Cost estimates for Relocating Capitol

Attached are the preliminary cost estimates for the relocation of the Capitol of Micronesia. As per your request, the estimates are based upon the proposed Constitution, however, since the constitution does not detail the new governmental structure, we have estimated the manpower requirements for the new government as based upon brief discussions with President Nakayama. The need for the manpower requirements is twofold:

1. To estimate the spatial requirements we need to have estimated manpower levels upon which we can base our square footage requirements and costs.
2. If the proposed government structure is developed, it can be reviewed as to the workability when the U.N. Governmental Administration expert arrives.

It has not been our intent to in any way make policy decisions regarding the structure of the new government and we therefore offer the attached estimates for your review and recommendations.
