He may grant pardons and reprieves and remit fines and forfeitures for offenses against the local laws, and, with the approval of the President in cases of Federal offenses, may restore civil rights in Micronesia, and may grant respites for all offenses against the applicable laws of the United States until the decision of the President can be ascertained. He may veto any legislation as provided in this Act. He shall commission all officers that he may be authorized to appoint. He may call upon the commanders of the armed forces of the United States, or summon the posse comitatus, or call out the militia, to prevent or suppress violence, insurrection, or rebellion, and he may, in case of rebellion, invasion, or imminent danger thereof, when the public safety requires it, suspend the privileges of the writ of habeas corpus, or place Micronesia, or any part thereof, under martial law, until communication can be had with the President and the President's decision thereon communicated to the Governor. He shall annually, and at such other times as the President or the Congress may require, make official report of the transactions of the Government of Micronesia to the President of the United States, or such officer as the President may designate, and his said annual report also shall be transmitted to the Congress of the United States and the Congress of Micronesia. When a bill is returned by the Governor to the Congress with his objections, the Congress shall enter his objections at large on its journal and may proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the Congress agree to pass it, it shall be sent to the Governor, and shall become law.

(b) If any bill presented to the Governor contains several items of appropriation of money, he may object to one or more of such items, or any part or parts, portion or portions thereof, while approving the other items, parts or portions of the bill. The Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be chosen jointly, by the casting by each voter of a single vote applicable to both offices. If no candidates receive a majority of the votes cast in any election, on the thirtieth day thereafter a runoff election shall be held between the candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor receiving the highest and second highest number of votes cast. The first election for Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be held on November 3, 1980. Thereafter, beginning with the year 1984, the Governor and Lieutenant Governor shall be elected every four years at the general election. He may veto any legislation as provided in this Act. He shall appoint, and may remove, all officers and employees of the executive branch of the Government of Micronesia, except as otherwise provided in this or any other Act of Congress of the United States, or under the laws of Micronesia, and shall commission all officers that he may be authorized to appoint. He shall be responsible for the faithful execution of the laws of Micronesia and the laws of the United States applicable to Micronesia. Whenever it becomes necessary, in case of disaster, invasion, insurrection, or rebellion, or imminent danger thereof, or to prevent or suppress lawless violence, he may summon the posse comitatus or call out the militia or request assistance of the military or naval commanders of the Armed Forces of the United States, which assistance may be given at the discretion of such commanders if not disruptive of, or inconsistent with their Federal responsibilities. He may, in case of rebellion or invasion, or imminent danger thereof, when the public safety requires it, proclaim any island or island group insofar as it or they are under the jurisdiction of the Government of Micronesia, to be under martial law. The members of the Congress of Micronesia shall meet forthwith on their own initiative and may, by a two-thirds vote, revoke such proclamation in whole or in part.

The Governor shall make to the President of the United States or his delegate an annual report of the transactions of the Government of Micronesia for transmission to the Congress of the United States and such other reports at such other times as may be required by the Congress of the United States or under applicable Federal law. (4) In case of a permanent vacancy in the office of Lieutenant Governor, arising by reason of the death, resignation, or permanent disability of the Lieutenant Governor, or because the Lieutenant Governor or Lieutenant Governor-elect has succeeded to the office of Governor, the Governor shall appoint a new Lieutenant Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate of Micronesia, to hold office for the unexpired term and until he or his successor shall have been duly elected and qualified at the next regular election for Lieutenant Governor.

- (c) (1) The Governor shall, except as otherwise provided in this Act or the laws of Micronesia, appoint, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate of Micronesia, all heads of executive agencies and instrumentalities. The Congress of Micronesia may establish a merit system and, as far as practicable, appointments and promotions shall be made in accordance with such merit system.
- (2) All officers shall have such powers and duties as may be conferred or imposed on them by law or by executive regulation of the Governor not inconsistent with any law.
- (d) Until the first Monday of January 1981, the Governor and the Lieutenant Governor of Micronesia, and members of their immediate staffs, shall have the status of Federal officers and employees of the Government of the United States. After the effective date of this Act, no other employees of the Government of Micronesia shall be appointed as employees of the Government of the United States.

