(a) Contain an enacting clause reading: "Be it enacted by the Northern Marianas Commonwealth Legislature";

(b) Embrace but one subject and matter properly connected with it, which subject shall be expressed in the title, all in accordance with Article II, Section 5 (b) of the Constitution.

Section 7. Duplication and Distribution of Bills and Resolutions. The Clerk shall provide each member with a copy of each bill and each resolution and each amended copy thereof, prior to First Reading following the report with amendments by a committee, at the time of transmittal from the Senate, or after amendment of the floor if otherwise required by this Rule.

Section 8. Referral of Bills and Resolutions.

(a) Bills and resolutions shall be read by title upon introduction and (except as provided in subsection (b), the Speaker shall refer such measures to an appropriate committee or to more than one committee, jointly or sequentially. All bills or resolutions referred to committee shall be reported to the House within 60 days of referral. The Clerk shall endorse such reference on the measure before duplication and shall enter such reference upon the Journal. In the case of error of reference, correction may be made by the House, with debate, immediately after the reading and approval of the Journal, by unanimous consent, or upon motion of either committee claiming jurisdiction or the committee to which the measure has been erroneously referred.

(b) The Speaker may place a resolution directly on the Resolution Calendar, rather then refer it to a committee, subject to appeal to the House.

Section 9. First Reading of Bills and Resolutions.

(a) When a bill or resolution is read in the House the first time, the Clerk shall report the bill by title, unless a majority orders it read in full, or by such subdivisions as the motion to read may indicate. The House shall then proceed to debate the measure, and no other amendment shall be in order until all committee amendments shown in the Committee Report are disposed of, except that such committee amendments shall themselves be subject to amendment. At the conclusion of debate the House shall vote on passing the measure on First Reading after affording an opportunity for one motion to recommit with or without instructions. If the Measure passes with amendments, the Clerk shall engross such amendments and cause the measure, or any page thereof, to be reprinted as provided in Sections 4 and 6 of this Rule.

(b) If a bill passes First Reading, the Clerk shall place it on the Bill Calendar for Second Reading the next legislative day.

(c) First Reading of a resolution shall be the only and final reading, and upon its passage, the Clerk shall dispose of it pursuant to Section 13of this Rule.

Section 10. Second Reading of Bills.

(a) When a bill is read in the House a second time, it shall be considered in the same manner as for First Reading, except that further amendments shall be in order without regard to whether or not they are proposed by the committee reporting the bill.

(b) Second Reading of a bill shall be the final reading, and upon its passage, which shall be by Call of the Roll, the Clerk shall dispose of it pursuant to Section 13 of this Rule.

Section 11. Amendments. Amendments to bills or resolutions may be offered on the Floor by any member; Provided, that the proposed amendment is in writing and is germane to the measure. Such amendment shall be read by the Clerk. If the Speaker, subject to appeal, deems it necessary, the Clerk shall reprint any portion of the measure affected by passage of any amendment, prior to a vote on passing the measure. No amendment proposing legislation shall be in order on an appropriations bill. Only two degrees of amendment are in order, except that a member may offer a substitute amendment embracing the same subject to one additional degree of amendment. If an amendment is defeated it shall not be in order again during the same reading of a measure.

Section 12. Amendments Between the Houses: Conference Reports.

(a) If the Senate returns a bill or resolution to the House with any amendment, the House may concur in the amendment, disagree to the amendment, defer consideration indefinitely or to a date certain, or refer the amendment to the Committee of original jurisdiction. If the House disagrees to the amendment, it may request or agree to a conference with the Senate.

(b) If the Senate disagrees to a House amendment, the House may recede from its amendment. The House may otherwise insist on its amendment, and may request or agree to a conference with the Senate.

(c) The House may recede at any time from its disagreement with a Senate amendment and may concur in the Senate amendment.

(d) In a conference committee, the House conferees shall vote among themselves on any issue and shall not combine their votes with those of the conferees on the part of the Senate. A quorum of the House conferees shall be sufficient to transact any business on behalf of the House.

(e) A conference report shall be printed as a report on the House and shall contain a signature of the majority of the conferees on the part of each House. Such report shall recommend what action each House should take, including any amendment which should be adopted, and may report amendments remaining in disagreement. The House shall not consider a conference report until it has been available to the members for at least one calendar day. A conference report may not be amended, and if both Houses pass the conference report (and dispose of any amendments in disagreement) the measure shall be considered adopted. The House may vote to recommit a report to the conference committee. If the House defeats a motion to agree to a conference report, it shall be in order to consider a motion to request a further conference, with or without instruction to the House conferees. The Speaker may appoint new conferees if the conference is unable to reach agreement or upon the order of the House.

