managers in the majors like to talk about the future—or past—as they relax in the dugout before the urgent business of winning the game of the day.

They're all intriged by tales of colorful players long departed from the scene and of the ki dswho'll be the stars of tomorrow.

Several Newark writers make the Yankee Stadium their regular beat and Harris has a typical greeting for each:

"How's that Porterfield? Still hot?"

The answer is always, "Yes."

Porterfield, 24 and a former paratrooper, pitched a few gamesin service overseas but was put to work as a catcher when he came out and joined his home town club at Radford Va. He asked to pitch one day when the club ran short of flingers and promptly turned in a pair of no-hitters which led to his purchase by Norfolk that same season (46.) He won 19 and lost 9 at Norfolk the following year. Jumping to Newark this spring.

They knew about Porterfield in the Tiger dugout, too. Manager Paul Richards of Buffalo, a Tiger farm was there on a pregame visit.

"Porterfield? He's got plenty of savvy. He comes in there in the clutch throwing balls with plenty of big time stuff."

O'Neil checked Richards closely on the progress of Groth.

"I hope we don't bring him up this year," O'Neil said later. "When he does get here he'll be up a long time."

Groth, he said, has tremendous speed, a fine arm and can lace a fast pitch "out of sight."

But Richards countered with an anecdote or two indicating young Johnny has a bit to go before he can belt a curve ball or change of pace.

"Sometimes," says Richards, "I believe he thinks there's a law against pitchers throwing anything but fast balls."

"Don't worry" O'Neil countered. "He'll learn. He'll be a great star."

NEW YORK, June 26 (U.P) Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, today called off a planned fishing trip and visited Peck Memorial hospital, near Ebbets Field, for a physical check-up when he ran a slight fever.

Rickey is 64 years old.

'Grave and Explosive' Situation in Berlin

U.S., Britain And France Conferring

WASHINGTON, June 28 (U.P.) The American attitude toward Soviet efforts to isolate Berlin is under top-level review, authoritative sources disclosed today.

Authorities said the situation is "explosive, serious and grave" but they doubted that the Russians are prepared to use force.

Informants could not say whether the important policy review under way would result in any new measures to strengthen the position of American military forces in Berlin.

BRITISH DEFY SIEGE

LONDON, June 28 (U.P.) The British intend to stay in Berlin despite a "ruthless attempt by the Soviet government to create a state of siege," the Foreign Office said in a formal statement today.

Britain, France and the United States were consulting on firm joint action to offset the attempt to drive them from Berlin. Talks were going on in Berlin, London and Washington.

Most British newspapers urged the government to take a resolute line with the Soviets. The Daily Maily speculated whether the time had come to apply economic sanctions by cutting off trade with Russia.

"Before our eyes the steps that led to war in 1939 are being repeated," the Daily Mail said.

Ambassador Leaving

A Foreign Office spokesman confirmed that Sir Maurice Peterson, British Ambassador to Moscow, will leave the Soviet capital soon, probably this week, for a London leave.

If it is decided to send a protest note to Russia, diplomatic quarters here said they believe it would have to be worded sharply to be effective.

The Observer, one of the best-informed and most influential of London's Sunday newspapers, said in an editorial that the three Western Powers should call Moscow's bluff and send the Soviets an ultimatum.

"It is our side, not Russia, which holds atomic and post-atomic weapons, and could, if sufficently provoked, literally wipe Russia's power and threat to the world peace from the face of the earth," the Observer said.

Slavs And Reds Affairs Tangled

ATHENS, June 28 (U.P.) There are reports that all is not well in Yugoslavia's relations with Russia. The word comes from informed diplomatic circles in Europe that are in close touch with Balkan developments.

These quarters say there are signs of a lack of diplomatic coordination between Yugoslavia, on one hand, and Russia and her other Balkan satellites on the other. The friction is said to stem from both international conferences and day-to-day diplomatic work.

According to these sources, it became most conspicuous in the case of the Danube conference. They say Russian Foreign Minister Molotov failed to inform Marshall Tito that Belgrade was picked as a conference site. Tito is said to have objected to holding the conference in the Yugoslav capital because it came at about the same time as the Communist Party Congress there at the end of July.

On the other hand, the Russians are said to be annoyed at Tito for failing to provide adequate support to Greek guerrillas.

Troops Stand by to Break London Waterfront Strike

LONDON, June 28. (U.P.) Fifteen thousand British troops were reported standing by today to break the 14-day-old London waterfront strike, which Prime Minister Clement Attlee has branded as "Communist mischief."

Military units were expected to begin moving strike-bound cargo tomorrow morning unless the 20,000 striking workers return to their jobs.

Union officials made final back-to-work appeals to the strikers during a mass meeting at the Surrey docks. The unauthorized walkout has threatened Britain's meager food supply. The chairman of the meeting said the resolution had been approved by a show of hands, but his ruling was hotly contested. Newsmen thought their vote was about equally divided.

At any rate the real showdown will come tomorrow morning. Unless enough dockers show up to unload or load 104 idle ships along the 63 miles of London docks, the government is prepared to send out thousands of soldiers, sailors and airmen to do the job.

Bathing Beauty to Compete Despite Excommunication

WHEELING, W. Va., June 27 (U.P.) Twenty-year-old Mariruth Ford tried on her conservative, one-piece white bathing suit today and reaffirmed her belief that there was nothing indecent about it. She still plans to compete with seven other girls Monday in a beauty contest in defiance of a threat of excommunication by her Roman Catholic Bishop.

Mariruth knows that Bishop John J. Swint, of Wheeling, has called the contest "immoral, indecent exposure and totally pagan" as well as being based on "nakedness."

No Reply From Pope

The Rev. Msgr. William G. Lee, vicar general of Bishop Swint's Diocese, said today that he has talked with Mariruth personally in an attempt to dissuade her from entering the "Miss Wheeling" contest. He said that he reminded her that she would face excommunication if she defied the church order, but that she has remained firm.

No reply has been received from Pope Pius XII, to whom the Moundsville Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of a state-wide beauty pageant, appealed yesterday. William J. B. Miller, director of public relations for the group, asked Pope Pius for an "expression of your opinion" on Bishop Swint's order.

The Executive Board, Guam Council, Boy Scouts of America, will meet Wednesday, June 30, at 7:30 p. m. at the Scout office in Sinajana, it was announced by Msgr. O. L. Calvo, Council President.

This is the regular, monthly business meeting of the board, and reports will be made of the financial condition of the Council, new and re-registering Scout units including the installation of the first senior Scout unit on Guam, and plans for a coordinated series of activites on a Council-wide basis for the last six months of the year.

U.S., Canada Plan System Of Defense

WASHINGTON, June 28 (U.P.) The chief of Canda's defense research will confer with American scientists here next week, and his visit puts a spotlight on the problem of a radar umbrella to protect the North American continent against Trans-Polar air attack.

Dr. Ormond McKillop Solandt, 38, Chairman of the Canadian Defense Research Board, is due tomorrow for a three-day visit. He will be the guest of Dr. Vannevar Bush, American Defense Research chief.

Bush has been given the job of working out plans for an air warning network to prevent a Pearl Harbor-type attack against such American cities as Chicago, New York, Detroit and Washington.

Defense experts say that any effective warning plan must have the cooperation of the Canadian government. Many posts must be placed on Canadian soil to make the system work properly.

A radar network for detecting enemy planes would cost an estimated $250,000,000 for equipment. About 25,000 men would be needed to run it.

Navy in Palestine

WASHINGTON, June 28 (U.P.) The Navy revealed tonight that 76 naval and Marine personnel, plus trucks and communications equipment, are now in the Palestine area.

These men and equipment are in addition to the three destroyers allocated from the U. S. Mediterranean fleet to patrol the Palestine coast for the United Nations truce mission.

The Navy disclosed that it has sent in 52 men with 23 mobile radio sets and 16 trucks from the Mediterranean fleet to operate communications for the truce mission.

Of these, 30 Marines were landed along with seven mobile radio sets and nine trucks from the amphibious cargo ship Marquette June 17. When that mission was announced last week, no figures were given for men and no mention made of trucks.

Pope Pius Given Gifts by Italians

ROME, Italy, June 28 (U.P.) Pope Pius XII today received a motorcycle, an electric cooking stove, an electric fan, and a section of zinc water pipe from 540 Catholic factory workers.

The group of workers came from the Falk and Marelli factories of Sesto San Giovanni, near Milan, which is known as "Little Stalingrad." They came on a special pilgrimage to see the Pontiff and present him with products of their labor.

The Pope received the workers in Clementine Hall, where the offerings were presented to him. The pontiff told the workers to "Remember to be good Catholics. Your watchword must be 'courage and readiness with weapons of faith and love.' You will wage not only a defensive but an offensive battle."

P.M. Remains in Office

TOKYO, June 28 (U.P.) Prime Minister Hitoshi Ashida has decided not to quit his post and he will attempt to continue in office at least until September, well informed Japanese sources said today.