Those Federal employees who, on the effective date of this Act, have served one year or less under their then current transportation agreement shall be terminated as Federal employees upon the expiration of that agreement. The Presidential Representative shall provide the Government of Micronesia, including the District level, with appropriate advice and assistance. Should the Presidential Representative determine that any proposed action by the Government of Micronesia would substantially and adversely affect the foreign relations or national defense of the United States, he shall immediately refer the matter, together with his comments and the views of the Government of Micronesia, to the President for final decision. The President's decision shall be binding and shall be implemented immediately. Should the President not concur with the views of the Government of Micronesia, he shall inform the Government of Micronesia in writing of his reasons within thirty days.

It is the intention of this section that the services of the Presidential Representative and his staff shall be provided only so long as they are needed by the Government of Micronesia. Consistent with this purpose, the President, after consultation with the Government of Micronesia, shall reduce the staff of the Presidential Representative as soon as practicable. Upon determination by the President, again after consultation with the Government of Micronesia, that the advice and assistance to be provided by the Presidential Representative is no longer needed, he shall after consulting the Congress of the United States, abolish the position and functions of the Presidential Representative.

THE LEGISLATURE

SEC. 201. The legislative authority of the Government of Micronesia shall be vested in the "Congress of Micronesia" which shall consist of two Houses, the Senate and the House of Representatives whose members shall be elected by direct vote. The two houses shall sit separately except as otherwise provided herein.

When the Congress convenes each House shall organize by electing one of its members as presiding officer and such presiding officer shall be designated by the title of "President of the Senate" or "Speaker of the House of Representatives," as the case may be. When the Congress of Micronesia meets in joint session, the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall preside.

SEC. 202. (a) The legislative power of the Congress of Micronesia shall extend to all subjects of legislation, except that no legislation shall be inconsistent with the Constitution of the United States, or the laws of the United States, or any treaty made under the authority of the United States.

(b) No law shall be passed by the Congress of Micronesia imposing any tax upon property of the Government of the United States or property of the Government of Micronesia. No import or export levies shall be imposed on goods imported into Micronesia from the United States or any of its territories or transported between or among the Districts of Micronesia, or any political subdivision thereof. The levy of duties on goods imported into Micronesia is hereby reserved to the Government of Micronesia. No taxes or export levies shall be imposed upon the exportation of goods from Micronesia to the United States, its territories or possessions.

(c) Bonds and other obligations may be issued by the Government of Micronesia: except that no public indebtedness of Micronesia shall be authorized or allowed in excess of 10 per centum of the aggregate tax valuation of the property in Micronesia. Bonds or other obligations of the Government of Micronesia payable solely from revenues derived from any public improvement or undertaking shall not be considered public indebtedness of Micronesia within the meaning of this section. All bonds issued by the Government of Micronesia or by its authority shall be exempt from taxation by the Government of the United States or by the Government of any State, Territory, or possession, or any political subdivision thereof, or by the District of Columbia.

(d) At the opening of a legislative session and at any time thereafter the Governor may submit legislation to the Congress of Micronesia and recommend its enactment.

SEC. 203. (a) Appropriations, except as otherwise provided in this Act, shall be made by laws enacted by the Congress of Micronesia.

(b) The Governor shall annually submit to the Congress of Micronesia in joint session assembled estimates of revenues and a recommended budget for appropriation for the next fiscal year. The Governor shall adopt such recommendations as he may deem appropriate, but he shall transmit to the President of the United States or his delegate all recommendations.

(c) If at the termination of any fiscal year the Congress of Micronesia shall have failed to pass appropriation bills providing for payments of the current expenses of the government and necessary to meet its legal obligations for the ensuing fiscal year, then the several sums appropriated in the last appropriation bills for the objects and purposes therein specified, so far as the same may be applicable to such current expenses or obligations shall be deemed to be reappropriated, item by item.

SEC. 204. No law shall be enacted except by bill. Every bill passed by the Congress of Micronesia shall, before it becomes a law, be entered upon the journal and presented to the Governor. If he approves it, he shall sign it, but if not he shall, except as hereinafter provided, return it, with his objections, to the Congress of Micronesia within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him. If he does not return it within such period, it shall become law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress of Micronesia by adjournment prevents its return, in which case it shall become law if signed by the Governor within thirty days after it shall have been presented to him; otherwise it shall not become law.

When a bill is returned by the Governor to the Congress of Micronesia with his objections, the Congress of Micronesia shall enter his objections at large on its journal and may proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, it is passed by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the Congress of Micronesia, it shall be sent to the Governor, and shall become law.

