

PACIFIC DAILY NEWS, Tuesday, February 5, 1974-

One of the funnier—and maybe serious moments of the recent University of Guam seminar on political future, came when Guam Sen. Adrian Sanchez, told Congress of Micronesia Senator Edward Pangelinan that regarding the Marianas negotiations with the U.S. to "Get all you can and we'll try to move in with you!"

Another real fear, expressed by Sen. Frank Lujan at the same meeting: He said that in 1973 there were 18,000 aliens registered on Guam, a 130 percent increase in eight years. He has the feeling that the Guamanians will soon be outnumbered.

That may well be, but on the other hand, if construction slows up this year, as I think it well might, there may be 5,000 to 10,000 aliens shipped back home. Anyway, aliens can't vote. If a Guamanian wants to worry, better he should worry about the hordes of statesiders coming out to Guam. Or better still, the many Guamanians who have moved to the mainland.