They said Ashida had planned to submit the resignation of his four-month-old "middle of the road" cabinet late this month or early in July because of the difficulty he has encountered in trying to secure passage of the 1948-49 budget. That, and the so-called scandal involving his Deputy Prime Minister, Suehiro Nishio, were said to have promoted his first decision to resign.

Food to be Rationed In Berlin

BERLIN, June 28 (U.P.) Allied authorities clamped down emergency rationing controls in Western Berlin today to fight Russia's "Cold" siege of the Capital.

Fleets of American, British and French Air Force planes prepared to start a mass aerial supply service tomorrow to bring the most essential supplies to the 2,500,000 Germans in their sectors whom the Russians threaten to starve.

All American personnel in the city were put on a voluntary rationing basis.

In both American and British sectors all but the most essential official entertainment involving use of food was banned.

British authorities forbade movie matinees for their personnel and restricted use of power for heating and light.

The United States Air Force alone prepared to fly 100 big planes tomorrow from the Frankfurt area to the city to bring in supplies. The British were expected to fly in another 100 planes and the French perhaps up to 50.

Russia's blockade of the city, an attempt to force the Western Allies to leave it, showed no signs of abatement.

Blockade Continues

American authorities on the border of the Russian and Western zones reported Friday that they had been notified the Russian ban on railroad and automobile traffic to Berlin would be lifted tomorrow. Allied authorities here believed that the notification was false, possibly due to a mistake by the Russians concerned.

American and British authorities believe orders for the siege came direct from Moscow.

The belief is strong that the Russians would back down if the Western Allies spoke strongly enough against what is called the Soviet employment of human hunger and misery as a weapon of political coercion.

Any person finding remnant ammunition, is warned not to handle the ammunition, but call immediately to Atlanta 2217, as there is danger of serious injury from unexpected explosions.

MacArthur Submits Occupation Budget

TOKYO, June 28 (U.P) Gen. Douglas MacArthur today submitted a top secret request for funds to operate U. S. military and occupation programs in the Far East, including Guam, during the fiscal year 1949-50. Observers here speculated that MacArthur's budget might total $2,500,000,000.

Couriers from the 17th Air Force and the Civil Affairs department left for Washington with budget estimates. In addition to routine expenses, funds were requested to cover economic rehabilitation of Japan and Korea, and military building in Guam and the Philippines.

Separate appropriations are being sought for Army and Air Force installations in Japan, Korea, the Ryukyus, the Philippines, Marianas and other outpost areas in the Western Pacific.

U. S. military forces in China are not commanded by MacArthur.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., June 28 (U.P.) Egypt has refused to back down on its ban on Jewish food convoys despite the charge by the United Nations mediator that its stand violated the Holy Land armistice, it was announced today.

Army Secretary Unfolds Plans for 18 Fully-Equipped Divisions

NORFOLK, Va., June 28 (U.P.) Army Secretary Kenneth Royall today unfolded his mobilization blueprint for 18 fu'l divisions. But he said he hopes world conditions will soon permit "a substantial reduction" in America's armed strength.

The 18 divisions represent "the bare minimum needed during the present unsettled world conditions," he told graduates of the Armed Forces Staff College.

The units, to be trained and equipped as rapidly as possible, include:

Two've regular Army divisions at full strength—which would double the United States' present mobile force.

Six National Guard Divisions, brought to "full strength and efficiency."

Combat units for corps and armies.

Forty anti-aircraft battalions.

Six of the regular Army divisions, Royall said, will be maintained in the United States. One will be the famed 82nd Airborne at Fort Bragg, N. C., which the Secretary labeled "the only domestic division now anywhere near full strength."

Others will include the Second Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Wash., and the Second Armored at Camp Hood, Tex., which Royall said were at about one-third strength now.

Mail Room Opened

HQ 20TH AIR FORCE Fomal opening of the new quarters of the Headquarters & Headquarters squadron mail room took place recently.

The former quonset that used to house the squadron's day room has been completely changed inside through the labor and efforts of S/Sgt. Alvin R. Witt, Sgt. George M. Flannery and Pfc. Max L. Baker. The new quarters for the mail room has several advantages in comparison with the old mail room. It has a full length concrete floor; as opposed to the old wooden flooring in the former building. This will help against the war on rats that continually went on in the other building.

First Draftees to Be Called Aug. 16

WASHINGTON, June 28, (U.P) The first registration under the new peacetime draft will be on Aug. 16, National Defense Officials said today.

The delay is necessary, they said, in order to give the proposed 4,000 draft boards throughout the nation a chance to get organized.

These officials estimated that by Aug. 30 the first questionnaires will be in the mail to draft-eligible men in the 19-through-25 age group. After they are classified, the oldest of the 1-A's will be called up first. Barring an emergency, however, nobody will be inducted before Sept. 22.

"New Look" Okay; Short Hair, Tabu

HOLLYWOOD —(U.P.)— Nobody squawked when the movie queens went overboard for the "new look" (except maybe the local wolves), but the studios say they'll be darned if they'll let their top stars go for those new short hair-cuts.

The gals have to sneak off on their own time to get their locks clipped.

And the gent most of 'em sneak to is Delgard, a fast man with the shears for Charles of the Ritz. He invented the "California Casual" and as far as he's concerned, anybody with long, flowing tresses is dead these days.

Hollywood producers and directors don't see it that way. Shoulder-length curls are sexy, they say. They photograph better. And they make any gal look younger—especially if she's getting to that "crepey-throat" stage

This to-cut-or-not-to-cut feud has been going on for months now. Delgard's in there trying to make the stars look fashionable. And the studio bosses are on the other side, fighting for the "boudoir length" in wigs.

"A lot of the girls come in here anyway," the elegant, gray-haired barber said. "I take it off an inch at a time. So far, their directors haven't noticed."

But a weekly trim isn't something you can get away with forever. Some day somebody's bound to take a good look and notice a gal's ears are showing.

When they do, Delgard hopes, they'll like it so well they'll let 'em keep it short.

Rats Won't Cooperate in North Field Rat Drive

NORTH GUAM AIR FORCE BASE COMMAND—Rats, rats and more rats until a person is ready to give up. That is the opinion of Captain Faye W. Hilbert of North Field.

As Capt. Hilbert is public information officer and as he is very conscientious about doing his duty he decided that more information should be published on rats and their little-friends, those devil-may-care mice.

So Capt. Hilbert wrote an article with but one purpose in mind and that was to get every one active in the campaign against the dirty rats. Heeding his advice he picked up four rat traps and a gallon of poisoned oats.

Setting the traps and distributing the oats in strategic locations the war began in earnest.

The rats and mice, seeing the article in the paper, by methods best known to them, decided to pay the author a visit and get even. To date they are winning the war, but it isn't over yet.

So sneaking into Capt. Hilbert's room in the dead of night the rats and mice ate the oats and the bait from the traps and left. No casualties.

So new methods were devised but still did little good. The oats were untouched but one rat got his, in a trap.

Then with one more casualty the rats and mice seemed to get wise and it seems that new and more effective methods are going to have to be put into use.

Especially for the little mouse, who is too small to get caught in the trap.

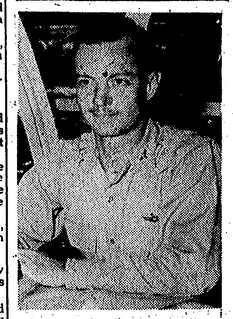
Ten Billions For Armed Forces Gets Truman OK.

WASHINGTON, (U.P) President Truman today signed two bills providing $10,455,558,413 for the Army, Navy and Air Force to defend the United States duing the 1949 fiscal year.

The Army Air Force appropriation totaled $6,705,418,163. The Navy was given $3,750,170,250 to run the world's biggest fleet.



NORTH GUAM AFB—Recently appointed as deputy group commander of the 19th Bomb Group, Lt. Colonel Warren M. Miller is shown getting acquainted with the problems associated with a large bombing operation.

HARMON—A new technical school for mess stewards at Kelo University in Hiyosho, Japan, has been opened by the Far East Air Forces command, it was announced by the Marama assignment section today. Although not difinitely set as yet Marama's quota should be two men a month.

Final Homage For Four Brothers

GARLAND, Utah (U.P) They paid final homage to the four Borgstrom brothers—together in peace, apart in war and together again in death.

Gen. Mark Clark, war-time American Commander in Italy and now head of the Sixth Army, led the solemn rites in a tiny Mormon Chapel in this farming community 80 miles north of Salt Lake City.

Clark said he was speaking for the country in extending condolences to Mr. and Mrs. Alben Borgstrom for their "great loss." Clark pointed out that only one other family made a greater sacrifice in world war II—that of the five Sullivan brothers who went down on the same ship.

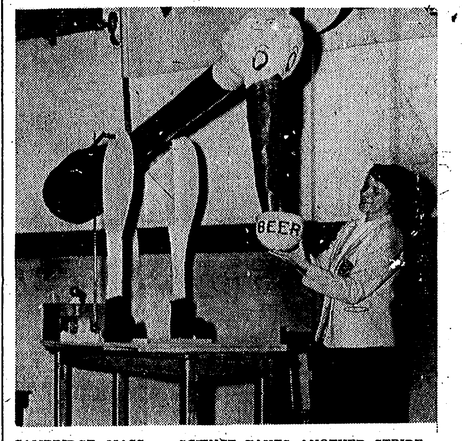
The General spoke from a dias above four polished military caskets those of;

Marine Pfc. Clyde E. Borgstrom, killed in action on Guadalcanal in March 1944.

