Memo for the Chair, Committee on Judiciary and Other Elected
Offices

From: Legal Team

Re: Issues before the Committee with respect to Article XX,
Civil Service

This memorandum lists the issues raised by Article XX in order ranked by their apparent complexity or controversial nature, with the least complex first. The order also suggests issues that may logically flow one to another.

As of June 5, 1995, counsel had received 2 proposals to amend Article XX.

The categories of issues are:

1. Legislative versus constitutional provisions: One proposal would delete the legislative language now included in the civil service article.

2. Updating: One proposal would update the civil service provision by deleting the transition provision left over from the 1985 constitutional convention.
