

would be independent justification for direct action by the United States to secure as much legal certainty for the corporation as possible.

For these reasons, we believe that action could be taken to provide greater certainty as to the legal framework under which the corporation will be created and operated, and we recommend that such action be sought.