Army Pvt. Elmer Borgstrom, killed in action in Italy in June, 1944.

Air Force Sgt. Rolon Borgstrom, killed over Germany in early August 1944.

Army Pfc. Rulon J. Borgstrom—Rolon's twin brother—killed in action in France in late August, 1944.



CAMBRIDGE, MASS. — SCIENCE TAKES ANOTHER STRIDE — Offered by a group of students at Massachusett Institute of Technology to display some of their more sober scientific achievements is this "dipsy duck." The "duck" is supposed to bob up and down and operate an electric generator when given a drink. Purpose of which is to furnish electric power. But the students and "sceptical professors" soon discovered the bird didn't work like the store-window models.

Miss America Weds

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P) Barbara Jo Walker, 22-year-old shapely Sunday School teacher yielded her "Miss America" title to marry a handsome Missouri physician at a church wedding that rivaled a Hollywood premiere.

Brunette Barbara Jo, in a bridal gown of white everglaze cotton, turned her back to lucrative movie and stage careers to marry Dr. John Vernon Hummel, 24-year-old blond interne who promsied her a "quiet home life."

The lavish ceremony brought out the police and firemen to hold back the crowd seeking a glimpse of the wedding couple.

The Rev. Raymond W. Council, Pastor of Springdale Methodist Church united the couple in marriage before 2,000 invited guests who faced an altar that resembled a garden in appearance.

Cooperation Erases Fires

HARMON AIR FORCE BASE—The splendid cooperation of military and civilian personnel at Marama, 20th Air Force, and ATC has resulted in a two-month period during which there have been no fires on Harmon Field, it was announced today by Lt. Curtis Royal, Harmon Air Force Base Fire Marshall. This record is especially good in view of the dry weather experienced during portions of this period and the fact that the district engineer's Camp Edusa has been included in the area covered by the department.

Washington University Wins Poughkeepsie

POUGHKEEPSIE CHAMPS—The University of Washington varsity crew poses for a picture just before they shoved off for a workout two days before the 48th running of the famous Pougkeepsie Regatta. Washington nosed out California and Navy for the 1948 honors. Pictured L to R, they are: Ed Hearing, bow; John Audett; Bob Young; Bill Worsk, crew captain; Norm Buvick; Don Landon; Ron Johnson; Charley McCarthy, stroke, and Bob Lee, Coxwain. (AP Wirephoto)

Huskies Take Clean Sweep of Events

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 21 (delayed) (U.P.) Washington's Huskies made rowing history today, winning a complete sweep of the annual regatta with victories in the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman competition.

The varsity crew, only unbeaten shell in the nation, swept to a two length victory over California in a thrilling finale in which four boats vied closely throughout the three miles of the race.

California finished a bare one-foot ahead of third place Navy, and Cornell, in fourth position, was a half-length behind in one of the most thrilling finishes in the 48-year running of the collegiate rowing classic.

Washington made history by completing a sweep for the third time. No other school ever has scored a grand slam in this classic, but Husky crews previously accomplished the feat in 1936 and 1937.

In fifth place was dark horse Massachusetts Institute of Technology, considerably behind the leaders. Princeton was a shade ahead of Pennsylvania for sixth place and Wisconsin finished eighth. Syracuse, Columbia and Rutgers, out of contention from the start, completed the field.

Washington's winning time of 14:06.4 for the three-mile course was considerably off the record of 13:33.6 set by the Navy in 1922.

Belying their nickname as Huskies, the trim and perfectly coordinated kids coached by Al Albrickson were the lightest crew in the race. Averaging only 176 pounds, they were dwarfed by the heavyweight Navy shell, defending champion averaging 189 pounds per man.

Robert Lee, Coxswain

But under the persistent goading of their loud-mouthed little coxswain, "General" Robert Lee, and their aptly named stroke, Charley McCarthy, they finished with a beat of 34 to edge out California.

The Golden Bears, of California, who had been co-favorites with the Huskies before the race, put in a desperate bid but it was too late.

Navy's heavyweight crew, which would have been favored had a morning-long drizzle continued, simply didn't have the stamina to stay in there—neither did Cornell.

The rowing conditions were perfect at the end of the gray day. There was little or no wind and the water was at its usual sundown calm at the beginning of the race at 7:13 EDT.

The victorious crew were Ed Hearing at bow, John Augett at number 2, Bob Young 3, W. R. Works 4, Norman Buvick 5, Donald Landon 6, G. R. Johnson 7, McCarthy at stroke and Lee at Cox.

Martin Hanson Wins MarBo Elimination Tennis Tourney

Lt. Martin Hanson of the U. S. Coast Guard was declared the MarBo champion tennis player Sunday afternoon as he easily defeated Lt. Eugene Spier, 22nd General Hospital, 6-4, 6-2 and 6-1, to win the MarBo Elimination Tennis Tournament held at the Headquarters 20th Air Force courts.

By downing the champion Army officer, Hanson earned himself a trip to Baguio City in the Philippines, as captain of the five man team representing MarBo in the Army-Pacific tennis tournament which will begin the 28th of July. The four other participants include Lt. Frank Kriz, ComNats Asia; Captain Joseph Russo, 22nd General Hospital; Captain Joseph Turkovich and Lt. Edmond Taylor, both of the 93rd Engineer Battalion.

Lt. Spier, having been declared the best Army player, will leave immediately for Tokyo to join four other Army players from Korea, the Philippines, Okinawa and Japan, for the purpose of orientation and instructions, as members of the Far East command team, in regard to an Army tournament to be conducted at West Point. The five Army men will be gone approximately sixty days.

The First Marine Brigade pulled within a game-and-a-half of first place in the Navy-Command baseball league yesterday by downing the Marine Barracks crew 5 to 1 at the Fifth Service diamond. The defeat knocked the Barracks into ninth place as the NBRS Dodgers took over eighth place for the first time this season.

SAN DIEGO, June 28 (U.P) Suzanne Zimmerman 22-year-old swimming ace from Portland, Ore., tonight established a new American record for the 100-meter backstroke and bettered the Olympic record.

Last night, Miss Zimmerman bettered her own record on the 200-meter backstroke to set a new American record.

Tonight Miss Zimmerman swam the 100-meters in one minute 16.4 seconds to top the American record of one minute 17.5 seconds set by Gloria Callen in 1941.

Sain Wins Ninth Victory; Cards Win, 6-4

NEW YORK, June 28 (U.P) Arkansas Johnny Sain renewed his campaign today to get the National league pennant to wave over the home of the Braves along with the Star Spangled Banner.

Sain, who has been the major contributor to Boston's drive to the top of the league, gained his sixth victory in his last seven starts and his ninth of the season today, topping the visiting Pirates, 9 to 1.

The victory enabled the Braves to remain half a game ahead of the second place Cardinals and to wind up their home stand against the western clubs with nine victories against five defeats. The Cardinals took the odd game of their series with the Dodgers at Brooklyn, 6 to 4, cashing in on homers by Marty Martion and Stan Musial. Marion's homer came with a man on base while Musial's, his 17th, was delivered with the bases empty.

The Reds nosed out the Giants, 4 to 3 at New York in a battle of bickering which was highlighted by an argument between Umpires Jocko Conlan and Beans Reardon and which wound up with the Giant Manager Mell Ott officially protesting the outcome. The big rhubarb occurred in the eighth inning when Danny Litwhiler, Cincinnati's right fielder, filling in at third base, stuck out his glove in an effort to snag a liner by Walker Cooper. The glove sailed into the air and the Giants charged that Litwhiler had thrown it at the ball, which according to the rules would have entitled Cooper to three bases instead of a single.

Ewell Blackwell was credited with the victory, although Harry Gumbert relieved him, making his 26th rescue appearance of the season.

The Cubs topped the Phils, 6 to 2 at Philadelphia as Russ Meyer gave up seven hits, one a homer by Eddie Miller, but the Phils came back to take the second game, 7 to 4 on the steady pitching of Rookie Robin Roberts. It was Robert's second straight victory since joining the Phils as a $25,000 bonus star.

Lefty Tommy Byrne, given a long-awaited chance as a Yankee starter, came through with a brilliantly pitched two-hitter, blanking the Tigers, 7 to 0 at Detroit.

Yogi Berra drove in three runs with two hits and Tommy Henrich hit a triple and two singles to pace the visitors.

The progressive Red Sox had a profitable afternoon in St. Louis, topping the Browns, 2 to 0 and 6 to 3. Joe Dobson gave up only two hits to win his ninth game in the opener. Dave Ferriss, making his first start since May 18 went the route in the 7-inning rain-abbreviated nightcap.