(f) The Clerk shall inform the Senate regarding any action taken pursuant to this section, and if any matter remains in disagreement he shall return the measure to the Senate without further order by the House.

Section 13. Disposal of Adopted Measures.

(a) The Clerk shall attest to the passage of any bill, resolution or amendment requiring action by the Senate, and transmit such matter to the Senate as promptly as possible, noting the date of such passage. The Clerk may without further action by the House correct all clerical errors of form and content prior to any transmittal.

(b) The Clerk shall enroll any House bill which passed both the House and the Senate in identical form, obtain a signature of the Speaker, and shall transmit a single original copy to the Governor without delay, authenticating it by his signature thus certifying and attesting to the accuracy of the bill so transmitted.

(c) The Clerk shall prepare in final form and obtain the signature of the Speaker on any adopted House Resolution, or the signature of the presiding officers of both Houses on any House Joint or Concurrent Resolution, which has passed both Houses in identical form, and shall transmit signed originals or copies to the addressees, if any without delay, authenticating them by his signature (and that of the Senate Clerk if appropriate), thus certifying to their accuracy.

(d) The Clerk shall compare any Senate bill or resolution, which has passed both Houses in identical form and which has been prepared by the Senate in final form and received by the House for his signature, with the Journal or other papers of the House. If the measure has been properly prepared, the Clerk shall obtain the signature of the Speaker, attest to the fact and date of House passage and return the measure to the Senate without delay.

(e) If the Clerk notes any error in any Senate bill or resolution received by the House for signature, he shall return such measure to the Senate for correction. Similarly, he shall correct any error in a House bill or resolution returned for such reason by the Senate. However, if investigation reveals that the two Houses did not, in fact, pass the measure in identical form, correction shall only be made pursuant to a concurrent resolution which may be initiated in either House, provided that the clerical errors may be corrected solely by action of the Clerk.

(f) All signatures shall be placed on the last page of a measure after the last line of text.

Section 14. Override following Veto by the Governor.

(a) Whenever a bill passed by the Legislature or a Senatorial District Delegation is disapproved by the Governor, the Speaker shall immediately lay the message before the House for its consideration and disposal. The House may decide to act immediately, postpone until a day certain, lay on the table, or refer to the committee of original jurisdiction. Repassage shall be by Call of the Roll, and the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the entire membership of the House shall be required upon consideration to pass the bill. Only one reading is required to override a veto by the Governor.

(b) The Clerk shall immediately notify the Senate if a bill vetoed by the Governor is defeated by the House upon reconsideration.

(c) If both Houses repass a House bill vetoed by the Governor, the Clerk shall transmit the signed original thereof to the Attorney General as proof of its enactment, and shall inform the Governor of such enactment.

(d) If the House repasses a Senate bill, the Clerk shall return it to the Senate for further action or transmittal to the Attorney General.

RULE X. MOTIONS

Section 1. Seconding. No motion may be considered by the House until it has been seconded. This requirement shall not apply to points of privilege, information, or order, or to request to withdraw a motion.

Section 2. Property of the House. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it shall be the property of the House and shall be disposed of by the House unless withdrawn as provided in this Rule.

Section 3. Main and Subsidiary Motions. A member of the House may be the mover of a main motion at the time provided for in the order of business, which main motion shall have its purpose of carrying out of business of the House. Whenever any main motion shall be under discussion, the only subsidiary motions relative thereto which shall be entertained are:

which motion shall have precedence in the order named. The first, second, and third motions shall be decided without debate and shall be put to vote as soon as made and seconded. The fourth and fifth motions and the main motion shall be subject to debate and shall be put to vote in accordance with the provisions of this Rule. When the fifth motion has been adopted, its relevant language shall automatically become a part of the main motion.

Section 4. Privileged Motions and Questions of Privilege.

(a) A member, when recognized, may be the mover of a privileged motion at any time such a motion is appropriate to the order of business. A privileged motion shall take precedence over main and subsidiary motions and shall be disposed of before the House proceeds with the order of business.

(b) A member, when recognized, may raise a question of privilege concerning a matter which relates to him as a member of the House or which relates to the privileges or welfare of the House. When a member raises a question of privilege, the Speaker shall interrupt the proceedings of the House and ask the member to briefly state his question. The question shall not be debatable, except that the Speaker may allow the right of reply. If the Speaker rules that the member raises a valid question of privilege, and such member proposes a motion or resolution incident thereto, such motion or resolution shall become the pending business of the House and be subject to debate or subsidiary motion as provided in Section 3 of this Rule.

(c) A member, when recognized, may move to recess for or to a specific time, or subject to the call of the Presiding Officer. The motion to recess shall be decided without debate and shall be put to vote as soon as possible. The Speaker may recess the House for or to a specific time or subject to the call of the Presiding Officer.

