

---

Date: November 7, 1967

TO: W. MARVIN WATSON

FROM: JAMES R. JONES

Ambassador Eugenia Anderson will not be able to be here today. Her secretary called from New York this morning to say that Ambassador Anderson is bedridden with the flu and high temperature and nausea. She would hope to have the appointment rescheduled after she recovers from this seige of the flu.

to [unclear]
[unclear]

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Vivian Meisen x321 YU6-2424 at the UN

Ambassador Anderson is recovered and will be available next week on Monday, Tuesday or Friday, at any time convenient to the President. She has speaking engagements on Wednesday and Thursday which she would like to keep.

v sally

S-30
FILE
NOV 17