The Athletics moved into a virtual first place tie in the American by winning two at Chicago, 6 to 5 and 6 to 2, stretching their current winning streak to seven games. Carl Scheib won his fourth straight game in the opener which the A's clinched with a four-run rally in the fourth.

Homers by Allie Clark and Joe Gordon gave the Indians a 4 to 1 victory after Washington took the opener, 5 to 2. Sam Zoldak won his second straight game as an Indian, giving up only seven hits. Relief Pitcher Forrest Thompson gained the victory for Washington in the opener.

Seventeen-Year-Old Wins AAU Decathlon

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., June 28 (U.P) Seventeen-year-old Bob Mathias of Tulare High School, Cal., won the National AAU Decathlon championship today and was picked for the U. S. Olympic team along with Irv Mondschein of the New York Pioneer Club and Floyd Simmons of the Los Angeles A. C.

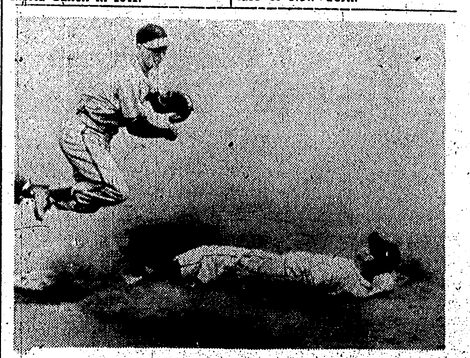
Mondschein, New York University senior who was the defending champion and leader after the first five events yesterday, had to settle for second place with 7,101 points and Simmons took third with 3,054 points. First three finishers qualified for the Olympic team which will compete in London.

Olympic Boxing Tryouts Begin Tomorrow Night

BOSTON, June 28 (U.P) Eighty-one leather tossers, the cream of the nation's amateur boxers, will begin trading punches tomorrow in the two-day tournament to select the United States Olympic boxing team.

Five National AAU champions and all the Army and Navy champions will be in there swinging at the Garden. The winners will meet in the finals and semi-finals Tuesday.

Hard to beat will be the AAU titlists: Lightweight Johnny Gonsalves of California; Flyweight Frankie Sodano of Philadelphia; Bantamweight Bill Morgan of Newark, N. J.; Light-heavyweight Grant Butcher of San Francisco University; and Heavyweight Coley Wallace of New York.



OUT FLAT ON HIS BACK—Sid Gordan, Giant's third baseman, slides into second flat on his back on a force out in the second inning of a St. Louis—New York game recently at the Polo Grounds. Second Baseman Red Schoendienst leaps in the air to get throw off to to first in an unsuccessful try to double Giants' Bill Rigney. (AP Wirephoto)

Marshall Tito Gets Bounced By Irate Fellow Travellers

VIENNA, June 29 (U.P) The Communist newspaper in Prague says Yugoslav Communists have been purged from the Cominform on grounds that Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia is guilty of Trotskyism and anti-Sovietism.

A communique published in the paper says the Cominform—or Communist information bureau—met in Romania in mid-June to discuss the situation in the Yugoslav Communist party. It says Yugoslav Communists refused to attend the meeting. The communique denotes eight long and bitter paragraphs to accusing Marshal Tito of almost every crime in the Communist book.

"Error of Ways"

The Prague Reds called upon the "healthy core" of Yugoslav Communism to "bring its leaders to see the error of their ways," which was something for Tito to face, as he was for long one of the most trusted followers of Joseph Stalin.

The Prague announcement was received in European capitals as marking a wide-open break in the Russian front in Eastern Europe. It was the first definite confirmation of repeated rumors that all has not been going well between the Soviet Union and some of its satellites.

If the Cominform action should result in a complete break of Yugoslavia with the Russian bloc, it would be the greatest victory the Western Powers yet have won in the "Cold War" against the Soviet Union.

Tito's Crime

The Prague communique stated that Tito had placed himself outside the limits of Communism by the awful crime of trying "to curry favor" with the democratic countries of Western Europe and America, where wide-eyed Reds know four-fifths of the population is kept in political prisons by the FBI and its branches.

In Washington there's speculation that Tito may be under arrest in Yugoslavia, with a new Soviet-sponsored leader already at the throttle in the Balkan state.

Did A Wasp Bite You? Think Nothing of it

If in the near future you get stung by a Scolia wasp don't worry about it. The wasp meant to sting a Rhinoceros beetle and not you!

At the Navy's request two boxes of the wasps are being shipped from Zanzibar, East Africa to the Palaus Islands of the western Carolines in the Pacific. If a migrant wasp comes over to Guam, think nothing of it—it's not your fault!

The wasps are scheduled to be released in the Palaus as they are the natural enemies of the Rhinoceros beetles which have been causing great damage to coconut palms in the Islands.

The beetles are not native to the Palaus, but were introduced accidentally during the time the islands were under Japanese control.

Island Group Meets

WASHINGTON, June 29 (U.P) The House and Senate special committee appointed to study United States possessions in the Pacific area and report to congress in January will hold a preliminary meeting here soon, the United Press learned today.

The committee was appointed by Congress to tour the former Japanese mandated islands and other possessions in the Pacific. Object of the tour will be to study conditions so members can recommend legislation for the government and supervision of the possessions.

Allies Act On Crisis In Berlin

LONDON, June 29 (U.P) High American and British officials will meet in an emergency conference at the British foreign office here today to consider the crisis created by Russian attempts to force the Western Powers out of Berlin.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and his advisers on Germany will meet with U. S. Ambassador Lewis Douglas and U. S. Under-Secretary of Army William Draper, who is en route to Berlin.

The Anglo-American conference came as British public opinion appeared to be almost unanimously demanding that the Western Powers jointly "call" Russia's hand in Berlin.

The view here, apparently supported by American public opinion, notably stiffened the back of diplomats who last week were admitting privately the possibility that the Russians might be able to starve the West out of Berlin.

SAN BRUNO, Calif., June 29 (U.P) Thirty passengers of a Pacific Greyhound Bus were injured early today when the bus was struck broadside by another vehicle at San Bruno intersection on Bayshore Freeway just south of San Francisco.

One of the passengers, Jack Goldberg, San Francisco, was pinned just behind the driver's seat for almost two hours before he could be cut loose by workmen using acetelyne torches.

The bus driver, Norman White, 27, of Salinas, told highway patrolmen his northbound bus was just clearing the intersection when the other vehicle, driven by Jack John Kane, San Bruno, hit the bus broadside.

White said his steering mechanism became jammed, causing him to hit a concrete arch supporting a cloverleaf overhead roadway.

UN Mediator Offers Peace Suggestions

RHODES, June 29 (U.P) Count Folke Bernadotte, hoping to negotiate a permanent settlement of the Palestine problem, announced tonight that he wou'd send peace "suggestions" to Jewish and Arab leaders probably Tuesday.

Disclosing the importance which he attaches to his proposals, the United Nations mediator said he would send them by personal envoys to the leaders concerned.

"I can not inform you of the contents of my suggestions and I emphasize strongly that they are only suggestions," Count Bernadotte said at a press conference.

He disclosed that he had completed today what he calls his "suggestions" to the contending leaders as a basis to negotiations.

SHANGHAI, June 29 (U.P) Housewives in China's largest city today couldn't buy all the food they wanted, even with bags full of paper money.

Air Force Reveals Uphill Fight to Win Major Part During World War II

WASHINGTON, June 29 (U.P) The Air Force told for the first time today the story of its uphill fight to win its place as a major military arm in World War II.

The story is contained in the first volume of "the Army Air Forces in World War II," a series which will eventually run to seven volumes and is billed as an objective study of the Air Force's part in the recent conflict.

Volume one outlines the airmen's battle against Army officials, Navy officials, Presidents and Congressional Committees between World Wars I and II.

The Air Force then was the U.S. Army Air Force, an adjunct of the Army. Due to its starring roll in the recent war, it now has complete independence as the U.S. Air Force, and enjoys equal status with the Army and Navy as a branch of the nation's armed forces.

Compiled by the Air Force's historical division and published by the University of Chicago Press, the first 780-page volume covers the period from January, 1939, to the day in August, 1942, when 18 B-17 flying fortresses won recognition for themselves and the then-controversial daylight bombing theory in a mass raid on Rouen.

On Aug. 16, 1942, Peter Masefield, famed British aviation writer and now a high aviation official, suggested in the London Sunday Times that neither the B-17 nor the consolidated B-24 were suited to day or night bombing. He said they were underarmed, and should be sent to do anti-submarine and convoy duty.

The next day the B-17's successfully raided Rouen. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, at the time boss of American bombing operations in Europe, wired Gen. Henry A. (Hap) Arnold, then Air Force commander, that "we would not exchange the B-17 for any British bomber in production."

In contrast with this victory for the theory of strategic bombing, the volume admits the Air Force's serious "failure" to develop a fighter escort able to protect the B-17's on missions deep into Europe.

This failure, it says, "was the most serious flaw in the AAF's program and it is difficult to account for."