The term "tidelands, submerged lands, or filled lands" shall have the meaning ascribed to it in Section 1(a) of Public Law 88-183 (77 Stat. 338), but shall not include any such lands which by local or customary laws or rights are held in private or communal ownership.

(b) During the three year period referred to in subsection (c), nothing herein shall impair the existing agreements between the Trust Territory Government and the United States Government or any agency or instrumentality thereof insofar as they relate to land use and retention, and the Government of Micronesia takes all such land as set forth in Section (a) above subject to such agreements; provided, however, that such retention and use will at all times be consistent with the public purposes of the United States.

(c) (i) Within three years from the effective date of this Act, the retention and use rights of the United States Government covered by subsection (b) shall terminate, unless, within that time the United States proceeds to acquire, in accordance with subsection (d) or (e) hereof, whatever rights in such lands may be considered necessary for the public purposes of the United States.

(ii) In any such acquisition, the amount to be paid for the land, or interest therein, shall be the current fair market value of the interest acquired, less any amount or amounts previously paid, gratuitously or otherwise, therefor.

(d) The departments and agencies of the United States Government are hereby authorized to, and may acquire real property or any interest in real property, including any temporary use for public purposes in Micronesia, in accordance with provisions of this subsection and subsection (e).

(i) In no event may the estate in property sought to be acquired by the United States be of a greater quantum than a base or determinable fee. The limiting event which will terminate such a fee will be the cessation for a period of five years, of the use of the land for the public purposes of the department or agency for which it was acquired. Upon termination, fee ownership in the land shall revert automatically to the person, persons or entity from whom it was acquired, or their heirs, or successors.

(ii) At least one month prior to any regular session of the Congress of Micronesia, the United States may present to the Governor of Micronesia a description of any land in which it wishes to acquire an interest together with a complete statement of the nature of the interest sought to be acquired, the full justification, in the public interest, of the need for such interest and a detailed appraisal report of the fair market value of the interest, prepared by qualified independent appraisers.

(iii) The Governor shall thereupon prepare and immediately submit to the Congress of Micronesia, for consideration in its regular session, a bill which will contain a description of the land in which the United States wishes to acquire an interest, the nature of the interest, together with a complete statement of justification of the public need for such interest, and a detailed appraisal of the fair market value of the interest prepared in accordance with paragraph (ii) of this subsection.

The Governor shall, upon request, also include such a bill with any other business for which a session of the Congress of Micronesia may be specially called.

(vi) In the event that the Congress of Micronesia agrees with the need for the acquisition by the United States of the interest in any particular piece of land sought to be acquired, but disagrees with the appraised value of the interest, the United States shall be entitled to immediate possession of the land in question; but the parties shall proceed forthwith to attempt to agree upon the question of value. If agreement is reached, the bill shall be appropriately amended to reflect the agreed upon value, and when passed shall become law. If no agreement can be reached then the value question shall be submitted immediately to the highest court of Micronesia which will then proceed to determine whether the price proposed by the appraisal represents the fair market value. In order to assist in making this determination, such court may, in accordance with such rules as it may promulgate, convene a special jury of Micronesian citizens from the district in which the land is located to render an advisory verdict on the question of fair market value. The decision of the court shall be final, subject, however, to review, on appeal, by the United States Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit, as provided in subsection (vii).

(vii) In the event that the Congress of Micronesia fails to act on a bill in the session at which it has been introduced or disagrees with the need for the acquisition by the United States of the interest in any particular piece of land sought to be acquired, or in the event that the United States wishes to appeal from a final decision of the highest court of Micronesia rendered in accordance with subsection (vi), then an appeal may be taken to the United States Court of Appeals for the 9th Circuit, which shall entertain such appeal in accordance with such rules as it may prescribe and shall make a final decision, binding on all parties either as to need or value, or both, as may be appropriate in any particular case.

(e) After the effective date of this Act, no privately or communally owned real property, or use rights in such property in Micronesia may be transferred, sold, alienated or leased for a term in excess of ten years to non-residents or corporations owned or controlled by non-residents of Micronesia unless such transfer, sale, alienation, or lease is first approved in writing by the majority vote of a commission to be especially established for that purpose in accordance with the laws of Micronesia.
