Ref: Larry's 3-15-71:

When I talked with Adrian, I had in mind a somewhat informal way of sending subscribed materials to those lawyers that were interested in keeping in touch with trends and important decisions, particularly if they were going into practice after PCV service. The subscription fees are fairly expensive and I was hoping that the GC shop could send out copies of some of the materials they receive through PC paid subscription. They really have no way of doing it. Moreover, if PC paid for this service for lawyers then equitably we should pay also for social scientists, engineers, architects, teachers, and other professional groups too. That's a "Pandora's Box" we don't want to open.

I would suggest that Adrian contact friends in the States who might be in a position to assist him. Those fellows who have finished with recent bar review materials might be willing to send something to him, or his law school might be willing to help. I apologize to Adrian if he has been waiting for a response from me on this.