British Government Takes Steps to Stop Outlaw London Dock Strike

LONDON, June 29 (U.P) Steps were taken today by the British government to end the outlaw strike of some 20,000 dockworkers in the London area, whose walkout has imperilled Britain's dangerously low food supply, tying up more than 100 ships in the Thames.

Troops began unloading the vessels as the Communist-inspired plot to let perishable foods spoil stirred nationwide protest.

Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee told the House of Commons that the government had decided to assume extraordinary powers under the 1920 Emergency Powers Act, as the strike spread from London to Liverpool, Britain's second largest port, with no settlement in sight.

Attlee said an urgent message had been sent to King George VI, on royal tour of Scotland, advising him to issue a proclamation of a state of emergency.

"A privy council will be held for that purpose late today," Attlee said.

"Thereafter orders in council will be made giving powers to the government to do all necessary, both by deployment of service personnel wherever required for maintenance of essential food supplies, and by requisitioning equipment for the maintenance of the life of the community."

Fire Destroys Fukui; 9 Tidal Waves Roll in

FUKUI CITY, Japan, June 29 (U.P) An earth quake of major intensity hit Fukui at 5:15 p.m. last night. It knocked down or twisted the city's ferro-concrete buildings which had been spared when the city was 85 per cent destroyed by fire bombing during the war and it collapsed most of the city's recently built homes.

Immediately after the first tremor, fire in the center of the city spread and was soon out of control. All water lines and communication lines went out and tonight the major part of Fukui is burned out.

TOKYO, JUNE 29.—FOUR HEAVY EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS followed by at least nine tidal waves hit the west coast of Honshu island in Japan today. Unconfirmed reports say there may be as many as 100-thousand homeless and one-thousand killed or injured in the four temblors.

MacArthur's headquarters said four small towns beside Fukui, all within a 20-mile radius of the center of shock, were demolished. They were Marbuoka, Mikuni, Matsuoka, Iosigi.

The quakes were the worst since the disaster in December 1946 when a submarine quake-tidal wave killed approximately 1,600 persons on the eastern shores of the Home Islands.

The main brunt of he shocks flattened flimsy wooden and paper houses, threw trains off the rails and opened up cracks in the earth.

Japan always has been subjected to earthquakes, most of them caused by titanic settlings in the floor of the Pacific ocean. Every type of quake known to seismologists has occurred there.

The most severe, however, was the Sept. 1, 1923 quake in which 99,331 persons lost their lives. A total of 576,262 homes were destroyed in fires in the Tokyo-Yokohama areas. Fire loss alone was placed at between $4,000,000,000 and $6,000,000,000.

Companion Helpless As Woman Attacked

NEW YORK, June 29 (U.P) A gang of 11 youths 15 to 20 years old attacked a strolling couple on the East River Drive early today and took turns raping the woman while her companion was forced to watch helplessly, police reported.

The attack took place on a walkway lined with benches between the broad, lighted drive and the water's edge.

Police said Mrs. Ilsa Kramer, 36, and Herman Graulich, 49 had been walking in the cool night air beside the East River. They sat down on a bench, their back to the drive, about 3:30 a.m.

They told police that the youths slipped up quietly from behind, hit Graulich on the head and seized Mrs. Kramer. While two of the gang guarded the nearly unconscious man the others stripped all the clothes from Mrs. Kramer and threw them into the river, she told police.

WADENA, Minn., June 29 (U.P) A little Los Angeles boy was found asleep and safe today after an all-night search by 500 volunteers.

Russell St. Claire, 2 ½ years old, was found sleeping near a creek bed about a mile and three-quarters from the farm home of his grandparents, from which he disappeared yesterday morning.

He was all right "except for a few mosquito bites," his parents said.

7 Billion Cut Made In Debt in Past Year

WASHINGTON, (U.P.) The government has reduced the nation's staggering public debt by more than $7,000,000,000 during the current fiscal year ending June 30, it was disclosed tonight.

Figures on the government's books show that the debt, which was almost $259,000,000,000 last July 1, now has been cut to $251,712,000,000.

Money for this big bite out of the debt came from an all-time record surplus, which will amount to about $8,000,000,000, when the final figures are in. This figure would have been even higher if the GOP's tax cut had not gone into May 1. This is only slightly less than the all-time low of cash in the treasury during the war year of 1945.

Government spending this year was $37,000,000,000, plus the debt payment. The remaining $1,000,000,000 of surplus was used to increase the treasury's cash balance to make sure that government checks don't bounce.

3 Win 7 Day Leave

Winners of the Marbo Base Command safety slogan contest who will receive a seven-day leave as their prize, were announced today, with the slogans that won. Winners and slogans are as follows:

3 "A Roadside Check May Save Your Neck"
Submitted by Venancio T. Osano 1st. Transportation Truck Co.

The 22nd Station Hospital at Marbo has been redesignated the 22nd General Hospital, according to an announcement made recently by the office of the surgeon in Tokyo.

Reserves Asked to Return

WASHINGTON (U.P.) The Army is asking reserve officers and enlisted men to return, voluntarily to active duty for short hitches to help train the thousands of men who will be inducted under the new 19-through-25-year draft.

Army Secretary Kenneth C. Royall sounded a "patriotic appeal" to the reservists in an address yesterday in Norfolk, Va.

Wife, 2 Children Killed by College Man in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore. (U.P.) Robert C. Stroller, Jr., 25, a psychology student at Lewis and Clark College, shot and killed his wife and two babies today then committed suicide after calling police headquarters, police announced.

Detectives found Stroller unconscious from a head wound on the kitchen floor of the family's little white house on the outskirts of the city.

He died at Emanuel Hospital shortly after arrival.

Stoller's wife, Laurallee Eilen, 24, was dead on a bed. Coroner G. W. Snook said she had been shot three times in the left temple, her head crushed by a blow with a rifle butt, and she had been stabbed in the heart.

The children, Christian Robert, 4, and Pam Jane, 16 months, were dead in their cribs in another bedroom. Both had been shot, apparently while asleep.

Police found no notes. But neighbors said Stroller had been "morose" during the last few weeks and appeared disillusioned. He reportedly quit his classes a few days before a recent examination.

2 Nations Sign ERP Aid Pacts

WASHINGTON, June 29 (U.P.) The State Department today disclosed the "terms" which Marshall plan countries are accepting to insure that U.S. economic aid to Europe is not wasted.

The announcement of the "terms" was expected by diplomats here to signal a fresh Communist propaganda blast assailing the multi-billion dollar European Recovery Program as "U.S. Imperialism" and "Rule of the Dollar."

Secretary of State George C. Marshall said the signing of the bilateral agreements represents "one more step in the development of the program for European recovery."

President Truman today signed the bill which puts up the foreign aid money.

The conditions were disclosed with the release here of the text of bilateral agreements with Ireland and Italy. Officials said all agreements are virtually the same.

52 Planes to Carry Cargo Go to Berlin

WASHINGTON (U.P.) The Air Force announced tonight that about 39 big C-54 Skymaster passenger and cargo planes will be flown to Germany starting tomorrow to help the western allies fight Russia's blockade of Berlin.

The announcement said three squadrons from the Alaskan, Caribbean and tactical air commands had been ordered to the Frankfurt area at the "request" of Gen. Lucius D. Clay, American commander in Germany.

Will Remain Indefinitely

The planes will begin leaving their bases "within 24 hours" and are being sent for the express purpose of "increased air facilities to supply Berlin," the Air Force announcement said.

A fourth squadron of about 13 C-54 Skymasters has also been ordered from the 7th Air Force base in Hawaii to the Westover, Mass., Air Force Base on a "long-range training mission," the Air Force said.

It was understood that this group of cargo planes would also be available for a quick hop to Germany to help out in relieving the "cold" siege of Berlin if Clay indicates he needs them.

The Air Force said that the three squadrons will carry a total of some 825 officers and men as operational and spare crews, and "will remain in Germany as long as there is need for this mission."

BLYTHE, Cal. (U.P.) Three National Guard airmen burned to death and two other were hurt when their planes collided over Blythe today.

The planes, a F-51 Mustang fighter and an A-26 attack bomber, were on training missions from Van Nuys, Cal., airport, where a part of the California Air National Guard is based.

March Air Force Base said names of the dead were not yet available.

Of the total gross income from poultry in the United States in 1947, 67 per cent was from eggs, 24 per cent from chickens, and 9 per cent from commercial broilers.

Prosperity Reigns in Fiji But May Upset Happy Balance

SUVA, FIJI (U.P) The British crown colony of Fiji, where 4,500 white residents control 250,000 inhabitants on 322 tropical islands, is at once pleased and apprehensive at the present record prosperity of the country.

The all-time high price of copra (dried coconuts from which soap and cooking fats are made) is one factor. Another is prosperity throughout Fijis extensive Australian-owned sugar plantations. A third is the continuous export of gold bars to the mint at San Francisco, Cal., from the new Vatukoula gold fields. They all have superimposed record prosperity upon a land where living was always easy.

Some of Fiji's assets are even stacked one upon another. An exemple of the mines at Vatukoula beneath some of the richest plantations of the Colonial Sugar Refining Co. The concern collects a royalty on gold below while harvesting a profitable crop from the surface.

