Dear Admiral Morrison:

As school for our children begins here this month, we are faced once more with a shortage of textbooks and library reference materials. This year is especially critical because not only has the curriculum of our grade school and high school expanded, but many book orders that had been expected failed to materialize.

If you should have extra library books and textbooks which are no longer needed for your purposes, we would be very happy to put them to use on Rota. Especially needed are high school and adult level books in history, mathematics, the sciences, and vocational arts, such as agriculture, carpentry, and legal references, are greatly needed.

Your generosity and that of the United States Navy in the past has provided much needed reading material for our educational programs, and it is well remembered by those here. The gift of knowledge is perhaps the most meaningful gift that can be given. Any assistance you can give us in this area will be deeply appreciated.

Thank you very much for your support.

Sincerely,

Antonio G. Atell
