Herman:

I'm not sure how you wanted to handle the media arrangements--whether you want me to finalize programming/newspaper space, or whether you wanted to officially send the information from the Post Committee.

So, I've already confirmed a weekly column in the Saipan Tribune (free) as well as a weekly "spot/space" for the Articles. Now, I need quotes regarding the newspaper inserts. Since I didn't know how you wanted to handle this, I'm forwarding several letters for your signature and dissemination to my media contacts.

I've also talked to the TV people about special programming, and that's a "go"--we just need to negotiate a few more details.

I'll forward my formal report of recommendations to you early next week.

Saipan Tribune

Dear Mr. Broadhurst:

Pursuant to our conversation Thursday regarding the public information campaign for the Third Constitutional Convention, I want to confirm the following information.

The Saipan Tribune has agreed to create a column which we will tentatively call, "Our Constitution." You will print the column every Monday beginning the end of August through the election for the Constitutional Convention.

In addition, it is my understanding that the Saipan Tribune has agreed to provide a designated space or place for a weekly or bi-weekly chart describing the proposed constitutional amendments.

As I indicated during our conversation, the Post Con-Con Committee will likely create a total of nineteen newspaper inserts. We would be interested in obtaining quotes from the Saipan Tribune for either the cost of printing and inserting such pamphlets or simply the cost of inserting already printed pamphlets.

Kindly forward your proposals to me as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

PAMELA MATHIS

Mr. Zaldy Dandan
Editor
Marianas Observer
Saipan, MP 96950

Dear Mr. Dandan:

The Third Constitutional Convention has proposed nineteen Articles (amendments) to the Commonwealth Constitution. As you are aware, residents must vote whether to approve these amendments.

If we are to assume that the elections are to be held simultaneously with the November General Elections, then there is a considerable amount of public information to be conducted.

The Post Con-Con Committee has created a public information campaign which will span the months of September and October. Each week, the Committee will distribute a chart explaining two of the nineteen proposed Articles.

The Committee wants to know whether the Marianas Observer is willing to donate a pre-specified space for the publishing the proposed Articles.

In addition, the Committee would like to create a weekly or bi-weekly column for the purpose of publishing the analysis of the proposed constitutional changes.

If you are not able to provided a specific space for either of these purposes, the Committee is interested in obtaining quotes from you on the following:

- (1) Printing and inserting daily/weekly "article information sheets"
- (2) Just inserting the already printed "article information sheets"

We are interesting in finalizing these plans at your earliest convenience.