The three mines of Vatukoula are all bossed by a husky, blue-eyed American ice hockey player from the Michigan College of Mines. He came to the tropics to have a look around and remained to mine some $30,000,000 in gold thus far. His name is Nils E. Nilsen.

Modern Fiji is a far cry from Capt. Cook's day. Only 70 years ago the natives gave up the practice of live burial of enemies, murder of widows and occasional feasting upon one another. Prior to that they had given up eating whites because they didn't like the flavor imparted to the meat by European habits of smoking and alcohol.

'Roger the Frog' Kids His Patrons And Makes Them Come For More

PARIS (U.P.) Roger Spinhirny, better known as "Roger the Frog," is a restaurant owner wh makes a good living out of insulting his customers.

He's one of the few, too, who opens his kitchen to anybody too poor to pay, such as hard-up youngsters and students in the neighborhood.

Roger has seated late arriving ambassadors and movie stars in the kitchen and had them like it. He's kisse , a good half of his women customers with a boy friend looking on laughing.

He's torn up orders and served what he thinks they ought to have.

He has put almost every customer on the spot at one time or another.

They Love It

Most of them love it. Those who don't, don't go back.

His place, the "Grenouille," (frog) at 28 Rue des Grands Augustins, in the heart of the Latin Quarter, has been a favorite since he opened it in 1930.

Roger was born in Paris in 1901. He grew up the hard way, an orphan. After World War I, he worked in the Ritz Hotel restaurant. Later he moved over to "Chez Rouzier" on the Place St. Michel.

By 1930 he had some money of his own saved. He decided to open a restaurant and run it in a way which combined all the things he'd been bawled out for doing at the Ritz and Rouzier.

Instead of going broke, he thrived. People have been packing the place since opening day.

Food Inexpensive

The highest priced dish on his menu is 200 francs (about 70 cents). Lobster, sold by the weight, might run up to 300 francs, but that's the ceiling.

Frog's legs, which he frequently forces on you whether you like them or not, are 150 francs.

Customers at the Grenouille get only two kinds of wine, one red and one white. If they want a long list to choose from, Roger tells them to go elsewhere. They stay. His flat price is 225 francs a bottle.

To most customers, the Grenouille looks more like an antique shop than a restaurant. Among the hundred-odd items hanging from the ceiling, all with their own story, are a French horn, a cow bell, a horse's mane, a bunch of onions and a woman's hat. The walls are plastered with clippings, diplomas and pictures.

All in Fun

Lunch begins at 12:30 and lasts as late as 4. Dinner starts at 6 and goes on until 1 a.m. Throughout both, Roger, dressed in an open shirt and a waist apron, moves from table to table shouting orders, cracking jokes, insulting customers, and making them explain to everybody there who the young lady is.

Roger's final gesture is reserved for the ladies. As they leave he offers them one of his green miniature frogs, his trade mark.

They can have it, he tells them, for a kiss of thanks on the cheek. He poses his cheek, they bend over to kiss. In a lightning move Roger smacks they squarely on the lips.

He says only one woman has ever seriously objected to his trickery, and the rest of the customers were so enraged they nearly threw her out.

THE ROCK . . . . by Tom Richards

MIKE JACOBY AND I were stretched in simple grandeur on Ethridge Beach, flat on our backs with our feet propped up on the trunk of a fallen palm. We were both dressed only in shorts, and the warm sand felt good as we exchanged philosophies and hurled epithets at passing comrades. Occasionally one of us would rise and beat off with a club the more forward of the beautiful young females who infest Ethridge. Mike who was discussing the fair sex, of course, swallowed a piece of "Chicken in the Ruff", the wrong way, coughed, beat his manly bosom and continued, "Yea, women ain't like men. Most of them are pretty shallow and have no appreciation of life. Take the time I was living in Venice, California for example....." Mike's voice trailed off as he mentally reminisced over the days gone by. I settled myself more comfortably to listen and moved my head into the shade.

"I was lying on the beach at Malibu one Sunday afternoon a couple of years ago," said Mike, "and watching a little sail outlined against a small cloud 'way out on the water where the sky thunders down to the ocean, 'Somebody's ship of dreams,' I thought. Perhaps carrying golden cargo to never-never land. I laid there for awhile and thought about the sail, the sky, the waves, and.....you know, stuff like that. I rolled over on my left side and watched a family of three, a man, woman, and three-year-old boy, who was sitting on a blanket about ten feet away eating popcorn. The greedy way they were putting it away sickened me to my soul and I turned on my other side to hide the disgusting spectacle.

"There on my right was a beautiful young dish in a white bathing suit that was strictly out of this world. Boy, what a beauty! She had a wedding ring on her hand but it might have been a keepsake or something and, as she sort of looked at me, I asked her if she had a spare cigarette. She said, 'yes', so I went and sat down on her blanket while we lit up. She said she came from Long Beach and we talked back and forth for a while. We both liked to dance it seemed. Well, I suggested that we go to the Casino Gardens after we had a snack somewhere. Well, she didn't say no and, what with one thing and another, I could see a long evening in store. Just then I happened to see a great big brute about 6'4" high hurrying across the sand. She said rather shyly, 'Oh my goodness, here comes my husband! It's been so nice knowing you'. I said, 'Yes, Yes, I guess I had better be getting along. It's late you know.' So I kind of walked in a running sort of way up to the road, got into my car, and tooled off down the pike. Then I happened to think of looking for the cloud again but it was gone..... 'The tramp', I thought. 'A lot women care for clouds and waves and stuff like that. I might have been killed.'"

Here Mike took another bite of drum stick but there were tears of emotion in his dark eyes. "Boy, that was really tough," I sympathized. "What did you do then?" Mike sighed, "what could I do? I just drove home to my wife and kids and snoozed in the hammock

Manila Bay Islands Now Defense Zone

MANILA (U.P) The island fortress of Corregidor and six other islands in Manila Bay have been declared a Philippine national defense zone.

A proclamation by President Elpidio Quirino orders that the islands shall be used as storehouse for ammunition reserves. All civilians living on the islands will be moved out during the next two years.

Waters near Corregidor and the other islands now are off-limits to all ships except those of the Philippine Naval Patrol. The skyways directly above the entrance to the bay have been declared off-limits to all aircraft except those of the Philippine Air Force.

All civilian visitors to the islands, including sightseers, will be required to present passes signed by a national defense official.

Quirino's proclamation explained that "In view of their strategic location for defense purposes, it is necessary to make Corregidor and said islands and rocks a national defense zone."

Grand Prix Races Planned for U.S.

WATKINS GLEN, N. Y. (U.P.) European style auto races across open country roads will make their debut here at the first American Grand Prix, Oct. 2 and 3.

The races will be staged over what was described as a hill and dale course by the Sports Car Club of America. The club includes among its members Singer James Melton and Cartoonist Charles Addams and Sam Copean.

Grand Prix races have been held in England, Belgium, Italy and other European countries. A team from London and another from Melbourne, Australia, may be invited to take part in the event here.

Thus far, tentative plans call for a six-and-a-half-mile course and a four-event program.

WAITRESS RECEIVES MEDICAL DEGREE—Miss Dorothy Sell (above), 25, who has been a waitress between classes for the past eight years, received her medical degree recently from the University of Illinois. The pretty blonde has worked in Chicago restaurants since 1940 to help support her widowed mother and earn her way through seven years of college studies. Aiming to specialize in internal diseases, she will leave for Los Angeles soon to become a hospital interne. (AP Wirephoto)

UN Body Reports World Food Scarce

ROME (U.P) Even a bumper harvest in 1948 will leave world production of crops far below world needs, the Rome office of the United Nations' food and agriculture organization reported.

In a general survey of world food conditions, the FAO regional office warned that world-wide conservation would be needed to maintain supplies of the most essential scarce foods.

FAO urged that governments take all measures to reduce food losses due to lack of conservation, insect and rodent infestation and animal losses, which were estimated to be one-tenth of the total annual world production.

The regional office, describing its activities in Italy, announced that it had arranged for semen obtained from American Holstein and brown Swiss bulls to be shipped to the Spallanzani Institute in Milan, to enable Italy to start a program of artificial insemination of Italian livestock.

The plan is to restore depleted livestock herds.

Home Canning Urged

Home canning projects and food demonstrations were conducted regularly all through last winter in Florence, Padua and Naples.

Forestry specialists have been here since 1947 helping the Ministry of Agriculture develop and execute forest programs. Projects planned or underway include analyzing and testing of forest seed, replacements of windbreaks destroyed by the war and experimentation work in exotic forest species.

Meanwhile, the urgency of agrarian reform was stressed by Paolo Bonomi, Christian Democrat member of the Italian National Assembly.

Bonomi said it is necessary to "increase production to a maximum, thereby contributing to the solution of a social problem, especially in the south of Italy, where the peasants not infrequently live in primordial conditions."

Denver Man Unhappy With Gas Find

DENVER, Col. (U.P) Gasoline is expensive nowdays, so you'd think the Denver man who struck it while drilling for water would be glad to see it oozing to the surface.

