Deanne,

The post office in Earl's Court closes in twenty minutes. To get this out before Monday morning at 9:30 would require me to head for Trafalgar Square late~~r~~ in the day. So I have rushed....

I will post some general comments later. But two here...

First, this strides considerably toward the form I would like to see the papers take, although there is some~~xxx~~ distance to go.....

Second, after youstruggle with my handwriting you may have second thoughts about my scribbling notes in the margin....