(d) Only the Floor Leader shall, when recognized, move to adjourn, and such a motion shall take precedence over all other such motions. The motion shall be decided without debate and shall be put to vote as soon as made: Provided, that the motion to adjourn to a day and time certain or sine die shall be subject to debate and amendment. If the motion to adjourn is adopted, action on the question before the House shall be discontinued and shall be considered on the next meeting day as unfinished business. If the motion to adjourn is defeated, such a motion shall not again be in order until additional business intervenes.

Section 5. Incidental Matters.

(a) A member may raise a point of information regarding the procedure governing the disposal of a matter or motion before the House. When a member rises to a point of information, the Speaker shall ask the member to state his procedural point. The point shall not be debatable. The Speaker shall respond to the point of information as soon as raised or request another member of the House to respond. The Speaker may consider the question improper and choose not to consider the point if it does not address the procedures for disposal of a matter or motion before the House. A point of information may not be used to make a statement or engage in debate.

(b) A member may raise a point of order at any time the point is relevant to the order of business, pursuant to Rule V, Section 7 or when another member is speaking on a matter irrelevant to the matter under discussion.

(c) A member may ask unanimous consent to accomplish any reasonable purpose not forbidden by the Constitution, except no member may ask unanimous consent for the suspension of Rules I (Organization of the House) or IV (Attendance and Quorum). If no member present objects, the request is considered to be agreed to. A member may reserve the right to object in order to briefly question the requesting member as to the purpose or effect of the request.

(d) A member may ask to withdraw his motion. When a member asks to withdraw his motion, the Speaker shall interrupt the proceedings and permit the motion to be withdrawn if there has been no decision on or amendment to the motion as of the time the member requests withdrawal of this motion. Otherwise the motion may be withdrawn by unanimous consent.

(e) A member may move for division of a question when he finds two or more specific subjects within the same general subject of a bill, resolution, or other question before the House and desires that each such specific subject be considered and voted on separately. When a member moves for division of the question, the Speaker shall interrupt the proceedings and permit the member to make his motion, which shall specify the specific subjects to be considered and voted on separately. The motion shall be decided without debate and shall be put to vote as soon as made. If the motion for division of the question is adopted, final passage of a bill or resolution shall be considered and voted on as a single entity as provided in these Rules.

(f) A member may move to suspend one or more sections or paragraphs of these Rules. Such a motion shall state the specific purpose to be accomplished by suspension of the Rules and the specific sections or paragraphs of the Rules which shall be suspended. The Speaker may decline to recognize a member for the purpose of moving to suspend the Rules. When recognized for such purpose, the member shall have ten minutes to explain his reasons for the desired suspension, and one member in opposition shall have ten minutes for reply. Either member may waive his time. The motion shall require two-thirds vote of the members present for adoption; Provided, that Rule VII, Section 9 and Rule IX, Sections 9 and 10 may be suspended by a majority vote of the members present for adoption. Any suspension of the Rules shall terminate when the specific purpose to be accomplished by suspension of the Rules has been disposed of by the House. The Rules shall not be suspended regarding consideration of the current question before the House, except by unanimous consent.

Section 6. Motion to Reconsider. When a main motion has been made once and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the House to move to reconsider it on the same or succeeding day of the session during the appropriate order of business. The motion to reconsider is debatable. A simple majority shall be required for passage. When a motion for reconsideration has been defeated, a second motion for reconsideration of the same question shall not be in order.

Section 7. Motion to Recall.

(a) When a bill, resolution, or other matter upon which a vote has been taken has passed out of the possession; of the House, and has been transmitted to the Senate or the Governor, it shall be in order for any member of the House to move for recall of the bill, resolution, or other matter by requesting the Senate or the Governor to return the bill, resolution, or other matter to the House, and such motion shall take precedence over all motions except a motion to adjourn or to recess. The motion to recall is debatable. When a motion for recall has been decided, and defeated, a second motion for recall of the same matter shall not be in order. If the motion for recall is adopted and the bill, resolution, or other matter is returned as requested, it shall then be before the House for reconsideration in the regular order of business.

(b) If a motion to recall shall be passed by the Senate and such request made to the House, the bill, resolution, or other matter shall be returned to the Senate, by resolution, or unanimous consent.

Section 8. Previous Question. A member may move for the previous question which shall be decided without debate and shall be put to vote as soon as made and seconded. The adoption of the motion for the previous question shall close debate and require the Speaker to put the previous question before the House for a vote.

The Clerk shall call the roll, recording the vote of each member in the Journal. He shall inform the Speaker of the results of the Call of the Roll, who shall in turn announce the results of the vote to the House. The Speaker may require a Call of the Roll at his discretion.