But Philip Schwieden isn't happy. The gasoline obviously is leaking from a nearby refinery, but state and federal officials can't find out which one. In the meantime, Schwieden finds obstacles in the way of using or selling it.

Being on his property, the fuel is his to sell, if he wants to pay a state tax and collet from whoever uses it.

"It hardly seems worth the trouble." Schwieden explains unhappily. "I wish they'd find the leak and let me get some water."

It's Tough to Be an Actress

HOLLYWOOD (U.P) Glamour girls are keeping Hollywood's insurance agents busy these days insuring them against mayhem. Life in the movies is getting rough.

The way they're making movies these days, a girl's likely to find her eyes scratched out, her hair burned off or a bone or two broken.

Paulette Goddard had to scrap with three men in "Hazard." Jane Russel got burned at the stake in "The Paleface." Audrey Totter tangles with a women wrestler in "Dark Circle."

"Now don,t pull your punches," Director John Farrow warnel the adies. He's a stickler for realism). "Really let your fists fly. And I hope we'll get this in one take."

"I hope so to," said Miss Totter.

"How put some force into it," he warned her 250-pound opponent. "Make it real."

The fight starts when the women standing at a wharfside bar get into an arguement. The fat one tosses the beer into Miss Totter's face. Miss Totter jabbed her cigarette at the girl's hand.

The fat girl jumped on Mis Totter's shoes, grabbed her by the hair, slapped her with a backhand, tossed her on the floor and landed her 250 pounds on the floor atop Miss Totter's 110.

"I hope I didn't hurt ya, dearie," she said kindly after the scene was over. "I tried to take it easy."

"The Chaplain's Hour"

"The Chaplain's Hour," more popularly known as "Citizenship and Morality Lectures," is a weekly lecture by each unit chaplain to his troops on subjects of personal conduct and citizenship from the moral and religious viewpoint. The series of lectures extends over a period of a complete year. In the MarBo Command the Troop Information and Education section shares the required attendance period with the chaplain.

Base Chaplain

The administration and supervision of religious activities is performed by the base chaplain. By means of staff visits to, and reports from unit chaplains, he keeps the commanding general advised of the state of morals and morale of the command.

The section has five departments; personnel administration, public relations, training, religious coverage and supply.

Mitcovic, certainly affects the work of our corps and to an extent, the morale of their respective units because of their close personal and confidential relationship with their men. Their replacements will, however, in a short time claim the esteem, confidence and friendship of their unit personnel."

Never Satisfied

"You ask the question as to whether I am satisfied with the work of our chaplains and the response by our personnel to their activities. My answer to both parts of the question is 'No.' One can never be satisfied until the goal is reached. Our goal is not reached until 100 per cent of our personnel acknowledge and cultivate their spiritual obligations to God. Goals are of course higher than our ability to attain them. In the meantime, our mission is not only to teach, preach and advise on personal problems of a day to day materialistic world, but to cultivate, inspire, train and educate the spirit of man for acceptance into Eternal Life. Our chaplains are performing their mission to the full extent of their physical ability — only to that extent can we be satisfied."

What Chaplains Do

Since January 1948, religious attendance has averaged 27,000 per month, with a peak attendance of 30,645 in February.

April is a fairly typical month in which attendance at 405 religious services, including Sunday and week-day communions and confessions, totaled 27,354.

Pastoral, recreational and educational activities included hospital visits to 2,283 persons; guardhouse contacts numbering 274; personal interviews, 560; welfare cases, 113; lectures and talks, 20,042; miscellaneous contacts, interviews and recreation programs, 10,420; civilian contacts, 1,513; baptisms, 6; marriages, 2; for a total of 550 different occasions that contacted 35,163 persons. There were only 11 chaplains on duty during the month.

Todays' Sports Parade

by Oscar Fraley

NEW YORK (U.P.) The wolves were howling today for the graying scalp of Johnny Neun, chunky manager of the Cincinnati Reds, whose spring "wonders" were wondering whether they were going to fall right through the bottom of the National league.

In his second year as pilot of the Reds, the quiet Neun's hair has whitened along the sideburns.

"And it'll be a lot whiter than that before the season is over," he grinned ruefully.

Cushioned from the cellar floor only by the Chicago Cubs, Neun was in no mood to let the howls go unanswered, and he wants his furious fans to know that if he ever gets the bandages off his ball club they'll get a good run for their money.

Certainly no team in the majors has had more trials and tribulations than the Reds. Johnny frowned fiercely as he ran through the hospital list.

The biggest blow, of course, was the early loss of Ewell Blackwell, his pitching stopper. Blackwell had a pulled muscle and, recovered from that, has been bothered by his sinus and teeth so that he has been unable to regain his efficiency.

"On top of that, Tommy Hughes was suffering from bursitis and Bucky Walters hurt his knee and had to be placed on the inactive list, Neun groaned. "Bucky's arm is coming around but he won't be ready until late in July.

"And I don't care what kind of strategy you use," he added, "if you can't stop those other guys from hitting, you can't win."

Neun admits that the pressure is on and that the responsibility has been laid in his lap.

"But what can I do about those injuries," he sad. "Bobby Adams was out a month and, in first game back, Gil Hodges plowed into him and put him out again. Grady Hatton has lost 18 pounds because of a nervous stomach condition; Babe Young was out three weeks with a sprained ankle; Augie Galan has a bad elbow, and Ray Mueller broke a leg which means that Ray Lamanno had to catch with a bad back and a sore arm."

All of which means that Neun has a terrific headache.

"One thing is sure," Johnny comforted himself. "There's no substitute for ball players."

And the Baltimore Dutchman is getting a little bit tired of those boos from the grandstand managers.

"Most managers get the most that it's possible to get out of their players," he insisted. "Only the manager can know what material he has available."

"It's simply that when you have an undermanned pitching staff you can't possibly play winning baseball. Some people want to know why, when we get up against a lot of right hand hitter, I don't use right handed pitchers—the accepted baseball strategy.

"I don't—because we don't have the right handed pitchers," Johnny said.

Neun admits that he is on the biggest spot of his brief managerial career. His club was hotter than a two dollar pistol on the Grapefruit circuit and now it's far off form.

Joe Louis Denies Political Rumors About Third Party

NEW YORK, June 29 (U.P.) Joe Louis today denied persistent reports that he was going to campaign for Henry Wallace or that he was going to run for congress on a third party ticket.

When the retired undefeated heavyweight champion appeared at 20th Century Headquarters for the first time since his knockout victory over Joe Walcott, he said he hadn't decided exactly in which direction his political activities would take him.

"It all depends upon the Democratic National Convention," said Joe.

Louis still bearing a mouse under his left eye and a bruise on hi left cheek, said he was becomin a director today in a corporatio that manufactures a soft drink.

When asked if he still considered himself champion, he said, "I don' consider myself a boxer anymore.

Gonzales Wins New Jersey Tennis Title

ORANGE, N.J., June 29 (U.P.) Richard (Pancho) Gonzales of Los Angeles won the New Jersey state men's singles tennis championship in an upset today by beating top-seeded Don McNeill of Bellerose, N.Y., 6-3, 4-6, 2-6, 6-4, 6-0 in the final round at the Berkeley Tennis Club.

McNeill, former National sing champion, apparently had the title in the bag after rallying from his loss in the first set to take the next two sets. But, with McNeill only two games away from victory, Gonzales rallied to square the match at two sets each and then blasted his rival off the court in the final set.

NY Giants Rebuilds Football Team

NEW YORK (U.P.) Charley Conerly of Mississippi, who can sling-shot a football in the best tradition of the old South, was the fair-haired boy of New York's football Giants today in the third round of their patronage war with the rival All-America Conference.

A modest young man of 24 years, Conerly is the key figure in the greatest rebuilding program ever tackled by the New York club.

He can run, kick and pass like a demon. Furthermore, the Giants figure his football daring will make him a box-office glamor boy of sufficient power to bring back the old pro fans who strayed away last year to the rival New York Yankees, who played hard, winning football just across the Harlem River.

The Giants were pathetic in 1947, winning only twice, losing eight games and tying two.

Stout Steve Owen, the Giants coach, has a ready reason for the floperoo of his ball club last year and it seems there is a little sentiment attached. Now he tells us:

"I'd do it all over again. The men who came back from the war deserved time to get their football legs back. We gave them that chance. Some, perhaps, we kept too long."

Some probably, he certainly did.

But Owen is wiping the slate clean and the dead wood, war record notwithstanding, will give way to what Owen calls "real live, breathin' football players for a change."

No. 1 on his dream parade is Conerly. It was an open secret that Chuckin' Charley would land with the Giants because the Poole brothers— Jim and Ray—are Mississippi boys with strong ties to the Giants.

There was a little flurry last fall when Branch Rickey of the Dodgers, suddenly installed as a football executive, approached Conerly with an offer of $100,000 to play for Brooklyn. But Giants officials later said that Rickey made his offer only after he was dead certain Conerly already was set with the Giants.

"I just told him I was interested in the Giants and nobody else," Conerly said.

Owen, stalwart defender of the old single wing offense, began rebuilding with backfield men thoroughly grounded in the wing— Conerly, Tony (Skip) Minisi of Pennsylvania and Paul Governali, the old Columbia player who came on last year in a late season deal with Boston.

But the lure of the "T" is strong and the Giants may go into it next fall, although Governali doesn't like it much and the other never have used it.

LAST MARCH--THE 17TH TO BE EXACT—The NOB Industrial baseball team downed their rivals, the NBRS Dogers, to officially open their drive to the Navy Inter-Command league pennant and today they have the opportunity of bring home the flag.

The defending champions, Fifth Service Leathernecks, will play host to the Miners and remain the only team left to play on the 30 game schedule for the Miners.

The Fasron 13 Airdales have been atop the mad pack twice this season and are a game-and-a-half off the pace with three games to play before their their splendid season comes to an end. Should the Leathernecks knock off the favored Miners, Fasron would have a chance to throw the championship for 1948 into a three-game playoff. However, the Airdales must meet the First Marine Brigade Devildogs and because of the stalwart Marine team—it seems likely the Devildogs will win in order to tie the Airdales for second place and an even split for the two-game series this season.

The Scope stepped out onto a limb in the early part of the season by predicting the Miners would win the pennant this year and had to change his mind a couple times but as proved by the Miners-it takes a steady, hard driving, fighting team, to win a league such as this year's red hot race. The Miners had their share of injuries and only lately "Tex"Dulaney recovered from an eye infection to give the pitching staff the necessary "oomph" to come through. Rog Kroul won his seventeenth victory Monday by hurling the Miners to a 5 to 2 victory over the Yards and Docks Gophers which put the Miners in the drivers seat and gave them today's set-up.

There is no doubt but what today's battle at Fifth Service will mark one of the best games seen this season and the Scope will not predict any outcome except that the Miners are almost certain to win the pennant today—either at Fifth Service—or at the First Marine Brigade where the Airdales clash with the Devildogs.

Another treat is in store for the Island baseball fans this week as the Guam Air Force league leading North Field Bombers meet the second place Northwest Field Sunsetters, defending champions, at North Field Saturday. The Sunsetters are only one game behind the persistant Bombers and need the victory to throw the pennant race into a three-game playoff. So far this season, the Bombers have won two out of three but the Sunsetters hope to even their four-game series with the Bombers at two apiece.

Like the Navy, the Air Force league champion will make a trip to the Orient which makes Saturday's game all the more important. The Sunsetters are considered the underdog but have an equal chance of pulling an upset. Both team managers have decided to spring their mound stars at each other with Lewis hurling for the Bombers and Fiazer doing the mound chores for the Sunsetters.

Don't forget, game time is 1400.

Joe Verdeur Sets New World Swim Record

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 29 (U.P.) Joe Verdeur, swimming flash from Philadelphia, set a new world's record of two minutes, 30 seconds flat tonight for the 200-meter breast stroke during a record-assault meet at Yale University's Payne Whitney pool.

The clocking by the Sophomore from La Salle College was five-tenths of a second better than his own record set in the A. A. U. championships in the same pool in April.

Verdeur posted the time during a 220-yard race. For the 220-yards he was clocked in 2:31, five-tenths of a second slower than his own world's record. For 200 yards his time was 3:15.9, one-and-four tenths slower than the world record. His only opponent in the race was Don Schmidt of Temple, who dropped out after 50 yards.

A "pick up team" of Olympic hopefuls raced a 400-yard free-style relay in 3:24.6, one one-tenth off the world mark. Because they were an unorganized team, they could not have set a new record under the rules. On the team were Brewster McFadden, formerly of Yale; Ray Read, Yale frosh captain; Farrel Devlin of Philadelphia, and Bob Busby of Cleveland.

Ray Robinson Retains Title

CHICAGO, June 29 (U.P.) Welterweight Champion Ray "Sugar" Robinson, a mahogany-colored shorpshooter who snipes with either fist only when he has a target, defended his crown successfully tonight with a 15-round decision over 21-year-old Bernard Docusen.

It was a tight scrap all the way, for the "Sugar" star of New York ran into a boxing bit of honey from New Orleans, and the dark-skinned Docusen gave the dancing master a boxing lesson for the first 10 rounds of the fight.

Then, contrary to what the fans expected, Docusen tired and Sugar Ray seemed to gain strength. He moved in with both hands, and it was all over after the 10th round.

Sugar Ray took command in the 11th, belaboring his youthful opponent all over the ring. Midway through the round he connected with a right hook to the chin and Docusen dropped. He was up at the count of nine.

Again Robinson moved in. Docusen covered the rest of the way, and Robinson never let up. He kept hitting with both hands every time there was an opening, and when Docusen came in, Robinson clinched.

That set up his opponent for a long range attack, but Ray was patient. He didn't waste a punch. While Docusen tried to land from the distance, Ray held back and every time the Southerner lashed out with either hand, he suffered from a straight hard counter-punch.

It wasn't an easy victory for Robinson, this third defense of the title he won from Tommy Bell December 20, 1946. Docusen, speedy as a striking cobra and agile as a monkey on a string, forced the brawl most of the way.

He piled up points throughout the first ten rounds with sharp accurate left jabs to the head and occasional right hooks to the body. Robinson at times seemed puzzled, but his problems all vanished when he knocked Docusen down in the 11th. From there on he was the old champion, sure of himself and his victory.

SANTA ANITA, California (U.P.) A new world's record of 152 and six 10ths miles per hour for Class D speed model aircraft was put on the books yesterday.

The mark was made at the All Western Open Model Aircraft meet at Santa Anita race track when a model owned by Wally Wallick of Long Beach, California, and Bob Thomas, of Anaheim, California, set the standard.

LOS ANGELES (U.P.) Carl Samuelson, a 235-pound All-Conference tackle from the University of Nebraska has signed a 1948 professional football contract with the Los Angeles Rams.

NEW YORK June 29 (U.P.) The Brooklyn Football Dodgers of the All America conference today announced the signing of Bob Chappius, Michigan All American back, to a professional contract.

No salary terms were announced.

Tibbles Leads British Open Golf Tourney

MUIRFIELD Scotland, June 29 (U.P.) A. S. Tibbles, the last player in the huge field to tee off, led the British Open Golf tournament today at the end of the first round with a score of 67 that tied the course record.

Only one stroke behind Tibbles, a dark horse pro from Tamworth, Staffordshire were Jimmy Thompson of Chicopee Falls, Mass., and Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, each with 68.

Tibbler' score was recorded over the Guilane Course, where half of the field played. The other half played on the Muirfield course, which is a stroke or two more difficult. Tomorrow the two sections switch courses and the field will be trimmed to the low 100 scores for 36 holes.

Thompson, who was born just a Niblick shot from Gullane, missed a chance to take the first round lead, was well as to break the record, when he ran into trouble on the 15th hole. First, his drive went into the rough and then, after he had reached the green, he three-putted.

It was not a pleasant opening for the tourney. The weather was wet and dreary. A "sky-high" caddy fee almost caused a players' strike, and Claude Harmon of Marmaroneck, N. Y., became bitter when he was forced to postpone his tee-off half an hour.

Crystal Plunge Wins AAU Swimming, Diving

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 28 (U.P.) San Francisco's Crystal Plunge edged out Los Angeles Athletic Club, 60 to 52, to win the Women's National AAU Swimming and Diving championships today.

The two California powerhouses far outclassed Multnomah, A. C. of Portland, Ore., with 26 points, and Athens Club, Oakland, 24.

Top competitors from the two-day meet were to leave tomorrow for Detroit to participate in the Women's Olympic swimming try-outs.

Fifteen hundred spectators who saw today's final events missed out on any record performances.

Jeanne Wilson of Chicago took the 100-meter breast stroke in 1:28-9, and Ann Curtis of San Francisco was far off her own American record when she won the 800-meter free style in -1:37.4.

William And Mary Cops NCAA Tennis Title

LOS ANGELES, June 29 (U.P.) Fred Kovaleski and Bernard Bartzen won the NCAA Tennis doubles championship today to lead William and Mary to the team title for the second year in a row while Harry Likas of University of San Francisco scored an upset to capture the singles crown.

Likas, fifth-seeded for the tournament, dumped favored Victor Seixas of North Carolina, 6-4, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1. The San Francisco boy capitalized on Seixas' errors and played a steady game throughout.

The win was the second upset scored by Likas, who entered the final round yesterday by eliminating Jim Brink, no. 2 man from Washington.

Kovaleski and Bartzen captured their crown by defeating Arnold Saul and Bobby Perez of University of Southern California—5-7, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28 (U.P.) Robert (Skee) Riegel, National Amateur champion, won the Men's Trans-Mississippi title today, defeating John Krafi, Denver, Colo., 6 and 5.

Riegel, long-hitting simon pure from Glendale, Calif., turned up at the end of the morning round. He ended the match on the 31st green with a par five.

It was Riegel's second Trans-Mississippi crown. He won it in 1946 but did not defend the title last year.
